PROBATE, DIVOR

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1881.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

The Bank of England was the first Joint-Stock Bank established in England. It was incorporated by William III. in 1694. When first established the notes of the Bank were at 20 per cent discount, and so late as 1745 they were under par. Bank Bills were paid in silver, 1745. Cash payments were discontinued in 1794, when notes of one and two pounds were first put into circulation. Banks were first established in 1693 by the Lombard Jews, some of whom settled in Lombard-street.

The following is the House List of Governors and Directors of the Bank of England for the present year:—

Governor, John William Birch. Deputy Governor, Henry R. Grenfell.

Directors.

Edward C. Baring	Henry H. Gibbs	George Lyall
Henry W. Blake	John S. Gilbat	Wm Ladderdale

Robert W. Crawford	Thomson Hankey	Alfred C. de Rothschild
Mark Wilkes Collet	Henry L. Holland	Albert G. Sandeman
James P. Currie	John G. Hubbard	Hugh C. Smith
Benj. B. Greene	Thomas N. Hunt	Clifford Wigram

Chief Accountant, John Francis.
Secretary, H. Chubb.

Chief Cashier, Frank May.
Solicitors, Messrs. Freshfield.

TRANSFER DAYS AT THE BANK.

All Stocks on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Private Transfers may be effected at other times, providing the books are not closed, by paying 2s. 6d. for each Transfer. Tickets for preparing the Transfer of Stock must be given in at the Bank of England before one o'clock. Expenses of Transfer in Bank Stock for £25 and under, 9s.; above that sum, 12s.; India Stock, £1 10s.

Powers of attorney for the sale or transfer of Stock are to be left at the Bank, &c., for examination, one day before they can be acted upon; if for receiving dividends, they may be presented at the time the first is payable.

Probates of Wills, Letters of Administration, and other proofs of decease must be left at the Bank, &c., for registration, for two or three days.

If Life Annuities be transferred between Jan. 5 and April 4, or between July 6 and Oct. 4, dividends are payable on Jan. 5 and July 5. If transferred between April 5 and July 4, or between Oct. 5 and Jan. 4, dividends are payable on April 5 and Oct. 5. Transferred at the National Debt Office, Old Jewry.

The dividends are paid to the public three days after the dates named; if a Sunday intervene, four days after. The hours for buying and selling are 10 to 1; for transferring, 11 to half-past 2; for accepting, 9 to 3; for payment of dividends, 9 to 3. Transfer-books are closed at 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Dividend Warrants issued as follows:—1. To the fundholder personally at the Bank of England. 2. Under Power of Attorney, free of stamp duty or any other charge. 3. By post within the United Kingdom.

Fundholders who desire to have their Dividend Warrants sent by post must fill up a form, obtainable at the Bank of England or its branches, and at all money-order offices. For joint accounts, all the parties in whose names the fund stands must sign in favour of the one to whom the warrant is to be sent. Post warrants will be crossed "and Co.," and can be cashed at any money-order office, or paid away as ordinary bankers' cheques. Notice should be given to the Bank of the non-reception of any warrant which has been directed to be sent by post.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Mercury on the 1st; she is near Venus, Saturn, and Jupiter during the evening hours of the 3rd, Venus and Saturn being to the left of the Moon, the former being about 6 deg. higher than Saturn, Jupiter being to the right of the Moon, and situated about 7 deg. lower; on the 4th she will be near and to the left of both Venus and Saturn; she will be near Mars during the morning hours of the 27th, near Mercury on the 28th; she will be some distance to the right of Saturn and Jupiter during the evening hours of the 30th; and on the 31st still near those planets, being about 5 or 6 deg. north of them, Saturn being a little to the left of Jupiter. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 7th	at 2 minutes after 8h.	in the afternoon.
Full Moon	" 15th "	" 10 "	afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 23rd "	" 3 "	morning.
New Moon	" 29th "	" 10 "	afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the 25th, and most distant from it on the 10th.

MERCURY sets on the 2nd at 7h. 11m. p.m., or 1h. 32m. after the Sun, which interval decreases to 53 minutes by the 7th; and on the 13th the planet and Sun set very nearly together; and after this day till May 17 he sets in daylight. He rises at about sunrise on the 3rd; at 5h. 57m. a.m., or 27 minutes before sunrise on the 12th; at 5h. 21m. a.m., or 40 minutes before sunrise, on the 22nd; and at 5h. 8m. a.m., or 42 minutes before the Sun on the 27th. He is stationary among the stars on the 1st, near the Moon on the same day, and again on the 28th, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 11th, stationary among the stars again on the 23rd, and in his descending node on the 27th

VENUS is an evening star, setting at 10h. 13m. p.m. on the 2nd, at 10h. 30m. p.m. on the 12th, at 10h. 30m. p.m. on the 22nd, and at 10h. 35m. p.m., or 4h. 5m. after sunset, on the last day of the month. She is near the Moon on the 4th, at her least distance from the Sun on the 6th, and at her greatest brilliancy on the 27th.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 5h. 34m. a.m., or 1h. 12m. before sunrise; on the 12th at 5h. 15m. a.m., or 1h. 9m. before sunrise; on the 22nd at 4h. 53m. a.m.; and on the last day at 4h. 33m. a.m., being 1h. 8m. before sunrise on both these mornings. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 52m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 40m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 28m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 26th.

Nine brewers, who were Conservative members of the former Parliament, were defeated by Liberals; these were as follows:—Sir Henry Allsopp, East Worcestershire; Sir Arthur Guinness, Dublin; Sir Gilbert Greenall, Warrington; Pickering Phipps, Northampton; A. W. Hall, Oxford; Daniel Thwaites, Blackburn; T. O. Wethered, Marlow; Edward Wells, Wallingford; S. C. Allsopp, East Staffordshire.

CHANGES IN PARLIAMENT DURING THE SESSION 1880

On March 21 the Parliament elected in 1874 was dissolved, and on April 28 the ensuing general Election was completed; but even before the elections were over a vacancy was created by the sudden death of Mr. S. S. Wright, the member for Nottingham. The vacancy was filled by the return of Mr. Arnold Morley. Mr. Herbert J. Gladstone was returned for Leeds, in the place of his father. Sir William Harcourt was defeated at Oxford, on presenting himself for re-election, by Mr. Hall, who was again unseated for bribery. Mr. Evans Williams was returned as successor to the Marquis of Hastings, who had been, like Mr. Gladstone, elected to fill two places. Mr. Mark J. Stewart defeated the Lord Advocate on offering himself for re-election, but again was unseated for bribery.

Mr. Parnell, being elected for two places, preferred to sit for Cork; Mr. A. M. Sullivan, as he declined to sit with Mr. Callan, was subsequently returned for Meath. The Rev. Mr. Nelson was returned for Mayo without opposition, and Mr. A. H. Bellingham for county Louth. Sir W. Harcourt was returned for Derby, Mr. Parnell resigning to make way for him; Sir John Lubbock was elected for the University of London. Mr. Lowe having been raised to the peerage as Viscount Sherbrooke; and Mr. Crompton Roberts, succeeded Mr. Knatchbull-Hugessen at Sandwich, who had also been raised to the Upper House as Lord Brougham. Captain P. Bernard retired from Bandon rather than face a probation, and was replaced by Mr. Allman. Then came unseating on petition, Mr. Thomas A. Dickson, for Dungannon, who was replaced by his son, Mr. James Dickson. For Wallingford Mr. Walter Wren was replaced by Mr. P. Hall, formerly M.P. for Bridport. Gravesend was succeeded by Sir Sidney Waterlow. Eversham, Mr. D. Hatchett was replaced by Mr. T. Lehmann. Plymouth, Sir E. Bates was replaced by Mr. E. Clarke, the rejected of Southwark. Tewkesbury, Captain Price was replaced by Mr. R. Biddulph Martin Bewley, Mr. Harrison was replaced by Mr. E. Baldwin. Lichfield, Col. Dyott by Col. Levett. Bute, Mr. Thomas Russell was disqualified and succeeded by Mr. C. Dalrymple. Berwick-on-Tweed, on the elevation of Mr. Strutt, by the death of his father, Lord Belper, returned Captain Horne, and on view of his elevation Sir Harcourt Johnston resigned his seat for Scarborough to make way for Mr. Dodson, the President of the Local Government Board, who had been unseated on petition for Chester. Sir John Hay was returned for the Wigton Burghs in place of Mr. Stewart, unseated, and Lord Claude Hamilton was returned for Liverpool in place of Lord Ramsay, removed to the Upper House by the death of his father, Lord Dalhousie. In addition to these changes the House is short of twelve members, pending Reports of Commissions appointed to inquire into the prevalence of corrupt practices at Boston, Canterbury, Chester, Gloucester, Knaresborough, Macclesfield, Oxford, and Sandwich.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is very near Venus during the evening hours of the 1st. She is near Mars during the morning hours of the 25th; near Mercury during the morning hours of the 27th; near Jupiter and Saturn during the morning hours of the 28th, being about 5 deg. higher than Jupiter, and 6 deg. higher than Saturn, and she is near Venus during the evening hours of the 28th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the	6th	at	54 minutes after	3h.	in the	afternoon.
Full Moon	„	14th	„	50	„	11	„ morning.
Last Quarter	„	21st	„	39	„	0	„ morning.
New Moon	„	28th	„	24	„	10	„ morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the 19th at midnight, and most distant from it on the 7th.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 4h 50m. a.m., or 39 minutes before sunrise; this interval gradually decreases to 32m. by the 11th, to 29m. by the 21st, and to 26m. by the 26th, the planet rising on this day at 4h. 10m. a.m. He is at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 6th, at his greatest western elongation (27 deg. 40 min.) on the 7th, and near the Moon on the 26th at about midnight.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 10h. 34m. p.m.; on the 11th at 10h. 12m. p.m., or 3h. 25m. after sunset; on the 21st at 9h. 20m. p.m., or about 2h. 16m. after sunset; and on the last day of the month at 8h. 10m. p.m., or 51 minutes after sunset. She is near the Moon on the 1st and again on the 28th; and stationary among the stars on the 11th.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 4h. 30m. a.m., or 1h. 8m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 4h. 5m. a.m., or 1h. 10m. before the Sun; on the 21st at 3h. 39m. a.m., or 1h. 16m. before sunrise; and on the 30th at 3h. 16m. a.m., or 1h. 21m. before the Sun. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 25m. a.m.; on the 15th at 9h. 10m.; and on the last day at 8h. 51m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 24th.

JUPITER sets on the 1st at 7h. 58m. p.m.; or 1h. 27m. after sunset; on the 11th at 7h. 31m. p.m., or 44 minutes after sunset; on the 21st the planet and Sun set nearly together; and the planet sets in daylight after this day till Nov. 14. He rises at sunrise on the 21st, and 7 minutes before sunrise on the last day. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 4m. p.m.; on the 15th at 0h. 21m. p.m.; and on the last day at 11h. 36m. a.m. He is near Saturn on the 22nd, and near the Sun on the same day, and near the Moon on the 28th.

SATURN sets on the 1st at 8h. 4m. p.m., or 1h. 33m. after sunset; on the 11th at 7h. 32m. p.m., or 45 minutes after sunset; on the 20th he sets at about the time of sunset, and from this day till Nov. 2 he sets in daylight. He rises at about sunrise on the 29th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 13m. p.m., on the 15th at 0h. 24m. p.m., and on the last day at 11h. 38m. a.m. He is near the Sun and Jupiter on the 22nd, and near the Moon on the 28th.

 47. An Act for the better protection of occupiers of land against injury to their crops from Ground Game.
 48. An Act to continue various Expiring Laws.
- During the Session there were passed 48 Public Acts and 203 Local and Private Acts, of which four were ordered not to be printed.

THE GROUND GAME ACT.—The last important Act but one which received the Royal Assent on Sept. 7, 1880, was that bearing the above title. In a short preamble it is recited that, in the interests of good husbandry, and for the better security for capital and labour invested in the occupiers of land, it is necessary that further provision should be made to enable occupiers to protect their crops from injury and loss by ground game—the ground game being hares and rabbits. The Act contains only some seven or eight clauses, and enacts that an occupier shall have the right to kill hares and rabbits concurrently with any other person (meaning thereby landlords) entitled to kill the same on lands in his occupation. The right to kill, however, is limited to the farmer himself and one other person, who must be specially authorised in writing. "No person shall be authorised by the occupier to kill or take ground game, except members of his household resident on the land in his occupation, persons in his ordinary service on such land, and any one other person bona fide employed by him for reward in the taking and destruction of ground game. Every person so authorised by the occupier, on demand by any person having a concurrent right to take and kill the ground game on the land, or any person authorised by him in writing to make such demand, shall produce to the person so demanding the document by which he is authorised, and in default he shall not be deemed to be an authorised person." Then follow certain instructions with regard to hired grazing or pasture land; and in the case of moorlands and unenclosed lands the rights conferred by the Act extend only from Dec. 11 in one year until March 31 in the following year. Then the occupier is not permitted to enter into an agreement with the landlord which shall contract himself out of the rights conferred by the Act. Neither is he to resort to spring traps or poison, or use firearms after sunset or before sunrise. The Act concludes with a saving clause with regard to existing prohibitions.

THE CITY PAROCHIAL CHARITIES.

A report of considerable interest has been presented to Parliament by a Commission appointed to inquire into the condition and administration of the parochial charities of the City of London. It appears that the area of the City proper comprises 109 parishes to the space of one square mile, not quite 700 acres. The report gives in a tabular form:—

1. The area of each parish, according to the Census Returns, 1861
2. The number of inhabited houses (in 1851, 1861, and 1871, taken from the Census Returns of these years)
3. The population
4. The gross income of the charities in 1865, 1873, 1876, taken from the Parliamentary returns
5. The number of outdoor paupers in March, 1879, from a return furnished by the clerk of the City Union.
6. The rateable value.

The population within that square mile was, according to the Census of 1861, 112,063; in 1871 it had fallen to 74,897, showing a decrease in that decade of 37,166 souls.

The list of the ecclesiastical parishes within the City of London shows how the civil parishes have been united for ecclesiastical purposes, and give in a tabular form for each civil and ecclesiastical parish the area, the population in 1871, the gross income of the charities, ecclesiastical and secular.

The income of the charities amounted at the time of	£	s	d.
the last return to Parliament, in 1876, to	101,904	13	4
If from this amount be deducted that of the charities administered under schemes approved by the Court of Chancery or the Charity Commis-	17,718	9	4
sioners
And that of charities for which schemes have been submitted but not approved	6,171	5	0
as yet	23,891	15	1

The remainder will be the amount still under the uncontrolled administration of the local authorities—viz. 81,014 18 3

Contemporaneously with these changes an immense increase in the value of property has taken place, including that from which the funds of the several charities are derived, the receipts from many of the estates having within the last few years doubled, or even trebled in amount. Thus the parish of All Hallows, Lombard-street, which has no poor is possessed of several houses in Gracechurch-street. In 1851 these produced a rental of £482 a year. The present rental is upwards of £1200 a year. The rental of the parish estates of St. Mary's Abchurch was in 1850 £600, and has now increased to £1125 a year. In St. Peter's-le-Poor an estate which in 1853 produced only £30 a year now brings in no less a sum than £1150. With regard to the administration of the several funds, this is designated as mischievous, and that the recipients are pauperized, and that the money is often thrown away.

In many cases the objects specified by the trusts have ceased to exist, or their origin has been lost, and is, therefore, applied to purposes outside of charity, and even when the charities are being administered under the direction of the Court of Chancery the result is not always satisfactory.

In some cases the scheme has entirely ceased to be applicable to the existing circumstances. As an instance, certain charitable funds have been accumulated for the purpose of purchasing a piece of land to be used as a cemetery, for the inhabitants of St. Michael, Crooked-lane, only. The accumulations now amount to £1344, and are still going on. If ever the cemetery is purchased, however, it will remain almost unoccupied, for there are hardly any residents in the parish of St. Michael, and there certainly is no need of a cemetery for them. Again, in the case of Long's Charity, belonging to the parish of St. Edmund, though the scheme is comparatively recent, the income dealt with by it amounted to £1102. The present income is £1300. It is true the scheme directs that in case the funds should be augmented the payments for the several objects provided for should be increased accordingly; but it by no means follows that a more proper and advantageous use of the charitable funds might not be made when the increase is so enormous as in the present case.

After the Fire of London certain parishes whose churches had been burnt, and subsequently by separate Acts of Parliament other parishes, were united for ecclesiastical purposes, but all these still remain distinct for civil purposes, and retain their full separate, and too often useless, parochial machinery of vestry clerks, churchwardens, overseers, and other parish officers.

THE PRESENT INCOME TAX originated 5th and 6th Victoria, cap. 85, June 22, 1842; but it was first imposed Jan. 4, 1799, by 38th Geo. III., cap. 12, during the war with France. This, however, was repealed on May 4, 1802, by 42nd Geo. III., cap. 42.

POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON INLAND LETTERS.

The rates of postage to be prepaid are as follow, viz:—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz. ...	1d.
Exceeding 1 oz., but not exceeding 2 oz. ...	1½d.
" 2 oz., and less than 4 oz. ...	2d.
" 4 oz., and less than 6 oz. ...	2½d.
" 6 oz., and less than 8 oz. ...	3d.
" 8 oz., and less than 10 oz. ...	3½d.
" 10 oz., and less than 12 oz. ...	4d.

A letter exceeding the weight of 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce, beginning with the first ounce. A letter, for example, weighing between 14 oz. and 15 oz. must be prepaid 1s. 3d.

All inland letters must be prepaid in stamps. A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage; and if insufficiently prepaid is chargeable with double the deficiency.

Letters for the Country posted in London or the London Districts on Saturday too late for the ordinary Evening Mails, but in time for the last Evening Collection are delivered next morning, if for places within the range of the Midnight despatches; if for places beyond that range, they are delivered on Monday. The late fee charged for posting inland ordinary letters, after the time of closing the boxes for the despatch of a mail, is reduced to an uniform rate of a halfpenny.

All Post Offices in the London District are closed on Sundays, with some few exceptions, which are open for the receipt and dispatch of telegrams during the hours stated in Local Circulars.

On Bank Holidays the Postal and Telegraph arrangements in London are of an exceptional character, and due notice is given of them by means of Notices to the public exhibited at Metropolitan Post Offices.

Inquiries for Missing Letters, &c. should be made at the Secretary's Office, New Building, between ten a.m. and four p.m. (Saturdays between ten and one).

The Returned Letter Office is in Telegraph-street, Moorgate-street. The Money Order Office is at No. 1, Aldersgate-street. The Post-Office Savings Bank is in Queen Victoria-street, E.C.

LETTERS "TO BE CALLED FOR"

There is a Lost Postage both at the General Post Office, St. Martin's-le-Grand, and at the Charing-cross Post Office, where letters "to be called for" can be obtained (between the hours of eleven a.m. and five p.m.). No letters (except communications from the Savings Bank Department) are taken in "to be called for" at the other district or branch offices, and any so directed are sent to the Returned Letter Office to be returned to the writer.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN LETTERS

Full particulars of the rates of postage on letters to the colonies and foreign countries will be found in the British Postal Guide, published quarterly, price sixpence.

No letter for any colony or foreign country may be above two feet in length or one foot in width or depth. Neither must it contain gold or silver money, jewels, or precious articles, or anything liable to Customs duties, can be sent, even if registered, to any country of the General Postal Union.

INLAND BOOK POST.

The postage is one halfpenny for every 2oz. or part of that weight.

A packet posted wholly unpaid is charged with double the book postage; and if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency.

A book packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications, photographs (when not on glass or in cases containing glass or any like substance), documents, prints, or maps, and any quantity of paper, or any other substance in ordinary use for writing or printing upon; and the books or other publications, prints, maps, &c., may be either printed, written, engraved, lithographed, or plain, or any mixture of these. Further, all legitimate binding, monotype, or covering of a book, &c., or of a portion thereof, is allowed, whether such binding, &c., be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints or maps, booklets (whether of paper or otherwise) in the case of books, pens, or pencils, in the case of pocket-books, &c.; and, in short, whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of such articles, or usually appurtenances thereto, but the binding, rollers, &c., must not be sent as a separate packet.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN BOOK POST.

The limit of size for a book-packet addressed to any place abroad is 24 in. in length and 12 in. in width or depth.

Whatever is allowed to be sent in an inland book-packet may be sent in a book-packet to places abroad, except that water-colour drawings are not allowed to be sent in a book-packet to France or Algiers.

No writing or manuscript, however, beyond the name and address of the person to whom it is sent is admissible in or upon a packet forwarded via France to the Argentine Confederation, Bolivia, Chili, Ecuador, Hayti, Mexico, Paraguay, Peru, St. Thomas, Uruguay, United States of Colombia, or Venezuela.

FOREIGN CARD POST.

Foreign post-cards may be sent to Canada and to all the countries comprised in the General Postal Union, with the exception of British India.

The postage of a card is in every case one half the rate for a single letter. Foreign post-cards with an impressed stamp of 1d. and 1½d. each are sold at that rate, and are transmissible to the majority of the countries of the Union without extra charge, but reference should be made for exceptional rates to the Post Office Guide.

REGISTRATION (INLAND AND FOREIGN.)

The fee for registering a letter, newspaper, or book-packet passing between any two places in the United Kingdom is twopenny.

The fee chargeable for registration to Colonies and Foreign Countries will be found in the Post Office Guide.

Every letter to be registered should be presented at the counter, and a receipt obtained for it, and should on no account be dropped into the letter-box. If, contrary to this rule, a letter marked "Registered," be dropped into the letter-box, it will, if directed to any place in the United Kingdom or the British Colonies, be liable to a registration fee of 4d., instead of the ordinary fee of 2d.

INDIAN PARCEL POST

1. Persons wishing to send parcels to any part of British India can do so through the Indian Parcel Post Agency—established under authority of the Director-General of the Post Office of India—at 122, Leadenhall-street, E.C.; and (Branch Office) at 25, Cookspur-street, S.W.

2. The charge for parcels is 1s. per lb. or fraction of a lb. (prepayment optional), covering transit from London to destination in India. Insurance may be effected, if desired, at the rate (to be prepaid) of 1s. up to £3 value, 2s. 6d. up to £10 value, and 5s. up to £20 value. Indian Customs duty (if chargeable) will be realised from the addressee.

N.B.—Parcels containing books, or articles treated as books under the British Inland Book Post Rules, are charged 6d. per lb.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PATTERN AND SAMPLE POST.

There is a Pattern and Sample Post to certain colonies and foreign countries, but it is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of merchandise.

Goods sent for sale, or in execution of an order (however small the quantity may be), or any articles sent by one private individual to another which are not actually patterns or samples, are not admissible. The rates of postage are the same as for Book Packets.

ARTICLES NOT ALLOWED TO BE SENT BY POST.

It is forbidden to forward by post any obscene print, painting, photograph, book or card, or other article, or any letter, newspaper, publication, packet, or card, having thereon any words, marks, or designs of a libellous or grossly offensive character; glass bottles, gunpowder, lucifer-matches or anything liable to combustion, razors, scissors, or other sharp instrument, game, fish, fruit, or other perishable article.

MODES OF PREPAYMENT.

Inland letters, newspapers, and book-packets cannot be prepaid in money but must be prepaid by means of stamps, either adhesive or embossed or impressed. This rule applies also to registered letters.

Exceptions.—At the Chief and District Post Offices, and at the Charing-cross and Lombard-street Post Offices in London, as well as at the Head Offices in Edinburgh and Dublin, letters and book-packets may, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., be prepaid in money, provided the amount be never less than 1d., and that the letters and book-packets be tied in bundles representing a postage of 5s. each, with the addresses arranged in the same direction.

Letters to places abroad must be prepaid wholly in stamps.

Newspapers, book-packets, and sample-packets for places abroad can also be prepaid only by means of stamps; the prepayment being compulsory.

British postage-stamps, though available for all letters, &c., going out of this country, are not, as a general rule, available for letters, &c., coming into it; the principal exception being in the case of letters posted by naval officers, marines, and seamen serving abroad, which, if posted in the ship's bag, must be prepaid by means of British postage-stamps.

POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS.

The regulations which came into operation Oct. 1, 1880, with respect to postal orders enacts that the following poundage be paid:—1s., 2d., 3d., 4d., 5d., 6d., 7d., 8d., 9d., 10s., 12s. 6d., 15s., 17s. 6d., or 20s., 2d.

The postmaster may require the person to sign his name on the order before payment is made, although it has been already signed. A postal order may be crossed to a particular banker, and the banker to whom it is crossed may cross it to another banker or agent for collection; and when so crossed specially a postmaster shall refuse to pay it, except to the banker to whom it is crossed.

If three months shall have expired before the order is presented for payment a commission equal to the amount of the original poundage will be charged, and if the order contains any erasure or alteration, or is cut or detached, the postmaster may refuse payment and refer the same to the Postmaster-General. The payment of the amount of a postal order shall discharge the Postmaster-General and his officers from all liability whatsoever in respect of the order. The new regulations apply to the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man.

POST-OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS

This department of the Post Office has been removed to a new building in Queen Victoria-street, and which is designed to accommodate the large number of officials and their 5500 lodges, containing more than 2,000,000 of depositors' current accounts. The average daily issue of warrants during the past year was 4651; the greatest number issued on any one day was 9600 for the repayment of £31,200. In the course of the year more than 5,000,000 letters were received and answered. The total number of offices open for the transaction of Savings Bank business was at the end of the year 5831.

The average balance to the credit of each open account at the close of the year was £16 14 1d., or an increase of 5½d. upon the average balance, and the relative proportion for England and Wales, Scotland, and Ireland being £16 1 11d., £10 11s. 3½d., and £19 6s. 3½d., as compared with £16 1s. 5½d., £10 11s. 11½d., and £19 6s. 0½d. respectively.

The total amount of interest allowed to depositors from the establishment of Post-Office Savings Banks to the end of 1878 was £5,937,033, of which £589,603 accrued during the year 1878, being an increase of £38 144 above the amount which accrued during the previous year.

By an Act which came into operation in November, 1880, an alteration was made in the rate of interest payable to depositors, which shall not exceed 5 1/2 per cent. per annum. On a request made to the Postmaster-General a depositor may have his savings invested, provided the sum shall not be less than £10 pounds, or the current price of £10 pounds stock; and the amount of stock credited in any savings bank year shall not exceed one hundred pounds stock. The whole amount of stock credited to any one's account shall not exceed five hundred pounds stock.

SAVINGS IN POSTAGE-STAMPS.—The Postmaster-General, with a view of affording facilities to the public for collecting, by means of postage-stamps, sums of one shilling, the smallest amount received by the Post-office Savings Bank, ordered that:—Any person desirous of saving 1s. by means of penny contributions, for deposit in the Post-office Savings Bank, may do so by purchasing with every penny so saved a penny postage-stamp and affixing it to a form to be obtained at the Post-office. When twelve such stamps have been so affixed, the form may then be taken to any post-office savings bank in the United Kingdom where it will be received by the postmaster either as the first deposit in a new account then to be opened, or as an ordinary deposit if the owner of it has already opened an account. The stamps affixed to this form must not be defaced or in any way damaged, or they cannot be received by a postmaster.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Mars during the morning hours of the 21st. She is near the planets Venus, Jupiter, and Saturn on the morning of the 22nd. She rises on this morning at 10 minutes to 1, and from this time to 4h. a.m. she is to the right of Saturn, and after this time she moves to the left of this planet and towards Jupiter; the three planets form a triangle, Jupiter being the highest in the heavens, and nearer to Venus than to Saturn, and she is near Mercury during the evening hours of the 28th, being a little to the right of the planet. The Moon sets on this day at 9h. 9m. and Mercury at 9h. 27m. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 5th	at 19 minutes after 3h. in the morning.
Full Moon	" 12th "	" 56 " morning.
Last Quarter	" 18th "	" 18 " afternoon.
New Moon	" 26th "	" 4 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the 18th, and most distant from it on the 1st, and again on the 25th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 5th at 9h. 56m. p.m., or 1h. 48m. after sunset, on the 10th at 10h. 5m. p.m., or 1h. 53m. after the Sun; the interval now gradually decreases to 1h. 47m. by the 15th, to 1h. 36m. by the 20th, to 1h. 22m. by the 25th, and to 1h. by the last day, the planet setting on this day at 9h. 18m. p.m. He is at his greatest eastern elongation (25 deg. 3 min.) on the 20th, in his descending node on the 23rd, and near the Moon on the 28th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 2h. 20m. a.m., or 1h. 22m.

before sunrise on the 10th at 9h. 8m. a.m., or 1h. 38m. before the Sun; on the 20th at 1h. 43m. a.m., or 1h. 56m. before sunrise, and on the last day at 1h. 29m. a.m., or 2h. 20m. before sunrise. She is very near Saturn on the 6th, at her greatest brilliancy on the 8th, near Jupiter on the 19th, near the Moon on the 22nd, and at her greatest distance from the Sun on the 27th.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 1h. 51m. a.m., or 2 hours before sunrise; on the 10th at 1h. 27m. a.m., or 2h. 19m. before the Sun; on the 20th at 1h. 0m. a.m., or 2h. 44m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 0h. 35m. a.m., or 3h. 14m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 17m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 1m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 43m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 21st.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 2h. 38m. a.m., on the 10th at 2h. 8m. a.m., on the 20th at 1h. 33m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 0m. a.m., being respectively 1h. 13m., 1h. 38m., 2h. 11m., and 2h. 49m. before sunrise on these days. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 50m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 16m. a.m., and on the 30th at 8h. 29m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 22nd.

SATURN is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 2h. 37m. a.m., on the 10th at 2h. 4m. a.m., on the 20th at 1h. 27m. a.m., or 2h. 17m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 0h. 49m. a.m., or 3h. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 42m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 52m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 59m. a.m. He is near Venus on the 6th, and near the Moon on the 22nd.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES

THE MOON is near Saturn on the morning of the 19th, the planet being to the left of the Moon, and still further left of Saturn the planets Jupiter and Mars are situated. She is near Mars and Jupiter on the morning of the 20th, and on the morning of the 21st she will be at some distance to the left of Jupiter and Mars, the planet Saturn being situated still further to the right. On the morning of the 22nd the Moon will be very near Venus, and near Mercury on the morning of the 25th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 4th	at 16 minutes after 5h.	in the afternoon.
Full Moon	„ 11th „ 18	„ 2 „	afternoon.
Last Quarter	„ 18th „ 33	„ 5 „	morning.
New Moon	„ 26th „ 19	„ 5 „	morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the 12th, and most distant from it on the 26th.

MERCURY sets on the 5th at 8h. 51m. p.m., or 35m. after sunset; on the 10th at 8h. 18m. p.m., or 4m. after sunset; and on the 11th they set almost together, the planet setting in daylight from this day till Aug. 25. He rises 38m. before sunrise on the 25th, and at 3h. 11m. a.m., or 1h. 12m. before sunrise on the 30th. He is stationary among the stars on the 3rd, and again on the 28th, at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 3rd, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 17th, and near the Moon on the 25th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 1h. 27m. a.m., or 2h. 22m. before sunrise, which interval gradually increases to 2h. 42m. by the 10th, to 3h. 4m. by the 20th, and to 3h. 25m. by the last day of the month, the planet rising on this day at 6h. 59m. a.m. She is at her greatest western elongation (45 deg. 38 min.) on the 12th, and near the Moon on the 22nd.

MARS rises on the 1st at 6h. 32m. a.m., on the 10th at 6h. 10m. a.m., on the 19th at 11h. 47m. p.m., and on the 29th at 11h. 24m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 43m. a.m., on the 15th at 7h. 25m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 7h. 6m. a.m. He is near Saturn on the 6th, near the Moon on the 20th, and near Jupiter on the 22nd.

JUPITER rises on the 1st at 6h. 57m. a.m., or 2h. 52m. before sunrise; on the 10th at 6h. 25m. a.m., on the 19th at 11h. 49m. p.m., and on the 29th at 11h. 14m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 26m. a.m., on the 15th at 7h. 41m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 48m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 20th, and near Mars on the 22nd.

SATURN rises on the 1st at 6h. 45m. a.m., on the 10th at 6h. 12m. a.m., on the 19th at 11h. 35 p.m., and on the 29th at 10h. 57m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 55m. a.m., on the 15th at 7h. 4m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 5m. a.m. He is near Mars on the 6th, and near the Moon on the 19th.

THE REVENUE OF CUSTOMS.

GREAT BRITAIN.

It appears that while the Revenue of Customs diminished in 1879 in comparison with that of the preceding year to the extent of £400,676, that of Ireland, notwithstanding the severe distress, during the latter part of the year actually increased by £30,700.

The total value of the imports in the year 1879 was £362,691,000, against £368,770,000 in the year 1878, being a decrease of £6,079,000 or 1.6 per cent. After a great increase in the total value in the year 1877, when the amount reached £384,419,000, the highest on record, it fell to £368,770,000 in 1878, so that the figures given for the year 1879 represent a very considerable decrease upon the diminished value of the previous year, and comparing the results of the two years 1878 and 1879, there is a diminution of 81 millions, or 8 per cent. The following are some of the principal articles imported into this country in the year 1879, with the quantities and values as compared with the like particulars in 1878:—

		1878.		1879.
		Quantities.	Value.	Quantities.	Value.
Cotton, Raw ... cwt.	11,967,000	33,519,000	£	13,119,000	£
Flax	1,653,000	3,481,000	1,685,000	3,594,000
Hemp	1,229,000	1,915,000	1,208,000	1,691,000
Jute	4,212,000	3,236,000	4,759,000	3,257,000
Silk, Raw ... lb.	4,170,000	3,680,000	3,886,000	3,384,000
Wool, Sheep ... "	395,474,000	22,786,000	412,784,000	23,282,000
Goats ... "	7,000,000	752,000	10,072,000	743,000
Other kinds ... "	5,288,000	382,000	8,720,000	343,000

The total quantity of the above-named articles was 24,642,000 cwt., and the value £72,464,000, and, on a comparison with the figures for 1878, shows an increase in the quantity, and also in the value of the importations.

The total weight of the principal ores, metals, and metal manufactures of all kinds imported in 1879 was 1,736,000 tons, and the value £13,213,000.

Articles partially manufactured decreased in value from £19,850,000 to £16,594,000. The following are the principal articles—viz.:

		1878.		1879.
		Quantity.	Value.	Quantity.	Value.
Copper, part wrought ... tons	39,000	2,572,000	£	46,000	£
Cotton yarn ... lb.	7,376,000	644,000	6,840,000	423,000
Hides, tanned and dressed ... "	50,571,000	2,871,000	35,485,000	2,209,000
Iron bars ... tons	102,000	1,018,000	85,000	878,000
Linen yarn ... lb.	5,989,000	897,000	6,384,000	370,000
Skins, dressed ... No.	12,530,000	1,233,000	13,555,000	1,416,000
Wood, sawn or dressed ... lb.	3,685,000	9,089,000	3,256,000	7,064,000
Woollen yarn ... "	12,474,000	1,582,000	11,044,000	1,418,000

The quantity of spirits of all kinds imported in 1879 was 13,546,000 gallons, against 12,211,000 gallons in 1878, or an increase of 1,335,000 gallons, equal to 10 per cent. The total value of spirits in 1879 was £3,000,000.

Tobacco.—The importation of tobacco of all sorts was comparatively small, being only 42,459,000 lb., against 93,059,000 lb. in 1878, a falling off of 50,607,000 lb., or 54 per cent. The large importations in the three previous years had the effect of keeping up the stock in the bonded warehouses to a very high figure, there being a diminution in the stock of only 18,156,000 lb., or 13.4 per cent as regards the year 1878, but still an increase of 7 per cent upon the stock of 1877.

THE CITY OF LONDON PUBLIC WORKS AND REVENUE ACCOUNT.

The Chamberlain of the City of London, pursuant to Act of Parliament, presented his account with the City in respect of various public and trust funds in the Chamber of London. The following is a statement showing the loans raised by the City within the last quarter of a century for the purpose of public improvements:—For the formation of the Metropolitan Cattle Market and extension of its slaughterhouses, 1852-6 and 1873-6, £478,000; for the Holborn-valley and Farringdon Market improvements, 1864-72, £2,376,000; for the Metropolitan Meat, Poultry, Fruit, and Vegetable Market, site, approaches, &c., 1863-78, £1,017,000; for the London Central Fruit, Flower, and Vegetable Market, approaches, &c., £581,000; for the Foreign Cattle Market at Deptford (1870-8), £280,000; for the enlargement of Billingsgate Market (1872-8), £272,000; for the building of the Royal Exchange, £98,500; for the rebuilding of Blackfriars-bridge (1867-9), £315,000; for the preservation of open spaces (1876-9), £100,000. Out of the above accounts the only amounts paid off apparently are £304,160 on the Holborn-valley improvements; £113,000 on the Metropolitan Meat and Poultry Market, &c.; £22,000 on the Deptford Cattle Market, £2800 on the Royal Exchange, and £60,000 on Southwark Bridge. The total amounts due for the above-mentioned purposes stood, according to the above account, on Dec. 31 last, at £5,129,800.

Various duties and rates yielded the respective sums given below:—

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the nights common to the 11th and 12th, the distance between the planet and the Moon decreasing as the night advances. She is near Jupiter during the whole of the next night, and near Mars during the night of the 15th. She will be near Venus during the morning of the 20th, and Mercury during the morning of the 25th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 1st at 2 minutes after 2h. in the afternoon.
Full Moon	" 3th " 39 " 4 " morning.
Last Quarter	" 15th " 1 " 8 " morning.
Full Moon	" 23rd " 55 " 11 " morning.
First Quarter	" 30th " 49 " 9 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the 6th, and most distant from it on the 18th at midnight.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 3rd at 6h. 56m. p.m., or 14m. after sunset, which interval slowly increases to 21m. on the 8th, to 28m. on the 13th, to 24m. on the 18th, the planet setting on this day at 6h. 31m. p.m. On the 23rd he sets at 6h. 20m. p.m., or 24 minutes after sunset; and on the 28th at 6h. 10m. p.m., or 25 minutes after sunset. He is in his descending node on the 19th, near the Moon on the 25th, and at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 29th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 8th at 1h. 47m. a.m., or 3h. 37m. before sunrise; on the 18th at 2h. 11m. a.m., or 3h. 29m. before the Sun; and on the 28th at 2h. 59m. a.m., or 3h. 18m. before the Sun. She is in her ascending node on the 13th, and near the Moon on the 20th.

MARS rises on the 7th at 10h. 3m. p.m.; on the 17th at 9h. 44m. p.m., and on the 27th at 9h. 24m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 24m. a.m.; in the middle of the month at 6h. 3m. a.m.; and on the last day of the month at 6h. 36m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 15th, in quadrature with the Sun on the 21st, and in his ascending node on the 27th.

JUPITER rises on the 7th at 8h. 46m. p.m., or 2h. 15m. after sunset; on the 17th at 8h. 7m. p.m., or 1h. 58m. after sunset; and on the 27th at 7h. 28m., or 1h. 41m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 54m. a.m.; on the 15th at 4h. 0m. a.m.; and on the last day at 2h. 59m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 18th, and stationary among the stars on the 14th.

SATURN rises on the 7th at 8h. 22m. p.m., or 1h. 30m. after sunset; on the 17th at 7h. 42m. p.m., or 1h. 33m. after sunset; and on the 27th at 7h. 1m. p.m., or 1h. 14m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 1m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 5m. a.m., and on the last day at 2h. 3m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 12th.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1881.

THE METROPOLITAN BOARD OF WORKS.

(Office, Spring-gardens.—Hours 9 to 4; Saturdays, 9 to 2.)

The Metropolitan Board of Works was constituted by the Metropolitan Management Act of 1855. Under this and subsequent Acts it has carried out several special works, such as the Main Drainage of London, the construction of the Victoria, Albert, and Chelsea Embankments on the Thames, the formation of Queen Victoria-street, Northumberland-avenue, &c. It has opened up or widened other thoroughfares, such as Garrick-street, Southwark-street, Burdett-road, Holborn (Middle-row), Park-lane, Shore-ditch, Great Eastern-street, Harrow-road, the improved thoroughfare from Hart-street, Bloomsbury, to Shoreditch, &c.; formed Finsbury and Southwark Parks; and preserved open spaces, such as Hampstead-heath, Blackheath, Shepherd's-bush, Clapham-common, &c. Among the works now proceeding are the widening of Coventry-street, Tooley-street, &c., making a new street from Piccadilly to Hart-street, Bloomsbury, and the clearance of sites for Artisans' Dwellings. It has purchased the tolls of all the Bridges that cross the Thames in the Metropolitan area. Its principal general duties comprise the control over the formation of streets and the line of buildings therein, the testing of gas and of gas-meters, the maintenance of the Fire Brigade (a force of upwards of 400), the maintenance of the Main Drainage System, and of parks and commons. It is the "Metropolitan Authority," under the Water, Tramways, Petroleum, Artisans' Dwellings, Contagious Diseases (Animals), Slaughter-houses, Explosive Substances, and other Acts. It raises money (in Metropolitan Consolidated Stock) not only for its own works, but for advances to the Managers of the Metropolitan Asylums District, the School Board for London, the Vestries, the District Boards, the Metropolitan Boards of Guardians, and other corporations within the Metropolis. Members of the Board are elected by the respective Vestries and District Boards in the Metropolis. The Corporation of the City of London elects three members.

The Act of last Session, 43 and 44, c. 25, empowers the Metropolitan Board of Works to expend money and borrow to a large amount for Metropolitan purposes. The Board may up to Jan. 31, 1881, expend 10,000 on the Fire Brigade, and 230,000 on parks, commons, and open spaces. From Jan. 31 to Dec. 31 next the Board may expend 23,708,579 5s. 11d. Among the amounts which may be expended are 243,028 3s. 5d. under the Street Improvements Act, 1872; 225,000 for parks, commons, and open spaces; 225,000 for the Thames Embankments and other places, including the Northumberland-avenue; 27,000 on the obelisk on the Victoria Embankment; 112,551 3s. 6d. on the toll bridges; and 15,500,000 under the Improvement Act of 1877, and 250,000 for artisans' and labourers' dwellings, besides other sums set forth in the schedule annexed to the Act, in addition to advances to public bodies. The borrowing powers amount to 1485,372 2s. 10d., and for loans to other bodies 1368,100, making 2853,472 2s. 10d. The Board may issue "Metropolitan Bills" and make arrangements with banks as to the issue of the same securities. There are twenty-seven sections in the Act, and two schedules to carry the Act into execution.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD.

The treasurer's account, published in abstract, gives the valuation of England and Wales for county rates at Lady Day, 1879, at £114,094,217, an increase of £2,200,000 upon the previous year. The valuation for police rates, £74,541,997, an increase of rather less than one million. The amount raised by county rates was £914,025, the average amount of the rate being 1 15-16d. in the pound; this amount was less by £27,275 than the preceding year. Police rates were about the same each year—namely, £567,335, the amount of the rate being 1 13-16d. in the pound. The total of local and imperial taxation was £2,046,818, which was £234,465 below the previous year. The expenditure upon the police was £1,060,293; upon prosecutions and conveyance of prisoners, £180,090; upon prisons, £120,114; lunatic asylums, £351,937; salaries of county officials, £209,998; loans repaid with interest, £397,261; and all other expenses came to £364,591; the total expenditure being £2,694,344, or £174,955 below that of 1878. The loans outstanding against the county authorities at the close of the year amounted to £2,963,014.

THE METROPOLITAN GAS SUPPLY.

Towards the close of the Session 1880, an instructive Report was issued, containing the accounts of the gas companies of the metropolis for the previous year. The total capital and borrowed money of the companies is no less than £12,881,818, divided as follows:—Chartered, £9,096,771; Commercial, £890,000; Phoenix, 1,208,000; South Metropolitan, £283,688; London, £880,359; making a total of £12,881,818. The accounts of the South Metropolitan Company include a half-year's independent working of the late Surrey Consumers' Company, January to June, 1879. The total income of the Chartered Company was £2,577,335; of the Commercial, £300,460; of the London, £312,000; of the Phoenix, £890,994; and of the South Metropolitan, £335,970, giving a total income of all the companies, from all sources, of £3,928,769. All the companies showed an increase in their income as compared with 1875—the Chartered, £168,587; the Commercial, £16,781; the London, £30,638; the Phoenix, £15,468; and the South Metropolitan, £25,640; or a total increase of £247,961. The gross profit of the Chartered showed an increase over 1878 of £55,800, the Commercial an increase of £2000, the London a decrease of £1589, the Phoenix an increase of £4238, and the South Metropolitan an increase of £5155. The gross profit of the Chartered Company was £787,495, of the Commercial £88,348, of the London £73,111, of the Phoenix £111,707, and of the South Metropolitan £107,414, giving a total gross profit of £1,183,077. The Chartered Company realised on capital and borrowed money a gross profit of 28 13s. 2d. per cent, and on gas rental a gross profit of 238 14s. 8d. per cent; the Commercial, 112 1s. 7d. per cent and 235 15s. 1d. per cent; the London, 28 9s. 11d. per cent and 230 18s. 11d. per cent; the Phoenix, 29 4s. 11d. per cent and 237 18s. 1d. per cent; and the South Metropolitan, 212 16s. 10d. per cent and 240 18s. 4d. per cent, giving an average of 29 3s. 5d. per cent on the capital and borrowed money of all the companies, and of 237 19s. 8d. per cent on the gas rental.

Out of the total of 50 members 22 had not seats on the late board, while the number of new members in 1876 and also in 1873 was 25.

From the School Board Report, issued for the half year ending March, 1880, we learn that the anticipated difficulty of carrying out the Act has not been at all equal to what was expected. In 1870 the number of children on the registers of elementary schools in England and Wales was 1,693,000; in 1871 it had risen to 2,407,000; and in 1879 to 3,710,000, showing an increase of 119 per cent in nine years. The number of children in actual attendance in 1870 was 1,152,000; in 1874 it was 1,679,000; in 1879 it was 2,695,000, an increase of 125 per cent. The next point was the amount of accommodation. In 1870 there were 1,817,000 places; in 1874 there were 2,572,000; in 1879 there were 4,142,000, an increase of 121 per cent. The grant in 1870 was at the rate of 6s. 11½d. per child; in 1874 it was 12s. 5d.; in 1879 it was 16s. 5½d., an increase of 56 per cent. The percentage of population on the school registers was 7·7 in 1870, 10·6 in 1874, 14·7 in 1879. These figures were almost startling. The outlay on school buildings by School Boards and voluntary bodies has been £20,000,000 in the nine years, of which the School Boards had spent over £13,000,000. The total cost of elementary education in schools under inspection in England and Wales had never been given. In 1870 it was £1,527,000, or an average of £1 5s. 5d. per scholar; in 1874 it was £2,620,000, the average being £1 11s. 2½d.; in 1879 it was £4,775,000, the average being £1 16s. 5d. The money in 1870 was made up of £136,000 from endowments, £754,000 from voluntary contributions, £2386,000 from the rates, £1,372,000 in school fees, £49,000 from miscellaneous sources, and £1,898,000 from imperial funds; total, £1,765,000. In addition the cost of administration had been £287,000, so that voluntary subscriptions exceeded the contributions from the rates, and school fees exceeded both. In 1870 the average amount of school fees paid by each scholar was 8s. 4½d.; in 1874, 9s. 8½d.; and in 1879, 10s. 5½d. The population under the Boards numbered about 18,000,000. The total expenditure of the Boards last year was £3,700,000, of which only £243,000 went for administration. The percentage of average attendance in 1870 was 68·1. In 1874 it had fallen to 67·2, but last year it had risen to 69·9, and that average was considerably less than it would have been if it were not for the half-timers, who caused a depreciation of at least 10 per cent. The proportion of scholars examined in the fourth standard and upwards in 1870 was 19 per cent; in 1874, 18·1 per cent; and in 1879, 22·1 per cent. The numbers examined were, in 1870, 102,630; and in 1879, 388,680. There are 77 blind children taught in 29 different schools; and there are also 162 deaf mutes under instruction on what is termed the "Dual System"—that is, sign and lip teaching, and there are many more children waiting for school accommodation. The rise in the number of certificated teachers had been from 12,647 in 1870 to 29,706 in 1879. Assistant teachers had increased from 1202 to 6016, and pupil teachers from 14,300 to 33,195.

CIVIL LIST PENSIONS.

The grant of a Civil List Pension of larger amount than usual may call attention to this class of pensions and their limitations. They are granted under the Civil List Act of 1 Vict., c. 2, whereby it is provided that there shall be paid quarterly out of the Consolidated Fund, such pensions, at the rate of £1200 a year for each year of her Majesty's reign as may be granted by her Majesty, chargeable on the Civil List revenues. But the statute enacts that such pensions "shall be granted to such persons only as have just claims on the Royal beneficence, or who, by their personal services to the Crown, by the performance of duties to the public, or by their useful discoveries in science and attainments in literature and the arts, have merited the gracious consideration of their Sovereign and the gratitude of their country." Forty-three years have seen the list of these pensioners very much thinned by death. The finance accounts for 1879 showed that the total amount of the pensions then payable was but £22,108, and the accounts for 1880 show that there was not a net increase of £1900 in the year, the total being still only £22,467.

The additions to the List last year were as follows:—

Mrs. Sarah Vargas, £25, in consideration of the long and meritorious services of her late husband, Mr. Peter Vargas, superintendent of the Parliamentary messengers under the Secretary to the Treasury.

Miss Sarah Sophia Vargas, £25; Miss Clara Vargas, £25; Miss Louisa Emily Vargas, £25; Miss Rosa Vargas, £25; Miss Henrietta Vargas, £25, in consideration of the long and meritorious services of their father, the late Mr. Peter Vargas, superintendent of the Parliamentary messengers under the Secretary to the Treasury.

Miss Mary Ann Sydney Turner, £75, in consideration of the services rendered by her father, the late Very Rev. Sydney Turner, as inspector of reformatories and industrial schools.

Lady Fothergill-Cooke, £50, in consideration of the services of her husband, the late Sir W. Fothergill-Cooke, in connection with the introduction of the telegraphic system into this country.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

A good harvest is plainly an addition to the wealth of the country, whether evenly distributed or otherwise. This wealth is of the kind which is rather an addition to revenue than to capital. Abundant crops at once improve the circumstances of the farmer who sows and reaps them; the landowner is also put in a better position, for rent depends upon the average yield of land, and a good year raises the average. The consumer should, of course, be benefited, for the cheapness and abundance of food leave them more to spend on the secondary necessities and luxuries of life. Trade and profits are thereby increased, and wages tend to rise in all industries.

In the twelve months ending Aug. 31, 1880, the import of wheat into the United Kingdom reached 59,815,621 cwt., equal to 13,833,621 qrs., and when we add to this the import of wheat flour, which amounted to 10,431,726 cwt., or 2,380,493 qrs., we find that we received from abroad no fewer than 70,447,417 cwt., or 16,784,114 qrs. of wheat and wheat flour. In the twelvemonth ending Aug. 31, 1879, the amount was 62,255,125 cwt., or 14,508,906 qrs., and in the twelvemonth ending Aug. 31, 1878, it was 60,849,823 cwt., or 14,543,607 qrs. Our other imports of corn in the twelvemonth ending Aug. 31, 1880, comprised 31,870,896 cwt., or 7,436,543 qrs., of Indian corn or maize; 12,884,695 cwt., or 3,167,147 qrs. of barley; the very large quantity of 15,622,912 cwt., or 3,891,059 qrs. of oats; 2,002,772 cwt., or 445,061 qrs. of peas; and 2,754,516 cwt., or 645,721 qrs. of beans. The grand total for the year—1877-8, the twelvemonth's import thus classed under the title of "corn"—amounted to 134,450,348 cwt., or 33,856,689 qrs.; in 1878-9 it was 124,901,538 cwt., or 31,510,390 qrs.; and in 1879-80 it reached 134,881,180 cwt., or 34,465,044 qrs.

The American wheat crop of 1880 was estimated to yield 450,000,000 bushels, and the home consumption 250,000,000 bushels, thus leaving an available surplus for exportation of 200,000,000 bushels, which is much above the average of previous years. The value of the exports of American bread and breadstuffs during each of the last two years has exceeded in value the exports of any other commodity, and it is of interest to know that there was in 1879 an increase in the value of breadstuffs of 28,577,687 dollars over that of 1878, an increase of 15·72 per cent. The splendid harvests enabled the American farmers to send us in 1878 and 1879 160,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour. The actual exports of breadstuffs from the United States for the calendar year 1879 amounted to 177,906,563 bushels—that is, 147,265,045 bushels of wheat, against 134,319,966 bushels for the year 1878.

Crop.	Acres.	Yield.	Product.
Corn ...	58,885,401	26·2	Bushels 1,544,889,000
Cotton ...	12,516,000	191 lb.	Bales 5,020,389
Barley ...	1,730,000	28·9	Bushels 40,000,000
Buckwheat ...	640,200	20·9	" 13,438,000
Oats ...	12,683,500	28·7	" 365,000,000
Potatoes ...	1,386,880	98·9	" 131,369,840
Rye ...	1,550,000	15·2	" 23,646,000
Tobacco ...	493,167	723	Lb. 354,059,659
Wheat ...	32,800,000	13	Bushels 448,765,000

The total value of the above crops was 1,904,480,659 dollars, an increase in wheat of 28,638,000 bushels, and a decrease in cotton of 196,814 bales.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the night of Oct. 9, near Jupiter during the night of Oct. 10. She is near Mars during the night of the 18th, near Venus on the morning of the 21st, and near Mercury on the morning of the 24th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 7th	at 50 minutes	after 1h.	in the afternoon.
Last Quarter	„ 15th „	26 „	2 „	morning.
New Moon	„ 23rd „	31 „	2 „	morning.
First Quarter	„ 30th „	47 „	4 „	morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the 4th, and again on the last day of the month, and most distant from it on the 16th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting at 5h. 0m. p.m. on the 3rd, at 5h. 51m. p.m. on the 9th, at 5h. 40m. p.m. on the 16th, at 5h. 29m. p.m. on the 23rd, at 5h. 18m. p.m. on the 29th, and at 5h. 4m. p.m. on the 30th, being, respectively, 25 minutes, 29 minutes, 30 minutes, 29 minutes, 28 minutes, and 25 minutes after sunset on these evenings. He is at his greatest eastern elongation (21 deg. 38 min.) on the 16th, near the Moon on the 24th, and stationary among the stars on the 28th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 5th at 3h. 8m. a.m., or 3h. 6m.; before sunrise; on the 18th at 3h. 37m. a.m., or 2h. 53m. before the Sun, and on the 29th at 4h. 7m. a.m., or 2h. 41m. before the Sun. She is at her least distance from the Sun on the 17th, and near the Moon on the 20th.

MARS rises at 9h. 3m. p.m. on the 7th, at 8h. 38m. p.m. on the 17th, and at 6h. 11m. p.m. on the 27th. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 34m. a.m. on the 15th at 5h. 4m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 4h. 21m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 13th.

JUPITER rises on the 7th at 6h. 47m. p.m., or 1h. 23m. after sunset; on the 17th at 6h. 5m. p.m., or 1h. 3m. after sunset; and on the 27th at 5h. 23m. p.m., or 42 minutes after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 55m. a.m., on the 15th at 1h. 56m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 46m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 10th.

SATURN rises on the 7th at 6h. 21m. p.m., or 57 minutes after sunset; on the 17th at 5h. 40m. p.m., or 39 minutes after sunset; and on the 27th at 4h. 59m. p.m., or 18 minutes after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 59m. a.m., on the 15th at 1h. 0m. a.m., on the last day at 11h. 48m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 9th.

A VISIT FROM THE DENTIST.
FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

EUROPE has a total POPULATION of 815,829,000.

* The entire area of Turkey in Europe and Asia in kilos. is 2,238,417, and population 25,180,000.

AMERICA has a total POPULATION of 95,495,500.

See Population Returns of United States, given separately, with other of the principal States.

The African Continent has a population of 205,679,000, and the total area, as the result of a new estimate, is given as 49,263,000 square kilometres. Of these, 1,000,000 square kilometres are taken to be cultivated lands, 1,572,431 square kilometres: savannas and light woods, 6,235,377 square kilometres; steppe, 4,269,027; desert, 10,659,138, of which the Sahara occupies 8,000,000 kilometres, including many oases and cultivated patches. The area and population of Africa are divided among the chief countries and regions as follows:—

North Equatorial Regions	2,254,980	...	27,000,000
South Equatorial Regions	1,717,900	...	20,000,000

ASIA.—POPULATION, 838,707,000.

The principal states and territories in this vast continent are—AFGHANISTAN.—Area, 212,000 square miles; population, 5,000,000; prevailing religion, Mohammedan (Sunnite). Capital, Cabul; population, 60,000.

ARABIA.—The entire peninsula embraces an area of 1,200,000; population, 6,000,000; religion, Mahommedan. Chief Town, Mecca; population, 40,000.

BELOOCHISTAN.—Area, 200,000; religion, Mohammedan (Sunnite); revenue estimate, 30,000. Capital, Kalat; population, 12,000.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1881.

BORNEO.—Sultan, Abdul Mumein; area, 800,000; population, 250,000. The island is divided into a large number of petty sovereignties; among them, Sarawak, on the west coast, population 180,000, is governed by Rajah Brooke, nephew of Sir J. Brooke.

BURMA.—Area, 157,500 square miles; population, 3,000,000; religion, Buddhism.

CHINA.—Tsai Tien, Emperor; area, 4,000,000; population, 470,000,000; prevailing religion, Confucianism—Buddhism; revenue estimated about £80,000,000. Capital, Peking, population, 1,700,000.

JAPAN.—Mutsu Hito, Mikado; area, 280,000; population, 34,388,500; prevailing religion, Buddhism; revenue, £9,750,000; army, 80,000. Capital, Jedo, 1,200,000.

JAVA (Dutch Colony).—Baron Van Lansberge, Governor-General; area, 51,886; population, 16,671,288, Mohammedan; revenue, £10,480,374. Capital, Batavia; population, 180,000.

PERIA.—Nasr-ed-Din, Shah; area, 560,000 square miles; population, 8,500,000; religion, Mahommedan (Sheah); revenue, £2,000,000; army, 105,000. Capital, Teheran; population, 180,000.

TURKEY IN ASIA.—Area, 664,272 square miles; population, 18,468,000. Capital city, Smyrna, 180,000.

BRITISH COLONIES.

Australia, taken with recent annexations to Queensland of islands in Torres Straits, has a population as follows for 1878:—New South Wales, 608,743; Victoria, 878,442; South Australia, 248,795; Northern Territory (1879), 3265; Queensland, 210,510; West Australia, 28,186; Tasmania, 108,947; New Zealand (end of 1879), 476,642; including Maoris, which is considerably larger than the census figure of March of the same year, 414,412. From careful estimates the area of New Guinea is set down as 75,802 square kilometres, and the population 5,0,000. The following table relates to the Oceanic islands:—

	Area.	Population.
	Square Miles.
Melanesia	145,855	108,930
Polynesia	9,791	130,400
Sandwich Islands	17,068	58,000

Australia and Polynesia together have a population of 4,081,000. The Polar Regions, 82,000. According to the latest data Europe has a population of 252,920,000; Asia, 834,707,000; Africa, 205,679,000; America, 95,495,500; and, inclusive of Australia, giving a grand total of 1,455,923,500.

ECLIPSES IN 1881.

In the year 1881 there will be two Eclipses of the Sun and two of the Moon.

The first is a Partial Eclipse of the Sun, on May 27-28, invisible at Greenwich. It begins at 9h. 45m. p.m. on May 27, in longitude 104½ deg. E. of Greenwich, and latitude 89½ deg. N. Its greatest phase, when about three-fourths of the Sun's diameter will be obscured, is at 11h. 49m. p.m., in longitude 134 deg. E. of Greenwich, and latitude 68½ deg. N. The eclipse ends on May 28 at 1h. 52m. a.m., in longitude 94½ deg. W. of Greenwich, and latitude 46½ deg. N.

The Eclipse will be visible from the NE. of Asia and NW. parts of America.

The second is a Total Eclipse of the Moon, on June 12, invisible at Greenwich. It begins at 5h. 11m. a.m., Greenwich mean time, in longitude 78½ deg. W. of Greenwich, and latitude 28 deg. S. The middle of the Eclipse will take place at 6h. 53m. a.m., and it will end at 8h. 38m. a.m., in longitude 128 deg. W. of Greenwich, and latitude 23 deg. S.

The third is an Annular Eclipse of the Sun, on Nov. 21, invisible at Greenwich. It begins at 2h. 13m. p.m., mean time at Greenwich, in longitude 137 deg. W. of Greenwich, and latitude 26½ deg. S., and ends at 5h. 49m. p.m., in longitude 14 deg. E. of Greenwich, and latitude 39 deg. S.

The fourth is a Partial Eclipse of the Moon, on Dec. 5, partly visible at Greenwich. It begins at 3h. 28m. p.m., Greenwich mean time, in longitude 125 deg. E. of Greenwich, and latitude 22 deg. N. The middle of the Eclipse will be at 5h. 8m. p.m., in longitude 100½ deg. E. of Greenwich, and latitude 22 deg. N., and the end will be at 6h. 48m. p.m., in longitude 76½ deg. E. of Greenwich, and latitude 22½ deg. N.

At Greenwich the Moon will rise at 3h. 50m. p.m.

EMIGRATION STATISTICS.

The Census will, no doubt, show a large increase in the population of England, although emigration has gone on actively for many years. This outlet for an over-populated country is likely to receive a check; for New Zealand, it appears, is already getting overstocked, and the last intelligence received is that no more people should be sent, and no more assisted passages paid out of the Emigration Fund. We learn from the Emigration Returns that the number, nationalities, and destinations of persons leaving the United Kingdom for Places out of Europe, in each of the Years 1874, 1875, and 1876, were as follows:—

Nationalities.	Years.	Destinations.				Total to all Places.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the night of the 5th. She is near Jupiter during the night of the 6th, and Mars during the night of the 10th; and she is near Venus and Mercury during the morning hours of the 20th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 6th at 3 minutes after 2h. in the morning.
Last Quarter	" 13th " 1 " 11 " afternoon.
New Moon	" 21st " 21 " 4 " afternoon.
First Quarter	" 28th " 1 " 0 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the 25th, and most distant from it on the 15th.

MERCURY transits or crosses the Sun's disc on the 7th and 8th: the first contact will be at 10h. 16m. p.m. on the 7th, and the last at 3h. 38m. a.m. on the 8th, invisible from England. He sets at sunset on the 7th, and after this day sets in daylight. He rises at sunrise on the 6th, 58 minutes before sunrise on the 12th; at 6h. 40m. a.m., or 1h. 43m. before sunrise, on the 17th; at 5h. 32m. a.m., or 2h. before sunrise, on the 22nd; and at 5h. 42m. a.m., or 1h. 57m. before the Sun, on the 27th. He is in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 8th, and in his ascending node on the same day, at his least distance from the Sun on the 12th, stationary among the stars on the 16th, near the Moon on the 20th, and at his greatest western elongation (19 deg. 53 min.) on the 24th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising at 4h. 38m. a.m. on the 7th, at 5h. 0m. a.m. on the 17th, and at 5h. 41m. a.m. on the 27th, being respectively 2h. 28m., 2h. 14m., and 1h. 58m. before sunrise on those mornings. She is near the Moon on the 20th.

MARS rises on the 6th at 7h. 38m. p.m., or 3h. 14m. after sunset, on the 16th at 7h. 0m. p.m., or 2h. 50m. after sunset; and on the 26th at 6h. 18m. p.m., or 2h. 16m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 18m. a.m., on the 15th at 3h. 31m. a.m., and on the last day at 2h. 28m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 10th, and stationary among the stars on the 17th.

JUPITER rises on the 6th at 4h. 40m. p.m., or 15 minutes after sunset; on the 11th he rises at about the time of sunset, and after this day he rises in daylight. He sets at sunrise on the 14th, and at 6h. 12m. a.m., or nearly 1h. 30m. before sunrise, on the 28th. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 41m. a.m., on the 15th at 11h. 34m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 37m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 6th, and in opposition to the Sun on the 13th.

SATURN rises on the 8th at about the time of sunset, and after this day he rises in daylight. He sets at sunrise on the 2nd; at 6h. 24m. a.m., or 48 minutes before sunrise, on the 8th; at 5h. 39m. a.m., or 1h. 46m. before sunrise, on the 18th; and at 4h. 50m. a.m., or 2h. 45m. before sunrise on the 28th. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 44m. p.m., on the 15th at 10h. 45m. p.m., and on the last day at 9h. 42m. p.m. He is in opposition to the Sun on the 1st, and near the Moon on the 5th.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1881.

SAVINGS BANKS.

The following return shows the amount held by the National Debt Commissioners, and whether the Trustee Savings Bank account in their hands will have sufficed, under the present law, to have paid its way without State aid:—On Nov. 20, 1844, the National Debt Commissioners owed to Trustee Savings Banks £29,853,182. Against this Liability the Commissioners held the following Assets:—

3½ per Cents	£14,337,710	3 per Cents, 1728	£29,000
Consols	9,021,322	Exchequer Bills	328,900
Reduced Threes	4,959,312	Cash Balance	757,536

On Nov. 20, 1844, Securities were quoted as follows:—3½ per Cent, at 102½; Consols, at 100½; Reduced Threes, at 99½; Exchequer Bills, at 60 to 65 shillings premium. If, therefore, the Assets had been realised at the prices quoted, they would have produced—

3½ per Cents	£14,337,710	at 102½ =	£14,930,464
Consols	9,021,322	at 100 =	9,021,322
Reduced Threes	4,959,312	at 99 =	4,909,719
3 per Cents, 1728 (taken at the same price as Reduced)	29,000	at 99 =	28,710
Exchequer Bills, £328,900 at 60s. premium			338,767

Cash Balance

Liabilities as stated above

Surplus of Assets

The new bill lays down a sounder principle of valuation, by directing that the Funded Securities held by the National Debt Commissioners on account of Savings Banks should be valued at 92½ per cent, being a fraction over 92½, and representing the price which would give to the purchaser interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. Mr. Gladstone had adopted this principle of valuation in order to measure with correctness the progress year by year of Trustee Savings Bank Finance so far as concerns the National Debt Commissioners.

Table showing the result, on Nov. 20, 1879, if the National Debt Commissioners had started at par on Nov. 20, 1844, their securities being valued on the principle adopted in the Savings Bank Bill (1880), and had received no aid from the Government in the meantime.

BRITISH INDIA.

The first commercial intercourse of the English with the East Indies was a private adventure of three ships fitted out in 1601, only one of which reached its destination. The information obtained led to a mercantile venture, and the Company's first charter dates December, 1600, and their stock consisted of £72,000. The success which attended this Company led to the formation of another in 1693, and both were united under one charter in 1702. The Empire now extends over a territory as large as the Continent of Europe without Russia, having an area of 1,486,810 square miles, and a population of 240 millions. From Penang, the northern frontier station, to Cape Comorin the distance is 1900 miles, and a like distance separates Karachi, the port of Sind, from Sudiya, the frontier post on the eastern border of Assam.

Geographically, the country may be broadly divided into Northern and Southern India. Northern India, or Hindustan, lying at the foot of the Himalayas, and stretching from sea to sea, comprehends the rich alluvial plains watered by the Indus, the Ganges, the Lower Brahmaputra, and their tributaries. Southern India, or the Deccan, is a plateau of triangular shape and very old geological formation, bounded on two sides by the Malabar and Coromandel coasts, which converge at Cape Comorin, and on the third by the Vindhya Mountains, north of the Narbaddah river. Three fifths of this great Empire are under the direct rule of the British Government, and are divided for administrative purposes into eight provinces—viz., Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab, the Central Provinces, British Burmah, Assam, Madras, and Bombay. The remaining two fifths are made up of a large number of native States, whose chiefs, one and all, acknowledge the suzerainty of her Imperial Majesty, "Kaiser-i-Hind."

The total area of British possessions in India, including Burmah, is 899,341 square miles, and of tributary States, 557,908 square miles; population of former, 191,085,445; of latter, 49,203,063; total British possessions, 1,457,244 square miles, population 240,288,500. The French possessions in India have an area of 508½ square kilometres, and a population (1877) of 280,381; the Portuguese an area of 3855 square kilometres and a population of 444,987. Ceylon has an area of 24,702 square miles, and a population in 1877 of 2,755,567. The following table shows the areas and populations of the various subdivisions of the Indo-Chinese Peninsula, according to the latest attainable data of any value:—

	Area. Square miles.	Population.
British Burmah	229,351	2,747,148
Manipur	18,675	128,000
Tribes east and south of Assam	65,500	200,000

Caution to Parents.

Under delicate Skin of Infants and Children is particularly liable to injury from coarse and unrefined Toilet Soap, which is commonly adulterated with the most pernicious ingredients. Hence, frequently, the irritable, redness, and blotchy appearance of the Skin from which many children suffer. It should be remembered that artificially coloured Soaps are frequently poisonous, particularly the Red, Blue and Green varieties; and nearly all Toilet Soaps contain an excess of Soda. Very white Soaps, such as "Curd," usually contain much more Soda than others, owing to the use of Cocoa Nut Oil, which makes a bad, strongly alkaline soap very injurious to the skin, besides leaving a disagreeable odour on it. The serious injury to children resulting from these Soaps often remains unsuspected in spite of nature's warnings, until the unhealthy and irritable condition of the skin has developed into some unsightly disease, not infrequently baffling the skill of the most eminent Dermatologists.

PURE, FRAGRANT AND DURABLE—NO ARTIFICIAL COLOURING.

MAY BE USED TO THE THINNESS OF A WATER—NO WASTE.

IS RECOMMENDED AS ABSOLUTELY PURE;
FREE FROM EXCESS OF ALKALI (SODA),
AND FROM ARTIFICIAL COLOURING MATTER.
IT IS DELIGHTFULLY PERFUMED, REMARKABLY DURABLE, AND HAS BEEN IN GOOD REPUTE NEARLY 100 YEARS

The following testimony is extracted, by permission of the publishers, Messrs. Chatto & Windus, from "The Hygiene of the Skin," by

Mr. J. L. Milton,

Senior Surgeon to "St. John's Hospital for the Skin," London.

FROM time to time I have tried many different Soaps, and I have now, "after Fifteen Years' careful trial in many hundreds of cases, "both in hospital and private practice, no hesitation in giving my "verdict to the effect that nothing has answered so well or proved so "beneficial to the skin as Pears' Transparent Soap."

Sold Everywhere, but insist on having the genuine.

The same effect will be seen on a larger scale (increasing with distance) if the gaze is steadily directed for some time at a wall or ceiling, and especially so if they be of a greyish tint.

A fact - a test for color blindness

PEARS

IF you look at this  (in a good light) for 20 seconds and immediately afterwards at the blank space below, the latter will slowly assume a Blueish Green tint, in the middle of which "PEARS" will re-appear, but in Red letters instead of White.

THERE are some persons who remain for years unconscious of a partial colour blindness, and they may be unable to perceive these phenomena, but will find that most of their friends are able to do so.

IF you look at this  (In a good light) for 20 seconds and immediately afterwards at the blank space below, the latter will slowly assume a Pale Yellow tint, in the middle of which "SOAP" will re-appear but in Blue letters instead of White.

$OME "colour-blind" persons having written in very "uncomplimentary" terms that this is untrue, Messrs. PEARS (the appointed Soap Makers to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales) pledge their reputation that it is a curious scientific truth although novel to many.

Good Complexion & Nice Hands.

NOTHING adds so much to personal attractions as a bright, clear complexion, and a soft skin. Without them the handsomest and most regular features are but coldly impressive, whilst with them the plainest become attractive; and yet there is no advantage so easily secured. The regular use of a properly prepared Soap is one of the chief means; but the Public have not the requisite knowledge of the manufacture of Soap to guide them to a proper selection, so a pretty box, a pretty colour, or an agreeable perfume too frequently outweigh the more important consideration, viz.: the composition of the Soap itself, and thus many a good complexion is marred which would be enhanced by proper care.

A most eminent authority on the Skin,

Professor Erasmus Wilson, F.R.S.;

Writes in the Journal of Cutaneous Medicine:—

THE use of a good Soap is certainly calculated to preserve the skin in health, to maintain its complexion and tone, and prevent its falling into wrinkles . . . PEARS is a name engraven on the memory of the 'oldest inhabitant'; and 'Pears' Transparent Soap is an article of the nicest and most careful manufacture, and one of the most refreshing and agreeable of balms for the skin."

TO persons whose skin is delicate or sensitive to changes in the weather, winter or summer, Pears' Transparent Soap is invaluable, as, on account of its emollient, non-irritant character, Redness, Roughness and Chapping are prevented, and a clear appearance and soft velvety condition maintained, and a good, healthful and attractive complexion ensured. Its agreeable and lasting perfume, beautiful appearance, and soothing properties, commend it as the greatest luxury and most elegant adjunct to the toilet.

Pears' Transparent Soap.

PEARS' SOAP is sold everywhere, but INSIST on having PEARS' as vilely-injurious imitations are often substituted for extra gain, even by dealers who would be thought "respectable," some of whom attract the public into their shops or stores by marking PEARS' SOAP at less than cost price, and then recommend some rubbish on which they get a large profit.

THE CENSUS TAKING OF 1881.

On Monday, April 4, the occupier of every dwelling-house will be required to fill up a printed census form, with particulars of name, sex, age, rank, occupation, birth-place, &c., of every member of the household, who abode in the house on the previous night; also whether any are blind, deaf, dumb, imbecile, or lunatic. This Census will be one of more interest than usual, since the Government await the bringing in of a Reform Bill for the assimilation of county and borough franchise until the increase in the population of the country is fully ascertained.

The Census of 1881 will be the ninth decennial enumeration of the inhabitants of Great Britain, and the seventh of Ireland, taken under authority of Parliament. The first of these important investigations was instituted in 1801, in respect of Great Britain; but in Ireland not until 1821. Since then the enumeration has been taken at every decennial period with constantly improving machinery. Whilst in England and the United States a Census is taken every ten years, in France there is one every five years. The United States, however, lately fixed on what is called the periodic decade. As regards England, the organisation has long been completed by the appointment of a special public officer—the Registrar-General, under whose superintendence the previous Censuses have been taken. In Scotland and Ireland until 1861 no similar advantage existed. In 1851, in Scotland, the duty on the former occasion was intrusted to the sheriffs of the several counties, and in Ireland to the department of the Chief Secretary; but in 1855 a Registrar-General was appointed for Scotland, with the same duties as the English officer, and with appropriate machinery. In Ireland, the taking of the Census was committed, under the authority of the Chief Secretary, to the officers of the constabulary.

The preliminary report of the Census of England and Wales in 1871 established some facts of interest. From this it appeared that the increase was almost equally divided between boroughs and counties or divisions of counties, excluding the boroughs which they contain. The total increase of population having been 2,637,844, we find 1,441,393 of this increase within and 1,196,451 without the boundaries of Parliamentary boroughs. Of the 95 counties or divisions of counties the population had increased in eighty-three, leaving a decrease, which amounts in the aggregate to 25,071 in the remaining twelve. Of this decrease, 9755, or more than one third, occurred in the three Welsh counties of Pembrokeshire, Anglesea, and Brecon; and the remainder in East Cheshire, East and West Cornwall, East Cumberland, North Devon, Huntingdonshire, West Norfolk, South Notts, and South Wilts. The greatest diminution in any English division was 6145 in West Cornwall; and the least, 498, in North Devon. South Shropshire showed the smallest increase of any division, amounting only to eight persons; and Middlesex the largest with 392,397—the large increments being mostly in the divisions that contain great towns. Of the 200 boroughs which returned members at the General Election of 1868, 158 increased their population by the already stated aggregate of 1,441,393. Eleven boroughs had been created since the Census of 1861, so that for them no comparison with the past could be made. Thirty lost an aggregate of 54,694 persons; and one—the remarkable case of Cokermouth—had remained stationary. In four boroughs the increase was less than 100; in twenty-nine more than 100 and less than 500; in twenty-three between 500 and 1000; in eleven between 1000 and 5000; in twelve between 5000 and 10,000; in three between 10,000 and 50,000; in four between 50,000 and 100,000; and in one (Lambeth) it was 84,228. The other end of the scale was occupied by Stamford, with an increase of 39 only. Sixty-eight boroughs had undergone alterations of boundary (probably in every case in the direction of enlargement), and sixty-six of those were among the number which show increase. Only two boroughs—Coventry and Macclesfield—had lost in population, notwithstanding the change of boundary. In the former the decrease was 297, in the latter 890. Of the total decrease in borough population, about two thirds, or 37,331, was in the City of London, and more than another sixth, or 8210, in Westminster. It would appear that the proportionate increase of electors was much greater in the provincial than in the metropolitan boroughs, showing that in the latter there were many more persons to be enfranchised by the Reform Bill. Thus, Finsbury and the Tower Hamlets in 1861 had 723,371 inhabitants; and in 1864 they had 55,367 electors, or 7.6 per cent. In 1871 they had 634,844 population; and in 1868 84,308 electors, or 7.7 per cent. It would seem from these examples as if the great increase in borough populations had been chiefly in the class of non-electors.

AMERICAN CENSUS OF 1880.

So much of the Census of 1880 has now been completed as to permit the population statistics of the principal cities in the United States to be arrived at. The following table of figures is of great interest, as showing the present population of these cities, as well as the comparative rates of increase, which are very varying:—

Population.	Increase per cent since 1870.	Population.	Increase per cent since 1870.
New York ... 1,208,551 ... 21		New Orleans ... 207,328 ... 8
Philadelphia ... 842,000 ... 24		Washington ... 160,000 ... 45
Brooklyn ... 654,693 ... 40		Cleveland ... 157,000 ... 71
Chicago ... 477,500 ... 60		Buffalo ... 149,000 ... 27
St. Louis ... 376,000 ... 21		Newark ... 136,000 ... 30
Boston ... 352,000 ... 40		Milwaukee ... 130,000 ... 92
Baltimore ... 330,000 ... 23		Detroit ... 119,000 ... 50
Cincinnati ... 255,000 ... 19		Louisville ... 112,000 ... 11
San Francisco ... 227,330 ... 51		Providence ... 104,000 ... 52

The returns from Pittsburgh and Jersey City have not yet been completed. Chicago, Cleveland, and Milwaukee stand at the head as far as relative increase goes, and betoken the success of the grain and oil-refining trades. At the same time, the rate of increase of many smaller towns is very much larger than these. For instance, Minneapolis, another great milling and lumber centre, shows 244 per cent; Atlanta (a railway centre in Georgia), 146 per cent; Waterbury (the watchmaking city of Connecticut), 102; St. Paul, near Minneapolis, 100; and Denver, in Colorado, the astounding rate of 614 per cent. In ten years the above cities have advanced beyond the hundred thousand limit:—Cleveland, Milwaukee, Detroit, Jersey City, and Providence; and there are probably others yet to be heard from. The older cities, too, continue to increase in a manner almost as remarkable. New York has jumped from eight hundred thousand to twelve hundred thousand, Chicago has increased in much the same proportion, whilst the population of San Francisco is five times greater now than in 1860.

New York, Philadelphia, and Brooklyn retain their relative positions; but Chicago and St. Louis change places, the former being now fourth, and St. Louis fifth. Baltimore, which was sixth in 1870, has given place to Boston, which was then seventh, and San Francisco has advanced beyond Cincinnati and New Orleans, going from tenth to eighth place. It may be said, speaking generally, that the population of all the principal cities has doubled during the last twenty years. But this increase is, of course, largely due to immigration—New York alone receiving its thousands weekly from the emigrant steamers.

A YEAR'S RAILWAY STATISTICS.

From a report presented to Parliament on the number of accidents which occurred on the railways of the United Kingdom during the year 1879 we learn that the total number of persons returned to the Board of Trade as having been killed in the working of the railways during the year was 1032, and the number of injured 3513. Of these 160 persons killed, and 1907 persons injured were passengers. Of the remainder, 452 killed and 1651 injured were officers or servants of the railway companies, or of contractors; and 420 killed and 255 injured were trespassers and suicides, and other persons who met with accidents at level crossings or from miscellaneous causes. Of the passengers, according to the returns made to the Board of Trade, 75 were killed, including 73 supposed to have been lost in the Tay Bridge disaster, and 602 were injured from accidents to trains. In addition to the above, the companies have returned 42 persons killed and 2314 injured from accidents which occurred on their premises, but in which the movement of vehicles on railways was not concerned, and which consequently cannot be considered as "Railway Accidents."

The total number of passenger-journeys, exclusive of journeys by season-ticket holders, was 592,732,890 for the year 1879, or 2,291,565 less than in the previous year. Calculated on these figures, the proportions of passengers killed and injured in 1879 from all causes were, in round numbers, 1 in 3,517,000 killed and 1 in 430,000 injured. In 1878 the proportions were 1 in 4,520,000 killed and 1 in 322,000 injured.

It appears that of the 100 train accidents investigated the largest number occurred on the following railways, viz.:—14 on the London and North-Western, 1730 miles; 9 on the London, Brighton, and South Coast, 351 miles; 6 on the Great Western, 2090 miles; 6 on the Lancashire and Yorkshire, 473 miles; 4 on the Midland, 1839 miles; 8 on the Great Eastern, 988 miles; 4 on the Metropolitan District, 16 miles; 4 on the Great Northern, 717 miles. The remaining accidents occurred on other railways, but not exceeding three on any one system. The principal causes which led to the accidents appear to have been—Negligence, want of care, or mistakes; inadequate or unsuitable brake-power; defective arrangements of signals, points, &c.; defective system for securing intervals of space between trains; defective maintenance of rolling stock or road; excessive speed; insufficient regulations; and foggy or stormy weather or snowstorms; the most serious, as in all previous years, being that of negligence or want of care or mistakes of officers and servants, inadequate or unsuitable brake-power, defective arrangement of signals and points, and defective system for securing intervals between trains.

The following figures respecting the growth of railway capital and receipts for the first half year of 1880 are more than usually interesting, as they present such a contrast to those of the previous period of 1879. The improvement is most striking in the Northern, &c. lines, where the increase in capital account seems to have almost ceased for the time being, while the receipts have been highly satisfactory in most instances. It must not, however, be overlooked that just before the table was computed the London and North-Western Company issued four millions of new stock, and that the Midland and Lancashire and Yorkshire propose to do so in October:—

BRITISH TRADE AND REVENUE.

The Commissioners of Customs in their annual report, advert to the causes of the decline in the revenue from the customs during the past year, and they state that they cannot confidently expect that the tide which has apparently turned to a more hopeful flow of prosperity will produce its effect on our revenue by increasing its receipts until the demand for labour is once more in excess of its supply, and general employment at improved wages has become the realised consequence.

The Revenue Customs diminished in 1879 in comparison with that of the preceding year to the extent of £480,676; that of Ireland, notwithstanding the severe distress which prevailed in parts of it during the latter part of 1879, increased by £39,700. It appears that the total value of the imports in the year 1879 was £382,991,000, against £308,770,000 in the year 1878, being a decrease of £5,779,000, or 1·5 per cent. After a great increase in the total value in the year 1877, when the amount reached £394,419,000, the highest on record, it fell to £388,770,000 in 1878, so that the figures given for the year 1879 represent a very considerable decrease upon the diminished value of the previous year, and, comparing the results of the two years 1877 and 1879, there is a diminution of 31 millions, or 8 per cent. The total weight of the principal ores, metals, and metal manufactures of all kinds imported in 1879 was 1,736,000 tons, and the value £18,218,000.

The quantity of spirits of all kinds imported in 1879 was 13,546,000 gallons, against 12,211,000 gallons in 1878, or an increase of 1,335,000 gallons, equal to 10 per cent. The total value of spirits in 1879 was £3,000,000. The importation of tobacco of all sorts was comparatively small, being only 42,452,000 lb., against 93,055,000 lb. in 1878, a falling off of 50,607,000 lb., or 54 per cent. The large importations in the three previous years had the effect of keeping up the stock in the bonded warehouses to a very high figure, there being a diminution in the stock of only 18,156,000 lb., or 13·4 per cent, as regards the year 1878, but an increase of 7 per cent upon the stock of 1877. The decrease in the importation of wine is as conspicuous as in 1878, having fallen from 16,452,000 gallons to 15,162,000 gallons, or 7·8 per cent. The following figures show the decline that has taken place since the year 1877, when the diminished importations began—viz., 1877, 19,568,000 gallons; 1878, 16,452,000 gallons; and 1879, 15,162,000 gallons.

The increase of £1,000,000 in imports from British possessions is the net result of increases and decreases of no considerable amount. The largest increases are those of £1,000,000 in the value of the imports from the Dominion of Canada—three quarters of a million in the value of those from New South Wales, £636,000 in those from the British West Indies, and half a million in those from New Zealand. The decreases are to be found under the heads of India for £2,000,000, Mauritius for £246,000, and some other smaller sums not indicating any changes of importance. There was a decrease of 7 per cent in the value of the exports upon the year, those for 1879 being £191,581,758, as against £192,846,914 in 1878. The Commissioners think it scarcely necessary to notice any other country than the United States of America in tracing the cause of the increase in British exports, as seen in the total value for the foreign countries. The total value of the exports to the United States increased from £14,552,076 in 1878 to £20,391,980 in 1879, or 39·8 per cent. The difference is to be found chiefly in the large quantities of iron of all kinds. In order to show the relative value of the principal articles exported from this country, the Commissioners have had the following list prepared, showing the goods exported in 1879, in the order of their total value, and grouping together all that can be fairly designated by a common title.—

Cotton manufactures, including yarn, £63,974,053; woollen manufactures, including yarn, £19,575,396; iron and steel, unwrought and wrought, £19,417,383; apparel, &c., including haberdashery, hats, and umbrellas, £7,924,348; coals, cinders, and fuel, and products of coal, peat, or shale, £7,708,591; machinery and mill-work of all sorts, £7,279,205; linen manufactures, including yarn, £6,549,084; chemical products, &c., including alkali, bleaching materials, manure, and medicines, £6,167,753; articles of food and consumption, comprehending beer and ale, biscuit and bread, butter, cheese, corn, fish, provisions unenumerated, British spirits, and British wine, £6,026,604; jute manufactures, including yarn and bags empty, £3,801,080; leather of all sorts, including saddlery and harness, £3,560,654; hardware and cutlery, including implements, £3,392,480; copper, unwrought and wrought, £3,082,479; books, printed paper, stationery, and prints, £2,764,024; silk manufactures, including yarn, £2,391,944; earthen and china ware and clay manufactures, £1,975,744; oil seed and other sorts, £1,733,026; skins of all sorts, including foreign dressed in the United Kingdom and raw hides, £1,890,138; wool, sheep and lambs', and other sorts, including foreign dressed in the United Kingdom, £1,379,968; pickles, sauces, and oilman's stores, including candles and soap, £1,228,579; arms and ammunition of all sorts, £1,092,218; painters' colours, £1,039,914; furniture, household, and oil cloth, £816,459; glass of all kinds, £783,033; caoutchouc, manufactures of, £761,717; lead, pig, rolled and sheet, £568,968; cement, £551,868.

Comparing 1865 and 1879 this country consumed in the latter year seven times as many hundredweights of imported bacon and hams, more than three times as much beef, nearly three times as much cocoa, twice as much butter and cheese, and nearly three times as much corn. These facts point to a rapidly improving condition of the labouring classes. The exact figures of these increases were:—Bacon and hams, from 713,348 cwt. to 4,917,831 cwt.; beef, from 44,481 cwt. to 812,387 cwt.; butter, from 1,068,717 cwt. to 2,045,899 cwt.; cheese, from 853,277 cwt. to 1,799,781 cwt.; cocoa, from 7,464,983 lb. to 26,155,788 lb.; and corn of all kinds from 49,493,111 cwt. to 136,743,743 cwt. Eggs, for which we are mainly dependent upon France, owing to the neglect by British farmers of the small industries, were sent in 1865 to the number of 864,000,000, and the ready sale here induced the producers to increase the poultry farms sufficiently to send us more than double the number last year—namely, 799,000,000. This item of eggs may undoubtedly be reckoned as a home consumption, although it is a probable that a portion of the other articles previously named are received by the merchants in this country only to pass them on to other markets. Of fish, the culture of which is not at all developed as it might be, we imported under half a million cwt. in 1865, and 1,180,140 cwt. last year. Currants and raisins, dependent as they are upon the weather, within the limited area of the production, increased but slightly; but twice as many oranges and lemons were consumed last year as fifteen years before—namely, 3,438,059 bushels, as compared with 1,569,745. Potatoes advanced from 806,763 cwt. to 9,357,179. In coffee, the increase was from 1,232,120 cwt. to 1,809,386 cwt.; while of tea there were 63,000,000 more pounds imported last year than in 1865, the total import being 184,076,472 lb., of the value of £11,262,568, or about half a million sterling more than the total cost of the British Navy in this present year of grace.

With numerous FULL-PAGE ILLUSTRATIONS on Steel and Wood, from Original Designs by F. DICKENS, F. BARNARD, A. HOPKINS, J. D. WATSON, V. W. BROMLEY, C. GREEN, J. M. L. RALSTON, &c.

The exceptional value of the Royal Shakspeare will be that it will be printed in bold, clear, readable type, whilst the illustrations, which will be principally steel plates, will be engraved from originals by eminent modern artists. The Poet's works will be arranged in chronological order from the Text of the eminent German scholar Professor Delius, and the edition will comprise the elaborate Introduction and Life of Shakspeare by Mr. F. Furnivall, founder and director of the New Shakspeare Society. In producing, therefore, such an edition of Shakspeare in the form and at the price above announced, the Publishers have every confidence that it will be welcomed on its merits, and be regarded as being pre-eminently the Shakspeare for every household.

THAT the same make of Corset cannot be adapted to all figures—the stout and the slim, the long and the short waisted, the naturally graceful and the figures that obviously stand in need of being made so—seems so much of a truism that it would need an apology for stating it, were it not that it is claimed for the many so-called “inventions” which are now before the public.

Surely the only sensible and simple plan, in order to be really “bien corseté,” is to visit an Establishment where are to be found the outcome of the study and practical skill of the leading Corsetières, where a lady can have explained to her the various excellences and advantages of different Corsets, and where, above all, they will have the assistance of a practical French Staymaker, who will advise them as to the Corset best adapted to their type of figure.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.

THE FESTIVE SEASON.

HOW TO ENJOY GOOD FOOD, which otherwise disorders the digestive organs, causing bilious headaches and impure blood, use ENO'S FRUIT SALT. Also as a refreshing, cooling, invigorating beverage use ENO'S FRUIT SALT. It is the best preventive and cure for Biliousness, Sick Headache, Skin Eruptions, Impure Blood, Pimples on the face, Giddiness, Feverishness, Mental Depression, Want of Appetite, Sourness of the Stomach, Constipation, Vomiting, Thirst, &c., and to remove the effects of Errors of Eating and Drinking.

"O World!

WAR!!

O men! what are ye, and our best designs,
That we must work by crime to punish crime,
And slay, as if death had but this one gate!"—Byron.

THE COST OF WAR.—"Give me the money that has been spent in war, and I will purchase every foot of land upon the globe; I will clothe every man, woman, and child in an attire of which kings and queens would be proud; I will build a schoolhouse on every hillside and in every valley over the whole earth; I will build an academy in every town, and endow it; a college in every state, and will fill it with able professors; I will crown every hill with a place of worship consecrated to the promulgation of the gospel of peace; I will support in every pulpit an able teacher of righteousness, so that on every Sabbath morning the chime on one hill should answer the chime on another round the earth's wide circumference, and the voice of prayer and the song of praise should ascend, like a universal holocaust, to heaven."—RICHARD.

"WHAT IS MORE TERRIBLE THAN WAR?"

I WILL tell you what is ten times, and TEN THOUSAND TIMES, more terrible than War.—Outraged Nature. She kills, and kills, and is never tired of killing, till she has taught man the terrible lesson he is so slow to learn—that Nature is only conquered by obeying her. Man has his courtesies of war: he spares the woman and child. But nature is fierce when she is offended, as she is bounteous and kind when she is obeyed. She spares neither woman nor child. She has no pity; for some awful, but most good reason, she is not allowed to have any pity. Silently she strikes the sleeping child with as little remorse as she would strike the strong man with the musket or the pickaxe in his hand. Ah, would to God that some man had the pictorial eloquence to put before the mothers of England the mass of preventible suffering, the mass of preventible agony of mind and body, which exists in England year after year."—KINGSLAY.

How much longer must the causes of this startling array of preventible deaths continue unchecked?

THE SANITARY CONGRESS, October, 1878.

In an inaugural address on the Sanitary Condition of England, E. CHADWICK, C.B., states that "Ignorance of sanitary science costs threefold the amount of poor-rate for the country generally."

MY FIRST.

MY LAST.

FOR THE MEANS OF PREVENTION, and for preserving Health by natural means, see a large Illustrated Sheet wrapped with each bottle of ENO'S FRUIT SALT.

HOW TO PREVENT DISEASE AND

PREMATURE DEATH by natural means. Use ENO'S FRUIT SALT.

WHAT EVERY TRAVELLING TRUNK

AND HOUSEHOLD IN THE WORLD OUGHT TO CONTAIN. A bottle of ENO'S FRUIT SALT. Without such a simple precaution the jeopardy of life is immensely increased.

FOR YOUNG AND OLD.—ENO'S FRUIT

SALT (prepared from sound ripe fruit), when taken with water, acts as a natural aperient; its simple but natural action removes all impurities, thus preserving and restoring health. If its great value in keeping the body in health were universally known, no family would be without it.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—In hot or foreign climates it is invaluable. It relieves the system of efforts or poisonous matter, the groundwork of fevers and other diseases, which, if retained, poisons the blood and produces the most disastrous consequences. It allays nervous excitement, and restores the nervous system to its proper condition (by natural means).

DRAWING AN OVER-DRAUGHT ON

THE BANK OF LIFE.—Late hours, fatigued, unnatural excitement, breathing impure air, too rich food, alcoholic drink, gout, rheumatism, and other blood poisons; biliousness, sick-headache, skin eruptions, pimples on the face, want of appetite, sourness of stomach, &c. Use ENO'S FRUIT SALT—it is PLEASANT, COOLING, HEALTH-GIVING, REFRESHING, and INVIGORATING. You cannot overstate its great value in keeping the blood pure and free from disease.

Prepared only at ENO'S FRUIT SALT WORKS,

HOW TO AVOID THE INJURIOUS

EFFECTS OF STIMULANTS.—The present system of living—partaking of too rich foods, as pastry, saccharine, and fatty substances, alcoholic drinks, and an insufficient amount of exercise—frequently deranges the liver. I would advise all bilious people, unless they are careful to keep the liver acting freely, to exercise great care in the use of alcoholic drinks, avoid sugar, and always dilute largely with water. Experience shows that porter, mild ale, port wine, dark sherries, sweet champagne, liqueurs, and brandies, are all very apt to derange; while light white wines, and gin or whiskey largely diluted with soda water will be found the least objectionable. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is peculiarly adapted for any constitutional weakness of the liver; it possesses the power of reparation when digestion has been disturbed or lost, and places the invalid on the right track to health. A world of woe is avoided by those who keep and use ENO'S FRUIT SALT, therefore no family should ever be without it.

NEW GUINEA.—"How I wished I had a dozen bottles of ENO'S FRUIT SALT! It is the best medicine I ever had, and the most refreshing drink I have yet used."—Explorations by the Rev. J. Chalmers, London Missionary Society.

ST. LEONARD'S, WESTER.—22.6.80

"Dear Sir,—Gratitude for benefits derived has suggested the following tribute to the merits of your Saline.—I'm offered more phytol, fresh powders, new pills, from north and from south, west, and east; I take only one, whatever my ills, for ENO'S as good as a feast. I am, Sir, yours gratefully, A CONSTANT READER."

CAUTION. Examine each bottle, and see the capsule is marked "ENO'S FRUIT SALT." Without it, you have been imposed on by worthless imitations. Sold by all Chemists. Price 2s. 6d. And 4s. 6d.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE

is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered. is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague, acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. effectually cures short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms. is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Lord Francis Conyngham, Mount Charles, Donegal, Dec. 11, 1868.

"Lord Francis Conyngham, who this time last year bought some of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr. Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine, will be glad to have half a dozen bottles sent at once to the above address."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from her Majesty's Consul at Manila to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the only remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See "Lancet," Dec. 1, 1864.

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—"Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to."—See "Times," July 18, 1884.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1d., 2s. 6d., and 4s. 6d. each. None is genuine without the words, "DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.

Sole Manufacturer—J. T. DAVENPORT, Great Russell-street, Bloomsbury, London.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

are prepared from a highly-esteemed recipe for alleviating Bronchial Affections, Asthma, Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, and Irritation or Soreness of the Throat. Public Speakers and Vocalists will find them beneficial in clearing the voice before speaking or singing, and relieving the throat after any unusual exertion of the vocal organs, having a peculiar adaptation to affections which disturb the organs of speech. Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough or "slight cold" in its first stages. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected soon attacks the lungs. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES are most valuable when coughs, colds, bronchitis, influenza, hoarseness, and sore throat are prevalent. The Troches give sure and almost immediate relief. Sold by all Medicine Vendors throughout the world at 1s. 1½d. per Box. London Dépôt removed to 33, Farringdon-road.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP

FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH,

should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless, and very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is sold by thousands of Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world at 1s. 1½d. per Bottle, and Millions of Mothers can testify to its virtue. Wholesale Dépôt removed to 33, Farringdon-road.

"FLORILINE,"

FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH, is the best liquid dentifrice in the world; it thoroughly cleanses partially decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalculæ," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The FRAGRANT FLORILINE removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke; being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants, it is perfectly harmless and delicious as sherry. For children or adults whose teeth show marks of decay its advantages are paramount. The FLORILINE should be thoroughly brushed into all the cavities. No one need fear using it too often, or too much at a time. The taste is so pleasing that, instead of taking up the tooth-brush with dislike, as is often the case, children will on no account omit to use the FLORILINE regularly every morning, if only left to their choice. Children cannot be taught the use of the tooth-brush too young; early neglect invariably produces premature decay of the teeth. Sold by all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the world at 2s. 6d. per Bottle. "FLORILINE" POWDER put up in large glass Jars, price 1s. New Wholesale Dépôt, 33, Farringdon-road, London.

THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER.

If your Hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," for it will positively restore, in every case, Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the Hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promotes the growth of the Hair on bald spots, where the glands are not decayed. Mr. NATHAN BERRY, Chemist, Walkden, writes:—"One of my customers told me the other day he had had grey hair for thirty-five years, and after using one bottle of 'THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER' I sold him, it was restored to and kept its natural colour." Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER." Sold by Medicine Dealers and Perfumers everywhere. Price 3s. 6d. per Bottle. New Wholesale Dépôt, 33, Farringdon-road, London.

TRY YOUR WEIGHT!

HYDROLEINE (HYDRATED OIL)

has proved of the highest value in Consumption, and all Wasting Diseases, invariably producing increase in flesh and weight. This preparation of Hydrated Cod-Liver Oil is tonic, digestive, and ten times more strengthening and nourishing, as well as far more pleasant to taste, than plain Cod-Liver Oil. HYDROLEINE may be described as partially digested oil, which will flourish and produce increase in weight in those cases where oils or fat, not so treated, are difficult or impossible to digest. All tendency to Emaciation and Loss of Weight is arrested by the regular use of HYDROLEINE, which may be discontinued when the usual average weight has been permanently acquired. Of all Chemists, 4s. 6d. Wholesale Dépôt removed to 33, Farringdon-road, London.

THE UPS AND DOWNS OF LIFE.

In the annexed cuts we present a picture of the "Ups and Downs of Life." The first represents a man in full possession of health, with all its enjoyments, his little ones playing about him. His is a happy home. This, the greatest blessing vouchsafed to mankind, is made the more apparent when we view the other and darker side of the picture. In the next the same gentleman presents a changed aspect; he has not that cheerful countenance, he has lost his appetite, he has a disagreeable taste, especially in the morning, also a headache and dull feeling; and when he rises suddenly from a lying or sitting posture he becomes dizzy, feels stupid and disinclined to attend to business, has frequent sick headaches, his bowels are constive and seldom are regular unless he takes some kind of physic. The stomach and liver have become a little deranged, and his blood has become thick and fails to circulate with freedom. He has what is called Dyspepsia or Indigestion; but all the disagreeable feelings would have been avoided had he taken at the outset a timely remedy which would have regulated his bowels, stopped his sick headache, made his blood circulate, giving him an appetite.

Time passed on, and our friend neglected his disease; and we find him in a little while as represented in the next picture. Here we behold what is called a "Confirmed Dyspeptic." He has little or no appetite, and what food he does eat distresses him—feels like a load in his stomach; causes him to be distressed for breath at times; sometimes he vomits what he eats in a sour, fermented condition; he belches quantities of wind from the stomach after eating, which is the gas arising from the undigested food; a little while after eating he feels a faint, "all-gone" sensation at the stomach. Eating or drinking will not allay this but for a little while. He has become nervous and low-spirited, cross and peevish; he frets at his wife and children, pushing them away when the little ones fondle about him, as seen in the cut. He commences to lose flesh, and is becoming quite feeble. His physicians have given him mercurial pills and various kinds of tonics; but instead of getting better he continues to fail; and then he resorts to all kinds of medicines that promise relief; but they do not seem to reach his case. His blood has now become very foul and impure, the liver sluggish and inactive, the stomach irritable and sensitive, wholly unfit for performing the offices of digestion. Could we have persuaded this poor man to have taken a couple of bottles of Seigel's Curative Syrup, he would have escaped these awful terrors. The disease now has full sway, and he continues to suffer, and in the course of time we find him as represented in the next figure, greatly emaciated, scarcely able to walk; he stoops to give a little ease to the tender stomach, which has now become sore and sensitive to the touch, as represented in the cut. He has pains in the right shoulder and left side; sometimes in the right; his back has become weak and painful at times; his nights are often passed in wakefulness; he totters about his grounds with the aid of a stick; he has a constant desire to clear his throat; his head appears to be stopped up, and he is told that he has a cold; his skin has become of a dirty brownish colour, countenance sallow, eyes sunken, tinged with yellow. Food does not seem to have a natural taste. He has taken a journey to the home of his boyhood, thinking perhaps he could get some of the cold spring water that used to taste so good; but it is his system that has changed, and the water, although the same, does not afford him refreshment; his hands and feet become cold and clammy; a sort of sticky feeling pervades nearly the whole body. Passers-by notice the great change, and shake their heads and sigh, saying to themselves, "That man's days are nearly numbered."

His physicians can do nothing for him; he continues to fail, and we soon find him unable to leave his house, and seldom his bed, as represented in the picture. He is reduced to a mere skeleton, and continues to waste every day. Now he has a severe cough, attended with profuse expectoration. His sleep at night is attended with debilitating perspiration which is fast reducing him. His liver and kidneys are almost wholly without action, and nature is throwing off the impurities through the skin and lungs, so that the odour of his room has become offensive. The poisonous blood has caused the hair to decay, and he has become nearly bald. He has given up all hope of recovery and made up his mind to await patiently the arrival of the angel of death. He has told his poor wife how to manage his little property, and what disposition to make with their children. The friends and neighbours bring in the daily papers to amuse him, and some the illustrated magazines. Perhaps some one directs his attention to the "Ups and Downs of Life."

If so he would hear the soft whisper, "Cheer up, good man, don't be cast down, for somehow there is hope in your case. Cling fast to what life is left and resolve that you will live to comfort your dear wife and guide your little children through all the dark and narrow paths in which they may be called to tread. "Seigel's Curative Syrup is made for just such cases as yours. It is extracted from the choicest plants and roots that nature's garden affords. God, in his infinite wisdom, has made a plant to cure every disease that flesh is heir to. Let us prevail upon you to take this extract of roots, for we really think they will do you good. They will cause the liver to secrete healthy bile and the skin to become soft and white—they will stop the night sweats, and in time the cough and expectoration will cease. The blood will become pure and circulate with freedom through your veins, giving a healthful glow to the whole system. Your food will then begin to give you strength, for it will be digested so as to afford nourishment to the debilitated body. Then flesh will begin to grow upon those feeble limbs, and strength will return. Sleep will be quiet and refreshing, and, as a natural consequence, your spirits will revive."

Perhaps he will say that he has tried all kinds of medicines, and that he has lost all faith in them. We should reply, "Seigel's Curative Syrup is not a 'cure-all' so called. It is made especially to cure Dyspepsia or Indigestion—all your troubles proceed from this one disease, and, when this malady is removed, all the other distressing complications will vanish like chaff before the wind. The impure blood that pervades your whole system, and which has poisoned every important part of your body, as well as your mind has been caused by this one disease called dyspepsia. When that disease is removed all the other accompanying symptoms—called by various names—will have ceased to exist, because the foundation-stone has been removed." Our friend listens to our voice and is persuaded to take the remedy. He commences with very small doses, taking fifteen drops instantly after eating his spare meals, and has his skin bathed every day with water made soft with a little soda. Mark the change! He begins to mend. He stops the belching of wind, night sweats diminish, appetite improves, countenance brightens, strength gradually returns, and in a very few weeks we find him riding out with a kind neighbour as shown in the cut.

The fresh morning air seems to brace him as he views once more the beauties of nature. He continues to use the remedy, and watches with joy his returning strength. The ascending path to health is often tedious and discouraging, but the fact that he is constantly and gradually gaining strength inspires him with courage to press on to the goal when he is inclined to become disconsolate and cast down. In a short time we find him walking about his grounds leading his little boy, who appears to know that his father is getting well. The neighbours are pleased and delighted because a good citizen is spared for the welfare of the town.

Our hero still improves. He is giving his family instructions upon the vital interests of life. While enjoying the beauties of nature he never forgets to render thanks to the Great Giver of every good and perfect gift for the blessings he has received. This picture that we have drawn is but a representation of many cases that have come under our own observation, and a parallel case can be found in nearly every city, town, and village in the land.

Believing, as we do, that the Curative Syrup will remove Dyspepsia in all its varied forms, I have come from America for the purpose of introducing the remedy among the people of the mother country. The curative powers of the Syrup are truly wonderful, and it is to be hoped that the public will investigate the matter as its importance demands.

The attention of readers is directed to the following letter from a highly respectable Chemist at Landport, Hants:—

"323, Commercial-road, Landport,
Feb. 9, 1880.

"Dear Sir,—I should say that the sale is increasing very fast. This is the second supply we have had since Christmas, when we ordered half a gross. In fact, we sell more of Seigel's Syrup than any other patent medicine. The secret of the demand is, in my opinion, due to the beneficial effects produced by the medicine. A friend of ours who visits the sick has come across some remarkable cases of cure produced by taking the Syrup.

"Yours very faithfully,

"W. J. Tuck, Chemist.

"To A. J. White, Esq."

Would it be possible for this gentleman to make such a statement unless his customers really derived benefit?

"Bradley Locks, Bilston, Staffordshire,
April 2, 1880.

Dear Sir,—I am convinced if people would only persevere in the use of the Curative Syrup they would soon perceive the advantage of using it in their families, and, as in my case, save doctor's bills. I always keep a bottle open for use, and if anything ails any of the family I at once give them a dose. This system of taking things in time often saves a vast amount of suffering, and the cost is not like calling in a medical man.

"I will now relate a few experiences of twelve months at home:—

"My son, twelve years of age, had a bad attack of Jaundice cured with one small bottle, and returned to work again in pine days; this was Christmas, 1878; it is now Christmas, 1879, and he still continues in good health.

"My daughter caught cold; down with a low fever. I followed up with the medicine three times a day for three days; people who saw her were afraid she would die; she was decidedly better on the fourth day, and gradually got well at the end of a fortnight.

"My daughter very bad again with Pleurisy; in one week, with the use of the medicine, she was able to go about her usual work, and still continues well.

R. BEATON."

Fever and Ague.

"36, Pittfield-street,
Hoxton, London, N.,
March 24, 1880."

"My dear Sir,—I think if the following case was published in your next issue it might prove of advantage to the public generally:—I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Mother Seigel's most excellent Syrup, but, though well acquainted with its wonderful efficiency in Stomach and Liver Complaints, did not know until a day or two back that in South America it is largely taken for Ague. My informant was Mr. Morris, of 42, Haberdasher-street, Hoxton, N., who came for a bottle and stated that he and his wife and friends always took Mother Seigel's Syrup when in America for what they call there the Chills and Fever, but what we term Ague—he was very glad to find I sold it, and subsequently returned in the course of the day and said that it had the usual effect, and that his wife was already much better—he has been a great traveller, and never knew of so speedy and successful a remedy."

"I remain, my dear Sir, yours truly,

"H. W. HORTON, Chemist."

Disordered Liver.

"Prospect House, Bridport, Dorset,
Dec. 22, 1879.

"My dear Sir,—I have for years suffered more or less from, to me, an unknown cause, but which from diagnosis, I imagined to arise from a disordered liver. Digestion was often extremely difficult, and consequently my appetite was much affected. Various medicines (so called) I have repeatedly tried, but failed to derive anything beyond a temporary benefit. I was induced by your agent to give the "Curative Syrup" a trial, and after taking the contents of one bottle, I invested in another, which is scarcely finished.

"I am more than happy to be able to testify to the curative properties of the compound. That languid feeling, which formerly unfitted me for business, I have not since experienced, and indeed, feel altogether a different being.

"I am, Sir, Yours very faithfully,

"A. J. White, Esq."

"RICHARD EBDON, Journalist.

Mr. J. Longbotham, Chemist and Druggist, of Chester-le-street, county Durham, writes, Dec. 19, 1879:—

"We have sold an immense quantity of the Syrup, and the sale is still on the increase. In my long experience (50 years) I have never known a medicine sell so rapidly, or with such satisfactory results."

WHELPTON'S

VEGETABLE PURIFYING PILLS

Are one of those rare Medicines which for their extensive properties, have gained an almost UNI-VERSAL REPUTATION.
During a period of more than Forty years they have been used most extensively as a Family Medicine, thousands have found them a simple and safe remedy, and one needful to be kept always at hand. These Pills are purely Vegetable, being entirely free from Mercury or any other Mineral; and those who may not have hitherto proved their efficacy will do well to give them a trial. Recommended for disorders of the HEAD,
CHEST, BOWELS, LIVER, and KIDNEYS; also in RHEUMATISM,
ULCERS, SORES, and all SKIN DISEASES—these Pills being a Direct Purifier of the Blood.

ARTIFICIAL EYES, LEGS, ARMS, & HANDS.

GROSSMITH'S

PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL LEGS—with patent action
Knee and Ankle Joints—enable the patient to walk, sit,
or ride with ease and comfort, wherever amputated.
They are lighter in weight, less expensive, and more durable than any self-acting Leg hitherto introduced, and are worn by Ladies and Children with perfect safety.
They were awarded the highest medals at the London and Paris Great International Exhibitions, and pronounced by the Surgical Juries to be "excellent in manufacture, well constructed, and on a system superior to all others."

The PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL EYES have now been brought to the greatest perfection, and are so easy of adaptation that they are fitted in a few minutes, without pain or operation, in any case where sight has been lost. The colours are perfectly matched, and a movement obtained precisely in accordance with the action of the natural eye. They are the only Artificial Eyes which have been awarded Prize Medals at the Great International Exhibitions of London, Paris, and Dublin.

LAMPLOUGH'S EFFERVESCENT

PYRETIC SALINE

HAVE IT IN YOUR HOUSES.

It is most invigorating, refreshing, and refreshing. Gives instant Relief in HEADACHES, SEA or BILIOUS SICKNESS, and Quickly Cures the worst Form of ERUPTIVE or SKIN COMPLAINTS. The various diseases arising from Climatic causes, Constipation, the Liver, or Blood Impurities, Inoculation, the Results of breathing air infected with Fever, Measles, or SMALLPOX, are frequently prevented and these diseases cured by its use. ANY PERSON WHO HAS ALREADY SMALLPOX should take Pyretic Saline, and be kept in a cool and darkened room to prevent the disease leaving any trace on the features.

"It furnishes the Blood with its lost Saline constituents."—DR. MURRAY.

The late DR. TURLEY states in his letters and lectures:—"I found it act as a specific in my experience and family in the worst form of scarlet Fever, NO OTHER Medicine being given."

NOTICE MY TRADE MARK AND NAME AS ABOVE, ON A BUFF-COLOURED WRAPPER. IN WHICH ALONE DEPENDENCE CAN BE PLACED.

WORTHLESS IMITATIONS are now being offered to the public, the only merit of which is a label and wrapper with a transposition of the sentences and words of mine—a colourable imitation—in fact, a fraud on myself and the public.

Sold in Patent Shaped Bottles, from 2s. 6d. to 21s. each, by all Chemists throughout England and the Colonies, and the Maker, 113, Holborn-hill, London.

ROWLANDS' ODONTO,

Known for 50 years as the best and purest dentifrice ever used; it whitens the teeth, prevents decay, and gives a pleasing fragrance to the breath; it contains no mineral or acid ingredients, which are so detrimental to the teeth, and is especially adapted for children's use. Each box has on it a 3d. Government stamp.

ROWLANDS' MACASSAR OIL

Preserves and beautifies the hair, prevents its falling off or turning grey, eradicates scurf and dandruff, and renders the hair beautifully soft, pliable, and glossy, while it is especially recommended for children, as forming the basis of a beautiful head of hair. Sold in four sizes, 3s. 6d., 7s., 10s. 6d., and 21s.

ROWLANDS' KALYDOR

For the Skin and Complexion is unequalled for its rare and inestimable qualities. The radiant bloom it imparts to the cheek, the softness and delicacy which it induces of the hands and arms, its capability of soothing irritation and removing cutaneous defects, discolorations, and all unsightly appearances, render it indispensable to every Toilet.

Ask any dealer in Perfumery for ROWLANDS' articles, of 20, Hatton-garden, London, and avoid spurious imitations.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE,

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY TRUE,

is allowed to be the greatest discovery of the present century, and is largely employed by the most eminent Medical Men, in hospital and private practice, in all parts of the world, and is justly considered to be a remedy of intrinsic value, and of varied adaptability, possessing most valuable properties, and producing curative effects quite unequalled in the whole Materia Medica.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too-often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Agus.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause; allays the irritation of fever; soothes the system under exhausting diseases; and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

"Mr. R. Freeman.

"Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure that I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of Special Service to me in alleviating the wearisome Spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne.

"Head-Quarters Staff, Cabul, May 5, 1890.

Yours faithfully,

"CHARLES W. OWEN, L.B.C.P., Lond.; M.R.C.S., Eng.

"The Divisional Head-Quarters Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul."

THE "TIMES," AUGUST 12, 1877.

From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army.

"Okoun, July 25, 1877.

"The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected Miraculous Cures."

From MONS. BONJOUR BARTHELEMY, Delegate of the Society for the Relief of the Wounded, Decorated with the Cross of the Convention of Geneva.

"Le Caillon, près Meung sur Loir, France, June 14, 1879.

"I hereby attest that the Chlorodyne manufactured by RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, of London, is the best remedy against CHOLERA and DYSENTERY, and further affirm, as Director of the Anglo-American Ambulances and of French prisoners during the War of 1870 to 1871, that a large number of those under my care were attacked with Dysentery, and that by means of his Chlorodyne they were in a few days perfectly cured.

(Signed) BONJOUR BARTHELEMY."

IMPORTANT CAUTION.

Four Chancery Suits terminated in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against J. Collis Browne and J. T. Davenport. Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, and Lord Justice Mellish condemned their proceedings, and ordered them to pay all costs of the suits. Reported in the "Times" and other Newspapers, April 29 and July 24, 1873.

None genuine without the words, "Freeman's Original Chlorodyne," engraved on the Government Stamp.

Testimonials from most eminent Medical Men accompany each Bottle.

Manufactured by the sole Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, 70, Kennington Park-road, London, S.E.

Sold in all parts of the World by Patent Medicine Dealers, in Bottles, 1½d.; 2 oz., 2s. 9d.; 4 oz., 4s. 6d.; half pint, 11s.; and pint, 20s. each.

NALDIRE'S POWDERS, FOR WORMS IN DOGS.

ONE DOSE A CURE.

STONEHENGE, in his celebrated work on "The Dog," says:—"Worms are a fertile source of disease in the dog, destroying every year more puppies than distemper itself." While the FIELD says, concerning distemper:—"All treatment, to be successful, must be preceded by the expulsion of worms." Naldire's Powders remove these pests within one hour, at the same time giving tone to the stomach, and producing first-rate condition in dogs. One dose is sufficient, and dogs readily take it. NALDIRE'S POWDERS are sold by all Chemists, and by BARCLAY and SONS, 95, Farringdon-street, London.

EPPS'S (BREAKFAST) COCOA.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up, until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—On Diet, in "The Civil Service Gazette."

"MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps and Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in Holland-street, Blackfriars, London."—See Article in "Cassell's Household Guide."

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON will appear a little to the east or left of Mars during the evening hours of the 3rd, the space between them increasing as the night advances; they will be both visible throughout the night; the Moon is near Venus on the morning of the 19th; and near Mercury on the 20th. During the evening hours of the 25th she will be to the right of the planet Saturn, and during the evening hours of the 26th she will be to the left of Saturn, and very near but to the right of Jupiter; during the evening hours of the 27th and early morning hours of the 28th she will be situated to the left of Jupiter. During the night common to the 29th and 30th, the Moon will be to the right of Mars, the distance between them decreasing as the night advances, and they will be very near together during the morning hours of the 30th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the 4th at 59 minutes after 10h. in the morning.
 Last Quarter „ 12th „ 47 „ 3 „ afternoon.
 New Moon „ 19th „ 35 „ 4 „ afternoon.
 First Quarter „ 26th „ 45 „ 7 „ morning.

She is furthest from the Earth on the morning of the 8th, and nearest to it on the afternoon of the 20th.

MERCURY rises on the 1st at about sunrise, and from this day till Feb. 17 he rises in daylight. He sets at about sunset on the 9th, at 5h. 14m. p.m., or 46m. after sunset, on the 21st; at 5h. 46m. p.m., or 1h. 10m. after sunset on the 26th, and at 6h. 16m. p.m., or 1h. after sunset on the last day of the month. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 6th, and near the Moon on the 20th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 7h. 17m. a.m., or 51 minutes before the Sun; on the 11th at 7h. 32m. a.m., or 33 minutes before sunrise; on the 21st at 7h. 39m. a.m., or 16 minutes before sunrise; and on the last day at 7h. 37m. a.m., or 6 minutes before sunrise. She is in her descending node on the 3rd, and near the Moon on the 19th.

MARS sets on the 1st at sunrise; on the 12th at 7h. 20m. a.m., or 44 minutes before sunrise; on the 22nd at 6h. 31m. a.m., or 1h. 23m. before sunrise; and on the last day of the month at 5h. 50m. a.m., or 1h. 53m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 29m. p.m., on the 15th at 10h. 15m. p.m., and on the last day at 9h. 3m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 3rd, and again on the 30th.

JUPITER sets on the 1st at 3h. 42m. a.m., on the 12th at 2h. 59m. a.m., on the 22nd at 2h. 1m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 47m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 11m. p.m., on the 15th at 7h. 16m. p.m., and on the last day at 6h. 16m. p.m. He is stationary among the stars on the 10th, and near the Moon on the 27th.

SATURN sets on the 1st at 2h. 31m. a.m., on the 19th at 1h. 53m. a.m., on the 29th at 1h. 14m. a.m. and on the last day at 0h. 41m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 31m. p.m., on the 15th at 6h. 36m. p.m., and on the last day at 5h. 35m. p.m. He is stationary among the stars on the 7th, in quadrature with the Sun on the 25th, and near the Moon on the same day.

ECLIPSES IN 1882.

In the year 1882 there will be two Eclipses only, both of the Sun. The first is a Total Eclipse on the morning of May 17, visible as a small partial Eclipse in Europe.

About London the Eclipse will begin at 11 min. after 6 a.m., its greatest phase will be at 40 min. after 6, and it will end at 23 min. after 7.

At Edinburgh the Eclipse will begin at 13 min. after 6 a.m. The middle at 40 min. after 6, and it will end at 8 min. after 7, Edinburgh mean time.

At Dublin the Eclipse will begin at 55 min. after 5 a.m., the middle at 23 min. after 6, and it will end at 52 min. after 6, Dublin mean time.

At the time of the middle of the Eclipse, less than 1-5th of the Sun's diameter, will be observed at London, and at Edinburgh and Dublin very little more than 1-10th of the Sun's diameter will be observed.

The second is an Annual Eclipse of the Sun on Nov. 10 and 11, the Central Eclipse begins Nov. 10 at 9h. 29 min. p.m. in longitude 123° E. of Greenwich and latitude 104° S., and Central Eclipse ends Nov. 11 at 1.15 a.m., in longitude 105° W. of Greenwich, and latitude 21° S.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Venus and Mercury on the 18th, the day of New Moon, and therefore near the Sun. She is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 22nd, being a little to the west of the planet till about 8h. p.m., and a little to the right after this time; the planet being lower than the Moon. She is near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 23rd, being a little to the left of the planet at sunset, which space increases as the night advances; and she is near Mars during the evening hours of the 26th, being a little to the right of the planet till about 8h. p.m., and to the left after that time, the planet being the higher of the two bodies. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the 3rd at 58 minutes after 5h. in the morning.
 Last Quarter „ 11th „ 34 „ 8 „ morning.
 New Moon „ 18th „ 50 „ 2 „ morning.
 First Quarter „ 24th „ 31 „ 9 „ afternoon.

She is furthest from the Earth on the morning of the 4th, and nearest to it on the morning of the 18th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 5th at 5h. 30m. p.m., or 1h. 45m. after the Sun; on the 10th at 6h. 47m. p.m., or 1h. 45m. after sunset; on the 15th at 6h. 34m. p.m., or 1h. 22m. after sunset; and on the 20th at 5h. 56m. p.m., or 35m. after the Sun. On the 23rd the planet and Sun set together, and from this day till May 2 the planet sets in daylight. He rises 17 minutes before sunrise on the 20th, and at 6h. 21m. a.m., or 35 minutes before sunrise, on the 25th. He is in his ascending node on the 4th, at his greatest eastern elongation (18 deg. 12 min.) on the 6th, at his least distance from the Sun on the 8th, stationary among the stars on the 12th, near the Moon on the 18th, and in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 22nd.

VENUS rises on the 6th at the same time as the Sun, and from this day till Dec. 6 she rises in daylight. She sets at about the time of sunset on the 23rd, and at 5h. 42m. p.m., or 6m. after sunset on the last day. She is at her greatest distance from the Sun on the 6th, near the Moon on the 18th, and in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 20th at midnight.

MARS sets on the 1st at 5h. 46m. a.m., on the 11th at 5h. 6m. a.m., on the 21st at 4h. 32m. a.m., and on the last day at 4h. 14m. a.m., being 1h. 55m., 2h. 18m., 2h. 39m., and 2h. 36m. before sunrise respectively on these mornings. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 59m. p.m., on the 14th at 5h. 11m., and on the last day at 7h. 29m. p.m. He is stationary among the stars on the 2nd, and near the Moon on the 26th.

JUPITER sets on the 1st at 1h. 44m. a.m., on the 11th at 1h. 10m. a.m., on the 21st at 0h. 37m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 0h. 19m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 12m. p.m., on the 14th at 5h. 29m. p.m., and on the last day at 4h. 38m. p.m. He is in quadrature with the Sun on the 6th, and near the Moon on the 23rd.

SATURN sets on the 1st at 0h. 37m. a.m., on the 11th at 0h. 1m. a.m., on the 20th at 11h. 28m. p.m., and on the last day of the month at 11h. 0m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 31m. p.m., on the 14th at 4h. 43m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 52m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 22nd.

The amount expended on poor relief during the past year was £8,015,010, an increase on the previous year of £184,191, or 2·4 per cent. In twenty-six of the union counties there was an increase, in eighteen a decrease. In Warwick the increase was 12·4 per cent in excess of the average; in Durham, 9·7 per cent; in Lancaster, 8·9 per cent; in the East Riding of York, 8·4 per cent; and in Kent (metropolitan), 8·3 per cent. The decrease was by no means so considerable. It was greatest in Huntingdon, with 4·7 per cent, Kent (extra-metropolitan), with 3·4 per cent, coming next. On the estimated population the cost of relief was 6s. 4d. per head, or 3d. over that of the year before. On a comparison, however, with 1871, the first year of the decennial period, when the rate per head was 6s. 11d., there was a decrease of 7d. per head; and, taking the value of the property on which the charge falls, the result was a favourable one, for, while the rate was 1s. 6d.-10d. in the pound in 1871, it was, in 1880, 1s. 2d.-10d., or a decrease of 3d.-10d. The year in which the rate per head was lowest was 1877, when it stood at 6s. 0d. The total sum received in the year 1880 from Poor-rate, Treasury subventions, and other sources was £14,001,512, while the expenditure was somewhat larger—viz., £14,092,102, made up of the following items:—Poor relief, £8,015,010; law charges, £27,787; outlay for purposes partly connected with relief, £633,332; and for purposes wholly unconnected with relief, £5,415,973. The expenditure for relief has for several years been divided into six sub-heads. The sums disbursed under each during 1879-80 are (1) in-maintenance, £1,757,749; (2) out-relief, £2,710,778; (3) maintenance of lunatics in asylums and licensed houses, £194,204; (4) workhouse and other loans repaid and interest, £319,420; (5) salaries and rations of officers and superannuations, £1,063,218; (6) other expenses of or immediately connected with relief, £1,181,511. The sum of these figures amounts to £8,016,886, while the total amount expended on relief was, as has been stated, £8,015,010. The difference arises from the adjustment of the charges for relief in the metropolis through the Common Poor Fund. The in-maintenance in 1880, compared with that of 1871, shows an increase of £233,054, or 15·3 per cent; but the out-relief exhibits a still larger decrease of £263,192, or 26 per cent. During the 10 years the cost of pauper lunatics in asylums has, with the exception of 1872, when there was a small decrease, grown steadily from year to year, from £740,113 in 1871, to £1,094,204 in 1880, an increase of 33·3 per cent. Each pauper lunatic cost 18 7/10d. weekly during 1879-80. Of that sum the Parliamentary grant provides 4s. a head, leaving 6s. 7 1/10d. as the charge on the ratepayers. The total expenditure for in-maintenance and out-relief last year was £4,468,527, of which the latter absorbed no less than £2,710,778, or 60·7 per cent. The proportion of out-relief in Wales rose to 54·9 per cent; in the south-western district, containing Wilts, Dorset, Devon, Cornwall, and Somerset, it was 78 per cent. In the northern, formed of Durham, Northumberland, Cumberland, and Westmoreland, it was 70·7; and so on, seven out of 11 divisions being in a marked degree above the average. In the metropolis, on the other hand, the ratio was only 27·9 per cent.

The gross estimated rental and the rateable value in all England were, in 1870, £123,995,847, and £104,405,304 respectively. In 1879 the gross estimated rental was £157,968,723, and the rateable value £133,769,875, or an increase for the 10 years of £31,000,000 in gross estimated rental, and £29,000,000 in rateable value. The ratio of the rateable value to the gross estimated value was remarkably uniform throughout the decade. The increase in the one was 28·0; in the other, 28·1 per cent. In the Metropolis, the valuation to the poor rate was in 1870, gross estimated rental, £22,142,708, rateable value £18,187,693; in 1879 the gross estimated rental was £29,082,269, and the rateable value £21,447,441. Thus in the metropolis the gross estimated rental had increased in the decade by £7,540,000, or 34·1 per cent., and the rateable value by £3,260,000, or 34·0 per cent. If the comparison were made with the quinquennial revision of metropolitan valuation effected in 1880, the increase of rateable value over 1870 would be £9,216,000, or 50·7 per cent.

During the decade, pauperism has, on the whole, decreased. From 1871, when the mean number of paupers was, indoor, 156,430; outdoor, 890,030—total, 1,037,390, to 1877, when the indoor paupers were 149,611, outdoor, 876,338—total, 719,949, the decline was continuous. Between 1878 and 1880 there was some increase, the numbers in the latter year being, indoor, 180,817, outdoor, 827,213—total, 908,030; nevertheless, the ratio of paupers to population, which in 1871 was 46 per 1000, had fallen in 1880 to 32 per 1000, or a diminution of 14 per 1000. This decrease was owing to the great decline in the mean number of outdoor paupers from 890,030 in 1871 to 827,213 in 1880—a difference of 62,817, or considerably more than one fourth.

DEATH-RATE OF ENGLAND AND WALES.

A comparison of the annual death-rate of England and Wales for the last four decennial periods gives the following results:—The annual death-rate per 1000 from all causes was 22·4 between 1841 and 1850; 22·2 between 1851 and 1860; 22·5 between 1861 and 1870; and 21·5 between 1871 and 1880. The annual death-rate from the seven zymotic diseases was in the last three decennial periods respectively 4·11, 4·14, and 3·95 per 1000, while from fever it was 0·01, 0·38, and 0·40. It may be estimated that about a quarter of a million were saved from death in the ten years 1871-80 who would have died if the death-rate had been the same as in the previous thirty years. If twelve cases of serious but non-fatal illness be reckoned for every death, it follows that about three million persons, or over one ninth of the whole population, have been saved from a sick bed by some influence at work in the past decade which had not been at work previously. It is worthy of notice that of the entire reduction in the death-rate above mentioned more than three-quarters comes under the head of the seven zymotic diseases, or, in other words, the diseases most influenced by sanitary improvements. Of this three-quarters, three-eighths of the reduction comes under the head of "fever," the disease which more than any other shows itself in connection with bad drainage, bad water, and filth accumulation. It would appear, then, that the millions which have been saved of late years on our sanitary requirements have not all been spent in vain.

The subject of the water supply of the metropolis is disposed of in a few words. While improving in quantity, the companies all, without exception, "to a certain extent" giving a constant supply, the quality is pronounced less satisfactory, and therefore Dr. Frankland has come to the conclusion that "the water both of the Thames and the Lea is becoming year by year less suitable for domestic use."

COMPARISON OF THE FAILURE OF CROPS.

In the wheat crop alone the yield for the United Kingdom has on the average of the past five years been no less than a million quarters a years less than the average of the whole past ten years, of which they form a part, while, if the average of fifteen years be taken, the average for the five years is no less than two million quarters a year short.

The following summary of the past fourteen years shows pretty clearly the effect of a deficiency of sunshine in England:—

Harvest Year. Sept. 1 to Aug. 31.	Assumed Yield per Acre in Bushels.	Official Average Price per Quarter for 12 Months. July 1 to June 30. s. d.
1868-7	27	58 0
1867-8	25	69 3
1868-9	34	51 8

Average of last five years 24½		48 0½

On the question of the alterations in cropping which have taken place, and which are the outcome of agricultural depression. The averages of cereals, wheat, barley, and oats for 1867, 1870, 1876, and 1880:—

Year.	Wheat Acres.	Barley Acres.	Oats Acres.
1867	3,367,876	2,251,164	2,750,487
1870	3,500,513	3,371,739	2,768,800
1876	3,342,451	2,509,701	2,661,009
1880	2,908,438	2,407,442	2,706,905

From this abstract it will be seen that in the thirteen years of which we have had agricultural statistics there has been a very considerable decrease in wheat, while barley and oats have been about stationary. It has been pointed out that the more accurate comparisons of 1880 should be made rather with 1870 than 1867, because it is admitted that the returns for the latter year, the first time they were collected, were inaccurate. To the decrease of 600,000 acres of wheat, as shown by the comparison of 1880 with 1870, must be added a further decrease for the year 1881 of certainly not less than 120,000 acres, so that there has been a diminution of an acreage under wheat of three quarters of a million acres.

INDIAN COMMERCE AND REVENUE.

The latest return shows that railways are yearly becoming more and more a source of wealth to India, and that as they grow in extent, they continue to advance the commerce and general prosperity of the country. The following table shows the value of Imports and Exports, and also the number of miles of railway at the end of each year:—

Year.	Value of Merchandise Imports.	Value of Merchandise Exports.	Total value.	Miles of Railway Open.
1860-1	£33,432,716	£32,970,605	£66,403,321	840
1865-6	29,599,228	65,491,123	95,090,351	3,373
1870-1	34,469,119	55,336,184	89,805,303	4,776
1875-6	38,891,656	58,091,495	96,983,151	6,519
1880-1	50,278,875	74,517,987	124,796,862	9,335

Statement showing certain sources of revenue of India, during quinquennial periods since 1860:—

Year.	Land Revenue.	Customs.	Salt Revenue.	Stamps.
1860-1	£18,508,991	£4,163,151	£3,805,124	£1,182,761
1865-6	20,473,897	2,279,857	5,342,149	1,094,632
1870-1	20,822,823	2,610,780	6,106,280	2,510,816
1875-6	21,603,742	2,721,389	6,244,415	2,835,369
1879-80	21,861,150	2,280,798	7,266,413	3,193,739

* This item is derived from irrigated lands, which is now kept separate. All the conversions are made at 2s. the rupee; and it should be remarked that within the last mentioned period, between 1876 and 1879, the Salt Duty was reduced to 12 Bengal from 14 rupees to 2 1/2 rupees, whilst it has been raised in Madras and Bombay from 1 1/2 rupees and 1 1/2 rupees respectively to 2 1/2 rupees. The duty on salt rose from £3,000,124 in 1860, to £7,266,413 in 1879 and 80.

THE INDIAN CENSUS.

The Indian Census shows that the population of India has reached the enormous total of 252,641,210. These figures exhibit an increase of 12,768,565 over those of 1871. The growth has been general, although marked with local variations. The total population of

Bengal is	68,829,920	Berar	2,670,982
Assam	4,815,157	Burmah	3,767,646
Madras	30,839,181	Mysore	4,186,899
Bombay	20,020,119	Coorg	178,289
Scinde	2,404,394	Ajmere	458,075
North-West Provinces	33,445,111	Baroda	2,154,489
Orissa	11,407,825	Travancore	2,401,168
Punjab	22,647,542	Cochin	600,278
Central Provinces	11,506,140

The provinces showing the greatest increase are Burmah, 35 per cent; Central Provinces, 25; Berar, 20; and Assam, 19 per cent. The only decrease shown is in Mysore, 17 per cent, and Madras, 2 per cent.

He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 48m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 50m. p.m., and on the last day at 2h. 2m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 22nd.

ANXIOUS MOMENTS.

FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

BANK OF ENGLAND.

The Bank of England was the first Joint-Stock Bank established in England. It was incorporated by William III. in 1694. When first established the notes of the Bank were at 80 per cent discount, and so late as 1745 they were under par. Bank Bills were paid in silver, 1745. Cash payments were discontinued in 1797, when notes of one and two pounds were first put into circulation. Banks were first established in 808 by the Lombard Jews, some of whom settled in Lombard-street.

The following is the House List of Governors and Directors of the Bank of England:—

Governor, Henry R. Grenfell, Esq. | Deputy Governor, J. S. Gilliat, Esq.

TRANSFER DAYS AT THE BANK.

All Stocks on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Private Transfers may be effected at other times, providing the books are not closed, by paying 2s. 6d. for each Transfer. Tickets for preparing the Transfer of Stock must be given in at the Bank of England before one o'clock. Expenses of Transfer in Bank Stock for £25 and under, 2s.; above that sum, 12s.; India Stock, £1 10s.

Powers of attorney for the sale or transfer of Stock are to be left at the Bank, &c., for examination, one day before they can be acted upon; if for receiving dividends, they may be presented at the time the first is payable. Probates of Wills, Letters of Administration, and other proofs of decease must be left at the Bank, &c., for registration, for two or three days.

If Life Annuities be transferred between Jan. 5 and April 4, or between July 5 and Oct. 4, dividends are payable on Jan. 5 and July 5. If transferred between April 5 and July 4, or between Oct. 5 and Jan. 4, dividends are payable on April 5 and Oct. 5. Transferred at the National Debt Office, Old Jewry.

The dividends are paid to the public three days after the dates named; if a Sunday intervenes, four days after. The hours for buying and selling are 10 to 1; for transferring, 11 to half-past 2; for accepting, 2 to 3; for payment of dividends, 9 to 3. Transfer-books are closed at 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Dividend Warrants issued as follows:—1. To the fundholder personally at the Bank of England. 2. Under Power of Attorney, free of stamp duty or any other charge. 3. By post within the United Kingdom.

Fundholders who desire to have their Dividend Warrants sent by post must fill up a form, obtainable at the Bank of England or its branches, and at all money-order offices. For joint accounts, all the parties in whose names the fund stands must sign in favour of the one to whom the warrant is to be sent. Post warrants will be crossed "and Co." and can be cashed at any money-order office, or paid away as ordinary bankers' cheques. Notice should be given to the Bank of the non-reception of any warrant which has been directed to be sent by post.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Mercury on the morning of the 17th, the day of New Moon. She is near both Venus and Saturn during the evening hours of the 18th, and at some distance left of these two planets during the evening hours of the 19th, Venus being the higher of the two planets. She is to the right of Jupiter during the evening hours of the 19th, and to the left of him during the evening hours of the 20th. She is to the right of Mars during the evening hours of the 23rd, and to his left during the evening hours of the 24th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the 3rd at 47 minutes after 5h. in the afternoon.

Last Quarter „ 11th „ 30 „ 6 „ morning.

New Moon „ 17th „ 38 „ 9 „ afternoon.

First Quarter „ 25th „ 50 „ 6 „ morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 15th, and most distant on the afternoon of the 27th.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 5h. 9m. a.m., or 29 minutes before sunrise, which interval gradually decreases to 23m. on the 6th, to 19m. on the 11th, to 16m. on the 16th, to 12m. on the 21st, to 8m. on the 26th, and to 3m. on the last day of the month, the planet rising on this day at 4h. 54m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 17th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 7h. 24m. p.m., or 53 minutes after sunset, which interval gradually increases to 1h. 11m. on the 11th, to 1h. 24m. on the 21st, and to 1h. 30m. on the last day, the planet setting on this day at 8h. 58m. p.m. She is near the Moon on the 18th, near Saturn on the 19th, and in her ascending node on the 26th.

MARS sets on the 2nd at 2h. 43m. a.m., or 2h. 53m. before sunrise; on the 12th at 2h. 19m. a.m., or 2h. 54m. before sunrise; on the 22nd at 1h. 53m. a.m., or 3h. before sunrise; and on the last day at 1h. 36m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 14m. p.m., on the 15th at 5h. 47m. p.m., and on the last day at 5h. 19m. p.m. He is in quadrature with the Sun on the 2nd, and near the Moon on the 24th.

JUPITER is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 10h. 38m. p.m., on the 11th at 10h. 11m. p.m., on the 21st at 9h. 43m. p.m., and on the last day at 9h. 19m. p.m., or 2h. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 53m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 11m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 26m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 20th.

SATURN is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 9h. 11m. p.m., on the 11th at 8h. 39m. p.m., or 1h. 53m. after sunset; on the 21st at 8h. 7m. p.m., or 1h. 3m. after sunset; and on the last day at 7h. 40m. p.m., or 21m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 59m. p.m., on the 15th at 1h. 11m. p.m., and on the last day at 0h. 19m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 19th, and near Venus on the same day.

APPLE BLOSSOM.

THE FALLS OF MUICK, NEAR BALLATER, SCOTLAND.
FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

COST OF THE SECESSION WAR, 1861-65, TO THE UNITED STATES.

The financial record of one of the greatest wars of modern times is of deep interest. The compilation was made under instruction of Congress, and took three months' labour; and its aggregate result shows that the War itself and the subsequent expenses paid by the Treasury were directly caused by the War cost the enormous sum of nearly 6180 millions of dollars—1240 millions sterling. From July 1, 1861, to July 1, 1870, a period of eighteen years, the expenditures for all purposes were $814 millions, of which 654 millions were for ordinary Government purposes, and the remainder were War expenses. The items of this War expenditure show how money can be used up for such purposes. The Treasury has paid 1764 millions for interest on the public debt during the eighteen years, besides 51 millions expenses of issue of national loans and currency, and 794 millions premiums in issuing loans. This does not include the interest on the debt existing before the War, which took over forty-five millions.

For the management of the war itself 12½ millions were spent in conducting the War Office, and nearly 24 millions for the other Executive Departments. The Army cost 381 millions for subsistence, 381 millions for the Quartermaster's Department, 839 millions for transportation, 345 millions for clothing, 128 millions for horses, 31 millions for barracks, 1145 millions for pay, 140 millions for bounties to enlisted soldiers, 42 millions reimbursed the State Governments for their expenses in enlisting troops, 11 millions recruiting and conscription expenses, 67 millions for medical and hospital expenses (including a half-million for artificial limbs), 70½ millions for ordnance and the armament of fortifications, 100 millions for the armament of troops, 84 millions for the Homes for Disabled Volunteers, 13½ millions for forts, 29 millions for collecting, drilling, and organising troops, 2½ millions for bridge, tool, and siege trains, 8½ millions paid for supplies furnished by loyal citizens and for horses and other property lost in the service, and large sums besides for miscellaneous items.

While the Army caused the bulk of the War expenses, the Navy also came in for a considerable share. The Navy cost 74½ millions for pay, 16½ millions for provisions, 1½ millions for clothing, 160½ millions for construction, repair, and equipment of vessels, 31½ millions for ordnance, 2 millions for surgeons' necessities, 30½ millions for yards and docks, 11½ millions for fuel, nearly 1 million for hemp, 49½ millions for machinery, 2½ millions for navigation, 7½ millions for the marine corps, 2½ millions for the Naval Academy and Asylum, 10 millions for chartering, &c., of vessels for the temporary increase of the Navy, 3 millions for bounties, and also other items.

The above gives the three chief divisions of the War expenditures for the Debt, the Army, and the Navy. But to this must be added the millions spent to pay the cost of raising the extra money required to meet these expenditures, and which was gathered largely from taxation. The entire Inland Revenue system was made necessary by the War, and the expense of that department was about 115 millions; while it cost nearly 100 millions to collect the Custom revenue, of which 42½ millions are directly charged to the War.

Any nation that contemplates going to war will do well to ponder these figures. The American War is fifteen years gone by, and the nation is still paying huge sums for it. Out of 267 millions of expenditure during the last fiscal year (1879-80) that entered into the above computation, it is estimated that more than half, or 140½ millions, were expenses for debt, interest, and pensions, the direct legacies of the War. The prodigious exertions to raise money for the support of the War are shown by an examination of the tables of revenue in those years. In the year before the War, 1860, the revenue of the country was about 60 millions of dollars, and its expenditure 63 millions. In the first fiscal year of the War, its paralysation of business reduced the revenue to 41½ millions, all of which but two millions the country got from the Customs. When the War opened it was looked upon as a small affair to be speedily ended, and in the fiscal year ending July 1, 1861, there were 66½ millions spent for all purposes. This included the opening three months of the War before the Bull Run defeat showed what earnest work was necessary, and the money not raised from revenue was procured by about 28 millions increase in the public debt. The war having greatly advanced prices, and the growing premium on gold depreciated the paper currency, when the third year, 1863-4, opened and witnessed the most desperate struggles and prodigious exertions of the rebellion, with Grant's hard-fought progress through the wilderness. New and increased taxes in this year were levied, and swelled the revenue to nearly 265 millions, of which the Customs produced 102 millions and the Inland Revenue nearly 110 millions. But there were spent 866½ millions, of which the rapidly-growing debt took nearly 54 millions for interest. Again the debt supplied the deficiency, about 598 millions being raised in this year from new loans, while at its close the total debt was 1709½ millions. The fourth year of the war, 1864-5, witnessed the final defeat of the rebellion and collapse of the Confederacy, its back being broken by Sherman's march to the sea. It also witnessed the heaviest expenditure in any year by the United States—1297½ millions, of which 77 millions were for debt interest, 1081 millions for the army, and 133 millions for the navy. The country spent more money; but, in view of the end of the war, it breathed more freely than since 1861. The inland revenue at this time, as for several years afterwards, was the chief tax-gatherer, producing 209 millions, while the customs yielded 85 millions, and the total revenues were nearly 834 millions. The deficiency of 965 millions was met by new loans, and the total debt reached nearly 2675 millions.

COST OF THE AFGHAN AND SOUTH AFRICAN WARS.

A Parliamentary return, issued at the close of the Session 1881, shows the number of officers and men killed and wounded in the Afghan war and in the South African wars from 1875 to 1880 inclusive, and of the cost of those wars. In the Afghan war the total number killed and died of wounds was 99 officers and 1524 men, wounded, 111 officers and 1252 men. Of these the losses among the British troops were:—Killed, 67 officers and 481 men, wounded 76 officers and 403 men. In the South African wars, 1875-80, the casualties were:—Killed, 12 officers and 167 men; wounded, 15 officers and 243 men. In the Zulu war, 58 officers and 1824 men were killed, and 20 officers and 272 men wounded. In the war with Secocent 2 officers and 9 men were killed and 7 officers and 349 men wounded. The total for the whole of the wars was:—Killed, officers, 172; men, 3028. Wounded, officers, 162; men, 2016. The cost of the above wars, so far as the British and Indian Exchequer are concerned, was £24,494,485 (including £1,324,047 for frontier railways and £1,019,470 for Punjab Northern Railway); and the net charge on the country, after deducting receipts, £18,412,223.

COST TO FRANCE OF THE WAR 1870-2 WITH GERMANY AND THE COMMUNE.

The following facts with regard to the cost of the War between France and Germany and the devastation caused by the Commune have been published, and their accuracy is vouched for by M. de Foville.

The twenty-seven heads as above give solely the charges for which credits have been voted or proposed. The document published by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs adds		567,658,044
being the difference between £26,343,937 at which the losses properly resulting from the invasion were charged by the Departmental Commission of Revision and the £28,478,029, which sum only was set aside for this purpose by the laws of Sept. 6, 1871, and April 7, 1873		17,865,808

Forming a general total of (Converting the franc at 25 to the £)

This 600 million sterling, vast as it is, does not exhibit the indirect losses arising out of the war—loss of time, health, education, and skill, food and clothing for the whole population; the cost of premature widowhood and loss of parental aid, and mental and bodily vigour; the land laid waste, gardens and fields thrown out of culture, and all of which may be fairly estimated at 600 millions.

THE RUSSIAN WAR EXPENDITURE.

In the official report of the Comptroller of the Empire upon the Russian Budget for 1879, the following statement is given of the extraordinary military expenditure during the years 1876-9 in connection with the war with Turkey and the operations in Turkestan. The amount here set down, it is to be remembered, is in addition to the ordinary outlay upon the Army, which for the four years under review amounted to £75,429,000:—Extraordinary war expenditure in 1876, £5,100,000; 1877, £42,933,000; 1878, £40,814,000; 1879, £13,211,000; total, £102,056,000. To provide for this outlay the following amounts were made available:—Borrowed from the Bank of Russia, £9,176,000; foreign loan of 1877, £10,041,000; first Eastern loan (internal), £17,461,000; second, £27,609,000; third, £25,609,000; budget excess over ordinary expenditure, £2,965,000; total, £93,894,000. According to this statement, therefore, there remained at the close of 1879 an increased deficit of £8,664,000. It is impossible, however, to believe that the above is a full account of the extraordinary expenditure. It makes no mention, for instance, of the £47,000,000 of unconvertible paper money issued by the Government through the Bank of Russia for the purpose of defraying war expenses, and little reliance can be placed upon a statement which leaves out of account an item of such magnitude.

TRADE, COMMERCE, AND INDUSTRIES OF NATIONS.

A noteworthy improvement has been observed in the financial condition of mankind. The earnings of nations, it is found, have risen in twice the ratio of population. At the same time, the public debt has increased 49 per cent; but this is counterbalanced by the outlay in making new railways, which has exceeded since 1870 £184,000,000 over the total of new debts. In like manner, although taxation has grown 22½ per cent, which is more than the geometrical progression of earnings, the net balance per head of population is higher. The account stands, in millions sterling, as follows:—

	1870.	1880.	Ratio of increase
Earnings	5652	6773	19·84 per cent
Taxes	794	971	21·84 „
Net earnings	4858	5802	19·42 „

If we distribute the earnings among the population of Christendom, we find as follows:—

	Population	Net Earnings.	Averages per Head.
In 1870	376,129,000	24,858,000,000	£12 15 6
In 1880	411,725,000	5,802,000,000	13 15 2

This shows, as far as money can, how much the condition of mankind has improved in the last ten years. Perhaps the secret of prosperity has been the development of the carrying trade, by land and sea, which has risen 53 per cent, and cheapened all the products of industry by placing the producer and consumer in closer relation than before.

There are six industries of nations which reach in the aggregate a total of 10½ milliards sterling, thus showing an advance of 29½ per cent since 1870. The average produce of human industry per head is over £25; being a rise of 12 per cent since 1870. The advance in Great Britain is double the European average, the figures being as follows:—

	1870	1880.	Advance.
Great Britain	£53 13 0	£58 11 0	£4 18 0
Europe	21 2 0	23 4 0	2 2 0
United States	38 9 0	40 1 0	1 12 0
The World	22 10 0	25 2 0	2 12 0

The increase observed between Cotton and Wool is remarkable, and continues with varying fortunes, as appears from the following summary:—

	1870.	1880.
Cotton Manufactures	£240,000,000	£285,000,000
Woolen	246,000,000	275,000,000
Linen, Laces, Silks, &c.	182,000,000	220,000,000
Total	£668,000,000	£780,000,000

A glance at the production of wool and cotton in all countries, shows that the Australian clip has more than doubled since 1870; and a similar increase has taken place in the cotton crop of the United States. There is altogether a rise of 330 million pounds, or 22 per cent, in wool, and 994 million pounds, or 37 per cent, in cotton since 1870. In the case of iron, steel, and coal, Great Britain is still by far the largest producer; the figures being 42 per cent of iron, 36 per cent of steel, and 45 per cent of all the coal consumed by the world.

The Commerce and Shipping—that is, the trading of the world—has risen to £776,000,000 sterling, the principal increase being as follows:—

Great Britain	£145,000,000
United States	129,000,000
Germany	114,000,000
Other Nations	388,000,000
Total	£776,000,000

In 1870 the British flag covered 51 per cent, and in 1880 56 per cent of all the carrying power of the merchant shipping of the world. The construction of railways has kept pace with trade and commerce, for since 1870 more than 100,000 miles of railways have been made, at a cost of 1759 millions sterling, and distributed as follows:—

	Miles.	Cost.	Per mile
Great Britain	2,159	£187,000,000	£86,600
Continent	37,698	753,000,000	20,000
Europe	39,857	£970,000,000	£24,300
United States	41,883	579,000,000	13,800
Colonies, &c.	18,747	211,000,000	11,250
The World	100,487	£1,759,000,000	£17,520

British railways have been the most costly; nevertheless, they have rendered more service for capital expended than those of other nations. The traffic of the world may be taken, if a passenger and a ton of merchandise be taken as equivalents of each other, as follows:—

	1870	1879
Great Britain	518,000,000	844,000,000
Continent	617,000,000	943,000,000
Europe	1,135,000,000	1,787,000,000
United States	290,000,000	408,000,000
Colonies, &c.	50,000,000	95,000,000
Total	1,445,000,000	2,290,000,000

The traffic returns, however, on the whole, show a decline of 11 per cent.

The Telegraph Service shows an increase of 280,000 miles.

Increase of Population is dealt with in another place. It may be remarked that Europe in 1870 showed a surplus of 25½ million births over deaths, but emigration reduced the actual increase to 22½ millions. Whilst the Franco-German War cost Europe 818,000 human lives, the French loss being 70 per cent of the total. With regard to the United States of America, the increase of population a good deal exceeds the aggregate number of inhabitants of three European Kingdoms—Holland, Denmark, and Portugal, but our Australian Colonies very much exceeds the ratio of the United States.

The Art of War shows that although there are fewer men under arms in Europe, the annual expenditure for both armies and navies has increased by about 25 per cent. As to the cost of the material, the British soldier now costs £101 per annum, against £96 in 1869; but the burden of military and naval expenditure on each inhabitant or taxpayer in Great Britain is somewhat less than it was in 1870, although for the world the average is higher, viz. 1—

	1870.	1880.
Great Britain	11·02 per cent	11·88 per cent.
Europe	13 87 „	15 38 „
United States	13 39 „	9 21 „
The World	14·05 „	14 34 „

And at present the armaments of Europe absorb 3 per cent of the total earnings of nations; and consequently the burden is heavier by 3 per cent than it was ten years ago.

Food Supply.—Of the food consumed, Europe has a great deficit. No less a quantity than 380 million bushels of grain and 883,000 tons of meat yearly. On the contrary, the United States have a surplus of 370 million bushels of grain and 1,076,000 tons of meat. On the whole, the world shows an over-consumption of 23 million bushels of grain and a surplus of 2,144,000 tons of meat. The consumption of food in Great Britain and the United States is much over the European average per head. It is as follows:—

	Grain, bushels.	Meat, lb.
Great Britain	20·02	119·10
United States	40·68	120 00
France	24·02	81·88
Germany	23·71	84·51
Europe	17·68	57·50
The World	20·19	68·87

Wealth of Nations.—Money in abundance has little to do with national prosperity. Spain has most money, compared with national industry; England the least. Switzerland has most coin per head. The paper money of the world has risen from 692 millions in 1870 to 799 millions sterling in 1880, being an increase of 34 per cent. The amount of gold and silver coin is 823 millions sterling. With regard to the gold coinage, one fourth disappears or is transformed in ten years; so that the net increase since 1870 has been only 210 millions, or 5 per cent over the yield. In all matters of business cheques take the place of coin—in England to such an extent that, on an average, only 10s. of coin are employed for every £100 of business transacted. If the commerce and money of all nations be compared (India alone excepted), it will be found that the world's trade in 1880 was transacted as follows:—

		Aliquot parts.
Gold coin	£554,000,000	19·93
Silver „	269,000,000	9·61
Bank notes	773,000,000	27·81
Cheques, &c.	1,188,000,000	42·65
Total	£2,782,000,000	100·00

The total of new national debts since 1870 is £1,575,000,000 sterling, or £144,000,000 less than the cost of new railways in the same period. That is hardly 34 per cent of the increase of wealth. The increase in the wealth of the United States is most remarkable, and the same may be said with regard to Australia.

The average net earnings of mankind have risen nearly twenty shillings since 1870, as the following summary shows:—

	1870.	1880.
Great Britain—
Earnings	£30 10 6	£38 10 4
Taxes	3 13 5	3 19 9
Net Income	£26 17 1	£29 10 7
Europe—
Earnings	£13 14 2	£14 13 6
Taxes	1 18 7	2 7 0
Net Income	£11 15 7	£12 6 6
United States—
Earnings	£27 11 8	£37 18 4
Taxes	3 13 10	2 12 7
Net Income	£23 17 10	£25 5 9
The World—
Earnings	£14 17 10	£16 2 1
Taxes	2 2 4	2 6 11
Net Income	£12 15 6	£13 15 2

Although the net income has increased, the relative burden of taxation is heavier, as will be seen in the following ratio table:—

	1870.	1880.
Great Britain	16s. 8d. per inhabitant	16s. 0d.
Europe	7s. 10d.	9s. 2d.
United States	11s. 0d.	4s. 6d.
The World	8s. 1d.	8s. 5d.

▲ RETROSPECT OF ENGLAND'S PROSPERITY.

	In 1870.	In 1880.
Exports, in round numbers of millions pounds sterling, show an increase of forty-four millions in ten years	£244,000,000	£298,000,000
Savings Banks show a very considerable increase	£58,000,000	£78,000,000
Pauperism of England and Wales show a decrease of nearly a quarter of a million	£1,070,000	£897,000
Income Tax returns	£445,000,000	£578,000,000
In the consumption of tea there was an increase	117,000,000 lb.	158,000,000 lb.

The last trade returns show that we have reached dimensions never before attained. The great increase in postage is chiefly due to our commercial relations, and the increase in post-cards alone reached the enormous number of 118,810,800, being an increase of 5,000,000 over that of any former period. Comparing the Imports for the same period, these were £303,000,000 in 1870 against £411,000,000 in 1880.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Saturn on the 16th. She is near Jupiter on the day of New Moon; she is near Mercury during the evening hours of the 18th; is near Venus during the evening hours of the 19th; and very near Mars during the evening hours of the 22nd. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the 3rd at 31 minutes after 8h. in the morning.
 Last Quarter „ 10th „ 35 „ 0 „ afternoon.
 New Moon „ 17th „ 33 „ 7 „ morning.
 First Quarter „ 25th „ 19 „ before 1 „ morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 13th, and most distant on the morning of the 25th.

MERCURY rises nearly at the same time as the Sun on the 1st, and from this day till July 8 he rises in daylight. He sets at sunset on the 2nd; on the 6th at 7h. 59m. p.m., or 30 minutes after sunset; on the 11th at 8h. 45m. p.m., or 1h. 9m. after sunset; on the 21st at 9h. 50m. p.m., or 2 hours after sunset; on the 26th at 10h. 5m. p.m., or 2h. 7m. after sunset; and on the last day at 10h. 5m. p.m., or 2h. 5m. after sunset. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 2nd, in his ascending node on the 8rd, near Saturn on the 4th, at his least distance from the Sun on the 7th, near Jupiter on the 13th, and near the Moon on the 18th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 9h. 1m. p.m., or 1h. 40m. after sunset; on the 11th at 9h. 30m. p.m., or 1h. 54m. after sunset; on the 21st at 9h. 56m. p.m., or 2h. 6m. after sunset; and on the last day at 10h. 13m. p.m., or 2h. 10m. after sunset. She is near Jupiter on the 5th, near the Moon on the 19th, and at her least distance from the Sun on the 30th.

MARS sets on the 2nd at 1h. 28m. a.m., on the 12th at 1h. 3m. a.m., on the 22nd at 0h. 36m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 14m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 18m. p.m., on the 15th at 4h. 53m. p.m., and on the last day of the month at 4h. 26m. p.m. He is at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 5th, and near the Moon on the 22nd.

JUPITER sets on the 1st at 9h. 16m. p.m., or 1h. 55m. after sunset; on the 11th at 8h. 50m. p.m., or 1h. 14m. after sunset; on the 21st at 8h. 25m. p.m., or 33 minutes after sunset; and on the 29th the planet and Sun set together; and from this day till Dec. 19 the planet sets in daylight. He rises on the last day at sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 23m. p.m., on the 15th at 0h. 42m. p.m., and on the last day at 11h. 54m. a.m. He is near Venus on the 5th, near Mercury on the 13th, and near the Moon on the 18th, and in conjunction with the Sun on the 30th.

SATURN sets on the 5th at about the time of sunset, and from this day till Nov. 16 he sets in daylight. He rises on the 12th at nearly the same time as the Sun; on the 21st at 8h. 43m. a.m., or 20 minutes before sunrise; and on the last day at 3h. 7m. a.m., or 45 minutes before the Sun. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 16m. p.m., on the 15th at 11h. 28m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 38m. a.m. He is near Mercury on the 4th, in conjunction with the Sun on the 6th, and near the Moon on the 18th.

THE CENSUS OF 1881.

At no period earlier than the commencement of the present century was it possible to form any trustworthy estimate as to the number of persons inhabiting this country. For all computations founded on domesday books, on subsidy rolls, on payments of poll or hearth tax, and the like, however ingenious they might be, involved of necessity so large an intermixture of guesswork as to deprive their results of any very substantial value.

No proposal to ascertain the number of the population by systematic enumeration appears to have been made until the middle of the last century. On March 30, 1753, Mr. Thomas Potter, who sat as member for St. Germans in the House of Commons, brought in a Bill "for taking and registering an annual account of the total number of the people, and of the total number of marriages, births, and deaths; and also of the total number of the poor receiving alms from every parish and extra-parochial place in Great Britain." This Bill apparently had the support of the Ministry of the day; for among those whose names appear on the back are Mr. George Greville, a Lord of the Treasury; Lord Barrington, a Lord of the Admiralty; and Mr. Charles Yorke, the Lord Advocate for Scotland.

The difficulty of taking an account of the population within the limits of a single day, a limitation which is a distinctive feature in the method of enumeration adopted in this country, becomes greater and greater at each recurring decennial period, owing to the rapid growth of the people and the increasing complexity of their local subdivisions. It is probably owing to the gradual dying out of the prejudices which hung about earlier Censuses, and to the increased experience of the local officials in the process of enumeration, that each successive Census has been more accurately taken than that which preceded it.

The total number of persons returned as living in England and Wales at midnight on April 4, 1881, was 25,968,266.

This was an increase of 3,256,020, or of 14·34 per cent, upon the numbers living at the previous Census of April 3, 1871, and was almost exactly equivalent to the addition of another London with all its inhabitants to the population.

The rate of increase was higher than in any decennium since 1831—41, when it was 14·52. In the two succeeding decades (1841—51 and 1851—61) the rate fell, first to 12·65 and then to 11·93; but in 1861—71 the rate again rose to 13·19, to be, as already noted, still further advanced to 14·34 in the two years just completed.

Of the 25,968,266 persons enumerated 12,624,754 were males, and 13,343,532 were females. This gives an excess of females over males of 718,778; an excess which would, however, be considerably lessened were the Army, Navy, and merchant service abroad not excluded from the reckoning.

To each 100 males there were 105·7 females. This is a slightly higher proportion of females than existed at the previous Census. In fact, the proportion of females to males has been steadily increasing at each Census since 1851, having been successively 104·3, 105·3, 105·4, and 105·7.

The number of families (single lodgers to whom schedules were supplied counting as separate families) was 5,643,353, which was an increase of 594,337 upon the number in 1871.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1882.

The number of inhabited houses—that is, of houses in which any person slept on the night of April 3—was 4,838,844, showing an increase of 574,727 in the decennium. There were also 380,684 unoccupied houses and 46,700 in course of construction.

The inhabitants of the country may be divided for practical purposes into an urban and a rural population.

The urban population, as thus determined, consists of the inhabitants of the chief towns and their immediate neighbourhood, while the rural population includes the inhabitants of the smaller towns as well of the strictly country parishes.

Adopting this method of dividing the population, we have the following results:—

The urban population therefore, using the term in the sense of the inhabitants of the chief towns only or their immediate neighbourhood, stood to the remaining or rural population in the proportion of 147 to 100; the proportion in 1871 having been 132 to 100. This change in the proportions was not due to any decrease of growth in the rural population, which fully maintained the rate of increase reached in the previous decade, but to a considerable rise in the rate of growth of the urban population, this rate having mounted from 18.09 per cent in the previous ten years to 19.63 in the decade just concluded.

The population of the twenty great English towns, of which weekly statistics are published by the General Register Office, amounted to 7,578,815, being an increase of 16.9 per cent upon the numbers enumerated in 1871.

The rate of increase varied very widely in the different towns, but in one only was there no increase at all. This exception was Manchester, where the population was found to have slightly fallen. With this, however, must be taken into consideration the fact that the closely adjoining town of Salford showed an increase of no less than 41.2 per cent. Taking the two continuous towns together, there was an increase of 8.8 per cent.

The population of London was 3,814,571, and by itself somewhat exceeded the aggregate population of the nineteen large provincial towns, which amounted to 3,764,244.

No fewer than 530,811 persons were added to the inhabitants of the metropolis in the course of the decade, a number exceeding the entire population of the largest of the provincial towns.

The population of London has almost exactly doubled itself in the course of forty-one years, whereas the population of the rest of England and Wales has taken fifty-seven years to multiply in an equal degree. The metropolis has thus been gaining in its proportions as compared with the country at large; and, whereas at the beginning of the century out of ten inhabitants of England and Wales one lived in London, the proportion has now risen to one out of seven. More precisely, the proportions were 1:9.3 in 1801, and 1:6.8 in 1881.

Year of Enumeration.	Population in England and Wales and in London at the Nine Enumerations.
	England and Wales.	London.	Persons in London to 100 in England and Wales.

1841	15,914,148	1,948,417	12.24
1851	17,927,809	2,362,286	13.18
1861	20,066,224	2,808,989	13.97
1871	22,712,286	3,254,280	14.33
1881	25,968,286	3,814,571	14.69

The increase of population in the past, as also in the preceding decade was entirely peripheral. In the centre of London is a compact area, consisting of ten registration districts, in which, owing to the substitution of business premises for dwelling-houses, the population has for a long period been undergoing diminution. The inhabitants of the Central area decreased by 7.8 per cent in the course of the past ten years, having also diminished by 5.8 per cent in the preceding decade.

THE CITY DAY CENSUS.—The City Day Census, taken three weeks after the Imperial Census of the past year, shows the following results:—Total residents, occupiers, and persons employed, 1881: Males, 195,257; females, 44,095; children, 21,238; total 260,590. The Imperial Census gives for the resident night population alone on Sunday night, April 4, 1881:—Males, 25,085; females, 25,441; total, 50,526. The mercantile and commercial population in 1881 is 210,144; in 1866 it was 170,133, being an increase of 40,011. The decrease in the night residents and caretakers since the Imperial Census of 1871 is 24,371; the persons resorting to the City on foot and in vehicles has greatly increased. In 1881, in a day of twelve hours, 5 a.m. to 5 p.m., 589,483; in 1866, in a day of 12 hours, 5 a.m. to 6 p.m., 549,613—an increase of persons, 39,855. In 1881, in a day of 16 hours, 5 a.m. to 9 p.m., 739,640; in 1866, in a day of 16 hours, 5 a.m. to 9 p.m., 679,744; an increase of persons, 59,896. The rateable value of the City keeps pace with the increase of population. In 1866, when the last day Census was taken, it was £2,110,935; it is now £3,537,581; increase £1,427,626.

CENSUS OF IRELAND—GENERAL SUMMARY.

5,159,839 persons (2,522,804 males and 2,637,035 females) were returned, thus showing a decrease since 1871 of 252,538 persons, or 4.7 per cent; the decrease in the number of males was equal to 4.4 per cent, and in the number of females to 4.9 per cent.

There was during the decade a decrease of 60,361 persons, or 4.5 per cent, in the province of Leinster; 69,575, or 5.0 per cent, in the province of Munster; 93,686 or 5.1 per cent, in the province of Ulster; and 29,016, or 3.4 per cent, in the province of Connaught.

The number of inhabitants in each of the provinces and in all Ireland in 1841, 1851, 1861, 1871, and 1881 respectively, and the decrease between 1871 and 1881 are shown in the following statement:—

PROVINCIAL SUMMARY of the LAST FIVE DECENNIAL ENUMERATIONS.

* Including 403 persons at sea on Census night of 1881 who were returned upon English shipping forms only.

The decrease of population in Ireland between 1861 and 1871 amounted to 6.7 per cent as against 4.7 per cent between 1871 and 1881; in the province of Leinster the decrease between 1861 and 1871 amounted to 8.1 per cent, between 1871 and 1881 to 4.5 per cent; in the province of Munster the decrease between 1861 and 1871 was 7.9 per cent, between 1871 and 1881 it was 5.0 per cent; in the province of Ulster the decrease between 1861 and 1871 was 4.3 per cent, between 1871 and 1881 it was 5.1 per cent; and in Connaught it was 7.8 per cent between 1861 and 1871, and 3.4 per cent between 1871 and 1881.

According to the summaries of the enumerators, 3,951,888 persons returned themselves as Roman Catholics, this number being 196,979, or 4.8 per cent, under the number so returned in 1871; 485,670 were returned under the head of "Protestant Episcopalians," being a decrease of 22,328, or 4.8 per cent, compared with the number tabulated under that head in 1871; 485,503 were returned as Presbyterians, being a decrease of 12,146, or 2.4 per cent, compared with 1871; the number of Methodists returned on the present occasion amounts to 47,669, being an increase of 4228, or 9.7 per cent on the number returned on the Census Forms in 1871.

The number of uninhabited houses increased between 1871 and 1881 by 15,228, or 48.3 per cent—the increase in the province of Leinster being equal to 72.4 per cent; in Munster, to 27.6 per cent; and in Ulster, to 57.0 per cent; there was a decrease of eight in the number of uninhabited houses in Connaught. There were 1876 houses returned as "building," being a decrease of 194 compared with the number returned in 1871.

The population of the city of Dublin increased during the decade by 1.3 per cent; the increases in the suburban townships ranged as follows:—Clontarf, 22.3 per cent; Rathmines and Rathgar, 17.9; Kingstown, 11.3; Blackrock, 11.0; Pembroke, 10.5; and New Kilmainham, 8.7. The total population of the city and its suburban townships increased between 1871 and 1881 by 4.0 per cent. The township of Drumcondra, Clonliffe, and Glasnevin, having, in 1881, a population of 4865, has been formed since 1871.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the morning hours of the 18th; she is near Jupiter on the 14th, and Mercury on the 17th; she is near Venus during the evening hours of the 17th and 18th; and near Mars during the evening hours of the 20th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the 1st at 33 minutes after 8h. in the afternoon.
 Last Quarter „ 8th „ 9 „ 5 „ afternoon.
 New Moon „ 15th „ 33 „ 6 „ afternoon.
 First Quarter „ 23rd „ 1 „ 6 „ afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 7th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 22nd.

MERCURY sets on the 5th at 10h. 2m. p.m., or 1h. 54m. after sunset; on the 16th at 9h. 45m. p.m., or 1h. 31m. after the Sun; on the 15th at 9h. 13m. p.m., or 1h. 2m. after sunset; on the 20th at 8h. 45m. p.m., or 27 minutes after sunset; and on the 24th the planet and Sun set nearly together, and the former sets in daylight from this day until Aug. 10. He is at his greatest western elongation (38 deg. 27 min.) on the 1st, in his descending node on the 10th, stationary among the stars on the 15th, near the Moon on the 17th, at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 25th, and in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 28th.

VENUS is an evening star, and sets on the 1st at 10h. 14m. p.m., or 2h. 10m. after sunset; on the 10th at 10h. 21m. p.m., or 2h. 9m. after the Sun; on the 20th at 10h. 19m. p.m., or 2h. 1m. after sunset; and on the last day at 10h. 11m. p.m., or 1h. 53m. after sunset. She is near the Moon on the 18th.

MARS sets on the 1st at 0h. 9m. a.m., on the 10th at 11h. 41m. p.m., on the 20th at 11h. 13m. p.m., or 2h. 55m. after sunset; and on the last day at 10h. 44m. p.m., or 2h. 25m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 24m. p.m., on the 15th at 4h. 1m. p.m., and on the last day at 3h. 35m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 20th.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 10th at 3h. 31m. a.m., or 25 minutes before sunrise; on the 20th at 2h. 49m. a.m., or 55 minutes before sunrise; and on the last day at 2h. 19m. a.m., or 1h. 28m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 51m. a.m., on the 15th at 11h. 10m. a.m., and on the 30th at 10h. 26m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 14th.

SATURN is a morning star, rising on the 10th at 2h. 30m. a.m., or 1h. 16m. before sunrise; on the 20th at 1h. 55m. a.m., or 1h. 46m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 1h. 19m. a.m., or 2h. 20m. before the Sun. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 29m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 41m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 48m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 18th.

KING OF THE CASTLE

AFGHANS AT THEIR NAMAZ.—FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

CENSUS OF SCOTLAND.

The Census of 1881 shows the population of all Scotland, including the seamen belonging to the mercantile shipping in Scottish ports or on Scottish waters, amounted to 3,784,441 persons, of whom 1,797,592 were males, and 1,986,849 females. Comparison with the Census numbers of 1871 shows an increase of 104,449 males and 179,974 females, or a total increase of 374,423 persons in ten years. Hence there has been in the course of the last ten years an increase of 11·1 per cent in the amount of the population of Scotland, or a male increase of 12·1 per cent, and a female increase of 10·2 per cent. Consequently, it appears that during the last decennium the population of all Scotland has been augmented in a ratio exceeding that observed in any decennial period since 1821-31.

THE CENSUS OF AUSTRALIA.

In 1871 the population of Victoria was 731,000. It is now 855,000. The increase in the ten years is, therefore, 124,000, or 17 per cent. In 1871 the population of New South Wales was 503,000; it is now 750,000—an increase of 247,000, or nearly 50 per cent. The estimated population of Victoria at the time of the present Census was 830,000, so that 75,000 people have departed from that colony in the decade without being registered at the Custom House. But the worst feature of the data in regard to Victoria is that the actual increment is less than it would be if immigration and emigration had exactly balanced each other. The excess of births over deaths during the ten years is computed at 146,000; in reality, therefore, so far from the Colony of Protection having gained by immigration, she has lost no fewer than 22,000 souls by excess of departures over arrivals. In the mean time, the Free Trade Colony, contrariwise, has added 106,000 to the number of her inhabitants by excess of immigration over emigration. Leaving Sydney and Melbourne out of the question, the increase in New South Wales is from 366,000 in 1871 to 520,000 in 1881, or over 42 per cent; while in Victoria the increase is only 9 per cent. In other words, Melbourne has been growing at the expense of the country districts—the producing industries of Victoria have been paying tribute to the manufacturing. A more remarkable verification of the doctrine of political economy would be hard to discover. Yet the advance of Melbourne is proportionately much less than that of New South Wales as a whole, and very much less than the growth of Sydney. During the decade the population of Melbourne grew from 208,000 to 281,000—a very notable and gratifying progression, only it swallows up three fifths of the increase for the whole of Victoria. The advance of Sydney, however, was from 138,000 to 222,000—an increase of 86,000, but not much over one third of the increase for the whole of New South Wales. The growth of the Free-trade capital was therefore much larger than the growth of the Protection capital, notwithstanding that the process in the latter instance was accelerated by a fiscal policy which impelled the people to forsake the plough and the shovel and flock to the city of manufacturers.

We have seen that the actual population of Victoria is smaller by about 75,000 than the official estimate, and that the Census indicates a net loss by emigration of 22,000. But the figures tell an even more dolorous tale. In round numbers the estimate stood thus:—

Population in 1871	731,000
Increase by births over deaths 1871-81	146,000
Increase by immigration at ports	59,000
	936,000

Attention in Victoria has been directed to the paucity of marriages in that community, and various causes have been assigned for the condition. The marriage rate there for several years past has been 1½ per thousand smaller than in New South Wales; and the birth rate has been nearly 4 per thousand smaller. Accordingly we find in the latter colony, with a population averaging about 200,000 less than the former during the ten years, the excess of births over deaths aggregates fully 140,000—only 6000 short of the gross increase from the same source in Victoria.

Of course there is still difference of opinion as to how much of the disparity in the growth of the two colonies is due to the disparity of fiscal systems. The Protectionist organs in Melbourne argue that the arrest of progress in Victoria is to be accounted for by the decadence of the mining industry, which they say is in no way traceable to the high tariff, and by the comparative smallness of her territory. But this theory is evidently wrong. The Victorian mines are not worked out, and to contend that a fertile tract as extensive as Great Britain is fully populated with 800,000 people is simply absurd. The truth is, that the cost of mining has been increased in an enormous ratio by the efforts of the Government to establish manufactures by artificial means; and the same remark applies to the agricultural industry. The energies of the people have been diverted from the natural channels of industry into the purely adventitious openings formed by the erection of a Customs barrier. Manufactures have been started, but at the expense of checking the development of the indigenous resources of the land, and, since Victorian manufacturers have no market for their wares outside of the protected area, the result is general stagnation. The interest in the returns for the other colonies is not so great. As nearly as they can be at present ascertained they are as follows:—

	Population in 1881.	Increase since 1871.	Increase per cent.
New Zealand ...	489,000	233,000	51
South Australia ...	277,500	91,500	49
Tasmania ...	115,800	16,900	16

No returns are yet to hand from Queensland. The enormous growth of New Zealand and the small increase in the population of Tasmania require some explanation. The first-named, as is well known, has been following a "progressive policy" with unparalleled energy and perseverance. She has borrowed immense sums, and spent the money in importing people and providing them with remunerative employment. So far, she seems to have retained the immigrants; but lately there has been quite a large influx of navvies and other labourers into New South Wales from her shores. Tasmania has not advanced much during the decade, but this is because she has suffered several years of extreme depression.

EMIGRATION FROM IRELAND, 1880.

There was very much said during the discussion on the Irish Land Bill upon the question of emigration. But the emigration clause of the Bill limits the sum to be spent, which is far too small to be of any value, considering that the normal emigration from Ireland often approaches 100,000 a year.

The number of emigrants who left Irish ports in 1880 was 95,857, an increase of 48,493 as compared with 1879; the number of males being 50,189, or 24,174 more than in the previous year; and of females, 45,668, an increase of 24,319.

Of the 95,857 emigrants in 1880, 95,517 were natives of Ireland, and 340 were persons belonging to other countries.

The total number of emigrants—natives of Ireland—who left the Irish ports from May 1, 1881, the date at which the collection of returns commenced, to Dec. 31, 1880, is 2,637,187—1,406,476, males and 1,230,711 females. The following table shows the number for each year, from May 1, 1881, to Dec. 31, 1880.

POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Census of the population of the United States taken on June 1, 1880, gives an approximate total of 50,152,559. This is subject to a few minor corrections that may slightly change the figures, but practically this is the population of the country—showing an increase of 11,594,188 in the ten years since the Census of 1870, or about 30 per cent. Of this increase not quite one fourth is said to be made by immigration, the remaining three fourths being the natural growth of the population. In considering the different sections of the country, it is found that, while all portions show a steady growth, by far the greatest growth has been west of the Mississippi. The unexpected fact is also demonstrated that the country south-east of the Mississippi has made a greater proportionate increase of population than that north-east of the Mississippi. The great growth of all has, however, been in the Northern States, west of the Mississippi, in the Pacific States, and in the territories. Nebraska and Colorado have quadrupled their populations in the decade; Kansas has grown almost threefold; and Oregon and Minnesota have nearly doubled. The greatest growth of all has been in some of the territories, and there are five of them that have each a greater population than the State of Nevada. The smallest proportion in growth is shown in Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, and Delaware. The following shows the population of the country by sections, according to the two Censuses:—

The chief cities of the United States and all having over 30,000 population on June 1, 1880, are the following:—

New York, 1,206,580; Philadelphia, 846,984; Brooklyn, 568,689; Chicago, 508,304; Boston, 362,535; St. Louis, 350,522; Baltimore, 332,190; Cincinnati, 255,708; San Francisco, 233,966; New Orleans, 216,140; Cleveland, O., 100,142; Pittsburgh, Pa., 106,381; Buffalo, N.Y., 155,187; Washington, 147,307; Newark, N.J., 136,400; Louisville, Ky., 123,645; Jersey City, 120,723; Detroit, Mich., 116,842; Milwaukee, Wis., 115,578; Providence, R.I., 104,850; Albany, N.Y., 80,903; Rochester, N.Y., 89,983; Allegheny, Pa., 78,681; Indianapolis, 75,074; Richmond, 63,803; New Haven, 62,932; Lowell, Mass., 59,455; Worcester, Mass., 58,395; Troy, N.Y., 56,747; Kansas City, Mo., 55,813; Cambridge, Mass., 52,740; Syracuse, N.Y., 51,791; Columbus, Ohio, 51,685; Paterson, N.J., 50,867; Toledo, Ohio, 50,143; Charleston, S.C., 49,999; Fall River, Mass., 49,006; Minneapolis, Minn., 46,887; Scranton, Pa., 45,850; Nashville, 43,461; Reading, Pa., 43,280; Hartford, 42,563; Wilmington, Del., 42,489; Camden, N.J., 41,658; St. Paul, Minn., 41,498; Lawrence, Mass., 39,178; Dayton, Ohio, 38,677; Lynn, Mass., 38,284; Denver, 35,630; Oakland, Cal., 34,566; Atlanta, 34,398; Utica, N.Y., 33,913; Portland, Me., 33,810; Memphis, 33,503; Springfield, Mass., 33,340; Manchester, N.H., 32,630; St. Joseph, Mo., 32,484; Grand Rapids, 32,015; Wheeling, 31,366; Mobile, 31,265; Hoboken, N.J., 30,999; Harrisburg, 30,760; Savannah, 30,081; Omaha, 30,510.

The recent Census has shown that the numbers of Chinese throughout the States are very much less than was commonly believed to be the case. Taking a few of the principal States, we find that the numbers have increased as follows:—

	1870.	1880.
California ...	45,780	75,122
Idaho ...	4,267	3,878
Oregon ...	3,326	9,515
Nevada ...	8,143	5,423
Washington ...	234	3,337

In the Eastern States, the Chinese element is really very small, and altogether inappreciable among the foreign admixture of population. New York contains but 942; Massachusetts, 256; Illinois, 214, &c. So that all the anticipations as to the displacement of native by Chinese labour are shown to be utterly without foundation.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

The Moon is near Saturn during the morning hours of the 7th; is near Jupiter during the morning hours of the 9th. She is near Mercury on the day of New Moon; is near Mars on the 17th, and Venus after sunset on the 17th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter on the 6th at 13 minutes after 4h. in the morning.
 New Moon " 10th " 10 " 9 " afternoon.
 First Quarter " 22nd " 5 " before 1 " morning.
 Full Moon " 28th " 19 " after 9 " afternoon.

She is furthest from the Earth on the morning of the 18th, and nearest to it on the morning of the 29th.

MERCURY rises on the 4th at 8h. 21m. a.m., or 1h. 9m. before sunrise; on the 9th at 8h. 50m. a.m., or 42 minutes before sunrise; on the 15th the planet and Sun rise at very nearly the same time; and from this day till Oct. 28 the planet rises in daylight. He sets at sunset on the 10th, 20 minutes after sunset on the 19th, and 28 minutes after sunset on the 29th, the planet setting at 7h. 51m. p.m. He is at his least distance from the Sun on the 8th, near the Moon on the 18th, and in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 14th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 8h. 11m. p.m., or 1h. 25m.

after sunset, which interval slowly decreases to 1h. 20m. on the 9th, to 1h. 13m. on the 19th, and to 1h. 8m. on the 29th, the planet setting on this day at 8h. 2m. p.m. She is near Mars on the 2nd, in her descending node on the 16th, and near the Moon on the 17th.

MARS is an evening star, setting on the 9th at 8h. 47m. p.m., or 1h. 15m. after sunset; on the 19th at 8h. 18m. p.m., or 1h. 5m. after sunset; and on the 29th at 7h. 45m. p.m., or 57 minutes after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 42m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 19m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 53m. p.m. He is near Venus on the 2nd, and near the Moon on the 17th.

JUPITER rises on the 1st at 6h. 38m. a.m., on the 9th at 6h. 13m. a.m., on the 18th at 11h. 40m. p.m., and on the 28th at 11h. 6m. p.m. He crosses the meridian or is due south on the 1st at 8h. 49m. a.m., on the 15th at 5h. 5m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 13m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 9th.

SATURN rises on the 8th at 10h. 50m. p.m., on the 18th at 10h. 12m. p.m., and on the 28th at 8h. 34m. p.m., or 2h. 39m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 59m. a.m., on the 15th at 6h. 1m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 5h. 0m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 7th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 18th.

THE CENSUS OF THE AUSTRIAN EMPIRE.

The Austrian-Hungarian Census returns, Dec. 31, 1880, show a more favourable set of figures for Austria than her sister Hungary. While the Hungarian population, during the eleven years following the former Census (1869), has only increased from 15,417,327 to 15,610,729, or at the rate of 0.11 per cent annually, the population of Cis-Leithania during the same interval has increased at the rate of 0.74 per cent. Bosnia and Herzegovina are not included in this calculation. The individual "Crown lands" of the the Hapsburg Monarchy yielded the following figures at the Census:—Galicia, 5,963,170; Bohemia, 5,557,134; Lower Austria, 2,329,021; Moravia, 2,151,619; Styria, 1,212,367; The Tyrol, 805,326; Austria (Proper), 760,879; The Bukovina, 899,690; Austrian Silesia, 665,772; Kraia, 481,176; Dalmatia, 474,489; Istria, 296,864; Salzburg, 163,666; Trieste and its district, 144,437; Gorz and Gradiska, 210,241; Vorarlberg, 107,367. The total population of the Cis-Leithanian lands in 1880 was 22,130,884, against 20,386,689 in the year 1869. A decrease has nowhere taken place. The city of Vienna numbers (exclusive of the military) 726,106 inhabitants. The city of Prague, on the contrary, has decreased in population since 1869, 1 per cent.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS IN 1880.

The report of the accidents which occurred on the railways of the United Kingdom during 1880 shows that the total number of persons returned to the Board of Trade as having been killed in the working of the railways during the year was 1136, and the number of injured 3958. Of these 143 persons killed and 1613 persons injured were passengers. Of the remainder, 516 killed and 2080 injured were officers or servants of the railway companies, or of contractors; and 447 killed and 265 injured were trespassers, suicides, and other persons who met with accidents at level crossings or from miscellaneous causes. Of the passengers 29 were killed and 904 were injured from accidents to trains. In addition to the above the companies returned 45 persons killed and 2743 injured from accidents which occurred on their premises, but in which the movement of vehicles on railways was not concerned. The total number of passenger journeys, exclusive of journeys by season ticket holders, was 603,854,000 for the year 1880, or 41,151,110 more than in the previous year. Calculated on these figures, the proportions of passengers killed and injured in 1880 from all causes were, in round numbers, 1 in 4,252,704 killed and 1 in 374,166 injured. In 1879 the proportions were 1 in 3,517,900 killed and 1 in 474,166 injured. The proportion of passengers returned as killed and injured from causes beyond their own control was in 1880 1 in 20,927,034 killed and 1 in 667,300 injured. In 1879 the proportion was 1 in 25,369,500, or, including the Tay Bridge disaster, 1 in 7,593,000 killed and 1 in 934,000 injured. In the general remarks at the conclusion of the report it is stated that a perusal of the circumstances which led to the accidents and collisions of the year leads to the conclusion that, while they were due principally to mistakes (95 out of 118), the greater part of them might, under other circumstances, have been averted, or at all events modified in their effects; and that the safety of railway travelling has been greatly enhanced from year to year, notwithstanding the greatly increased traffic on the railways and the large length of new railways opened. The length of railways has increased between December, 1873, and December, 1880, by upwards of 1851 miles, or 11 per cent. The number of miles travelled by trains of all descriptions has increased from 197,000,000 in 1873 to 241,000,000 in 1880, or 22 per cent. The number of passengers carried, exclusive of season-ticket holders, has increased from 455,000,000 in 1873 to nearly 604,000,000 in 1880, or 32 per cent. The number of tons of merchandise and minerals carried has increased from 191,000,000 in 1873 to 235,000,000 in 1880, or 23 per cent. The number of accidents arising in the working of railways has decreased from 459 in 1873 to 322 in 1880, or 30 per cent, and the number of collisions included in those numbers has likewise decreased from 253 in 1873 to 134 in 1880, or 47 per cent, the proportion of collisions to the total number of train accidents having decreased from 55 per cent in 1873 to 41·8 per cent in 1880, tending to prove that the interlocking and absolute block systems have been the means of preventing a large number of collisions. The fatal accidents of 1880, however, show a somewhat increased proportion to the traffic when compared with 1879, but a much smaller proportion than in most former years. They show, too, that no amount of mechanical appliances will operate as a complete protection against the consequences of human negligence, or of carelessness with the most important of all appliances, an efficient and well-ordered staff of employees. But the tables given in the report also show that the gradual and partial adoption by the railway companies of the block system and of interlocking points and signals, so long urged in Parliament and by the Government, has been concurrent with a decrease in the number of accidents, and that efficient mechanical appliances, so far from increasing the risks arising from human negligence, tend to diminish them.

THE PARLIAMENTARY OATH.

The Parliamentary Oath of Allegiance is a more historical term, and nothing more. The old Oath of Allegiance, which contained an engagement "to be true and faithful to the King and his heirs, and truth and faith to bear of life and limb and terrene honour, and not to know or hear of any ill or damage intended him without defending him therefrom," and concluded with the words "So help me God and all saints!" has been altered three, if not four times. The Test Act of Charles II.'s reign, which directed all officers, civil and military, under Government to receive the sacrament according to the forms of the Church of England, and to take the oaths against transubstantiation, were repealed in order to grant relief to the Roman Catholic denomination in 1828. A Jew's Oath Bill passed the House of Commons (always to be thrown out in the Lords) in 1831, 1853, and each succeeding year till 1858, when it last, by way of resolution, the House passed an Act enabling the members of that persuasion to take their seats without taking the ordinary oath "on the faith of a Christian," while, from 1696, when Quakers were first permitted to make an affirmation in lieu of the general oath of allegiance up to 1861, when a similar concession was extended to their scruples in courts of justice. The dogmas of the Society of Friends became generally known about the same time that the hallucination of Thomas Verner and the Fifth-Monarchy men found expression in riots. It was owing to William Edmonstone, the pioneer of Quakerism in Ireland, refusing to swear to the truth of his bills of lading on the arrival of his goods at Carrickfergus, that public attention first began to be directed to the peculiarities of the new sect in Ireland.

In the year 1823 a few Catholic gentlemen, meeting at the house of a mutual friend in the county of Wicklow, sowed the seeds of the Catholic Association, which had so powerful an influence on the cause of Catholic Emancipation. To keep the agitation going supplies were indispensable; and membership was founded on the payment of one penny a month, or one shilling a year. "The penny of the poor," it was said, "emancipated the Peer," and, by 1824, the weekly subscription amounted to £500. At this interval of time it is difficult to comprehend the sectarian bitterness which divided the two great parties in Ireland in those days. Public men were almost sure to lean to one or other extreme, Orangism or Popery; and William Lamb is said to have justified his nomination of Sir Anthony Hart to the Great Seal on the grounds that he was "a man without either religion or politics, and, therefore, safe for Ireland." From 1813 to 1828 bills were being continually brought forward to modify the oath which kept Roman Catholics out of Parliament and of almost every place of profit and honour. When it was seen that Wellington and Peel were really in earnest in the matter, the whole political world was thrown into a hubbub. In and out of the House there was no other subject of conversation; rival wits and beauties contributed their quota to the common quarrel; and Madame Lacyn and Lady Jersey worked as hard as any member of either House to make the Parliamentary machine go their way. The Oath of Abjuration (13 and 14 King William III., chap. 6), which was nothing more or less than an obligation to abjure all Roman Catholic Pretenders to the Crown.

THE WORK OF THE POST OFFICE.

The work of the Post Office continues to increase. The number of letters delivered in the United Kingdom during the twelve months of the financial year 1881 was 1,176,423,600, showing an increase of 4.3 per cent; the number of post-cards, 122,844,000, an increase of 7.4 per cent; the number of book packets and circulars, 246,881,000, an increase of 10.3 per cent; and the number of newspapers, 131,786,100, an increase of 2.5 per cent. There is again a marked increase in registered letters, the number recorded being 10,034,546, against 8,739,191 of the previous year, or an increase of 14.8 per cent.

The gross revenue collected within the year was a little over 8½ millions, arrived at thus:—

Postage on letters, post-cards, newspapers, &c.	£6,478,696
Commission on money orders	£216,093
Commission on postal orders	3,750
Value of unclaimed money orders	4,914
	254,781
Revenue from telegraphs	1,633,884
	£8,367,311

The expenditure was:—

For Postal service, including money order and postal order business	£3,470,213
Packet service	665,446
Telegraph service, including expenditure by other departments	1,905,008
	£5,440,667

The net revenue was, therefore £2,926,646 being an increase of £85,017 on the previous year.

The total expenditure shows an increase of £258,360, almost wholly due to the additional outlay necessarily involved in carrying on a business which is rapidly growing in nearly every branch.

Over 5,300,000 letters were dealt with in the Returned Letter Office, 475,000 of which it was found impossible to deliver or return. One contained a bank-note for £100, still unclaimed; and attached to the seal of another was a sovereign, which was returned to the owner, who had forgotten to remove it. In addition to the letters, about half a million post-cards, 4,000,000 book packets, and 400,000 newspapers found their way to the same office. More than 27,000 letters—an increase of 3000 over last year—were posted without any address whatever, 5000 furnished no clue to the name of the sender, and 1340 contained articles of value to the amount of nearly £5000. The use of too fragile covers occasioned the escape of some 30,000 articles, and, no doubt, entailed much disappointment.

POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

The rates of postage on inland letters to be prepaid are as follow, viz:—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz.	1d.
Exceeding 1 oz., but not exceeding 2 oz.	1½d.
“ 2 oz., and less than 4 oz.	2d.
“ 4 oz., and less than 6 oz.	2½d.
“ 6 oz., and less than 8 oz.	3d.
“ 8 oz., and less than 10 oz.	3½d.
“ 10 oz., and less than 12 oz.	4d.

A letter exceeding the weight of 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce, beginning with the first ounce. A letter, for example, weighing between 14 oz. and 15 oz. must be prepaid 1s. 3d.

A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage; and if insufficiently prepaid is chargeable with double the deficiency.

No letter may be above 18 inches in length, 9 inches in width, or six inches in depth.

Letters for the Country posted in London or the London Districts on Saturday too late for the ordinary Evening Mails, but in time for the last Evening Collections are delivered next morning, if for places within the range of the Midnight despatches; if for places beyond that range, they are delivered on Monday. The late fee charged for posting inland ordinary letters, after the time of closing the boxes for the dispatch of a mail, is reduced to an uniform rate of a halfpenny.

All Post Offices in the London District are closed on Sundays, with some few exceptions, which are open for the receipt and dispatch of telegrams during the hours stated in Postal Guide.

On Bank Holidays the Postal and Telegraph arrangements in London are of an exceptional character, and due notice is given of them by means of Notices to the public exhibited at Metropolitan Post Offices.

Inquiries for Missing Letters, &c., should be made at the Secretary's Office, New Building, between ten a.m. and four p.m. (Saturdays between ten and one).

The Returned Letter Office is in Telegraph-street, Moorgate-street. The Money Order Office is at No. 1, Aldersgate street. The Post-Office Savings Bank is in Queen Victoria-street, E.C.

LETTERS “TO BE CALLED FOR”

There is a Poste Restante both at the General Post Office, St. Martin's-Grand, and at the Charing-cross Post Office, where letters “to be called for” can be obtained between the hours of nine a.m. and five p.m. No letters (except communications from the Savings Bank Department) are taken in “to be called for” at the other district or branch offices, and any so directed are sent to the Returned Letter Office to be returned to the writers.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN LETTERS.

Full particulars of the rates of postage on letters to the colonies and foreign countries will be found in the British Postal Guide, published quarterly, price Sixpence.

No letter for any colony or foreign country may be above two feet in length or one foot in width or depth. Neither must it contain gold or silver money, jewels, or precious articles, or anything liable to Customs duties, can be sent, even if registered, to any country of the General Postal Union.

INLAND BOOK POST.

The postage is one halfpenny for every 2oz. or part of that weight. A packet posted wholly unpaid is charged with double the book postage; and if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN BOOK POST.

The limit of size for a book-packet addressed to any place abroad is 24 in. in length and 12 in. in width or depth.

FOREIGN CARD POST.

Foreign post-cards may be sent to Canada and to all the countries comprised in the General Postal Union, with the exception of British India.

The postage of a card is in every case one half the rate for a single letter. Foreign post-cards with an impressed stamp of 1d. and 1½d. each are sold at that rate, and are transmissible to the majority of the countries of the Union without extra charge, but reference should be made for exceptional rates to the Post Office Guide.

REGISTRATION (INLAND AND FOREIGN.)

The fee for registering a letter, newspaper, or book-packet passing between any two places in the United Kingdom is twopenny.

The fee chargeable for registration to Colonies and Foreign Countries will be found in the Post Office Guide.

Every letter to be registered should be presented at the counter, and a receipt obtained for it, and should on no account be dropped into the letter-box. If, contrary to this rule, a letter marked “Registered,” be dropped into the letter-box, it will, if directed to any place in the United Kingdom or the British Colonies, be liable to a registration fee of 4d., instead of the ordinary fee of 2d.

INDIAN PARCEL POST.

1. Persons wishing to send parcels to any part of British India can do so through the Indian Parcel Post Agency—established under authority of the Director-General of the Post Office of India—at 122, Leadenhall-street, E.C.; and (Branch Office) at 25, Cockspur-street, S.W.

2. The charge for parcels is 1s. per lb. or fraction of a lb. (prepayment optional), covering transit from London to destination in India. Insurance may be effected, if desired, at the rate (to be prepaid) of 1s. up to £3 value, 2s. 6d. up to £10 value, and 6s. up to £20 value. Indian Customs duty (if chargeable) will be realised from the addressee.

N.B.—Parcels containing books, or articles treated as books under the British Inland Book Post Rules, are charged 6d. per lb.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PATTERN AND SAMPLE POST.

There is a Pattern and Sample Post to certain colonies and foreign countries, but it is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of merchandise.

MODES OF PREPAYMENT.

Inland letters, newspapers, and book-packets cannot be prepaid in money but must be prepaid by means of stamps, either adhesive or embossed or impressed. This rule applies also to registered letters.

Exceptions.—At the Chief and District Post Offices, and at the Charing-cross and Lombard-street Post Offices in London, as well as at the Head Offices in Edinburgh and Dublin.

POSTAL ORDERS.

Postal orders, for certain fixed sums from 1s. up to £1, are issued to the public at all post offices at which money order business is transacted.

The following are the amounts for which postal orders are issued, together with the poundage payable in respect of each order:—

Amount of Order.	Poundage.	Amount of Order.	Poundage.
1 0	½	7 6	1
2 6	1	20 0	2

The person to whom a postal order is issued must, before parting with it, fill in the name of the person to whom the amount is to be paid, and may fill in the name of the Money Order Office at which the amount is to be paid. The person so named must, before payment can be made, sign the receipt at the foot of the order, and must also fill in the name of the Money Order Office, if that has not been already done.

POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS.

The regulations which came into operation Oct. 1, 1880, with respect to postal orders enacts that the following poundage be paid: 1s., ½d.; 2s. 6d., 5s., or 7s. 6d., 1d.; 10s., 12s. 6d., 15s., 17s. 6d., or 20s., 2d.

The postmaster may require the person to sign his name on the order before payment is made, although it has been already signed. A postal order may be crossed to a particular banker, and the banker to whom it is crossed may cross it to another banker or agent for collection; and when so crossed specially a postmaster shall refuse to pay it, except to the banker to whom it is crossed.

POST-OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

The usefulness of this department to the working classes goes on extending. There are now more than ten millions of depositors. Much has been done during the year to encourage thrift.

The total amount of deposits, with the interest due, had on Dec. 31, reached £33,714,637, showing an increase of £1,732,593 over the amount recorded on the corresponding day of 1879. The Post-Office Savings Bank year prescribed by statute terminates on Dec. 31; but, comparing the financial years ended March 31, the result obtained is:—The total amount of deposits on March 31, 1880, including interest to previous Dec. 31, £32,578,406; the total amount of deposits on March 31, 1881, including interest to previous Dec. 31, £32,782,329, estimated increase in the financial year ended March 31, 1881, £2,203,924. The increase in Ireland just now (1881) has a peculiar significance, the amount exceeding by £195,500 the total of the previous year placed in the Savings Banks. Ten thousand new depositors were also enrolled, every county in Ireland contributing its quota, and the increase in the eight counties scheduled as distressed amounted to £8448 over and above the growth of the previous year—viz., £33,566, against £25,418.

Post-Office Savings Banks are established at all Money-Order Offices in the United Kingdom, and are open for the receipt and payment of money and for the transaction of Government Stock business daily during the hours appointed for Money-Order business.

Any person desirous of saving one shilling by means of penny contributions, for deposit in the Post-Office Savings Bank, may do so by purchasing with every penny so saved a penny postage-stamp and affixing it to a form to be obtained at any post-office. When twelve such stamps have been so affixed, the form may be taken to any post-office savings bank in the United Kingdom, where it will be received by the postmaster, and one shilling be allowed for the stamps, which shilling will be accepted either as the first deposit in a new account then to be opened, or as an ordinary deposit if the owner of it has already opened an account. If the stamps affixed to the form are defaced, or in any way damaged, they will not be received by a postmaster.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Mercury on the 9th, and Mars on the 11th. She is near Venus on the evening of the 13th; is near Saturn during the nights of the 23rd and 24th, and near Jupiter during the night common to the 26th and 27th; the nearest approach being at about midnight of the 26th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter on the 2nd at 58 minutes after 6h. in the afternoon.

New Moon " 10th " 20 " 11 " afternoon.

First Quarter " 18th " 42 " 8 " morning.

Full Moon " 25th " 3 " 2 " morning.

She is furthest from the Earth on the morning of the 6th, and nearest to it on the morning of the 22nd.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 5h. 14m. a.m., or 1h. 43m. before sunrise; on the 7th at 5h. 11m. a.m., or 1h. 54m. before sunrise; on the 12th at 5h. 24m. a.m., or 1h. 50m. before sunrise; on the 17th at 5h. 46m. a.m., or 1h. 37m. before sunrise; on the 22nd at 6h. 10m. a.m., or 1h. 21m. before sunrise; and on the 27th at 6h. 36m. a.m., or 1h. 3m. before the Sun. He is at his greatest western elongation (18 deg. 55 min.) on the 8th, and near the Moon on the 9th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 7th at 5h. 30m. p.m., or 1h. 7m. after sunset; on the 17th at 5h. 2m. p.m., or 53m. after sunset; and on the 27th at 4h. 25m. p.m., or 29m. after sunset. She is at her greatest brilliancy on the 1st, near the Moon on the 13th, and stationary among the stars on the 16th.

MARS is an evening star, setting on the 7th at 4h. 47m. p.m., on the 17th at 4h. 22m. p.m., and on the 27th at 4h. 5m. p.m., being 20m., 13m., and 9m. respectively after sunset on these evenings. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 29m. p.m., on the 16th at 0h. 14m. p.m., and on the last day at 0h. 1m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 11th.

JUPITER rises on the 6th at 6h. 46m. p.m., or 2h. 22m. after sunset; on the 16th at 6h. 3m. p.m., or 1h. 53m. after sunset; and on the 26th at 5h. 20m. p.m., or 1h. 23m. after the Sun. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 24m. a.m., on the 15th at 2h. 25m. a.m., on the last day at 1h. 19m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 26th.

SATURN rises on the 6th at 4h. 52m. p.m., or 23 minutes after sunset; and on the 16th he rises at sunset, and after this day he rises in daylight. He sets at about sunrise on the 14th, 21 minutes before sunrise on the 16th, and at 6h. 21m. a.m., or 1h. 19m. before sunrise, on the 28th. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 47m. a.m., on the 15th at 1h. 44m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 40m. p.m. He is in opposition to the Sun on the 15th, and near the Moon on the 24th.

TAXATION OF ENGLAND AND WALES.

From the Return of the Property and Income Tax Assessment, Poor Rate, &c., from the years 1873-4 to 1879-80 we find that in the financial year 1873-4 the gross annual value of property was—Lands, £19,906,890; messuages, £80,726,502; tithes, manors, fines, and other profits from lands, £511,488; making a total of £131,081,816. The gross annual value in respect of the occupation of lands, schedule B, including nurseries and market gardens, was £49,948,292. Under the heading of schedule C the amount was £40,733,440. In schedule D (trades, professions, public companies, and foreign dividends, £148,857,731; railways, mines, quarries, iron-works, fisheries, gasworks, canals, &c., £44,123,270, making a total of £192,977,001. In schedule E the amount is placed at £22,867,952. This, including all the items, makes a grand total of £437,611,110. For the financial year 1879-80 the figures are as follows:—Lands, £21,798,950; messuages, £100,079,417; tithes, manors, fines, &c., £575,371; total, £122,453,738. Gross annual value in respect of occupation of lands, &c., £51,625,560. Schedule C, £38,839,384; trades, professions, &c., £41,804,127; railways, mines, &c., £13,791,725; total, £104,435,836. Under schedule E, £22,668,264, making altogether a grand total of £451,241,892. Under the heading of poor-rate valuation, the gross estimated rental in 1873-4 was £192,571,829; and in 1879-80, £137,868,922. The rateable value in 1873-4 was £152,392,362; and in 1879-80, £133,769,470. The expenditure in relief to the poor—1873-4, £7,681,867; 1879-80, £8,016,010. For other purposes, under the headings of "Generally and specially highway rate transferred to poor rate," &c., for the years 1873-4, the sums stand at £4,408,509 and £77,141; and for the year 1879-80 at £5,084,177 and £16,095. The total poor-rate expenditure was therefore—in 1873-4, £12,851,107; and in 1879-80, £14,092,102.

PARLIAMENTARY UN-REPRESENTATION.

A return of towns unrepresented in Parliament laid before the House of Commons, 1881, shows that 186 places, officially described as "urban sanitary districts," contain more than 10,000 inhabitants, West Ham heading the list with 128,601, and Ulverston closing it with 10,001. Ulverston is generally regarded as an adjunct of the lakes among which it lies, and West Ham, which includes Stratford and Plaistow, is an aggregate of populations rather than anything more definite and united. Croydon and St. Helen's stand respectively second and third, and are thus the largest towns, properly so called, still deprived of representation in Parliament, the former containing 78,947 inhabitants, the latter 57,234. The return is of a somewhat illusory character, mentioning as unrepresented many towns and districts included in the Parliamentary representation of other boroughs. But, with all, the return contains some instructive facts which are enough to make the student of our political institutions reflect on what may be called their regular irregularity. Here are numerous groups of 10,000 people and upwards without a member for any of them, six being set down as consisting of over 50,000 people, while fifty-seven are English and Welsh constituencies with a population below the minimum of Mr. Bess's return. Liberals may regard with some satisfaction the circumstance that there is no Scotch constituency below the limit, with the single exception of Wigtown, now represented by a Conservative. In Ireland the proportion of small constituencies is even greater than in England. Much is often said about the inequality of our representation; but, perhaps, few people realise how extraordinary it is.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Mercury, Venus, and Mars on the morning of the 10th. She is near Saturn from sunset throughout the night of the 21st, and near Jupiter from the time of sunset of the 23rd throughout the night, the nearest approach being at about 3 o'clock in the morning of the 24th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter on the 2nd at 56 minutes after 2h. in the afternoon.
New Moon „ 10th „ 34 „ „ 3 „ „ afternoon.
First Quarter „ 17th „ 39 „ „ 4 „ „ afternoon.
Full Moon „ 24th „ 41 „ „ 3 „ „ afternoon.

SHE is furthest from the Earth on the morning of the 3rd, and again on the afternoon of the 31st; she will be nearest to the Earth on the afternoon of the 18th.

MERCURY rises on the 2nd at 7h. 3m. a.m., or 44 minutes before sunrise, which interval decreases to 25 minutes on the 7th, to 8 minutes on the 12th; on the 14th he rises at sunrise, and after this day he rises in daylight. He sets at about sunset on the 22nd; at 4h. 9m. p.m., or 15 minutes after sunset, on the 27th; and at 4h. 28m. p.m., or 30 minutes after sunset, on the last day of the year. He is in his descending node on the 3rd, near Venus on the 9th, near the Moon on the 10th, at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 18th, near Mars on the 15th, and in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 17th.

VENUS sets on the 5th at nearly the time of sunset, and she sets in daylight after this day. On the 6th there will be a Transit of Venus across the Sun's disc, partly visible at Greenwich. The time of internal contact at ingress will be at 2h. 17m. p.m., least distance of centres (10 min. 41 deg. 4 sec.) will be at 5h. 4m. p.m., and the internal contact at egress will be at 7h. 52m. p.m. Venus rises on the 6th at nearly the time of sunrise, 1h. 37m. before sunrise on the 17th, 2h. 39m. before sunrise on the 27th, and at 5h. 13m. a.m., or 2h. 56m. before sunrise on the last day of the year. She is near Mars on the 5th, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 6th, in her ascending node on the 7th, near the Moon on the 10th, and stationary among the stars on the 20th.

MAJNS sets at sunset on the 7th, and after this day he sets in daylight. He rises at sunrise on the 14th, at 7h. 53m. a.m. on the 17th; at 7h. 54m. a.m., or 14 minutes before sunrise, on the 27th; and at 7h. 51m. a.m., or 18m. before the Sun, on the last day of the year. He is due south on the 1st at noon, on the 15th at 11h. 50m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 39m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 10th, in conjunction with the Sun on the 11th, and near Mercury on the 15th.

JUPITER rises 44 minutes after sunset on the 6th, and at about the time of sunset on the 16th, after which he rises in daylight. He sets on the 19th at about sunrise, on the 28th at 7h. 20m. a.m., and on the last day of the year at 7h. 8m. a.m., or 1h. 1m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 15m. a.m., on the 15th at 0h. 12m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 55m. p.m. He is in opposition to the Sun on the 15th, and near the Moon on the 24th.

SATURN sets on the 6th at 5h. 37m. a.m., or 2h. 17m. before sunrise; on the 18th at 4h. 54m. a.m.; on the 28th at 4h. 13m. a.m.; and on the last day of the year at 3h. 58m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 36m. p.m., on the 15th at 9h. 37m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 8h. 31m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 21st.

THE METROPOLITAN BOARD OF WORKS.

(Office, Spring-gardens.—Hours, 9 to 4; Saturdays, 9 to 2.)

The Metropolitan Board of Works was constituted by the Metropolitan Management Act of 1855. Under this and subsequent Acts it has carried out several special works, such as the Main Drainage of London, the construction of the Victoria, Albert, and Chelsea Embankments on the Thames, the formation of Queen Victoria-street, Northumberland-avenue, &c. Among the works now in progress are the widening of Coventry-street, Tooley-street, Gray's-inn-road, &c., making a new street from Piccadilly to Hurt-street, Bloomsbury, and the clearance of sites for Artisans' Dwellings. It has just completed a block in Drury-lane. Its principal general duties comprise the control over the formation of streets and the line of buildings therein, the testing of gas and of gas-meters, the maintenance of the Fire Brigade the maintenance of the Main Drainage System, and of parks and commons. It is the "Metropolitan Authority," under the Water, Tramways, Petroleum, Artisans' Dwellings, Contagious Diseases (Animals), Slaughter-houses, Explosive Substances, and other Acts. It raises money (in Metropolitan Consolidated Stock) not only for its own works, but for advances to the Managers of the Metropolitan Asylums District, the School Board for London, and other corporations within the Metropolis. Members of the Board are elected by the respective Vestries and District Boards in the Metropolis. The Corporation of the City of London elects three members.

CHAIRMAN.

Lieut.-Col. Sir James M. M'Garel Hogg, Bart., K.C.B., M.P. ... £2000

ALEXANDRITES.

Mr. Streeter is constantly receiving Consignments of Sapphires, Cats'-Eyes, Pearls, &c., direct from his Branch in Colombo, Ceylon (the true native home of these Gems), and can therefore supply purchasers of Gem Jewellery and unmounted Stones at Wholesale Prices, by which the usual intermediate profit is saved.

PRECIOUS STONES AND GEMS.

Demy 8vo, richly illustrated, cloth, 18s.; whole calf, 27s.

BY EDWIN W. STREETER, F.R.G.S.

An exhaustive and practical work for the merchant, connoisseur, or the private buyer. Treats upon every description of Precious Stone; giving their history, habitat, value, and uses for ornament; together with much information regarding their matrices or rough state.

PRESS CRITICISMS.

STANDARD.—"Mr. Streeter gives an accurate and complete description of some forty kinds of precious stones and gems, and makes his book still more attractive and complete by a series of coloured plates and photographs, some of which in point of beauty almost rival the original gems."

MORNING POST.—"Mr. Streeter prefaces his handsome volume with a warning to his readers that it is not intended as a scientific treatise, but a practical work on the nature, properties, and value of precious stones."

BRONCHITIS.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.
This wonderful remedy was discovered by Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE, and the word Chlorodyne coined by him expressly to designate it. There never has been a remedy so vastly beneficial to suffering humanity, and it is a subject of deep concern to the public that they should not be imposed upon by having imitations pressed upon them on account of cheapness, and so being the same thing. Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is a totally distinct thing from the spurious compounds called Chlorodyne, the use of which only ends in disappointment and failure.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is a LIQUID MAGNESIA which

ASSUAGES PAIN of EVERY KIND,

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

are prepared from a highly-esteemed recipe for alleviating Bronchial Affections, Asthma, Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, and Irritation or Soreness of the Throat. Public Speakers and Vocalists will find them beneficial in clearing the voice before speaking or singing, and relieving the throat after any unusual exertion of the vocal organs, having a peculiar adaptation to affections which disturb the organs of speech. Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough or "slight cold" in its first stages. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected soon attacks the lungs. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES are most valuable when coughs, colds, bronchitis, influenza, hoarseness, and sore throat are prevalent. The Troches give sure and almost immediate relief. Sold by all Medicine Vendors throughout the world at 1s. 11d. per Box. London Dépôt, 33, Farringdon-road.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.

should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless, and very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is sold by thousands of Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world at 1s. 11d. per Bottle, and Millions of Mothers can testify to its virtue. Wholesale Dépôt, 33, Farringdon-road, London.

"FLORILINE,"

FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH, is the best liquid dentifrice in the world; it thoroughly cleanses partially decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalcules," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The FRAGRANT FLORILINE removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke; being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants, it is perfectly harmless and delicious as sherry. For children or adults whose teeth show marks of decay its advantages are paramount. The FLORILINE should be thoroughly brushed into all the cavities. No one need fear using it too often, or too much at a time. The taste is so pleasing that, instead of taking up the tooth-brush with dislike, as is often the case, children will on no account omit to use the FLORILINE regularly every morning, if only left to their choice. Children cannot be taught the use of the tooth-brush too young; early neglect invariably produces premature decay of the teeth. Sold by all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the world at 2s. 6d. per Bottle. "FLORILINE" POWDER put up in large glass Jars, price 1s. Sold Wholesale by the Anglo-American Drug Company (Limited), 33, Farringdon-road, London.

THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER.

If your Hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," for it will positively restore, in every case, Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the Hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promotes the growth of the Hair on bald spots where the glands are not decayed. Mr. NATHAN BERRY, Chemist, Walkden, writes:—"One of my customers told me the other day he had had grey hair for thirty-five years, and after using one bottle of 'THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER' I sold him, it was restored to and kept its natural colour." Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," Sold by Medicine Dealers and Perfumers everywhere, at 3s. 6d. per Bottle; and Wholesale by the Anglo-American Drug Company (Limited), 33, Farringdon-road, London.

TRY YOUR WEIGHT!

HYDROLEINE (HYDRATED OIL)

has proved of the highest value in Consumption, and all Wasting Diseases, invariably producing increase in flesh and weight. This preparation of Hydrated Cod-Liver Oil is tonic, digestive, and ten times more strengthening and nourishing, as well as far more pleasant to taste, than plain Cod-Liver Oil. HYDROLEINE may be described as partially digested oil, which will nourish and produce increase in weight in those cases where oils or fat, not so treated, are difficult or impossible to digest. All tendency to Emaciation and Loss of Weight is arrested by the regular use of HYDROLEINE, which may be discontinued when the usual average weight has been permanently acquired. Of all Chemists, 4s. 6d. A single bottle will be sent, carriage paid, on receipt of P.O.O. for 5s., payable to W. BARNUM, Secretary. The Anglo-American Drug Company (Limited), 33, Farringdon-road, London.

THE UPS AND DOWNS OF LIFE.

In the annexed cuts we present a picture of the "Ups and Downs of Life." The first represents a man in full possession of health, with all its enjoyments, his little ones, playing about him. His is a happy home. This, the greatest blessing vouchsafed to mankind, is made the more apparent when we view the other and darker side of the picture. In the next the same gentleman presents a changed aspect; he has not that cheerful countenance, he has lost his appetite, he has a disagreeable taste, especially in the morning, also a headache and dull feeling; and when he rises suddenly from a lying or sitting posture he becomes dizzy, feels stupid and disinclined to attend to business, has frequent sick headaches, his bowels are constive and seldom are regular unless he takes some kind of physic. The stomach and liver have become a little deranged, and his blood has become thick and fails to circulate with freedom. He has what is called Dyspepsia or Indigestion; but all the disagreeable feelings would have been avoided had he taken at the onset a timely remedy which would have regulated his bowels, stopped his sick headache, made his blood circulate, giving him an appetite.

Time passed on, and our friend neglected his disease; and we find him in a little while as represented in the next picture. Here we behold what is called a "Confirmed Dyspeptic." He has little or no appetite, and what food he does eat distresses him—feels like a load in his stomach; causes him to be distressed for breath at times; sometimes he vomits what he eats in a sour, fermented condition; he belches quantities of wind from the stomach after eating, which is the gas arising from the undigested food; a little while after eating he feels a faint, "all-gone" sensation at the stomach. Eating or drinking will not allay this but for a little while. He has become nervous and low-spirited, cross and peevish; he frets at his wife and children, pushing them away when the little ones fondle about him, as seen in the cut. He commences to lose flesh, and is becoming quite feeble. His physicians have given him mercurial pills and various kinds of tonics; but instead of getting better he continues to fail; and then he resorts to all kinds of medicines that promise relief; but they do not seem to reach his case. His blood has now become very foul and impure, the liver sluggish and inactive, the stomach irritable and sensitive, wholly unfit for performing the offices of digestion. Could we have persuaded this poor man to have taken a couple of bottles of Seigel's Curative Syrup, he would have escaped these awful terrors. The disease now has full sway, and he continues to suffer, and in the course of time we find him as represented in the next figure, greatly emaciated, scarcely able to walk; he stoops to give a little ease to the tender stomach, which has now become sore and sensitive to the touch, as represented in the cut. He has pains in the right shoulder and left side; sometimes in the right; his back has become weak and painful at times; his nights are often passed in wakefulness; he totters about his grounds with the aid of a stick; he has a constant desire to clear his throat; his head appears to be stopped up, and he is told that he has a cold; his skin has become of a dirty brownish colour, countenance sallow, wan like chaff before the wind. The impure blood that eyes sanken, tinged with yellow. Food does not seem to have a natural taste. He has taken a journey to the home of his boyhood, thinking perhaps he could get some of the cold spring water that used to taste so good; but it is his system that has changed, and the water, although the same, does not afford him refreshment; his hands and feet become cold and clammy; a sort of sticky feeling pervades nearly the whole body. Passers-by notice the great change, and shake their heads and sigh, saying to themselves, "That man's days are nearly numbered."

His physicians can do nothing for him; he continues to fail, and we soon find him unable to leave his house, and seldom his bed, as represented in the picture. He is reduced to a mere skeleton, and continues to waste every day. Now he has a severe cough, attended with profuse expectoration. His sleep at night is attended with debilitating perspiration which is fast reducing him. His liver and kidneys are almost wholly without action, and nature is throwing off the impurities through the skin and lungs, so that the odour of his room has become offensive. The poisonous blood has caused the hair to decay, and he has become nearly bald. He has given up all hope of recovery and made up his mind to await patiently the arrival of the angel of death. He has told his poor wife how to manage his little property, and what disposition to make with their children. The friends and neighbours bring in the daily papers to amuse him, and some the illustrated magazines. Perhaps some one directs his attention to the "Ups and Downs of Life." If so he would hear the soft whisper, "Cheer up, good man, don't be cast down, for somehow there is hope in your case. Cling fast to what life is left and resolve that you will live to comfort your dear wife and guide your little children through all the dark and narrow paths in which they may be called to tread. 'Seigel's Curative Syrup' is made for just such cases as yours. It is extracted from the choicest plants and roots that nature's garden affords. God, in his infinite wisdom, has made a plant to cure every disease that flesh is heir to. Let us prevail upon you to take this extract of roots, for we really think they will do you good. They will cause the liver to secrete healthy bile and the skin to become soft and white—they will stop the night sweats, and in time the cough and expectoration will cease. The blood will become pure and circulate with freedom through your veins, giving a healthful glow to the whole system. Your food will then begin to give you strength, for it will be digested so as to afford nourishment to the debilitated body. Then flesh will begin to grow upon those feeble limbs, and strength will return. Sleep will be quiet and refreshing, and, as a natural consequence, your spirits will revive."

Perhaps he will say that he has tried all kinds of remedies, and that he has lost all faith in them.

We should reply, "Seigel's Curative Syrup is not a 'cure-all' so called. It is made especially to cure Dyspepsia or Indigestion—all your troubles proceed from this one disease, and when this malady is removed, all the other distressing complications will vanish like chaff before the wind. The impure blood that pervades your whole system, and which has poisoned every important part of your body, as well as your mind, has been caused by this one disease called dyspepsia. When that disease is removed all the other accompanying symptoms—called by various names—will have ceased to exist, because the foundation-stone has been removed." Our friend listens to our voice and is persuaded to take the remedy. He commences with very small doses, taking fifteen drops instantly after eating his spare meals, and has his skin bathed every day with water made soft with a little soda. Mind the change! He begins to mend. He stops the belching of wind, night sweats diminish, appetite improves, countenance brightens, strength gradually returns, and in a very few weeks we find him riding out with a kind neighbour as shown in the cut.

The fresh morning air seems to brace him as he views once more the beauties of nature. He continues to use the remedy, and watches with joy his returning strength. The ascending path to health is often tedious and discouraging, but the fact that he is constantly and gradually gaining strength inspires him with courage to press on to the goal when he is inclined to become disconsolate and cast down. In a short time we find him walking about his grounds leading his little boy, who appears to know that his father is getting well. The neighbours are pleased and delighted because a good citizen is spared for the welfare of the town.

Our hero still improves. He is giving his family instructions upon the vital interests of life. While enjoying the beauties of nature he never forgets to render thanks to the Great Giver of every good and perfect gift for the blessings he has received. This picture that we have drawn is but a representation of many cases that have come under our own observation, and a parallel case can be found in nearly every city, town, and village in the land.

Believing, as we do, that the Curative Syrup will remove Dyspepsia in all its varied forms, I have come from America for the purpose of introducing the remedy among the people of the mother country. The curative powers of the Syrup are truly wonderful, and it is to be hoped that the public will investigate the matter as its importance demands.

The attention of readers is directed to the following letter from a highly respectable Chemist at Landport, Hants:—

"323, Commercial-road, Landport,
Feb. 9, 1880.

"Dear Sir,—I should say that the sale is increasing very fast. This is the second supply we have had since Christmas, when we ordered half a gross. In fact, we sell more of Seigel's Syrup than any other patent medicine. The secret of the success is, in my opinion, due to the beneficial effects produced by the medicine. A friend of ours who visits the sick has come across some remarkable cases of cure produced by taking the Syrup.

"Yours very faithfully,
W. J. TUCK, Chemist.

"To A. J. White, Esq."

Would it be possible for this gentleman to make such a statement unless his customers really derived benefit?

"Bradley Locks, Bilston, Staffordshire,
April 2, 1880.

Dear Sir,—I am convinced if people would only persevere in the use of the Curative Syrup they would soon perceive the advantage of using it in their families, and, as in my case, save doctor's bills. I always keep a bottle open for use, and if anything ails any of the family at once give them a dose. This system of taking things in time often saves a vast amount of suffering, and the cost is like calling in a medical man.

"I will now relate a few experiences of twelve months at home:—

"My son, twelve years of age, had a bad attack of Jaundice cured with one small bottle, and returned to work again in nine days; this was Christmas, 1878; it is now Christmas, 1879, and he still continues in good health.

"My daughter caught cold; down with a low fever. I followed up with the medicine three times a day for three days; people who saw her were afraid she would die. She was decidedly better on the fourth day, and gradually got well at the end of a fortnight.

"My daughter very bad again with Pleurisy; in one week, with the use of the medicine, she was able to go about her usual work, and still continues well. R. BRAVEN."

"36, Pittfield-street,
Hoxton, N.

"Aug. 16, 1881.

"Dear Sir,—It affords me much pleasure to be able to inform you of the continued demand I have for 'Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup,' which is due certainly not to its pleasant taste or delicate flavour, but to its unparalleled success as a Stomach and Liver Medicine. I have now sold considerably over a thousand bottles, and have had numerous opportunities of seeing its value as a remedial agent tested, and cannot remember one single instance in which it has failed to afford some amount of relief, whatever the case may have been; and so, receiving as I do almost daily assurances of its unquestionable curative powers, I shall continue to recommend its use far and near.

"I am, my dear Sir, yours faithfully, (Signed) H. W. HENSON."

Mr. J. B. SENIOR, Chemist, Kingsgate, Wakefield, writes, Dec. 15, 1880:—"I have sold a great number of bottles, and numbers of patients speak wonders of it. The above is the truth in regard to Seigel's Syrup."

Disordered Liver.

"Prospect House, Bridport, Dorset,
Dec. 22, 1879.

"My dear Sir,—I have for years suffered more or less from, to me, an unknown cause, but which from diagnosis, I imagined to arise from a disordered liver. Digestion was often extremely difficult, and consequently my appetite was much affected. Various medicines (so called) I have repeatedly tried, but failed to derive anything beyond a temporary benefit. I was induced by your agent to give the "Curative Syrup" a trial, and after taking the contents of one bottle, I invested in another, which is scarcely finished.

"I am more than happy to be able to testify to the curative properties of the compound. That languid feeling, which formerly visited me for business, I have not since experienced, and indeed, feel altogether a different being.

"I am, Sir, Yours very faithfully,
A. J. WHITE, Esq." "RICHARD EBBON, Journalist."

Mr. J. Longbotham, Chemist and Druggist, of Chester-le-street, county Durham, writes, Dec. 19, 1879:—

"We have sold an immense quantity of the Syrup, and the sale is still on the increase. In my long experience (50 years) I have never known a medicine sell so rapidly, or with such satisfactory results."

DR. JAS. EDMUNDE, Medical Officer of Health for St. James's, Senior Physician to the Temperance Hospital, writes:—
"LLOYD'S 'UNIVERSAL' FOOD is an admirable combination of cereal and leguminous material, adapted so as to insure perfect digestion, and suited so as to meet all needs. It contains an abundant proportion of flesh and bone-forming materials, and is well suited for

GROWING CHILDREN, EMACIATED INVALIDS, OVERWORKED ADULTS.

Its peculiar flavor is pleasant and appetizing."

"BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL" says:—"LLOYD'S UNIVERSAL FOOD has, we find on trial, many recommendations: it is easily digested, and requires no cooking, needing only to be mixed with boiling water or milk. It is highly nutritious, very palatable, and has the merit of being cheap. It makes an excellent supper-dish, and a delicate custard with fruit. It has more nutrition than rice, sago, or tapioca, and makes excellent pudding. It is applicable for general use as well as especially for invalids and children, for whom it may replace, often very advantageously, bread-and-milk and various forms of porridge. It is not artificially sweetened, and is very excellent food, skilfully devised and well prepared."

FOR BREAKFAST, LUNCHEON, OR SUPPER.

HIGHLY NUTRITIOUS, VERY PALATABLE, EASILY DIGESTED, AND NO TROUBLE TO MAKE.

CURES DYSPEPSIA, PREVENTS INDIGESTION, INSURES SOUND, HEALTHY SLEEP, UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDED BY THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

ESTABLISHED 1760.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK ADVERTISER, 1892

DRS. PROUT, MORGAN, TURLEY, GIBSON, SPARKS, DOWSING, STEVENS, and many other Medical Men, have given unqualified testimony to the importance of the discovery and the great value of

as possessing most important elements calculated to restore and maintain Health with perfect Vigour of Body and Mind. It is effervescent and tasteless, forming a most invigorating, refreshing, and refreshing beverage.

Gives instant relief in HEADACHE, FEA, or BILIOUS SICKNESS, CONSTIPATION, INDIGESTION, LAGITUDE, RHEUMATISM, and FEVERISH COLDS; prevents and quickly cures the worst form of TYPHUS, SCARLET, and other FEVER, SMALLPOX, MEASLES, and ERUPTIVE or SKIN COMPLAINTS, and various other altered conditions of the blood.

Dr. ALAN MILNE.—"In searching for the best combination of Salines we alighted on that of Mr. Lamplough. Its utility as a remedy in fevers and as a cooling drink in diseases of children, such as Scarlet Fever, Measles, &c., has been testified to by the leading members of the profession. I prescribe it also to my patients frequently."—May 19, 1880.

THOMAS CARR JACKSON, Esq., F.R.C.S., and Surgeon to the Great Northern Hospital, London.—"I have no hesitation in recommending the compound of Mr. Lamplough's Saline Pyretic. I am in the habit of prescribing it largely, its composition being known to me, and I have every reason to be satisfied with it. It is beautifully prepared, and can be used at a moment's notice without trouble, and is therefore particularly adapted for use in public service."

CAUTION.—Beware of spurious Salines and Effervescent Salts containing injurious elements put forward by unprincipled persons as the same or better thing. Pyretic Saline is warranted not to contain Magnesia or any substance likely to produce gall-stones or analogous formations.

In Patent Glass Stopped Bottles, 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., 11s., and 21s. each.

ROWLANDS' ODONTO,

Known for 50 years as the best and purest dentifrice ever used; it whitens the teeth, prevents decay, and gives a pleasing fragrance to the breath; it contains no mineral or acid ingredients, which are so detrimental to the teeth, and is especially adapted for children's use. Each box has on it a 3d. Government stamp.

ROWLANDS' MACASSAR OIL

Preserves and beautifies the hair, prevents its falling off or turning grey, eradicates scurf and dandruff, and renders the hair beautifully soft, pliable, and glossy, while it is especially recommended for children, as forming the basis of a beautiful head of hair. Sold in four sizes, 3s. 6d., 7s., 10s. 6d., and 21s.

ROWLANDS' KALYDOR

For the Skin and Complexion is unequalled for its rare and inestimable qualities. The radiant bloom it imparts to the cheek, the softness and delicacy which it induces of the hands and arms, its capability of soothing irritation and removing cutaneous defects, discolorations, and all unsightly appearances, render it indispensable to every Toilet.

BLACK

"Messrs. Atkinson and Co. have admirably succeeded in producing an article which is an excellent and perfect substitute for Black Silk, possessing the advantages of being soft, lustrous, and not liable to grease or cut, and is also suitable for wear in or out of mourning."—Court Circular, Feb. 21, 1880.

SILK

"A most effective and advantageous substitute for Black Silk, equalling in appearance the very richest qualities, and far exceeding them in durability. No amount of wear ever gives them the shiny and greasy appearance indigenous to so many silken fabrics, and no folding creases or cuts them, while their richness and elegance are unsurpassed by any material known."
Le Follet, September, 1880.

"The best material to patronise is in reality Black Irish Poplin, possessing a soft, lustrous surface, and suitable even for mourning."—Galignani, October, 1880.

POPLIN.

LADIES intending to purchase BLACK SILK should write to us for Patterns of this novelty in Irish Poplin; it is equal in appearance, and superior in wear, to the best Black Silk, relatively cheaper, and can be worn in or out of mourning. We are receiving numerous orders and many letters from purchasers expressing their perfect satisfaction. This marked success is due to the many advantages possessed by the material over Black Silk, secured chiefly by the very superior quality of the raw silk used by us in its manufacture and the extreme purity of the DYE. As these Goods are our own make we can guarantee their durability. Prices from 5s. 6d. to 10s. 6d. per yard, 24 in. wide. Patterns post-free.

PARCELS FORWARDED TO ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD (CARRIAGE PAID IN THE UNITED KINGDOM) AND SAFE DELIVERY GUARANTEED.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE,

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY TRUE,

is allowed to be the greatest discovery of the present century, and is largely employed by the most eminent Medical Men, in hospital and private practice, in all parts of the world, and is justly considered to be a remedy of intrinsic value, and of varied adaptability, possessing most valuable properties, and producing curative effects quite unequalled in the whole Materia Medica.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too-often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause; allays the irritation of fever; soothes the system under exhausting disease; and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

"Mr. R. Freeman.

"Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure that I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of Special Service to me in alleviating the wearisome Spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne.

Yours faithfully,

"Head-Quarters Staff, Cabul, May 5, 1880.

"CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P., Lond.; M.R.C.S., Eng.

"The Divisional Head-Quarters Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul."

THE "TIMES," AUGUST 18, 1877.

From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army.

"The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected Miraculous Cures."

From MONS. BONJOUR BARTHELEMY, Delegate of the Society for the Relief of the Wounded, Decorated with the Cross of the Convention of Geneva.

"I hereby attest that the Chlorodyne manufactured by RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, of London, is the best remedy against CHOLERA and DYSENTERY, and further affirm, as Director of the Anglo-American Ambulances and of French prisoners during the War of 1870 to 1871, that a large number of those under my care were attacked with Dysentery, and that by means of his Chlorodyne they were in a few days perfectly cured.

(Signed) BONJOUR BARTHELEMY."

IMPORTANT CAUTION.

Four Chancery Suits terminated in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against J. Collis Browne and J. T. Davenport. Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, and Lord Justice Mellish condemned their proceedings, and ordered them to pay all costs of the suits.—Reported in the "Times" and other Newspapers, April 29 and July 24, 1873.

None genuine without the words, "Freeman's Original Chlorodyne," engraved on the Government Stamp.

Testimonials from most eminent Medical Men accompany each Bottle.

Manufactured by the sole Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, 70, Kennington Park-road, London, S.E.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is a little to the right of Venus on the morning of the 6th, and at some distance to the left on the morning of the 7th. She is near Mars on the 8th, Mercury on the evening of the 10th, very near Saturn during the evening hours of the 17th, the nearest approach being at 7 o'clock; after which hour the Moon will pass to the left of the planet. She is near Jupiter during the night common to the 19th and 20th, the planet being to the right of the Moon, the distance between them decreasing as the night advances.

Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter on the	1st	at 10 minutes before	1h	in the afternoon.
New Moon	9th	" 50 "	after 5 "	morning.
First Quarter	16th	" 12 "	before 1 "	morning.
Full Moon	23rd	" 16 "	after 7 "	morning.
Last Quarter	31st	" 27 "	" 10 "	morning.

She is nearest to the Earth on the afternoon of the 12th, and furthest from it on the afternoon of the 28th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 4h 32m p.m., or 32 minutes after sunset; on the 6th at 4h 57m, or 51 minutes after the Sun; on the 11th at 5h 25m, or 1h 13m after sunset; on the 16th at 5h 52m, or 1h 32m after the Sun; on the 21st at 6h 12m, or 1h 44m after the Sun; on the 26th at 6h 16m, or 1h 40m after the Sun; and on the last day at 5h 56m, or 1h 10m after the Sun. He is favourably placed for observation about the middle of the month. He is near the Moon on the 10th, in his ascending node on the 22nd, at his greatest eastern elongation (18 deg. 32 min.) on the same day, in perihelion on the 26th, and stationary among the stars on the 27th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 5h 9m a.m., or 2h 59m before the Sun; on the 11th she rises at 4h 46m a.m., on the 21st at 4h 38m a.m.; and on the last day at 4h 38m a.m. She is near the Moon on the 6th, in perihelion on the 9th, and at her greatest brilliancy on the 11th.

MARS sets in daylight throughout the year. He rises on the 1st at 7h 51m a.m., on the 11th at 7h 41m a.m., on the 21st at 7h 29m a.m., and on the last day at 7h 14m a.m., or 29 minutes before the Sun. He is due south on the 15th at 11h 30m a.m. He is near the Moon on the 8th.

JUPITER rises in daylight, and is visible after sunset. He sets on the third day at 7h a.m., or 1h 4m before the Sun rises; on the 12th at 6h 19m a.m., on the 22nd at 5h 36m a.m., and on the last day at 4h 54m a.m., or 2h 47m before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 10h 51m p.m., on the 10th at 10h 11m p.m., and on the 20th at 9h 27m p.m.; and he is near the Moon on the 20th.

SATURN rises in daylight, and is visible after sunset to the time of setting. He sets on the 1st at 3h 57m a.m., on the 11th at 3h 16m a.m., on the 21st at 2h 37m a.m., and on the last day at 1h 58m a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 8h 27m p.m., on the 10th at 7h 50m, on the 20th at 7h 10m, and on the 30th at 6h 31m p.m. He is near the Moon on the 17th, and stationary among the stars on the 21st.

ECLIPSES IN 1883.

In the year 1883 there will be four Eclipses, two of the Sun and two of the Moon, but one only—the Moon on Oct. 16—partly visible from Europe.

The first is a very small Eclipse of the Moon on April 22; it begins at 3 min. after 11 in the morning; its middle will be at 29 min. after 11 a.m., and it ends at 14 min. after noon.

The Moon will be in the zenith at the beginning of the Eclipse, at a place whose longitude is 133° east of Greenwich and latitude 13° south; at the middle in a place whose longitude is 184° east and latitude 13° south, and at the end at a place whose longitude is 176° east and latitude 18° 10' south. Eclipse visible from western parts of North America and Australia.

The Total Eclipse of the Sun, May 6; the central Eclipse begins at 20 minutes after 8 p.m. in east longitude 156° nearly, and south latitude 35° nearly, and ends at 27 minutes after 11 p.m. in west longitude 87° nearly, and south latitude 14° nearly. The central line passes across the North Pacific Ocean. Eclipse visible from Eastern Australia and Central America.

The Partial Eclipse of the Moon on the morning of Oct. 16 begins at 59 minutes after 5 a.m., the Moon setting about half an hour afterwards, so that it is partly visible here. The middle of the Eclipse will be at 54 minutes after 6, and it ends at 49 minutes after 7 a.m. At those times the Moon will be in the zenith of places whose longitudes are 91° west of Greenwich and latitudes 9° north and 120° west, and latitude nearly 10° north, respectively. Eclipse visible in Europe, America, and West Africa.

The Annular Eclipse of the Sun, on Oct. 30 and 31. The Central Eclipse begins at 8 minutes after 10 p.m. on the evening of Oct. 30, Greenwich mean time, in longitude 128° east of Greenwich and latitude 42° north, and ends at 34 minutes after 11 on the morning of the 31st in longitude 122° west of Greenwich and latitude 163° north. The Central Eclipse begins in 42° north in the North Pacific Ocean, gradually approaches the Equator to a point at 10° north of it in west longitude 160°, and then inclines northward to a point 164° north of the Equator or 122° west longitude. Seen from the North Pacific Ocean, partially from eastern coast of North Asia and western coast of North America.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES

THE MOON is near Venus on the morning of the 4th; is near Mars on the 6th, the day of New Moon; and Mercury on the 7th; near Saturn during the evening hours of the 13th, the planet being to the right of the Moon, and near Jupiter during the night hours of the 15th, and early morning hours of the 16th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon on the 7th at 10 minutes after 6h in the afternoon.
First Quarter „ 14th „ 55 „ „ „ morning
Full Moon „ 22nd „ 42 „ „ before 1 „ morning.

She is nearest to the Earth on the afternoon of the 9th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 25th.

MERCURY sets on the 1st at 5h 48m, or 1 hour after the Sun; on the 7th he sets at 4h 56m, or 1 minute before the Sun. He rises on the 10th at 6h 41m, or 41 minutes before the Sun; on the 20th at 6h 3m, or 1h 4m before sunrise; and on the last day he rises at 5h 54m a.m., or 56 minutes before the Sun. He is in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 5th; is near the Moon on the 7th; very near Mars on the 13th; and stationary among the stars on the 17th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 11th at 4h 42m a.m., or 2h 12m before the Sun; and on the 21st at 4h 45m a.m., or 2h 20m before sunrise. She is near the Moon on the 4th, and at her greatest western elongation (46 deg. 45 min.) on the 16th.

MARS rises on the 10th at 6h 56m a.m., and on the 20th at 6h 36m a.m., or he rises about 31 minutes before sunrise throughout the month. He is due south on the 15th at 1h 9m a.m. He is near the Moon on the 6th.

JUPITER is an evening star; he rises in daylight, and is visible from sunset, setting on the 11th at 4h 13m a.m., and on the 21st at 3h 34m a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 8h 37m p.m., on the 10th at 8h p.m., and on the 20th at 7h 21m p.m. He is stationary among the stars on the 15th, and he is near the Moon on the 16th.

SATURN sets on the 1st at 1h 51m a.m., on the 10th at 1h 20m a.m., and on the last day at 10 minutes after midnight. He is due south on the 1st day at 6h 24m p.m., on the 11th at 5h 46m p.m., on the 21st at 5h 8m p.m., and on the last day at 4h 42m p.m. He is in quadrature with the Sun on the 8th, and near the Moon on the 13th.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

The Bank of England was the first Joint-Stock Bank established in England. It was incorporated by William III. in 1694. When first established the notes of the Bank were at 90 per cent discount, and so late as 1745 they were under par. Bank Bills were paid in silver, 1745. Cash payments were discontinued in 1797, when notes of one and two pounds were first put into circulation. Banks were first established in 608 by the Lombard Jews, some of whom settled in Lombard-street.

The following is the House List of Governors and Directors of the Bank of England:—

Governor, Henry R. Grenfell, Esq. | Deputy Governor, J. S. Gilliat, Esq.

TRANSFER DAYS.

The Transfer Days are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Instructions for Transfers are received between 9.30 a.m. and 1 p.m., and between 1 and 3 p.m. on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

Transfers must be executed between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Transfers can be accepted between 9.30 a.m. and 4 p.m. (9.30 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturdays).

Transfers can be made on Saturdays between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. upon payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

Transfers of Bank Stock are charged 9s. for sums of £25 and under, and 12s. for sums over £25.

All Transfers must be made in the Bank Books by the Stockholder, or by his duly authorised Attorney.

Bank Stock Transfer Books are closed for about three weeks before the payment of each Dividend.

In the case of all other stocks the Balance for a Dividend is struck about four or five weeks before such Dividend is payable, the Stock being subsequently transferable "ex-dividend."

DIVIDENDS, WHEN PAYABLE.

Dividends, with certain special exceptions, are payable as follows:—To the Stockholder in person at the Head Office; to the Stockholder in person at any of the Country Branches, provided he has previously made arrangements to that effect with the Agent of the Branch in question; to a duly authorised Attorney at the Head Office only; Dividend Warrants are forwarded by Post to the Stockholder, provided he resides in the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, or the Isle of Man, upon his signing a form of request. Forms can be obtained at the Head Office, at any of the Branches, and, in the case of the English Government Stocks, at any Monies-Order Office.

Dividends are payable between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. (9 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturdays), with the exception of those on Indian Promissory (Rupee) Notes and Registered (Rupee) Stock, which are payable between 9.30 a.m. and 4 p.m. (9.30 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturdays).

Indian Promissory (Rupee) Notes must be deposited at the India Office, Bank of England, prior to the payment of each Dividend.

POWERS OF ATTORNEY.

Applications for Powers of Attorney must be lodged by hand at the Power of Attorney Office.

Applications made through the Post cannot be attended to.

Applications are received between the hours of 9.30 a.m. and 4 p.m. (9.30 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturdays); but if Sale Powers are required before 4 p.m. the same day, applications must be lodged before 12.30 p.m.

Powers of Attorney for Dividends will be ready after 2 p.m. on the day after that on which they are applied for.

Executed Powers for Dividends only, which must be presented for examination at the Dividend Office, if in order may be acted upon at once.

Executed Powers for Sale, Transfer, &c. which must be presented for examination at the Power of Attorney Office, if lodged before 2 p.m., and found to be in order, may be acted upon on the following day.

72. An Act for amending the Laws relating to Customs and Inland Revenue and Postage and other stamps, &c.

73. An Act for the better protection of Ancient Monuments.

74. An Act to amend the Post Office Acts with respect to the Conveyance of Parcels.

75. An Act to consolidate and amend the Acts relating to the property of married women.

76. An Act to amend the Merchant Shipping Acts 1852 to 1890, with respect to Colonial Courts of Inquiry.

77. An Act to amend the law of Citation in Scotland.

78. An Act to establish a Fishing Board of Scotland.

79. An Act to make provision for the Arrangement of Accounts between the Commissioners of her Majesty's Treasury and the Secretary of State in Council in India in respect of certain home charges for her Majesty's forces serving in India.

80. An Act for the extension of Allotments.

81. An Act for disannexing the Rectory of Somersham from the office of Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Cambridge, and for making better provision for the cure of souls within the said Rectory.

82. An Act for amending the Lunacy Regulation Acts.

THE WORK OF THE SESSION, 1882.

No less than 208 Public Bills were introduced into the House of Commons, and in addition 40 Provisional Order Bills. Of the former 52 became law, 53 were withdrawn, and 70 became "dropped orders;" only three were rejected—"The Beer Adulteration Bill," "The Poor Law Removal (Ireland) Bill," and "The University Education (Ireland) Bill;" while one was "discharged." Amongst those passed and deserving of special mention were "The Education Endowment Act," Lord Granville's Act for giving the Trustees of the National Gallery power to lend pictures and other works of art to any provincial or public gallery, a boon which will be highly valued by those who regard art-museums as educational centres.

The Electric Lighting Act, the chief value of which lies in the fact that it lays down a new principle for the guidance of Parliament in granting monopolies, and will greatly affect proposals for buying up those that already exist.

The Felony-Su Act, gets rid of the barbarous and disgusting ceremonies imposed by law for the burial of suicides.

The Married Woman's Property Act, removes all the remaining anomalies of the law of 1870, and extends the principle of that Act. It secures to married women in separate ownership all real and personal property to which they may become entitled after the passing of the Act. It further confers upon them the privilege of suing and being sued in their own names apart from their husbands.

The Settled Land Act, defines the settlement of entail, and henceforth every owner of an estate for life will be able to sell the property, provided that he invests the purchase-money in Government securities for the benefit of the reversioner.

The Musical Copyright Act, amends the law of copyright relating to musical compositions, and protects the public from vexatious proceedings for the recovery of penalties for the unauthorised performance of the same. On and after the passing of the Act, the proprietor of the copyright in any musical composition first published after the passing of the statute, or his assignee, who shall be entitled to be and desirous of retaining in his own hand exclusively the right of public representation or performance of the same, shall print or cause to be printed upon the title-page of every published copy of such musical composition a notice to the effect that the right of public representation or performance is reserved. By another provision, when the right of performance and when the copyright are vested in different owners, a penalty of £20 to be recovered from the owner of the copyright for non-compliance with notice from the owner of the right of performance. By a special provision as to costs, where not more than 40s. are recovered, the award of the same to vest in the discretion of the Court.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1883.

INDIAN REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

The estimated expenditure of the financial year 1882-3 was £68,174,000. The chief items of comparison and difference between the estimate of the previous year, 1881-2, and this arose, in the first place, from a considerable reduction of expenditure, £287,000, and an increase in revenue by £2,000,000; that is, in productive works, miscellaneous credits, savings in stores, and a reduction in the cost of the army, &c. It may not be out of place to notice that the cost of the Afghan War up to the present time has been £21,000,000. Of this large sum India has paid no less than £16,000,000. The Egyptian War also creates a charge upon India, which reduces the surplus. But the estimated decrease in expenditure for the year will amount, on the whole, to £3,475,000, after allowing for an additional—

Charge for State Railways, of	£275,000
Irrigation and Navigation Works	208,000
Public Roads and Other Works	1,068,000
Law and Justice	143,000
Collection of Salt Tax	275,000
Land Revenue	184,000
Telegraph Service	138,000

and other minor matters, and thus enabling the Government to reduce the Salt Tax 30 per cent in Bengal and 20 per cent in other provinces.

As to the progress of public works in India, during 1881 there were 728 miles of new railway completed, the total length of line sanctioned being now nearly 12,000 miles. Several of the new lines were promoted by private companies, but most of them had received assistance from the Government in one form or another. It is believed the time has come when companies would undertake to raise the necessary capital without the assistance of Government. Several native princes had undertaken to make the attempt, and had expressed a general desire to bring their estates into communication with India at large. The total capital expended on railways was £134,200,000. The net revenue in 1881 was £4,930,000. The gross receipts were £13,000,000, the working expenses £6,775,000; and, taking all the railways together, they had paid last year 55 8s per cent on the capital, and without taking into consideration the loss of capital in previous years. In 1880 only 4,500,000 persons travelled by railway in India; in 1881 there were 52,000,000 passengers. The sum received for the conveyance of passengers and goods in 1880 was £386,000; in 1881 the sum was £1,725,000.

Comparing the taxation of 1867 with that of 1882, and taking the figures of the principal items, we have—

In 1867.	In 1882.
Land Revenue	£17,720,000
Excise	1,000,000
Salt	2,080,000
Stamps	620,000
Customs	2,080,000
	£24,110,000

A total of £24,000,000, raised twenty-five years ago, on five principal items.

In 1862.	In 1882.
Land Revenue	£22,440,000
Excise	3,411,000
Salt	7,213,000
Stamps	3,328,000
Customs	2,290,000
	£38,681,000

Thus it will be seen there was an increase of no less than £14,500,000.

TRADE OF BRITISH INDIA.

Large as was the trade, however, by comparison with previous years, it is still very small in comparison with the population. This amounted, by the census of 1881, to 254,541,210, and the totals of the trade therefore give a result per capita of the population of less than 5 rupees. Including the totals of the external land trade (that which crossed the frontiers of British India), the proportion per capita of the population is only just about 5 rupees. In comparison with any European country, and indeed even in comparison with Ceylon, this is a singularly small proportion. But no fair comparison can be made with any European country, and when the condition of the mass of the people in this country is considered, their abject poverty, their almost complete ignorance of the wants and requirements of people in other conditions of civilisation, it must be admitted that the volume of trade, small as it is by comparison with other countries, is satisfactorily and even surprisingly large. In the past five years the proportion of free and dutiable merchandise has been as follows—stated in rupees:—

Year.	Rs.	Per cent.	Value.	Per cent.
1876-7	3,40,49,083	9.90	31,90,22,683	90.20
1877-8	4,10,85,154	11.21	34,91,74,876	88.79
1878-9	6,90,67,013	18.61	29,75,91,934	81.39
1879-80	11,20,14,018	28.19	28,51,07,611	71.81
1880-1	17,26,21,679	34.31	34,04,66,664	65.69

Of the aggregate sum of Rs. 33,04,66,664, representing the value of dutiable imports, those from the United Kingdom amount to Rs. 26,28,43,315. Thus out of the whole imports of merchandise, no less than Rs. 41,29,26,348 represent the value of imports from the United Kingdom, being 82 per cent, or more than four fifths of the whole.

The following table shows the proportion of the whole trade which came to and left India via the Suez Canal during the last five years:—

Year.	Whole trade.	Via Suez Canal.	Per cent.
1876-7	1,13,92,05,395	60,24,32,596	52.88
1877-8	1,26,25,29,685	69,34,07,191	54.16
1878-9	1,09,77,70,842	58,39,08,754	48.64
1879-80	1,22,06,89,086	63,08,82,813	51.64
1880-1	1,36,10,86,571	81,17,58,783	59.58

The trade with the United Kingdom, constituting as it does 56.47 per cent of the trade of India with the world, is fairly representative of the general condition of Indian trade in the year. From England is received almost all those great articles which constitute the bulk of its imports—coal, cotton goods, liquors, metals, salt, and woollen goods; and to England is sent full cargoes of cotton, wool, jute, indigo, tea, coffee, oilseeds, hides, wheat, and rice, which comprise the bulkiest and some of the most important articles of the export trade of India.

The imports of merchandise from the United Kingdom during the year far exceeded in value those of any previous year, and indeed they equal the aggregate imports from all countries into British India in any previous year. The figures give evidence of the continued activity of trade, an activity which raises some apprehension that business is being overdone.

Year.	Rs.
1876-7	30,75,44,439
1877-8	34,21,13,034
1878-9	28,81,21,358
1879-80	32,04,28,476
1880-1	41,28,36,318

All the principal articles in the import trade exhibit an increase both in the quantities imported and in money value.

Aden produces nothing itself, but it is a convenient depot for goods from the neighbouring African and Arabian shores. Imports consist chiefly of gums, ivory, precious stones and pearls, provisions, spices, and wax, and some European goods, such as cotton goods and metals, perhaps unsaleable things originally sent from India and returned. Imports both of ivory and spices are declining, probably because it is more convenient now to send them direct to Europe than to ship them to Bombay.

Imports for the last five years:—

Year.	Rs.
1876-7	11,80,709
1877-8	16,10,462
1878-9	10,10,710
1879-80	4,81,524
1880-1	8,80,410

There is a considerable re-export of foreign merchandise to Aden, constituting to the extent of one half of Manchester goods, the value of these amounting during the year to Rs. 4,08,279 out of a total of Rs. 8,18,806. The other articles which comprise the remaining half are many, but none of any importance separately.

It is hardly possible to say how much of the recorded trade with Egypt is really trade with that country, and how much of it only transit trade via Alexandria and Suez. The following are the figures of the whole trade for the last five years:—

Imports.	Exports (Indian Goods).
Rs.	Rs.
1876-7	4,80,082
1877-8	4,24,807
1878-9	4,21,086
1879-80	3,01,085
1880-1	4,17,545
	1,37,47,353

There is nothing especially prominent amongst the imports, except raw silk and apparel, and even these are of no particular consequence. There is a small import of salt from Egyptian territory in the Red Sea, but the trade certainly seems to be on the decline.

THE EXPORT TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA.

The trade with Australia deserves particular attention, not only because the total value of exports increased from £16,930,935 to £21,377,981, or 30.8 per cent, but also because this is by far the highest total value ever recorded. In four previous years—1874-5, 7 and 1878, the value ranged between nineteen and twenty millions sterling; but, on the whole, prices were higher then than during 1881, consequently the increase in the bulk of our shipments to Australia must have been even greater than would appear from a comparison of values only. South Australia is the only colony which has not shared in the general prosperity, and taking the percentage of increase of the others rather than the gross value, the order of precedence would be Queensland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Victoria, Tasmania, and West Australia.

Cottons.—Cotton yarn was exported in 1881 to the extent of 254,359,000 lb., valued at £13,165,053, against 215,544,800 lb., valued at £11,901,623 in 1880, 13.4 per cent more in quantity, but only 10.6 per cent more in value. There is a falling off shown in the shipments to Russia and British India, but large increases in those to Germany, Belgium, Italy, Roumania, and Turkey. The shipments during 1881 were, however, far in excess of those of 1880, and although it cannot be said that the value increased in a proportionate ratio, yet it amounted to more than that of any previous year. The total quantity being 4,777,273,300 yards, valued at £59,103,921, against 4,485,645,000 yards, valued at £57,678,084, an increase of 6.2 per cent in quantity, and 2.5 per cent in value.

Miscellaneous cotton manufactures in 1881 largely increased in value, and amounted to £6,820,557, against £5,984,349 in 1880, or 13.9 per cent. Of this sum £2,880,610 is accounted for by lace and patent net, of which £1,181,449, or nearly 50 per cent, was sent to the United States; and £2,312,314 by thread for sewing, which was principally shipped to Russia, Germany, Holland, United States, the various South American States, British India, and British North America. Including yarn, the total value of cotton manufactures exported amounted to £79,089,531, against £76,564,056 in 1880, an increase of 4.7 per cent.

Woolens.—Woolen and worsted yarn in 1881 increased in quantity from 26,404,300 lb. to 29,781,400 lb., or 12.3 per cent, but the price declined so much during the year that the value decreased from £3,344,740 to £3,225,690, or 3.6 per cent. Woolen cloths were exported to the extent of 55,679,400 yards, valued at £7,562,854, against 50,000,200 yards, valued at £6,736,721, the increase in quantity being chiefly to Belgium, Chili, Peru, British North America, and India. Flannels increased from 6,697,800 yards to 9,027,900 yards, and the total value of woolen and worsted goods (exclusive of yarn) amounts to £18,124,756, against £17,285,177, an increase of 5 per cent.

Coals.—Coals, cinders, and patent fuel were exported to the extent of 19,587,063 tons, valued at £8,785,950, against 18,719,971 tons, valued at £8,372,933, an increase of 4.6 per cent in quantity and 4.9 per cent in value. No large increase or decrease is shown in the case of any particular country, and with regard to coals, &c., taken by steamers for their use on their voyages to foreign countries, the quantity has increased from 4,328,076 tons to 5,227,588 tons, or 6.1 per cent.

Machinery and Mill Work.—This important article of export increased in value from £9,263,516 to £9,990,210, in spite of the fact that shipments of steam-engines to Russia fell from £266,623 to £193,684, and of other descriptions of machinery from £1,070,049 to £907,684. Much larger quantities of the former description were sent to Germany, Spain, Egypt, the United States, Brazil, British India, and Australia, and of the latter to Belgium, France, Brazil, British India, and Australia.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Venus on the 4th, Mars on the 5th, and Mercury on the 6th. She is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 9th, and near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 11th and 12th, being to the right on the former evening and to the left of the planet on the latter. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 7th at 36 minutes after 1h in the afternoon.
First Quarter	„ 14th „ 50 „ 8 „ morning.
Full Moon	„ 22nd „ 27 „ 11 „ morning.
Last Quarter	„ 30th „ 3 „ 7 „ morning.

She is nearest to the Earth on the morning of the 7th, and furthest from it on the afternoon of the 20th.

MERCURY rises on the 5th at 5h 22m a.m., or 7 minutes before the Sun; on the 12th the planet and Sun rise nearly together, and from this day to June 14 this planet rises in daylight. On April 16 the planet and Sun set nearly together; on the 20th he sets at 7h 29m p.m., or 27 minutes after the Sun; on the 25th at 8h 13m p.m., or 1h 2m after sunset; and on the 1st day at 8h 55m, or 1h 38m after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 6th, in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 16th, in his ascending node on the 20th, and in perihelion on the 21th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 4h 25m a.m.; on the 12th at 4h 10m a.m.; on the 22nd at 3h 54m a.m., or 59 minutes before the Sun. She is near the Moon on the 4th.

MARS rises on the 1st at 5h 0m a.m.; on the 11th at 4h 35m a.m.; and on the 21st at 4h 8m a.m., or 47 minutes before the Sun. He is due south on the 15th at 10h 13m a.m. He is near the Moon on the 5th, and in perihelion on the 13th.

JUPITER is an evening star, setting on the 2nd at 1h 12m a.m.; on the 12th at 0h 39m a.m., on the 22nd at 0h 7m a.m.; on the 24th setting twice in the same day—viz., at 0h 1m a.m. and at 11h 58m p.m.; from this time he sets before midnight. He is due south on the 15th at 4h 11m p.m., and is near the Moon on the 12th.

SATURN sets on the 1st at 10h 21m p.m., on the 11th at 9h 48m p.m., on the 21st at 9h 16m p.m., and on the last day at 8h 45m p.m. He is due south on the 15th at 1h 59m p.m., and is near the Moon on the 9th.

PRINCE LEOPOLD, DUKE OF ALBANY.

THE POPULATION OF THE EARTH.

The Rev. William Cunningham, a well-known statistical publication, furnishes the following survey of the areas and populations of the several countries of the world, and their subdivisions per square kilometre:—

	Square Kilo.	Population.	No. per sq. Kilo.
Europe	9,780,576	327,743,400	34
Asia	44,580,539	785,591,000	18
Africa	29,823,251	205,823,200	7
America	38,473,184	100,415,400	2.6
Australia and Polynesia	9,852,855	4,232,000	0.5
Tolar Regions	4,474,200	82,500	—
Total	136,038,572	1,433,887,600	10.5

As the population given two years ago was 1,455,923,500, it seems at first sight as if during that short time there had been a decrease of upwards of 22 millions. But this is explained by the difference of 55 millions between the population of China now given and that given in the previous issue, and therefore there is an actual increase of 39 millions. Indeed, the latest increase in all those countries that have taken censuses within the last two years actually amounts to 32 millions; and, as most of these censuses are decennial, this increase may be regarded as that of ten years. Even this can scarcely be accepted as strictly correct, since in America and the British Colonies the element of emigration should have been taken into account, and in India the additions made to British territory.

The following are the areas and populations of the various countries of Europe. The dates refer to when the Census was taken:—

The results of the Census of 1881 for British India, according to the "Bevölkerung" do not quite accord with those given in Mr. Plowden's Report and Dr. Hunter's Gazetteer.

The total area ruled by the Queen in India, including Tributary States and Further India, is 1,467,244 square miles (3,774,193 square kilometres), and the population 252,541,210. For the Himalayan States (Nepal, Bhutan, &c.) an area of 234,000 square kilometres is given, and a population of 3,800,000; French possessions, 508 square kilometres; population (1879), 276,549; Portuguese possessions, 335 square kilometres; population (1877), 444,947. The area of Ceylon is given as 24,702 square miles (63,976 square kilometres), and the population (1878), 2,600,980.

Coming to Further India, the following figures are given for area and population of the various divisions: British Burmah, 229,351 square kilometres, 3,707,640 inhabitants; Manipur, 19,675 and 126,000; people east and south of Assam, 65,500 and 200,000; Burmah, 457,000 and 4,000,000; Siam, 726,850 and 5,750,000; Annam, 440,500 and 2,100,000; French Cochinchina, 59,456 and 1,597,013; Cambodia, 29,861 and 890,000; Independent Malacca, 81,500 and 300,000; Straits Settlements, 3742 and 380,000. In their next issue it is not likely that Messrs. Behm and Wagner will be able to place Annam in the position of an independent State. Under the East India Islands we find the following classification:—Andamans, 6497 square kilometres and 14,500 inhabitants; Nicobars, 1772 square kilometres and 5500 inhabitants; Sunda Islands and Moluccas, 1,633,757 square kilometres and 28,807,000 inhabitants; Philippines, 295,182 square kilometres and 6,300,000 inhabitants. For the Dutch possessions (including New Guinea and the Papuan Islands), 1,462,400 square kilometres, 27,062,000 inhabitants. For the British territory of North Borneo an area of 57,000 square kilometres, and a population of 150,000.

For Australasia the Census figures of 1881 are, for population:—New South Wales, 751,484; Victoria, 62,346; Queensland, 213,525; South Australia, 279,985; West Australia, 31,000; total—Australia, 2,138,204, or, with 55,000 natives, 2,193,200; Tasmania, 115,705; New Zealand, 489,983.

To New Guinea, an area of 785,362 square kilometres is assigned (or, with the neighbouring islands, 807,950), and a population of 500,000. Under the heading of Oceanic Islands, it is noted that since the last issue the Society Islands (Tahiti, Moorea, &c.), the Tuamotu and Gambier Groups and other Pacific Islands have been annexed by France, and that Rotumah has been taken over by Britain. For Fiji, the population of the end of 1880 is given—121,884. For several other groups, new figures have been obtained, with the following general results:—Melanesia, 146,855 square kilometres, 617,400 inhabitants; Polynesia, 8791 and 121,800; Sandwich Islands, 17,008 and 57,985; Mikronesia, 3590 and 91,600.

Asia presents great difficulties with regard to Turkey, and Cyprus is still nominally a dependency of Turkey, and the Census of May, 1881, taken under the superintendence of Dr. Barry, gave the population as 185,916. About the exact area of the island there seems considerable doubt. The official statement gives 3723 square miles (9642 square kilometres). The area of the Turkish possessions in Asia is 1,899,069 square kilometres, and the population 13,375,000. Thus, the total area of Turkey in Europe and Asia is 2,225,445 square kilometres, and population 24,987,000.

Russia in Asia. The latest area changes were in the boundary between Russia and China in Kuldja and the Black Irtysh, and between Russia and Persia in the Caspian region, &c. The general result for Russia in Asia is as follows:—The Trans-Caucasus, 472,666 square kilometres, 5,546,554 inhabitants; Trans-Caspian territory, 327,068 square kilometres, 203,000 inhabitants; Siberia, 12,495,108 square kilometres, 3,811,200 inhabitants; Central Asia, 3,017,780 square kilometres, 5,086,000 inhabitants. Asiatic Russia has thus an area of 10,812,604 square kilometres and a population of 14,696,750; adding to this the figures for Russia in Europe, we have the total area of the Russian Empire as 21,789,778 square kilometres, and the population 96,323,000. In the Caucasus the population figures belong to various dates from 1873 to 1880, and in Siberia and Central Asia they are for 1878-9. The independent Turkoman regions show an area of 208,500 square kilometres, and a population of 450,000; for Khiva, 67,600 square kilometres, and 700,000 inhabitants (the estimate of 1873); and Bokhara (including Shighnan, Roshan, Karategin, &c.), 239,000 square kilometres, and 2,130,000 inhabitants.

For Arabia the estimate last given is 3,156,600 square kilometres (including Sinai and the Syrian Desert), and 5,000,000 inhabitants; of this, an area of 2,507,890, with a population of 3,700,000, is independent of Turkey. The area of Persia is given as 1,647,070 square kilometres. Afghanistan is still given with an area of 721,664 square kilometres, and a population of 4,000,000 (including Wakhan, Badakshan, Kunduz, Chalam, Balch, Maimeneh, and Herat). Kaffristan has an area 51,687 square kilometres, with an estimated population of 500,000 inhabitants.

Coming to America, the extension of the area of Manitoba must be taken into account, and the recent division of the North-West Territory, now divided into four new territories—Assiniboia, 95,000 square miles; Saskatchewan, 114,000 square miles; Alberta, 100,000 square miles; Athabasca, 122,000 square miles. The following are the areas and the populations of 1881 of the leading divisions:—Ontario, 107,700 square miles and 1,923,228 inhabitants; Quebec, 193,355 and 1,359,027; New Brunswick, 27,392 and 321,233; Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, 21,731 and 440,572; Manitoba, 150,000 and 65,954; Prince Edward Island, 2173 and 108,891; British Columbia, 365,999 and 49,459; Territories, 2,346,883 and 50,446; total, 3,205,343 square miles and 4,324,810 inhabitants. Newfoundland has an area of 42,734 square miles, and the population given is that of 1874, 161,374; but in 1881 it was 181,753. The French possessions in North America (St. Pierre, Miquelon, &c.) have an area of 25 square kilometres and a population (1879) of 5221. The statistics obtained at the last Census of the United States show a total area of 3,692,990 square miles and a total population 50,142,066. For the Central American States the figures are as follows:—Guatemala, 121,140 square kilometres, 1,262,407 inhabitants (1881); Honduras, 120,150 and 350,000; British Honduras, 10,565 and 24,710; Salvador, 18,720 and 554,785 (1878); Nicaragua, 133,500 and 300,000 (1877); Costa Rica, 51,769 and 185,000 (1874); Panama State, 81,823 and 224,000 (1870); total, 547,398 square kilometres and 2,891,000 inhabitants. The total area of the West Indies is 244,478 square kilometres, and the population (mostly that of 1870-81) 4,017,450. The British possessions have an area of 34,500 square kilometres and a population of 1,201,522. Guiana is divided as follows:—French, 121,418 square kilometres and 26,000 inhabitants (1879); Dutch, 119,321 and 63,525 (1879); British, 221,248 and 248,110 (1879). For other South American States we find the following figures:—Venezuela, 1,137,615 square kilometres, 2,675,245 inhabitants (1881); Colombia, 830,670 and 3,000,000; Ecuador, 643,205 and 946,033, besides 200,000 wild Indians; Peru, 1,119,341 and (1878) 8,050,000; Bolivia (without considering probable results of recent war), 1,297,265 and 2,325,000; Chili (including results of recent division of Patagonia and Terra del Fuego between Chili and the Argentine Republic), 537,187 and 2,420,500; Argentine Republic, 2,835,869 and 2,540,000 (1880); Uruguay (1880), 186,920 and 428,215; Paraguay, 238,290 and 293,844; Brazil, 8,337,218 and 11,108,291.

In Africa we find several changes. From more recent data Morocco, it is stated, has 812,332 square kilometres and 6,140,000 inhabitants. For 1880 the area of the Civil Territory stands at 73,885 square kilometres, and its population 1,882,124. Tunisia is placed under French protection, with an area of 116,348 square kilometres, and a population of 2,100,000. Tripoli, Fezzan, and Barca have an area of 1,033,349 square kilometres, and a population of 1,010,000. The Sahara, outside the Mediterranean and Soudan States, is credited with an area of 6,150,426 square kilometres, and a population of only 2½ millions. With reference to Egypt, a Census was taken in the May of 1882; but, considering what has since happened, we must adhere to that of 1877, with the results of new estimates as to the area. For Egypt proper we have an area of 935,275 square kilometres and a population of 5,583,774; adding to this the Libyan Oases and the Egyptian Soudan, the whole of the territory under the Khedive covers an area of 2,986,900 square kilometres, with a population of 16,400,000. For the States of Central Soudan (Wadai, Bagherini, Bornu, Kanem, Sokoto, &c.) we find the total area 1,714,984 square kilometres, with a population of 31,800,000. For the French possessions in Senegambia the population is given at 192,324 for 1879; but this does not include the extensive territory in the Upper Niger brought under French "protection" in 1881. For Sierra Leone the population of the Census of 1881 is given—60,546; Lagos (1881), 75,270; Gold Coast (1872), 408,070. Liberia is given an area of 37,200 square kilometres and a population of 1,050,000, of whom, however, only 18,000 can certainly be regarded as civilized. For Abyssinia the old figures of 389,280 square kilometres and 8,000,000 inhabitants must be adhered to; Galla and Somali Lands have an area of 1,887,000 square kilometres and a population of 1½ millions. All the countries in the region of the Great Lakes lumped together as the Equatorial Regions, those north of the equator showing an area of 2,254,980 square kilometres and a population of 27,000,000, and those south of the equator 1,717,500 square kilometres and 20,000,000 inhabitants.

THE POST OFFICE.

The twenty-eighth annual report of the Postmaster-General presents many statistical matters of general interest. The number of letters passing through the Post Office at a given time—for instance, during the Christmas week nearly 12,500,000 letters and packets were dealt with in the central office, which included 4½ tons of registered letters, against 11,500,000 and 4 tons of registered letters in the previous year. The number of valentines dispatched from the central office, which had in recent years shown a large falling off, increased to 1,684,000, while in 1880 the number was 534,000. The total estimated number of letters, post-cards, book-packets, newspapers, &c., received in the United Kingdom from abroad during 1881-2 is roughly calculated at 69 millions; while the number dispatched from these shores is reckoned at about 87 millions. The number of telegraph messages was 81,845,861, being an increase of 1,933,879 over the previous year. Respecting postal orders, it seems that within the twelve months no less than 4,462,920 were issued, amounting to £2,006,917; and the classes of orders most in demand were the 1s., 5s., 10s., and 20s. The gross revenue for the year was over £9,024,371, and the net revenue £3,100,475, being, notwithstanding a heavy increase of expenditure, an increase of £32,356 on the previous year.

The difficult question of an Inland Parcel Post has at length been arranged. The rates of postage and limit of weight are as follow:—For an inland parcel of a weight not exceeding 1 lb., 3d.; exceeding 1 lb. and not exceeding 3 lb., 6d.; exceeding 3 lb. and not exceeding 5 lb., 9d.; exceeding 5 lb. and not exceeding 7 lb., 1s.

It is proposed to link the Inland Post with the International Parcel Post. A Reply Post-Card has also been introduced, at an additional cost of a halfpenny.

The Telegraph Department is, it appears, the only department not in a satisfactory state as to the revenue at the present time; and this state of things has arisen from the culpableness of a former Government, and the carelessness of the House of Commons, in permitting the country to pay 3½ millions to the companies more than they were worth. This was shown by the startling rise in the price of shares the moment it became known that the Government were about to buy them up. In some instances, the shares actually rose as much as 300 per cent. in value. If these undertakings had been bought at their actual value—7 millions, instead of 10½ millions—the Telegraph Department of the Post Office would have been working at a profit, and even a reduction in the price might have been made. Greater facilities have, however, been given for using the Telegraph; and it is, perhaps, not sufficiently well known that by affixing the amount in stamps to the message it may be posted to the nearest telegraph station overnight, when it is desirable to send all the message in the early morning, or at any other time, and without the trouble of going to the office.

RATES OF POSTAGE.

The rates of postage on inland letters prepaid are as follow, viz:—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz.	1d.
Exceeding 1 oz., but not exceeding 2 oz.	1d.
“ 2 oz., and less than 4 oz.	2d.
“ 4 oz., and less than 6 oz.	2½d.
“ 6 oz., and less than 8 oz.	3d.
“ 8 oz., and less than 10 oz.	3½d.
“ 10 oz., and less than 12 oz.	4d.

A letter exceeding the weight of 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce, beginning with the first ounce. A letter, for example, weighing between 14 oz. and 15 oz. must be prepaid 1s. 3d.

A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage; and if mouthfully prepaid is chargeable with double the deficiency.

No letter may be above 18 inches in length, 9 inches in width, or six inches in depth.

Letters for the Country posted in London or the London Districts on Saturday too late for the ordinary Evening Mails, but in time for the last Evening Collections are delivered next morning, if for places within the range of the Midnight despatches; if for places beyond that range, they are delivered on Monday. The late fee charged for posting inland ordinary letters, after the time of closing the boxes for the dispatch of a mail, is extended and reduced to an uniform rate of a halfpenny.

All Post Offices in the London District are closed on Sundays, with some few exceptions, which are open for the receipt and dispatch of telegrams during the hours stated in Postal Guide.

On Bank Holidays the Postal and Telegraph arrangements in London are of an exceptional character, and due notice is given of them by means of Notices to the public exhibited at Metropolitan Post Offices.

Inquiries for Missing Letters, &c., should be made at the Secretary's Office, New Buildings, between ten a.m. and four p.m. (Saturdays between ten and one).

The Returned Letter Office is in Telegraph-street, Moorgate-street. The Money Order Office is at No. 1, Aldersgate street. The Post-Office Savings Bank is in Queen Victoria-street, E.C.

LETTERS “TO BE CALLED FOR”

There is a Poste Restante both at the General Post Office, St. Martin's-le-Grand, and at the Charing-cross Post Office, where letters “to be called for” can be obtained between the hours of nine a.m. and five p.m. No letters (except communications from the Savings Bank Department) are taken in “to be called for” at the other district or branch offices, and any so directed are sent to the Returned Letter Office to be returned to the writers.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN LETTERS.

Full particulars of the rates of postage on letters to the colonies and foreign countries will be found in the British Postal Guide, published quarterly, price Sixpence.

No letter for any colony or foreign country may be above two feet in length or one foot in width or depth. Neither must it contain gold or silver money, jewels, or precious articles, or anything liable to Customs duties, can be sent, even if registered, to any country of the General Postal Union.

INLAND BOOK POST.

The postage is one halfpenny for every 2 oz. or part of that weight. A packet posted wholly unpaid is charged with double the book postage; and if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN BOOK POST.

The limit of size for a book-packet addressed to any place abroad is 24 in. in length and 12 in. in width or depth. For postage, see Post Office Guide.

FOREIGN CARD POST.

Foreign post-cards may be sent to Canada and to all the countries comprised in the General Postal Union, with the exception of British India.

The postage of a card is in every case one half the rate for a single letter. Foreign post-cards with an impressed stamp of 1d. and 1½d. each are sold at that rate, and are transmissible to the majority of the countries of the Union without extra charge, but reference should be made for exceptional rates to the Post Office Guide.

REGISTRATION (INLAND AND FOREIGN.)

The fee for registering a letter, newspaper, or book-packet passing between any two places in the United Kingdom is twopenny.

The fee chargeable for registration to Colonies and Foreign Countries is variable. See Post Office Guide.

Every letter to be registered should be presented at the counter, and a receipt obtained for it, and should on no account be dropped into the letter-box. If, contrary to this rule, a letter marked “Registered,” be dropped into the letter-box, it will, if directed to any place in the United Kingdom or the British Colonies, be liable to a registration fee of 4d., instead of the ordinary fee of 2d.

INDIAN PARCEL POST.

1. Persons wishing to send parcels to any part of British India can do so through the Indian Parcel Post Agency—established under authority of the Director-General of the Post Office of India—at 122, Leadenhall-street, E.C.; and (Branch Office) at 25, Cockspur-street, S.W.

2. The charge for parcels is 1s. per lb. or fraction of a lb. (prepayment optional), covering transit from London to destination in India. Insurance may be effected, if desired, at the rate (to be prepaid) of 1s. up to £3 value, 2s. 6d. up to £10 value, and 5s. up to £20 value. Indian Customs duty (if chargeable) will be realised from the addressee.

N.B.—Parcels containing books, or articles treated as books under the British Inland Book Post Rules, are charged 6d. per lb.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PATTERN AND SAMPLE POST.

There is a Pattern and Sample Post to certain colonies and foreign countries, but it is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of merchandise.

MODES OF PREPAYMENT.

Inland letters, newspapers, and book-packets cannot be prepaid in money but must be prepaid by means of stamps, either adhesive or embossed or impressed. This rule applies also to registered letters.

Exceptions.—At the Chief and District Post Offices, and at the Charing-cross and Lombard-street Post Offices in London, as well as at the Head Offices in Edinburgh and Dublin.

POSTAL ORDERS.

Postal orders, for certain fixed sums from 1s. up to £1, are issued to the public at all post offices at which money order business is transacted.

The following are the amounts for which postal orders are issued, together with the poundage payable in respect of each:—

Amount of Order	Poundage	Amount of Order	Poundage
1 0	4	7 0	1
1 6	4	10 0	2
2 6	1	20 0	2

The person to whom a postal order is issued must, before parting with it, fill in the name of the person to whom the amount is to be paid, and may fill in the name of the Money Order Office at which the amount is to be paid. The person so named must, before payment can be made, sign the receipt at the foot of the order, and must also fill in the name of the Money Order Office, if that has not been already done.

POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS.

The regulations which came into operation Oct. 1, 1880, with respect to postal orders enacts that the following poundage be paid:—1s., 4d.; 2s., 6d.; 5s., or 7s. 6d., 1d.; 10s., 12s. 6d., 1s.; 15s., 17s. 6d., or 20s., 2d.

The postmaster may require the person to sign his name on the order before payment is made, although it has been already signed. A postal order may be crossed to a particular banker, and the banker to whom it is crossed may cross it to another banker or agent for collection; and when so crossed specially a postmaster shall refuse to pay it, except to the banker to whom it is crossed.

POST-OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

The usefulness of this department to the working classes goes on extending. There are now more than ten millions of depositors. Much has been done during the year to encourage thrift.

Post-Office Savings Banks are established at all Money-Order Offices in the United Kingdom, and are open for the receipt and payment of money and for the transaction of Government Stock business daily during the hours appointed for Money-Order business.

Any person desirous of saving one shilling by means of penny contributions, for deposit in the Post-Office Savings Bank, may do so by purchasing with every penny so saved a penny postage-stamp and affixing it to a form to be obtained at any post-office. When twelve such stamps have been so affixed, the form may be taken to any post-office savings bank in the United Kingdom, where it will be received by the postmaster, and one shilling be allowed for the stamps, which shilling will be accepted either as the first deposit in a new account then to be opened, or as an ordinary deposit if the owner of it has already opened an account. If the stamps affixed to the form are defaced, or in any way damaged, they will not be received by a postmaster.

INLAND TELEGRAMS.

The charge for telegrams throughout the United Kingdom is 1s. for the first twenty words, and 3d. for every additional five words or part of five words. The names and addresses of the sender and receiver are not counted.

The charges for press telegrams are 1s. for every hundred words or portion of one hundred words handed in between six p.m. and nine a.m.; and 1s. for every seventy-five words or portion of seventy-five words handed in between nine a.m. and six p.m.; with an additional charge of 2d. per hundred or 2d. per seventy-five words, as the case may be, for every additional address.

The cost of a reply, not exceeding forty words in length, may be prepaid; and a Reply Form will then be delivered to the addressee, who will be at liberty to send his reply, from any Telegraph Office, at any time within two months after the date of the original telegram.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Venus and Mars on the morning of the 4th, Saturn on the 7th, Mercury on the 8th, and near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 9th. Her phases or times of change are —

New Moon	on the 6th at 58 minutes after 9h in the afternoon.
First Quarter	„ 13th „ 54 „ „ „ 10 „ „ afternoon.
Full Moon	„ 22nd „ 12 „ „ „ 3 „ „ morning.
Last Quarter	„ 29th „ 23 „ „ „ 2 „ „ afternoon.

She is nearest to the Earth on the afternoon of the 5th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 18th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 3h 1m p.m.; or 1h 40m after the Sun; on the 5th at 9h 27m, or 2 hours after the Sun; on the 11th at 9h 50m, or 2h 14m after sunset; on the 16th at 9h 55m, or 2h 11m after the Sun; on the 21st at 9h 47m, or 1h 57m after the Sun; on the 26th at 9h 25m, or 1h 27m after the Sun; and on the last day at 8h 53m, or 50 minutes after the Sun. This is the most favorable month in the year for observing Mercury, particularly at about the middle of the month. He is near Saturn on the 2nd, near the Moon on the 8th, at his greatest eastern elongation (21 deg. 48 min.) on the 14th, is stationary among the stars on the 27th, and in his descending node on the 28th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 3h 34m a.m., on the 12th at 3h 17m a.m., and on the 21st at 2h 59m a.m. She is in aphelion on the 2nd, near the Moon on the 4th, and near Mars on the 10th.

MARS rises on the 1st at 3h 41m a.m., or 54 minutes before the Sun; on the 11th at 3h 11m a.m.; on the 21st at 2h 48m a.m.; and on the last day at 2h 22m a.m., or 1h 30m before the Sun rises. He is due south on the 15th at 9h 40m a.m. He is near the Moon on the 4th.

JUPITER is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 11h 36m p.m.; on the 11th at 11h 5m p.m., on the 21st at 10h 35m p.m., and on the last day at 10h 4m p.m. He is due south on the 15th at 2h 37m p.m. He is near the Moon on the 9th, and in his ascending node on the 19th.

SATURN sets on the 1st at 8h 42m p.m., or 1h 21m after the Sun has set; on the 11th at 8h 10m, or 34 minutes after the Sun; on the 19th the Sun and this planet set nearly together; and after this day the planet sets in daylight throughout the year. He is due south on the 16th at 0h 13m p.m. He is near the Moon on the 7th, and in conjunction with the Sun on the 20th.

THE RAILWAYS OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The enormous growth of the Railway system in the United Kingdom will be realised on a comparison of the Parliamentary abstract of returns for a number of years. In the following Table the total Length, Capital, Passengers conveyed, Receipts, and Working Expenses are given. To this is appended the gross amount of profits assessed to the Income Tax.

§ Inclusive of expenses and net receipts for steam-boats and other miscellaneous items from 1869.

The following Companies are not included, as they made no return as required by Parliament; and, in consequence, legal proceedings were ordered to be taken against them:—Dover and Deal, St. Austell and Pentewan, Scutlsea, Clonskilly Extension, Cork and Kenmare, and Donagall Extension.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1883.

THE RAILWAY EXTENSION OF THE UNITED STATES.

The extension of the railway system in the United States in 1881 has been greater than in any previous year. During the year 1881 9558 miles of railway have been built. The cost, at 25,000 dols. per mile, is reckoned at 238,950,000 dols.; expended on lines in progress, 75,000,000 dols.; expended on old lines, 100,000,000 dols.—total, 408,950,000 dols. It is expected that the mileage to be opened in 1882 will equal that of 1881. Up to June 1, 1882, 3677 miles of line were opened, against 1734 for the same period of 1881. Although this increase will not continue, it is likely that the mileage opened this year will not fall short of 10,000 miles. The railway mileage rose from 52,914 miles in 1870 to 104,813 miles in 1881. At a similar rate, the mileage in 1890 will exceed 200,000 miles. The earnings of all the lines in operation during the past year equalled 725,325,119 dols., an increase over the previous year of 110,000,000 dols., or nearly 16 per cent. The earnings equalled 13 dols. 60c. per head of the population. The current expenses were 449,565,071 dols., and the amount of interest paid on funded debt was 128,867,002 dols.; the amount of dividends paid was 93,344,200 dols., against 77,115,411 dols. for 1880. The cost of working the lines was 449,565,071 dols., or 62 per cent. of the gross earnings. The number of persons employed in working them averaged 12 to the mile, or 1,200,000 in all. The number employed in construction was 400,000, making a total of 1,600,000, or about 1-32nd part of the population (53,200,000). The amount of tonnage transported is estimated at 3800 tons per mile, or 350,000,000 tons, which, at an assumed value of 50 dols. per ton, would give a total value, less one-third for duplication, of 12,000,000,000 dols., or more than 200 dols. per head of the population.

The following is a statement of the number of miles worked, capital stock, and funded debt, and dividends paid for ten years:—

Years.	Miles Worked.	Capital and Funded Debt.	Dividends Paid.
		Dols.	Dols.
1881	94,486	5,010,880,579	93,344,200
1880	84,225	4,807,401,997	77,115,411
1879	82,225	4,702,506,910	61,681,470
1878	78,960	4,589,948,793	53,629,368
1877	74,112	4,568,597,245	48,556,312
1876	71,759	4,468,591,335	69,030,668
1875	69,273	4,415,631,630	74,294,208
1874	66,237	4,221,765,594	67,042,942
1873	66,237	3,784,543,034	67,120,709
1872	57,323	3,150,423,067	64,418,157

The great increase in foreign commerce is due almost wholly to the increased export of provisions and breadstuffs produced in that portion of the country in which railroads have had their widest and most rapid extension.

The following table shows the extent to which the production of wheat and corn increases along with the extension of the railway system in the corn-growing States therein mentioned. The facilities for transport at once had this effect, for it is said that wheat will not bear transportation over ordinary roads more than 250 miles, and corn cannot be carried more than 150 miles over earth roads:—

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Mars on the morning of the 1st, very near Venus on the morning of the 3rd, near Saturn on the 4th, and Mercury on the 5th; but New Moon is on this day, and therefore neither can be seen; and she is near Jupiter on the evening of the 6th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 5th at 12 minutes after 6h in the morning.
First Quarter	„ 12th „ 42 „ 2 „ afternoon.
Full Moon	„ 20th „ 32 „ 4 „ afternoon.
Last Quarter	„ 27th „ 38 „ 7 „ afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth at about midnight of the 2nd, furthest from it on the afternoon of the 14th, and nearest again on the morning of the 30th.

MERCURY sets on the 1st at 8h 45m p.m., or 41 minutes after sunset; this interval decreases to 6 minutes only on the 5th, when he sets at 8h 14m p.m.; and from the 6th day till July 26 he sets before the Sun, or in daylight; on the 13th he rises nearly at the same time as the Sun rises; on the 20th he rises at 3h 14m a.m., or 30 minutes before the Sun; and on the 29th he rises at 2h 45m a.m., or 1h 2m before the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 5th, in aphelion on the 7th, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 8th, and stationary among the stars on the 20th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 2h 45m a.m., on the 11th at 2h 32m a.m., and on the 21st at 2h 24m a.m. She is near the Moon on the 3rd, and near Saturn on the 19th.

MARS rises on the 10th at 1h 57m a.m., on the 20th at 1h 32m a.m., and on the last day at 1h 11m a.m. He is due south on the 15th at 9h 6m a.m. He is near the Moon on the 1st.

JUPITER is visible for a short time after sunset, setting on the 1st at 10h 1m p.m., on the 10th at 9h 34m p.m., on the 20th at 9h 3m p.m., and on the last day at 8h 33m p.m., or 15 minutes after sunset; from this time to the end of the year he sets in daylight. He is due south on the 15th at 1h 4m p.m. He is near the Moon on the 6th.

SATURN rises on June 1 at 3h 34m a.m., or 17 minutes before the Sun; on the 10th at 3h 3m a.m.; on the 20th at 2h 27m a.m.; and on the last day at 1h 50m a.m., or 1h 57m before sunrise. He is due south on the 15th at 10h 30m a.m., and is near the Moon on the 4th.

STATISTICAL ABSTRACT OF THE REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The disappointing character of the harvest of 1881, the full extent of the deficiency of which was hardly realised till the latter part of the year, combined with the previous long period of agricultural depression, may be taken as an important factor in the general diminution of the spending power of the country, and which much restricted the consumption of articles paying a duty. There has, in consequence, been some good grounds to fear that our great source of revenue, the Excise, cannot be implicitly relied on to produce as much proportionally as formerly, while it is next to impossible to prevent at all times an increase of national expenditure, as, for instance, in the case of the Egyptian War. The Government, therefore, seemed to have been compelled to fall back upon the Income Tax, to meet the extraordinary expenditure occasioned by an unexpected war. With regard to the elastic nature of the Excise, this, it is thought, might experience a considerable falling off, from a decrease in the consumption of intoxicating liquors; but it will surely be able to accept the indications of this furnished by the speed of the total abstinence movement, until it has been seen what may be the effect produced by a general rise in wages. It is not improbable that the Excise duties may once more take a bound upwards should a large section of the labouring classes become possessed of an increased spending power.

The figures relating to the revenue obtained from the spirit duties during recent years are a little remarkable, as the following table of the gross amount of revenue collected from the excise shows:—

Years ended March 31.	Spirits.	Other Articles.	Totals.
1867	£10,855,949	£9,862,474	£20,708,323
1872	12,271,506	11,111,406	23,382,912
1876	15,184,327	12,414,396	27,598,723
1878	16,183,321	12,576,593	28,759,914
1879	14,406,090	12,779,331	27,185,421
1880	13,631,783	11,586,518	25,218,301
1881	14,394,472	10,978,611	25,373,083
1882	14,273,756	12,897,012	27,170,768

The year 1875-6 shows the maximum of the period 1867-82, and the figures for 1881-2 are not so very much below those of that year. Altogether, the spirit duties have so far proved to be a very steady and trustworthy source of revenue.

The most interesting question, however, is the yield of the Income Tax, since it appears that that is practically the only tax that can be used in case of sudden emergency. The total annual value of property and profits assessed to the Income Tax in the United Kingdom in recent years was as follows:—

Years ending April 5.	SCHEDULE
	A.	B.	C.	D.	E.
1870	£116,526,171	£58,007,418	£35,700,480	£178,318,696	£20,301,463
1876	164,816,587	66,806,095	41,765,002	271,865,510	34,041,347
1877	171,173,113	69,237,366	39,968,177	256,908,713	30,643,390
1878	177,189,578	69,172,300	39,861,802	266,626,371	31,494,320
1879	180,037,806	69,140,132	39,510,310	277,370,699	31,987,260
1880	185,377,770	69,393,096	39,860,183	249,488,398	32,786,184
Years ending April 5.	Totals.		Years ending April 5.	Totals.
1870	411,914,228		1878	578,294,371
1876	619,291,347		1879	578,016,297
1877	570,311,380		1880	516,896,301

It will be seen that the value assessed under schedule D, which was at its maximum in 1876, has been falling since that year. The assessments under schedule A show a steady increase, those under schedule B a trifling increase, while those under schedules C and E show a reduction, as compared with 1876. On the whole, the taxable wealth of the country is much larger than it was twelve years ago.

Tables of the gross amount of public revenue collected from customs, excise, and stamps for the past sixteen years, together with those of the stamp duties, were given in our last year's Almanack. The British Customs Houses collect more than nineteen millions a year, and the Excise more than twenty-seven millions; whilst the income tax produces more than ten millions, stamps twelve millions, and the Post Office yields an annual profit of seven millions. There is a small item which deserves mention—the money paid to the Chancellor of the Exchequer by sundry persons for conscience sake, which amounted to £536 last year. In spite of the difficulties which have so long existed in Egypt, the interest received on the Suez Canal shares amounted to nearly £200,000.

BYE PRODUCTS IN GAS-MAKING.

There is an absolute waste in the burning of coal in open fire-grates before converting it into gas, besides the deterioration of the atmosphere and the production of fogs. In using raw coal for heating purposes the following valuable products are absolutely lost to us. It is estimated that the coal used in the gas-works of London is nine millions of tons, which, at a cost of 12s. a ton amounts to £5,400,000. Putting aside the value of the gas produced, this quantity of coal yields, in bye-products:—Colouring matters, £3,360,000; sulphate of ammonia, £1,947,000; pitch (350,000 tons), £265,000; creosote (25,000,000 gallons), £268,000; crude carbolic acid (1,000,000 tons), £100,000; gas-coke (4,000,000 tons), after allowing for 2,000,000 tons consumed in working the retorts, £2,400,000. Thus giving a total of £8,370,000, or nearly three millions more than the original cost of the coal. Gas may then be sold at a price to become 'the poor man's friend.'

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS. So accustomed have we become to the announcement that a serious accident has occurred on such and such a railway, and several persons have been injured, we almost come to regard them as a normal rather than an accidental condition of railway management. But speed no more means disaster than a densely-crowded city means disease. That an enormous number of railway accidents are preventable is apparent to anyone who will take the trouble to run over the returns periodically presented to Parliament. The total number of personal accidents reported to the Board of Trade by the several railway companies during the first three months of the year 1882 amounted to 286 persons killed, and 2219 injured, a very large number of which might have been prevented by more watchful care, and the introduction of methods of greater security.

* The increase in the Gross and Rateable Rental of Property assessed to the Poor Rate is partly owing to a revised system of assessment.

* Including expenses under Medical Charities Acts, Registration of Births, Deaths, and Marriages Acts, Sanitary Acts, Burial Grounds Acts, Superannuation Acts, Catle Disease Act, and National School Teachers Act, but exclusive of £505,705 advanced by the Government and expended in the purchase of seed, under the Seed Supply (Ireland) Act, 1880.

† Exclusive of £47,250 Seed Rate, collected for the payment in part of the debt above referred to.

THE CUSTOMS AND INLAND REVENUE FOR 1881.

The comparatively favourable conditions of many important branches of trade and business generally which prevailed throughout the year 1881 appear to have been reflected only in a very moderate degree in the Customs Revenue. The gross receipts for the financial year were £11,123,380, being an increase of only £245,000 as compared with corresponding period of the previous year. With regard to the Inland Revenue, there was a net increase, as compared with the previous year, of £1,452,218, and in the Excise Revenue £1,798,616. But from certain causes these figures do not represent the true comparison of the financial results, as the drawbacks on account of the repeal of the malt tax, amounting to £1,320,000, was defrayed out of Excise Revenue before it reached the Exchequer, and only five months of beer duty was paid into the financial year.

In the past year the Exports of British Produce and Manufactures exceeded in value nearly £11,000,000 those of 1880; while the value of the Imports of Merchandise were less by £14,000,000.

PRODUCE AND MANUFACTURES OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The value of the produce and manufactures of the United Kingdom exported to Foreign Countries and British Possessions in the year 1881 was as follows:—Foreign Countries, £164,668,083; British Possessions, £79,364,595; Total, £234,022,678; showing an increase of £10,962,232 upon the value of similar exports in the year 1880, or 4.9 per cent. and by assigning the proper proportion of increase to each of these divisions, we find that the increase in the value of goods shipped to foreign countries amounted to £6,851,816, or 4.6 per cent. and to our Colonies, Dependencies, and Possessions, £4,110,416, or 5.5 per cent. more than in 1880.

The following table shows the percentage of difference in a series of ten years between the value of the export trade in goods of home production or manufacture to Foreign Countries and British Possessions respectively, on a comparison of the figures of a given year with those of the year preceding:—

Year	Total Value of Exports.	Value of Exports to Foreign Countries.	Value of Exports to British Possessions.	Proportion of Foreign Countries to Total.	Proportion of British Possessions to Total.
1872	£ 256,257,317	£ 195,701,350	£ 60,555,967	Per cent. 76.4	Per cent. 23.6

1878	192,848,911	126,611,428	66,237,486	65.7	34.3
1879	191,531,768	130,529,647	61,002,111	68.2	31.8
1880	221,060,146	147,806,267	73,253,879	66.9	33.1
1881	234,022,678	164,668,083	79,364,595	66.1	33.9

The object in giving the above table for a period of ten years, is to show the remarkable growth of our export trade with our own Colonies and Possessions when compared with that relating to Foreign Countries. The year 1872 was the culminating period of a series of years of excessive exports, more marked, however, in value than in quantities, and with the year 1873 a decline set in, which, although nominal so far as that year was concerned, became continuous. It lasted until 1879, towards the end of which year the first signs of revival appeared in an increased demand on the part of America for various descriptions of iron, especially old, pig, and iron and steel rails, and although this came too late to make up for the deficiencies of the earlier months of that year, yet the years 1880 and 1881 have shown largely increased totals.

The total amount of the Customs receipt of the Port of London in 1881 was almost identical with that of the preceding year. The general conditions of the import and export trade of the Port, so far as they may be estimated from the amount of the shipping employed in carrying it on, do not appear to have been altogether favourable.

Judged, however, by the actual values, as given below, for the past five years, the import and export trade of the Port appears to be satisfactorily progressive.

Value of Imports into and Exports from the Port of London during each of the last five years.—

Years	Imports, exclusive of Corn and Bullion.	Exports of goods of British and Irish Produce or Manufacture.
1877	£ 140,382,773	£ 51,985,826
1878	129,601,104	48,145,873
1879	120,105,198	47,385,763
1880	141,442,907	62,600,929
1881	139,381,165	68,581,539

The import trade in tea shows its accustomed expansiveness. Nearly all the tea consumed in the country, or warehoused therein for subsequent exportation to other countries, is brought, in the first instance, into London. These importations amounted during 1881 to 209,680,332 lb., exceeding by 2,863,723 lbs. the like importations of the previous year, and being the largest recorded importation of tea during any single year. The quantities of tea imported into the whole of the rest of the United Kingdom, taken together, amounted to only 121,190 lb.

COCOA, CHOCOLATE, AND COFFEE.—The importations of Cocoa show a decrease of 1,060,000 lb. in quantity, and £35,000 in value. Coffee and Chicory show a falling off in quantity of 317,000 cwt., and in value of £2,087,000. The value of the imports of Foreign and Colonial merchandise imported into the United Kingdom during the year 1881 amounted to £397,082,000, being 14 millions, or 3.4 per cent. below the total of last year, which was £411,229,000, the highest on record.

The articles which, by a diminished importation to the extent of more than a million in value each, have mainly brought about this result are:—Animals (living), butter, coffee, corn, oats, potatoes, silk ribbons, wood (sawn), woollen manufactures.

The only article the import value of which has increased by the like amount during the past year is sugar (unrefined). Dividing the imports into groups of articles of a like character it is found that in food products the total decrease in the value of foods retained for consumption is about 6½ millions.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Mars on the morning of the 1st, and Saturn on the morning of the 2nd; she is near Venus and Mercury on the morning of the 3rd; she is near Jupiter on the 4th, the day of New Moon; she is near Saturn on the morning of the 29th, and near Mars on the morning of the 30th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon on the 4th at 3 minutes after 3h in the afternoon.
First Quarter " 12th " 49 " " 7 " morning.
Full Moon " 20th " 31 " " 3 " morning.
Last Quarter " 27th " 47 " before 1 " morning.

She is furthest from the Earth on the afternoon of the 12th, and nearest to it on the afternoon of the 25th.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 2h 43m a.m., or 1h 5m before the Sun; he rises on the 4th at 2h 35m a.m., or 1h 16m before sunrise; on the 9th at 2h 35m a.m., or 1h 21m before the Sun; on the 14th at 2h 50m a.m., or 1h 11m before the Sun; on the 19th at 3h 2m a.m., or 1h 4m before the Sun; and on the 29th at 4h 9m a.m., or 12 minutes before the Sun; and at the end of the month this planet and the Sun rise nearly at the same time; and from this time till Oct. 7 he rises after sunrise, or in daylight. He is near the Moon on the 3rd, and at his greatest western elongation (21 deg. 26 min.) on the 2nd, near Venus from the 4th to the 8th, in his ascending node on the 16th at midnight, near Jupiter on the 20th, in perihelion on the 21st, and in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 29th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 2h 23m a.m.; on the 11th at 2h 29m a.m., on the 21st at 2h 42m a.m., and on the last day at 3h 4m a.m., or 1 hour 20 minutes before the Sun. She is near the Moon on the 3rd, in her ascending node on the 20th, and near Jupiter on the 26th.

MARS rises on the 1st at 1h 9m a.m., on the 10th at 0h 59m a.m., on the 20th at 0h 29m a.m., and on the last day at 0h 10m a.m. He is due south on the 15th at 8h 34m a.m. He is near the Moon on the 1st, and again on the 30th. He is near Saturn on the 20th.

JUPITER rises on the 6th at 3h 50m a.m., being 3 minutes before sunrise; on the 10th at 3h 39m a.m., or 18 minutes before sunrise; on the 20th at 3h 11m a.m., or 56 minutes before the Sun; and on the 30th at 2h 41m a.m., or 1h 42m before the Sun. He is due south on the 15th at 1h 35m a.m., is near the Moon on the 4th, and in conjunction with the Sun on the same day.

SATURN rises on the 1st at 1h 46m a.m., on the 10th at 1h 15m a.m., on the 20th at 0h 39m a.m., and on the 29th at 2 minutes after midnight, and on the 30th at 2 minutes before midnight. He is due south on the 15th at 8h 47m a.m., and is near the Moon on the 2nd, and a second time on the 29th.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1883.

WEALTH OF NATIONS.

The population of the civilised countries of the world has doubled since the beginning of the present century, the United Kingdom and colonies having, in 1801, 17,000,000, whereas to-day they have 43,000,000. The European Continent then had 170,000,000; to-day it has 275,000,000; and the United States, then with a population of 5,000,000, to-day has upwards of 50,000,000. Thus have these nations increased from 192,000,000 to 368,000,000. The population of Great Britain and the United States combined has risen from 22,000,000 to 93,000,000, an increase of 323 per cent, while the population of the European Continent rose only 63 per cent. During the last sixty years no less than 16,000,000 of people have left the Old World for homes in America and the British colonies, of whom nearly 11,000,000 have landed on the shores of the United States. This migration, combined with the opening up of new countries, the great changes brought about by the application of steam, the extension of railroads, the improvements of ocean navigation, the connection of continents by telegraph, and the spread of knowledge in schools and by the daily press, has made the present the most progressive of all centuries to the Anglo-Saxon race. People are better fed and better clothed, and, with the advance of science and the extension of knowledge, opportunities on all sides increase.

In the food supply of the world there has been notable progress within less than half a century, not only by reason of the introduction of railroads and steamers, but also by the removal of arbitrary laws against grain. Forty years ago Great Britain paid famine prices for bread sooner than repeal the Corn Laws; while the moujiks of the Don had such abundant crops that wheat was too cheap to pay the cost of freight to the nearest port. Forty years ago, owing to the want of roads, the price of grain in Western Russia was double that which ruled in the eastern part of the kingdom. Before the epoch of railroads and the repeal of the Corn Laws the price of wheat ruled 150 per cent higher in England than in Hungary. The English and the Americans are the best-fed people of the present age, and therefore they are able to accomplish the greatest amount of work. The United States, it is said, consumes 120 lb. of meat per inhabitant; the United Kingdom, 110 lb.; France, 66 lb.; Switzerland, 51 lb.; Germany, 48 lb.; Scandinavia, 45 lb.; Russia, 44 lb.; the Low Countries, 40 lb.; Austria, 39 lb.; Spain, 29 lb.; Italy, 24 lb.; Portugal, 20 lb. The United Kingdom, the United States, and Russia consume each eight bushels of grain per inhabitant; France and Germany, each seven bushels; Austria, the Low Countries, and Spain, each six bushels; Italy, Switzerland, Scandinavia, and Portugal, each five bushels. The world consumes 38,500,000 tons of wheat yearly, and the wheat land of the world make up 105,000,000 acres. The supply and the demand are shown as follows:—

THE CENSUS OF FRANCE, 1881.

The official returns of the Census taken throughout France, December, 1881, differs slightly from those given out hurriedly soon after the operation. The total population of France, according to the present statistics, is 37,672,040, being an increase of 766,280 since 1876. This increase compares unfavourably with that effected in the four years preceding, which amounted to over 800,000. It is furthermore worthy of note that, to the increase of population during the five years from 1876 to 1881, the forty-seven large towns of France, having a population of over 50,000, contribute no less than 561,469. Six of these places show a decrease in their population. The city of Paris has increased the number of its inhabitants by 14 per cent since the last Census, the population now being 2,299,023.

The annexed Table shows the number of acres under cultivation in each of the following countries, the quantity of grain raised, the average yield per acre, and the yield per capita:—

Countries.	Acres under Grain.	Bushels.	Per Acre.	Per Male Pessant.
United States ...	118,000,000	2,698,000,000	23	503
Russia ...	158,000,000	1,595,000,000	10	156
Germany ...	43,000,000	980,000,000	23	245
France ...	40,000,000	840,000,000	21	220
Austria-Hungary ...	35,000,000	520,000,000	15	180
United Kingdom ...	12,500,000	455,000,000	36	540
Spain ...	15,000,000	300,000,000	20	160
Italy ...	18,000,000	270,000,000	15	140
Canada and Australia ...	14,000,000	140,000,000	10	350

It is estimated that the annual income of the United States of America from agricultural industries is nearly 3,000,000,000 dols.; that of France about 1,900,000,000 dols.; of Russia, 1,550,000,000 dols.; of Germany, 1,700,000,000 dols.; of the United Kingdom, 1,325,000,000 dols.; of Austria-Hungary, 1,315,000,000 dols.; of Italy, 710,000,000 dols.; of Spain and Portugal, 650,000,000 dols.; of Scandinavia, 390,000,000 dols.; and of the Low Countries, 375,000,000 dols., total, 13,215,000,000 dols. The total area of forest wealth of the United States, Russia, Germany, Austria, Canada, Scandinavia, France, Brazil, and El Gran Chaco is 2,760,000,000 acres, the total annual product from which is 780,000,000 dols., of which the United States produces over 50 per cent, or 385,000,000 M. Michel Chevalier estimates that at the period of the discovery of America the total amount of gold in Europe was only 60,000,000 dols., and of silver 110,000,000 dols. A new epoch occurred with the discovery of gold in California and Australia. The progress of this form of wealth is summarised as follows:—

Date	Gold	Silver	Total
	Dols.	Dols.	Dols.
1492	100,000,000	200,000,000	300,000,000
1700	1,135,000,000	2,600,000,000	3,735,000,000
1800	2,220,000,000	5,130,000,000	7,350,000,000
1848	2,800,000,000	6,610,000,000	9,410,000,000
1880	6,100,000,000	8,060,000,000	14,160,000,000

The United States stands first of all countries in the yield of precious metals and in the product of its manufactures. By a strange coincidence, the annual yield in California and that of Australia have averaged the same amount—namely, 45,000,000 dols.; and in each case the highest year reached 75,000,000 dols., the number of diggers being also nearly equal, and their gains averaging from 500 dols. to 750 dols. per man per annum. These are the changes of eighty years.

The following Table shows the wealth industries of the United States are greater in amount than those of any other country. —

Lyon is the second city of the Republic, with over 376,000 inhabitants, Marseilles coming next, with 360,000; then Bordeaux, with over 221,000. Lille has over 178,000; while Toulouse, Saint Etienne, Nantes, Havre, and Rouen all register six figures without exceeding 150,000. The increase in the population not living in the forty-seven principal towns is lamentably small, being only, as shown by the above figures, 204,391 for nearly 32,000,000 inhabitants.

COIN AND BULLION.

The total value of the registered imports of gold and silver coin and bullion in the year 1881 was £16,864,408, and the value having been £16,253,888 for 1880 an increase is shown of £610,520.

MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES OF NATIONS.

The march of civilisation has been, in the present century, to some degree identified with the progress of manufactures. The industries that now occupy 12,500,000 workmen in Europe were in their infancy at the period of Waterloo, and since that time the countries most advanced in manufactures have been the most prosperous. The United States, if the manufacture of flour is included, stands first of all countries in the world. The annual product is nearly 4½ billion dols., and it is not improbable that nearly 3,000,000 operatives are employed in its various industries. The product per operative, owing to the greater intelligence and skill of American artisans, is higher in the United States—namely, 1560 dols. for each; in the United Kingdom, 1120 dols.; in France, 1100 dols.; in Germany, 615 dols.; in Russia, 530 dols.; in Austria, 600 dols.; in the Low Countries, 500 dols.; in Spain and Portugal, 595 dols.; in Italy, 540 dols.; in Scandinavia, 450 dols.; in the Colonies, 500 dols. for each. The textile manufacturers employ 3,500,000 workmen. England, of course, stands first in this regard; but the United States holds the second position, and, as estimated, produced in 1880 a combined product of cotton and woollen goods valued at 420,000,000 dols., the total product for the world being 2,435,000,000 dols. The United States manufactures about one sixth of the entire textile product of the world. More than two-thirds of the world's cotton crop is grown in the United States, the product, according to the census of 1880, being 5,780,968 bales. The world's product of silk is estimated at 400,000,000 dols., and something over 500,000 operatives are employed in this industry. France leads with 170,000 operatives and a product of 240,000,000 dols. According to the report of Special Census Agent Vvaykoff, 34,440 persons are employed in the United States in the manufacture of silk, and the total value of the product is 34,410,468 dols., thus producing about 8 per cent of the total production of the world. In 1860 the iron-producing countries of the world manufactured about 4,360,000 tons of iron, of which but a little over 500,000 tons was produced by the United States. The construction of railways and the building of iron vessels have caused the production of iron to quadruple within thirty years, and to-day these countries produce upwards of 18,000,000 tons, 7,265,140 tons of which are produced in the United States. In 1880 the United States produced 741,475 tons of Bessemer steel rails, while the total product of the United Kingdom was only 732,910 tons. The United States to-day makes one-fourth of the world's iron and one-fifth of its steel. The total production of the iron and steel works of the United States in the Census year 1880 was 7,265,140 tons; in 1870 it was 3,655,215 tons; increase, 3,609,925 tons, or 98.76 per cent.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Jupiter on the morning of the 1st; she is near Venus on the 2nd; Mercury on the 3rd, the day of New Moon; she is near Saturn on the mornings of the 25th and 26th, being to the right of the planet on the 25th and to the left on the 26th. She is near Mars on the morning of the 27th, and near Jupiter on the morning of the 29th. Her phases or times of change are —

New Moon on the 3rd at 26 minutes after 1h in the morning.
 First Quarter „ 11th „ 29 „ „ 1 „ morning.
 Full Moon „ 18th „ 6 „ before 1 „ afternoon.
 Last Quarter „ 25th „ 32 „ after 5 „ morning.

She is furthest from the Earth on the morning of the 9th, and nearest to it on the morning of the 21st.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 8h 5m, or 19 minutes after sunset; this interval gradually increases to 40 minutes on the 19th, on which day the planet sets at 7h 53m p.m., and the interval after sunset slowly decreases to 36 minutes on the 29th, the planet setting at 7h 29m p.m. The planet is not well situated for observation throughout the month. He is near the Moon on the 3rd, and in his descending node on the 24th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 10th at 3h 31m a.m. on the 20th at 4h 2m a.m.; and on the 30th at 4h 33m a.m., or 37 minutes before the Sun. She is near the Moon on the 2nd, and in perihelion on the 22nd.

MARS rises on the 5th twice on the same day at 0h 2m a.m. and a second time at midnight; on the 8th he rises at 1h 55m p.m. on the 18th at 1h 41m p.m.; and on the 28th at 1h 28m p.m. and he is visible after these times throughout the night. He is due south on the 15th at 8h 2m a.m., in his ascending node on the 15th, and near the Moon on the 27th.

JUPITER rises on the 9th at 2h 14m a.m., on the 19th at 1h 46m a.m., and on the 29th at 1h 17m a.m. He is due south on the 16th at 9l. 59m a.m., and is near the Moon on the 1st and again on the 29th.

SATURN rises on the 8th at 1h 26m p.m., on the 18th at 10h 49m p.m., and on the 28th at 10h 12m p.m. He is due south on the 15th at 6h 56m a.m. He is near the bright star Aldebaran on the 13th, and near the Moon on the 17th.

A DAUGHTER OF EVE.
FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1883.

CITY OF LONDON PAROCHIAL CHARITIES.

The area of the city of London is 702 acres; its population was, in 1851, 181,127; in 1861, 114,089; in 1871, 76,286; in 1881, 50,578, and thus appears to be decreasing steadily and rapidly. Within this area there are 109 civil and 61 ecclesiastical parishes. In every one of these parishes there exist charities more or less closely connected with the parish church, or the parish as a whole. The property of these charities, consisting mainly of houses and land in the city and elsewhere, but to some extent also of Consols and other similar investments, is vested in trustees, sometimes in the incumbent and churchwardens, sometimes in private persons. In many instances the same persons are trustees of a number of different charities in the same parish; in other instances there are several sets of trustees in the same parish for its different charities. The total gross income of these parochial charities was, in 1865, £67,000; in 1875-6, £105,000; and in 1879-80, £117,000 per annum, and therefore appears to be increasing steadily and rapidly, just as the population declines. It is now more than £2 6s. for each inhabitant. There can be little doubt that under more energetic management it might soon be raised to £200,000.

A large part, nearly one half, of this income belongs to purposes which may be called ecclesiastical; of the other half a good deal is expended in doles or pensions; some in the apprenticeship of boys; some in education, and a very large sum, estimated at £10,000 a year, in the payment of poor rate, an application which is really not for the benefit of the poor.

As the income arises from a great number of small charities, each of which is managed by its own trustees, the expenses of management naturally bear a large proportion to the whole income; probably not far from 10 per cent of the total gross income goes in paying salaries, legal expenses, costs of feasts and refreshments, and other similar charges incidental to the administration of charity property.

The objects to which the charity property was directed by the founders to be applied have, in many cases, failed altogether. In other cases they have become of doubtful utility; in others the funds have so increased as to be out of all proportion to the trifling purposes for which they continue to be employed. In a great many instances they are spent in a way which experience has shown to be positively harmful—the bestowal, usually at the church, of doles of bread, coal, or clothing, a form of distribution which encourages pauperism and mendicancy. The expenditure on the poor rate is, of course, unjustifiable, and has been condemned by the Charity Commissioners.

Some light is thrown on the effect which the charities have had upon the welfare of the poor by the poor law returns, which show that, while in the metropolis generally the proportion of persons receiving outdoor relief to the whole population is 1 in 37, in the City it is 1 in 16; and that, while the average expenditure on outdoor relief is in the metropolis, 1s. 2½d. per head, in the City it is 4s. 4½d.

The amounts are given in round numbers and without the odd shillings and pence.

THE LONDON WATER COMPANIES.

The accounts of the London Water Companies are published in an irregular way. The Chelsea, Grand Junction, Lambeth, Southwark and Vauxhall, and West Middlesex Companies making up their accounts for the half-years to Sept. 30 and March 31, the Kent and New River Companies to June 30 and Dec. 31, and the East London Company to June 24 and Dec. 25.

In pursuance of the Metropolitan Water Act, 1871, and in the present aspect of the water question the information given in the Parliamentary Return is of special interest. The following was the amount of the water rates receivable for the two half-years by the eight companies: Chelsea, £101,466; East London, £217,857; Grand Junction, £148,579; Kent, £491,351; Lambeth, £164,523; New River, £127,367; Southwark and Vauxhall, £188,290; West Middlesex, £172,487. The total revenue receivable by the companies from water rates was, thus, £1,615,194, but they also derived revenue from interest and "rents and extra receipts," the latter item varying between £115 in the case of the Lambeth Company and £8738 in that of the New River Company, which possesses a large amount of land and house property. The cash balances of all the companies, including cash reserves brought forward, were considerable, being as follows: Chelsea, £36,748; East London, £39,378; Grand Junction, £40,419; Kent, £55,117; Lambeth, £55,101; New River, £260,077; Southwark and Vauxhall, £46,271; and West Middlesex, £118,578; or a total of £769,595. The principal item of expenditure was, of course, on maintenance of works and for pumping, and under this head the aggregate outlay of the companies was £248,737, divided as follows:—Chelsea, £15,661; East London, £36,018 (including £2252 for the reconstruction of filter beds); Grand Junction, £23,370; Kent, £14,181; Lambeth, £36,324; New River, £55,116; Southwark and Vauxhall, £17,407 (including £8778 balance of an amount due by revenue to capital); and West Middlesex, £20,037.

The sum paid for directors' "allowances" is an interesting item, the total amount paid by the eight companies for the year having been no less than £22,794, in the following proportions:—Chelsea, £1280; East London, £2148; Grand Junction, £1640; Kent, £2000; Lambeth, £1845; New River, £9119; Southwark and Vauxhall, £2050; and West Middlesex, £2401. With regard to the amount paid as interest and dividend on capital, the Chelsea Company paid on loan capital, £6825; the East London, £18,166; the Grand Junction, £9552; the Kent, £1733; the Lambeth, £8596; the New River, £43,644; and the Southwark and Vauxhall, £18,890, or a total of £107,775. The West Middlesex Company have no loan capital. Only two of the companies have preference share capital, the Chelsea and the Southwark and Vauxhall—and the amount paid by the former company as dividend on this capital was £18,075, and by the latter company, £24,490. The total amount paid by the companies as dividend on their ordinary share capital was £771,575, divided as follows:—Chelsea, £10,014; East London, £108,051; Grand Junction, £76,848; Kent, £57,579; Lambeth, £79,190; New River, £219,692; Southwark and Vauxhall, £65,779; and West Middlesex, £121,419. The total capital of the eight companies is £12,536,898, the proportion of share capital being £9,047,917 ordinary, and £374,200 preference, while the loan capital is represented by £2,522,000 of bonds, and £2,522,281 of debentures. The total capital of the respective companies is as follows:—Chelsea, £1,162,700; East London, £2,020,000; Grand Junction, £1,295,500; Kent, £399,878; Lambeth, £1,413,805; New River, £3,119,044; Southwark and Vauxhall, £1,790,000; and West Middlesex, £1,045,371. The total expenditure for works was £12,612,580, divided as follows:—Chelsea (to March 31, 1881), £1,149,157; East London (Dec. 31, 1880), £2,064,516; Grand Junction (March 31, 1881), £1,312,109; Kent (Dec. 31, 1880), £704,788 (including £75,684 discount on shares issued between 1869-88); Lambeth (March 31, 1881), £1,435,765; New River (Dec. 31, 1880), £3,132,501; Southwark and Vauxhall (March 31, 1881), £1,783,418; and West Middlesex (March 31, 1881), £1,080,353.

THE LONDON WATER SUPPLY.

With regard to the quality of the water supplied by the Metropolitan Water Companies, only a slight improvement can be reported; for the fact remains that the sewage of a million of the population residing on the drainage grounds above the intake of the Water Companies still finds its way, more or less directly, into the Thames.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

THE MOON is near Venus on the 1st, being the day of New Moon, she is near Mercury on the 2nd, she is near Saturn during the night common to the 18th and 19th, is near Jupiter and Mars on the morning of the 23rd, the planet Jupiter being between Mars and the Moon; on the 29th, the day before New Moon, she is near Mercury, and near Venus on the 31st. Her phases and times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 1st	at 54 minutes	after 5h	in the morning.
First Quarter	„ 9th	„ 20	„ 10	„ morning
Full Moon	„ 16th	„ 45	„ 6	„ morning
Last Quarter	„ 22nd	„ 19	„ 11	„ afternoon
New Moon	„ 30th	„ 57	„ 11	„ afternoon.

She is furthest from the Earth on the afternoon of the 3rd, and nearest it on the afternoon of the 16th, and again furthest from on the afternoon of the 30th.

MERCURY and the Sun rise nearly at the same time on the 7th, and after this day he is a morning star, rising on the 8th at 6h 1m a.m., or 13 minutes before the Sun rises; on the 13th at 5h 13m a.m., or 1h 9m before sunrise; on the 18th at 4h 49m a.m., on the 22nd at 4h 47m a.m., or 1h 49m before the Sun; this interval decreases to 1h 44m on the 27th, on which day this planet rises at 5h 2m a.m. He is near the Moon on the 2nd, near Venus on the 4th, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 7th, in his ascending node on the 12th, in perihelion on the 17th, at his greatest western elongation (18 deg. 16 min.) on the 22nd, and near the Moon on the 29th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 9th at 5h 34m p.m., or 14 minutes after the Sun; on the 19th at 5h 17m p.m., and on the 29th at 5h 3m p.m. She is near the Moon on the 1st, and again on the 31st.

MARS rises on the 7th at 10h 46m p.m., on the 17th at 10h 32m p.m., and on the 27th at 10h 20m p.m., and he is visible afterwards throughout the night. He is due south on the 15th at 6h 38m a.m. He is near Jupiter on the 19th, and near the Moon on the 23rd.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 7th at 11h 15m p.m., on the 17th at 10h 43m p.m., and on the 27th at 10h 8m p.m. He is due south on the 15th at 6h 45m a.m., is near the Moon on the 23rd, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 27th.

SATURN rises on the 7th at 7h 36m p.m., or 2h 11m after sunset; on the 17th at 6h 55m p.m., or 1h 53m after sunset; on the 27th at 6h 14m p.m., or 1h 33m after sunset. He is due south on the 15th at 3 a.m., and he is near the Moon on 19th.

WINE-GROWING INDUSTRIES.

Wine is looked upon as a requirement in civilised life, consequently vineyards are increasing every year. More 20,000,000 acres in Europe are under cultivation. France in the early part of the present century produced 800,000,000 gallons of wine yearly, but in later years the vintage has averaged 1,200,000,000, representing a value of 240,000,000 dols.; 94 per cent of which is kept for home consumption, and only 6 per cent exported. The new wine-growing countries of the world are the United States, Australia, and South Africa. The following Table shows the number of acres under cultivation, gallons produced, and yield in gallons per acre.

Countries.	Acres under Vine	Gallons	Gallons per Acre
United States	130,000	21,800,000	160
Australia	15,000	1,800,000	120
South Africa	18,000	4,500,000	250

Spirits are largely consumed in countries where the supply of wine is deficient, and it is claimed that the consumption of this kind of liquor is increasing faster than the population. In 1869 the United States produced 190,603,706 gallons of fermented liquors, last year no less than 413,760,410 gallons were produced, and only 1,000,000 gallons imported, the total consumption exceeding 414,000,000.

The imports of Wine into England have fallen from 17,385,000 gallons in 1880 to 16,297,000 in 1881, or 6.2 per cent. The decrease is principally confined to white wine, the import of red wine being comparatively unaffected, being for 1880 and 1881 respectively 9,567,000 gallons and 9,528,000 gallons.

The decrease in the importation of Spirits into England taken collectively for 1880 show 10,050,000 gallons, those of 1881 of 8,492,000, a decrease of 1,558,000 gallons, or 15.5 per cent. Of this total decrease a diminished importation of brandy accounts for 655,000 gallons, and of rum there has been a decrease of 1,380,000. Geneva and plain spirits show an increase on the year of 380,000 gallons. Other mixed spirits have increased to the extent of 7,000 gallons.

SUMMARY OF AGRICULTURAL RETURNS OF ENGLAND.

The Agricultural Returns of Great Britain in the autumn of 1882 show there was an increase in the area under wheat of 198,106 acres, or about 7 per cent, as compared with the acreage of 1881. There was also an increase in the acreage of hops amounting to 733 acres, or about 1 per cent. In the case of barley, however, there was a diminution of 187,195 acres, or 7½ per cent; while the acreage under oats is 67,460, or 2½ per cent less; and the acreage under potatoes is 38,270, or 6½ per cent less. No information was given as to the cultivation of turnips and swedes. The following were the actual figures given in the return, those for 1872 being added by way of comparison. The returns for 1872 were made as on June 25, while those for this year referred to June 5, and those for 1881 and 1880 to June 1:

	1872.	1880.	1881.	1882.
Wheat	3,598,957	2,904,438	2,805,806	3,003,915
Barley	2,916,332	2,467,411	2,442,334	2,265,150
Oats	2,705,837	2,796,905	2,901,275	2,639,815
Potatoes	564,088	559,032	579,834	541,064
Hops	61,927	66,698	64,943	65,677

The return also gave the total number of live stock in Great Britain on June 5 this year and June 4, 1881, and 1880, the figures being as follows—

	1882.	1881.	1880.
Sheep	15,571,904	16,143,151	17,188,011
Lambs	8,716,811	8,437,902	9,433,089
Total Sheep and Lambs	24,288,715	24,581,053	26,621,100
Cattle	5,807,591	5,911,642	5,912,046
Pigs	2,510,371	2,048,000	2,300,842

The figures for 1882 showed, when compared with 1881, an increase of 308,012, or 3½ per cent, in lambs, and of 462,284, or 22½ per cent, in pigs; but a decrease of 101,051, or 1½ per cent, in cattle, and of 571,187, or 3½ per cent, in sheep. The falling off in sheep and cattle may be said to be serious, and is hardly compensated for by an increase in pigs. There are very many persons, no doubt, who will find comfort in the fact that the area under wheat has increased. We have this year 3,003,915 acres under this cereal, as against 2,805,806 acres in 1881, and 2,909,488 acres in 1880. As compared with last year, this shows an increase of 198,106 acres, or 7½ per cent, while as compared with two years ago, the increase is one of 94,477 acres, or 3½ per cent. For very many years past we have been too apt to judge the state of our agriculture to too great an extent by the area under wheat. But whilst the area under permanent pasture may have increased, the live stock required to convert the succulent grasses and clovers into a marketable commodity are gradually decreasing. In 1880 we had 5,912,046 head of cattle, in 1881 5,911,642, and 1882 but 5,807,591. As compared with the previous year this decrease is 104,051 head, or 1½ per cent, while the decrease on two years is 104,455, or a little over 1½ per cent. Sheep and lambs also show a decrease. Our flocks numbered 26,619,050 in 1880, and in 1881 totalled 24,581,053. In the year 1882 the figures were 24,288,715, the decrease being one of 232,275, or 1½ per cent, and for the two years the decrease was one of 2,300,272, or 8½ per cent.

During the last century the average consumption of meat in Europe was only 25 lb. per head yearly, or less than half what it is at the present. As Europe is no longer able to raise enough cattle for her proportion, an extra supply is drawn from North America, which is consumed chiefly in Great Britain. The shipments of cattle and meat from the United States in 1880 exceeded a value of 25,000,000 dollars. The three great pasture-farms destined to feed Europe with meat are the United States, the River Plate, in South America, and Australia. These countries, it is said, could easily export 10,000,000 cows and 60,000,000 sheep annually without reducing the number of their stock.

WAR!!

Oh World!

Oh Men, what are ye and our best Designs,
That we must Work by Crime to Punish Crime,
And Slay as if Death had but this one Gate?—BYRON.

WHAT IS MORE TERRIBLE THAN WAR?

THE COST OF WAR.—"Give me the money that has been spent in war and I will purchase every foot of land upon the globe; I will clothe every man, woman, and child in an attire of which kings and queens would be proud; I will build a school-house on every hill-side and in every valley over the whole earth; I will build an academy in every town, and endow it a college in every state, and will fill it with able professors; I will crowd every hill with a place of worship consecrated to the promulgation of the gospel of peace; I will support in every pulpit an able teacher of righteousness, so that on every Sabbath morning the chime on one hill should answer to the chime on another round the earth's wide circumference, and the voice of prayer and the song of praise should ascend like a universal holocaust to heaven."—RICHARD.

"I WILL TELL YOU WHAT IS TEN TIMES AND TEN THOUSAND TIMES MORE TERRIBLE THAN WAR—OUTRAGED NATURE. SHE KILLS AND KILLS, and is NEVER TIRED OF KILLING, TILL SHE HAS TAUGHT MAN THE TERRIBLE LESSON HE IS SO SLOW TO LEARN, THAT NATURE IS ONLY CONQUERED BY OBEYING HER. Man has his courtesies of war—he spares the woman and the child; but Nature is fierce when she is offended, as she is bounteous and kind when she is obeyed. She spares neither woman nor child. She has no pity; for some awful but most good reason, she is not allowed to have any pity. Silently she strikes the sleeping child, with as little remorse as she would strike the strong man, with the musket or the pickaxe in his hand. Ah! would to God that some man had the pictorial eloquence to put before the mothers of England the mass of preventible suffering—the mass of preventible agony of mind and body—which exists in England!"—KINGSLEY.

With each Bottle of ENO'S FRUIT SALT is given a large Illustrated Sheet showing how to stamp out disease.

NAUSEOUS DRUGS.—TO PARENTS.—

This preparation is invaluable in the Nursery as a gentle laxative; it is pleasant to the taste, and much superior to senna or other nauseous drugs; it corrects the ill-effects of over-eating or exhaustion, and is extremely beneficial in any feverishness or heat of the skin. The Howels ought to be kept free by the FRUIT SALT for a month or six weeks after eruptive diseases, as Measles, Scarlet Fever, Chicken-Pox, Smallpox, and all fevers or infectious diseases, &c.

BILE OR YELLOW TINGE OF THE SKIN.

FEVERS, BLOOD POISONS, &c., LOW SPIRITS, LOSS OF APPETITE, and other Diseases are caused by the Bile not being withdrawn from the blood by the healthy action of the liver. The great success of ENO'S FRUIT SALT has firmly established the fact that it promotes the separation of the bile from the blood (by natural means), which is then passed from the system, thus preventing and curing Fevers, Blood Poisons, and other diseases.

JEOPARDY OF LIFE.

THE GREAT DANGER OF DELAY.

YOU CAN CHANGE THE TRICKLING STREAM BUT NOT THE RAGING TORRENT.

WHAT EVERYBODY SHOULD READ.—

How important it is to every individual to have at hand some simple, effective, and palatable remedy such as ENO'S FRUIT SALT, to check disease at the onset! For this is the time. With very little trouble you can change the course of the trickling mountain stream, but not the rolling river. It will defy all your tiny efforts. I feel I cannot sufficiently impress this important information upon all householders, or Ship Captains, or Europeans generally, who are visiting or residing in any hot or foreign climate. Whenever a change is contemplated, likely to disturb the condition of health, let ENO'S FRUIT SALT be your companion, for under any circumstances its use is beneficial, and never can do harm. When you feel out of sorts, yet unable to say why, frequently without any warning you are suddenly seized with lassitude, disinclination for bodily or mental exertion, loss of appetite, sickness, pain in the forehead, dull aching of back and limbs, coldness of the surface, and often shivering, &c., then your whole body is out of order, the spirit of danger has been kindled, but you do not know where it may end; it is a real necessity to have a simple remedy at hand, that will answer the very best end, with a positive assurance of doing good in every case, and in no case any harm. The Pilot can so steer and direct as to bring the ship into safety, but he can not quell the raging storm. The common idea when not feeling well is—"I will wait and see; perhaps I shall be better to-morrow." whence, had a supply of ENO'S FRUIT SALT been at hand, and use made of it at the onset, all calamitous results might have been avoided. What dashes to the earth so many hopes, breaks so many sweet alliances, blasts so many auspicious enterprises, as untimely death?

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—"After suffering for nearly two and a half years from severe headache and disordered stomach, and after trying almost everything, and spending much money without finding any benefit, I was recommended by a friend to try ENO'S FRUIT SALT. and before I had finished one bottle I found it doing me a great deal of good, and now I am restored to my usual health; and others I know that have tried it have not enjoyed such good health for years—Yours most truly, ROBERT HUMPHREYS, Post Office, Barrasford."

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—"14, Rue de la Paix, Paris.—A gentleman called in yesterday. He is a constant sufferer from chronic dyspepsia, and has taken all sorts of mineral waters. I recommended him to give your SALT a trial, which he did, and received great benefit. He says he never knew what it was to be without pain until he tried your SALT, and for the future shall never be without it in the house.—M. BEAL."

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—It is the best Preventive of and Cure for Biliousness, Sick Headache, Skin Eruptions, Pimples on the Face, Giddiness, Feverishness or Feverish Colds, Mental Depression, Want of Appetite, Constipation, Vomiting, Thirst, &c., and to remove the effects of Errors of Eating and Drinking. It is invaluable to those who are Fagged, Weary, or Worn Out, or anyone whose duties require them to undergo Mental or Unnatural Excitement or Strain. If its great value in keeping the body in health were universally known, no family would be without it.

SUCCESS IN LIFE.—"A new invention is brought before the public and commands success. A score of abominable imitations are immediately introduced by the unscrupulous, who, in copying the original closely enough to deceive the public, and yet not so exactly as to infringe upon legal rights, exercise an ingenuity that, employed in an original channel, could not fail to secure reputation and profit."—ADAMS.

CAUTION.—Examine each Bottle, and see the Capsule is marked "ENO'S FRUIT SALT." Without it you have been imposed on by worthless imitations. SOLD BY ALL CHEMISTS. Price 2s. 9d. and 4s. 6d.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

are prepared from a highly-esteemed recipe for alleviating Bronchial Affections, Asthma, Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, and Irritation or Soreness of the Throat. Public Speakers and Vocalists will find them beneficial in clearing the voice before speaking or singing, and relieving the throat after any unusual exertion of the vocal organs, having a peculiar adaptation to affections which disturb the organs of speech. Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough or "slight cold" in its first stages. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES are most valuable when coughs, colds, bronchitis, influenza, hoarseness, and sore throat are prevalent. The Troches give sure and almost immediate relief. Sold by all Medicine Vendors throughout the world at 1s. 1½d. per Box. London Dépôt, Farringdon-road.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH,

should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless, and very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is sold by thousands of Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world at 1s. 1½d. per Bottle, and Millions of Mothers can testify to its virtue.

"FLORILINE,"

FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH, is the best liquid dentifrice in the world; it thoroughly cleanses partially decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animulcula," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The FRAGRANT FLORILINE removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke; being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants, it is perfectly harmless and delicious as sherry. For children or adults whose teeth show marks of decay its advantages are paramount. The FLORILINE should be thoroughly brushed into all the cavities. No one need fear using it too often, or too much at a time. The taste is so pleasing that, instead of taking up the tooth-brush with dislike, as is often the case, children will on no account omit to use the FLORILINE regularly every morning, if only left to their choice. Children cannot be taught the use of the tooth-brush too young; early neglect invariably produces premature decay of the teeth. Sold by all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the world at 2s. 6d. per Bottle. "FLORILINE" POWDER put up in large glass Jars, price 1s. Sold Wholesale by the Anglo-American Drug Company (Limited), Farringdon-road, London.

THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER.

If your Hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," for it will positively restore, in every case, Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the Hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promotes the growth of the Hair on bald spots where the glands are not decayed. Mr. NATHAN BERRY, Chemist, Walkden, writes:—"One of my customers told me the other day he had had grey hair for thirty-five years, and after using one bottle of 'THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER' I sold him, it was restored to and kept its natural colour." Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," Sold by Medicine Dealers and Perfumers everywhere, at 3s. 6d. per Bottle; and Wholesale by the Anglo-American Drug Company (Limited), Farringdon-road, London.

TRY YOUR WEIGHT!

HYDROLEINE (HYDRATED OIL)

has proved of the highest value in CONSUMPTION, and all Wasting Diseases, invariably producing increase in flesh and weight. This preparation of Hydrated Cod-Liver Oil is tonic, digestive, and ten times more strengthening and nourishing, as well as far more pleasant to taste, than plain Cod-Liver Oil. HYDROLEINE may be described as partially digested oil, which will nourish and produce increase in weight in those cases where oils or fat, not so treated, are difficult or impossible to digest. All tendency to Emaciation and Loss of Weight is arrested by the regular use of HYDROLEINE, which may be discontinued when the usual average weight has been permanently acquired. Of all Chemists, 4s. 6d. A single bottle will be sent, carriage-paid, on receipt of P.O.O. for 5s., payable to W. RENAUD, Secretary. The Anglo-American Drug Company (Limited), Farringdon-road, London.

WHAT AMOUNT OF SUFFERING COULD BE AVOIDED IF WE ONLY KNEW HOW!

It is often remarked how many more people than formerly complain of feeling unwell. It is not that there is a greater amount of contagious disease about, for there is proof that the extent and strength of such are far less than of yore, because of better sanitary arrangements and greater attention to cleanliness and other matters. The enormous prevalence cannot be doubted of pains in the back, side, and chest; enervated and languid feelings, with loss of energy; distress and fullness of the stomach, with often a sense of deadly faintness at its pit, which eating does not stay; sick headache, so-called biliousness; unpleasant breath; a sense of weariness when rising in the morning, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth; and the loss of appetite or non-enjoyment of food. These are but the mildest effects of "feeling unwell," and yet how great is the distress and suffering, with hindrance to business and pleasure, they give rise to. The cause is not far to seek; it lies in the stomach and digestive organs, which have become impaired, to the distress of nearly all the other functions of the body. Assuredly, could the stomach always be kept in well-regulated condition through life, it would tend to far greater longevity than is now the case. The stomach is a wheel within wheels; and, just as an erratic tendency on the part of a small but still important wheel of a clock leads to the disarrangement of its whole function as a timekeeper, so does the failure of so important a wheel as the digestive organs in the mechanism of the human frame throw, by their impaired vigour or inaction, all the parts depending on them—and they are legion—out of gear. Just as the wheels of the clock will require to be adjusted that accurate time may be kept, so must the impaired organs of the stomach be restored to their original vigour. Digestion must be promoted by increasing the flow and strength of the gastric juice, and this "Seigel's Curative Syrup" will effectually do. It will impart strength to the stomach, invigorate the liver, and impart tone to the bowels, to the greater enjoyment of life and health of all who use it; and that it is so may be tested by a perusal of the Testimonials in an Almanack, which will be furnished free of charge to any applicant by the Proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, 21, Farringdon-road, London, E.C. The Syrup can be obtained from any Chemist or Medicine-Vender.

"31, Albion-road, Woolwich, Kent, April 9, 1880.

"To A. J. White, Esq.—Sir,—I beg to inform you that I have been suffering for some time from general inward weakness and an all-gone sinking feeling of the chest and stomach, with a great deal of pain after eating. I had consulted doctors, and had taken several bottles of their medicine, both in Ireland and England, but without any good result. It seems to me that all they tried to do was to get all my money. A friend of mine advised me to try a bottle of your truly valuable Curative Syrup, which, I am happy to say, I did, and after the first two or three doses I felt great relief, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I had quite lost all symptoms of my old ailment; and from the very great good I have derived from it I have recommended it to many of my friends with all confidence, who have tried it with satisfactory results.

"I am, Sir, yours ever gratefully,

"ANNIE McCOMBE."

Cure of Rheumatism and Dropsy.

"Cowper-street, California, Ipswich, June 27, 1878.

"Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in informing you that after taking Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup I am quite restored to health, after suffering for four years from the most excruciating pains. At times I could not move in my bed from rheumatism and dropsy, but now, although I am sixty-three years of age, I am able to work and walk free from pain. I send you this that you may let any of my fellow-sufferers know the great benefit I have received after taking your valuable medicine. I found great relief after taking it for two days; and I am sure no one could have been a greater sufferer than myself.—Yours truly,

"Mr. A. J. White."

"CHARLES SLATE."

Discharged from the Infirmary as Incurable.

"West Wylam-terrace, Prudhoe-on-Tyne, July 3, 1879.

"Dear Sir,—Enclosed is P.O.O., and I may inform you that the 'Curative Syrup' I got from you is no stranger in my house; my wife has taken two bottles for liver complaint, and it has done her a great deal of good; but a far more wonderful cure than any I know of is that of one of my sons, a lad aged eighteen years, who is a living witness to its efficacy. For eleven years he was in a fearful state from running ulcers about the neck and chest. I had him in the Infirmary at Newcastle, and he was discharged as incurable, and feared that he would live but a short and miserable life.

"I was persuaded to give him your medicine, amendment was rapid, and after taking four bottles the ulcers had entirely disappeared, and his skin, once rough and scurvy, is now clear and healthy as one could wish to see. You are at liberty to publish this, as my son can be seen any day at work, and such a wonderful medicine and cures cannot be too widely known.—Thanking you for your kindness, I remain, yours truly,

"JAMES GIBSON."

"To Mr. R. Wright, Chemist, Byker, Newcastle-on-Tyne."

Mr. J. B. Senior, Chemist, Kirkgate, Wakefield, writes, Dec. 15, 1880:—"I have sold a great number of bottles, and numbers of patients speak wonders of it. The above is the truth in regard to Seigel's Syrup."

"St. Mary's-street, Peterborough, Nov. 29, 1881.

"Sir,—It gives me great pleasure to inform you of the benefit I have received from Seigel's Syrup. I have been troubled for years with dyspepsia, but after a few doses of the Syrup I found relief, and after taking two bottles of it I feel quite cured. I am, Sir, yours truly,

"Mr. A. J. White."

"WILLIAM BRENT."

Disordered Liver.

"Prospect House, Bidport, Dorset, Dec. 22, 1879.

"My dear Sir,—I have for years suffered more or less from, to me, an unknown cause, but which from diagnosis I imagined to arise from disordered liver. Digestion was often extremely difficult, and consequently my appetite was much affected. Various medicines, so called, I have repeatedly tried, but failed to derive anything beyond a temporary benefit. I was induced by your agent to give the 'Curative Syrup' a trial; and after taking the contents of one bottle I invested in another, which is yet scarcely finished.

"I am more than happy to be able to testify to the curative properties of the compound. That languid feeling which formerly unfitted me for business I have not yet since experienced, and, indeed, feel altogether a different being.—I am, Sir, yours very faithfully,

"RICHARD EBDON, Journalist."

"A. J. White, Esq."

Complete Cure of Fits.

"19, Brackley-street, Sheffield, Dec. 10, 1880.

"Dear Sir,—I procured from your establishment about two years ago two half-crown bottles of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup for severe attacks of fits, which troubled me both night and day for many years. I am now very thankful to say completely cured, not having had any return of one for two years. It gives me great pleasure to bear testimony to such a valuable and excellent medicine, and all I can say is no household should be without it.—I am, yours truly,

"FRANCIS CHORLETON."

"To Mr. Wood, Chemist, Bridgehouses, Sheffield."

"East-street Mills, East-street, Cambridge Heath, London, E.C., July 24, 1882.

"Sir,—It gives me great pleasure to be able to add my testimony in favour of your valuable Syrup as a curative agent. I had suffered for some length of time from a severe form of indigestion, and the long train of distressing symptoms following that disease. I had tried all possible means to get relief, by seeking the best medical advice. I had swallowed sufficient of their stuff to float a man-of-war, so to speak, but all to no avail. A friend of mine, coming on the scene in the midst of my sufferings, brought with him a bottle of your Seigel's Syrup; he advised me to try it, stating he felt confident it would benefit me. Being weary of trying so many drugs, I condemned it before trial, thinking it could not possibly do me any good, but ultimately determined to take the Syrup. After doing so for a short time, it worked such a change in me that I continued taking it for nearly two months, and I then felt thoroughly cured, for I have discontinued its use for five weeks, and feel in the best of health, and can partake of any kind of food with ease and comfort. I am therefore thankful to you that, through the instrumentality of your valuable medicine, I am restored to the state of health I now enjoy.—
Yours truly,
W. S. FORSTER.

"To Mr. A. J. White."

"129, Chatham-street, Old Kent-road, London, S.E.
Aug. 19, 1882.

"Gentlemen,—Three years ago I suffered from Paralysis following after Sciatica. I was in hospital, and was thoroughly examined by several eminent doctors, who said it was loss of muscle power, and recommended me to try galvanism: I did so, but without permanent effect. One day, a friend of mine, a herbalist, told me that my disease arose from the digestive organs. I can see, said he, without an examination, that the food does not digest properly, consequently there is not a sufficient supply of blood to the heart, and the blood is not forced into the limbs, and they become cold and dead. A short time after I met another friend who had recently been ailing. I asked him how it was he looked so well, and he told me he had been using Seigel's Curative Syrup. I determined to try this medicine, which I had formerly laughed at, and purchased a bottle of it, and found a wonderful change almost at once; the blood flowed into my limbs and I felt warm and vigorous, whereas before I could not get warm even in the height of summer. I persevered in taking it, and am now recovered completely. I was formerly quite helpless, but can now lift a good weight. I feel as if I had a new lease of life, and have recommended it to many of my friends. You may use this testimonial if you wish to do so.—
Yours truly,
(Signed) CHARLES MOORE."

To A. J. White, Limited.

The following are extracts from letters received since Jan. 1, 1882, from well-known chemists in this country, testifying to the merits of our medicines. These gentlemen would not risk their own reputations by recommending worthless articles, nor would they make these statements unless they had knowledge of the facts.

THOMAS DALE, Upperbridge, Holmfirth—"Your Curative Syrup sells wonderfully well, and gives every satisfaction."

W. WILKINSON, Rushden, Higham Ferrers—"I find increased demand for large size, which shows it finds favour with the people."

J. M. CLENNELL, 52, Derby-street, Newcastle—"I know of instances where it has not merely relieved, but actually cured, after using it two or three months, but testimonials are, I believe, often withheld from a false delicacy of allowing the names to be made public."

GEORGE DRURY, Southwell—"Though I have been a patent medicine seller now over thirty years, yet I never knew such a run on any medicine before as I have had on yours, and many persons have told me of the benefit they have derived from it. My brother in Lincoln says the same. The sale is wonderful."

THOMAS MILLER, Wednesfield—"Your medicines have given great satisfaction in this district, and many of my customers speak highly of Mother Seigel's Syrup."

G. H. WHITE, 39, Commercial-street, Mountain Ash—"I can personally testify to the merits of your medicines."

P. S. BALLARD, Wootton Bassett—"I have met with some really astonishing cures performed by Seigel's Syrup, and I recommend it to all of my customers."

WM. FLOWER, Beccles—"It is not my habit to recommend any patent medicine to my customers in individual cases, but always have a good word to say for Mother Seigel when my opinion is asked."

JAMES FISHER EDISBURY, M.P.S., 3, High-street, Wrexham—"I have recommended Seigel's Syrup, as my personal and relative experience of its merits are indisputable."

W. H. HEWERT, West Cowes, I.W.—"Your medicines I have a large sale for—a sale which most certainly does not decrease now that the novelty is wearing off, which speaks well for its real merits."

W. S. GLASS, Frickheim—"It is about the only genuine patent medicine in the market."

EDWARD TAMPLIN, Kingston-upon-Thames—"The sale of your Syrup is sustained by its own merits."

J. H. EVANS, Market Cross, Lynnm—"I have received several very flattering reports of the benefits derived from the use of 'Mother Seigel's Syrup and Pills,' which are at all times to me a source of much greater pleasure than any pecuniary advantage, as I can conceive of no greater pleasure in this life than that of being instrumental in relieving the sorrows of suffering humanity."

B. W. ROULSTON, 39, Aire-street, Goole—"The medicine, it sells itself; all we have to do is to make it known, and it makes its own way."

JOHN BAIR, 7, Patrick-street, Cork—"I know the Syrup to be an exceedingly useful family medicine."

J. SAVAGE, 27, High-street, Montrose—"In all experience 'Seigel's Syrup' has had the largest sale and the most satisfactory. As a rule, I never recommend any such proprietary articles to my customers, but in the case of Seigel's Syrup I now unhesitatingly do so, as very many cases have come under my own personal observation of the benefits arising from its use."

HENRY TAFFE, Waterloo-place, Londonderry—"I have so frequently had favourable accounts of it from persons who had used it, that I recommend it on all occasions when I am asked for something for indigestion."

JOHN ARCHER, Harthill, near Sheffield—"I can confidently recommend it to all who may be suffering from liver or stomach complaints, having the testimony of my customers, who have derived great benefit from the Syrup and Pills. The sale is increasing wonderfully."

Geo. A. WEBB, 141, York-street, Belfast—"I have sold a large quantity, and the parties have testified to its being what you represent it."

J. S. METCALFE, 55, Highgate, Kendal—"I have always great pleasure in recommending the Curative Syrup, for I have never known a case in which it has not either relieved or cured; and I have sold many grosses."

N. DARROLD, Clun, Salop—"All who buy it are pleased and recommend it."

JOS. BULKWILL, A.P.S., Kingsbridge—"The public seem to appreciate their great value."

H. ARMISTEAD, Market-street, Dalton-in-Furness—"It is needless for me to say that your valuable medicines have great sale in this district—greater than any other I know of, giving great satisfaction."

ROBT. LANE, Melksham—"I can well recommend the Curative Syrup, from having proved its efficacy for indigestion myself."

J. W. HUKES, Chester—"I shall certainly do my best to encourage the sale of Seigel's Syrup, as I firmly believe it to be a most valuable remedy for dyspepsia, if I am to believe the voluntary testimony of my own wife, several friends, and a host of my customers."

SEIGEL'S OPERATING PILLS move the bowels with more ease than any others. They never gripe, nor cause any pain or distress. They act mildly, but thoroughly.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.
This wonderful remedy was discovered by Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE, and the word Chlorodyne coined by him expressly to designate it. There never has been a remedy so vastly beneficial to suffering humanity, and it is a subject of deep concern to the public that they should not be imposed upon by having imitations pressed upon them on account of cheapness, and as being the same thing. Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is a totally distinct thing from the spurious compounds called Chlorodyne, the use of which only ends in disappointment and failure.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is a LIQUID MEDICINE which

ASSUAGES PAIN of EVERY KIND, affords a calm, refreshing sleep, WITHOUT HEADACHE, and INVIGORATES the NERVOUS SYSTEM when exhausted.

GREAT SPECIFIC for CHOLERA, DYSENTERY, DIARRHŒA.

The GENERAL BOARD of HEALTH, London, REPORT that it ACTS as a CHARM, one dose generally sufficient.

Dr. GIBBON, Army Medical Staff, Calcutta, states:—"TWO DOSES COMPLETELY CURED ME of DIARRHŒA."

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE rapidly cuts short all attacks of EPILEPSY, SPASMS, COLIC,
PALPITATION, HYSTERIA.

is the TRUE PALLIATIVE in
NEURALGIA, GOUT, CANCER.
TOOOTHACHE, RHEUMATISM.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.
The IMMENSE SALE of this REMEDY has given rise to many UNSCRUPULOUS IMITATIONS.
NB.—EVERY BOTTLE OF GENUINE CHLORODYNE BEARS on the GOVERNMENT STAMP the NAME of the INVENTOR.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE.
Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each Bottle.

A MOST VALUABLE AND USEFUL HOUSEHOLD MEDICINE.

WHELPTON'S

Are one of those rare Medicines which for their extraordinary properties have gained an almost UNIVERSAL REPUTATION.
 During a period of nearly FIFTY Years they have been used most extensively as a Family Medicine, thousands have found them a simple and safe remedy, and one needful to be kept always at hand. These Pills are purely Vegetable, being entirely free from Mercury or any other Mineral; and those who may not have hitherto proved their efficacy will do well to give them a trial. Recommended for disorders of the HEAD,
CHEST, BOWELS, LIVER, and KIDNEYS; also in RHEUMATISM,
ULCERS, SORES, and all SKIN DISEASES—these Pills being a Direct Purifier of the Blood.

ONE DOSE rapidly removes the terrible pains arising from NEURALGIA in the Head, FACEACHE and TOOTHACHE (even when proceeding from a decayed tooth, rendering extraction unnecessary.)

Is a new discovery, quite harmless when taken as directed, absolutely free from Morphia, Opium, or any preparation of the kind; and the proprietors have every confidence in recommending it to the public as a most valuable medicine for safely, speedily, and certainly curing one of the most common but painful classes of disease. It is not pretended to be a cure for every ache and pain, but a positive and scientific mode of relieving Neuralgia in the Head, Face, and Teeth, popularly known as "Tic."

TIKHEEL at once removes the Toothache to which Females are at times so peculiarly subject. All chemists can procure this medicine from their wholesale house. Do not be persuaded to "Try something else."

Prices 3s. 6d. Wholesale and Retail Agents: Butler and Crisp, 4,

ARTIFICIAL EYES, LEGS, ARMS, & HANDS. GROSSMITH'S

PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL LEGS—with patent action
 Knee and Ankle Joints—enable the patient to walk, sit,
 or ride with ease and comfort, wherever amputated.
 They are lighter in weight, less expensive, and more durable than any self-acting Leg hitherto introduced, and are worn by Ladies and Children with perfect safety.
 They were awarded the highest medals at the London and Paris Great International Exhibitions, and pronounced by the Surgical Juries to be "excellent in manufacture, well constructed, and on a system superior to all others."

The PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL EYES have now been brought to the greatest perfection, and are so easy of adaptation that they are fitted in a few minutes, without pain or operation, in any case where sight has been lost. The colours are perfectly matched, and a movement obtained precisely in accordance with the action of the natural eye. They are the only Artificial Eyes which have been awarded Prize Medals at the Great International Exhibitions of London, Paris, and Dublin.

 ESTABLISHED 1760.

DRS. PROUT, MORGAN, TURLEY, GIBBON, SPARKS, DOWSING, STEVENS, and many other Medical Gentlemen, have given unqualified testimony to the importance of the discovery and the great value of

LAMPLOUGH'S PYRETIC SALINE,

as possessing elements most essential to the restoration and maintenance of Health with perfect Vigour of Body and Mind.
It is effervescent and tasteless, forming a most invigorating, vitalising, and refreshing beverage.

Gives instant relief in HEADACHE, SEA or BILIOUS SICKNESS, CONSTIPATION, INDIGESTION, LASSITUDE, HEARTBURN, and FEVERISH COLDS; prevents and quickly relieves or cures the worst form of TYPHUS, SCARLET, and other FEVERS, SMALLPOX, MEASLES, and ERUPTIVE or SKIN COMPLAINTS, and various other altered conditions of the blood.

Dr. ALEX. MITCHELL—"In searching for the best combination of Salines we alighted on that of Mr. Lamplough. Its utility as a remedy in fevers and as a cooling drink in diseases of children, such as Scarlet Fever, Measles, &c., has been testified to by the leading members of the profession." "I prescribe it also to my patients frequently."—May 19, 1880.

THOMAS CARR JACKSON, Esq., F.R.C.S., and Surgeon to the Great Northern Hospital, London.—"I have no hesitation in recommending the compound of Mr. Lamplough's Saline Pyretic. I am in the habit of prescribing it largely, its composition being known to me; and I have every reason to be satisfied with it. It is beautifully prepared, and can be used at a moment's notice without trouble.

CAUTION.—Beware of spurious Salines and Effervescent Salts containing injurious elements put forward by unprincipled persons.

In Patent Glass Stoppered Bottles, 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., 11s., and 21s. each.

May be obtained of any Chemist; or of the Proprietor, H. LAMPLOUGH, 113, Holborn, London.

The popularity Pepsine has acquired as almost a specific for chronic Dyspepsia, Indigestion, &c., is due to the fact that it is the nearest possible production of the active principle of the gastric juice of the stomach. Unfortunately, like all other inventions of a like nature, Pepsine has been not slightly discredited by the spurious manufactures that have been issued from time to time; it is therefore necessary, as a guarantee of its efficacy, to see that each bottle bears the makers' name,

"NO AFTER TASTE"

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE,

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY TRUE,

is allowed to be the greatest discovery of the present century, and is largely employed by the most eminent Medical Men, in hospital and private practice, in all parts of the world, and is justly considered to be a remedy of intrinsic value, and of varied adaptability, possessing most valuable properties, and producing curative effects quite unequalled in the whole Materia Medica.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too-often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause; allays the irritation of fever; soothes the system under exhausting disease; and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

"Mr. R. Freeman.

"Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure that I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of Special Service to me in alleviating the wearisome Spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne.

Yours faithfully,

"The Divisional Head-Quarters Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul."

"Head-Quarters Staff, Cabul, May 5, 1880.

THE "TIMES," AUGUST 13, 1877.
From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army.

"The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected Miraculous Cures."

From MONS. BONJOUR BARTHELEMY, Delegate of the Society for the Relief of the Wounded, Decorated with the Cross of the Convention of Geneva.

"I hereby attest that the Chlorodyne manufactured by RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, of London, is the best remedy against CHOLERA and DYSENTERY, and further affirm, as Director of the Anglo-American Ambulance, and of French prisoners during the War of 1870 to 1871, that a large number of those under my care were attacked with Dysentery, and that by means of his Chlorodyne they were in a few days perfectly cured.

(Signed) BONJOUR BARTHELEMY."

IMPORTANT CAUTION.

Four Chancery Suits terminated in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL Chlorodyne, and against J. Collis Browne and J. T. Davenport. Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, and Lord Justice Mellish condemned their proceedings, and ordered them to pay all costs of the suits.—Reported in the "Times" and other Newspapers, April 29 and July 24, 1873.

None genuine without the words, "Freeman's Original Chlorodyne," engraved on the Government Stamp.

Never before in the history of the Cutlery trade has such an offer been made to the British public, and only for a short time will it be continued.

Respecting the knives, they only require to be seen to effect an immediate clearance of the whole stock; and we respectfully ask each one of the thousands of readers of this book to send for one as a sample, and show their friends, feeling confident that every purchaser will be satisfied and ASTONISHED.

The blades are of the finest steel, and the handles can be had in either white or black ivory, with German silver plate for name. In finish and workmanship they cannot be surpassed.

On receipt of the above-mentioned amount, we agree to forward either of the Pocket Knives described in this advertisement, and we will willingly return the money to any purchasers dissatisfied.

The year 1884 is the latter part of the 5644th and the beginning of the 5645th year since the creation of the world, according to the Jews. The year 5645 commences on Sept. 20, 1884, being the 2nd year of the 2868th cycle of 19 years. The year 1884 answers to the 6587th of the Julian Period, to the 2837th from the foundation of Rome, to the 2860th of the Olympiads, and to the 7895-8 of the Byzantine Era. The year 1302 of the Mohammedan Era commences on Oct. 31, 1884; and Ramadan (month of abstinence observed by the Turks) commences on June 25, 1884.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

The Bank of England was the first Joint-Stock Bank established in England. It was incorporated by William III. in 1694. When first established the notes of the Bank were at 80 per cent discount, and so late as 1745 they were under par. Bank Bills were paid in silver, 1745. Cash payments were discontinued in 1797, when notes of one and two pounds were first put into circulation. Banks were first established in 808 by the Lombard Jews, some of whom settled in Lombard-street.

The following is the House List of Governors and Directors of the Bank of England:—

Governor, John Saunders Gilliat, Esq. | Deputy Governor, J. P. Currie, Esq.

Directors.

Henry W. Blake.	Henry H. Gibbs.	William Liddersdale.
John W. Birch.	Charles E. Goschen.	Sir A. Matheson.
Herbert Brooks.	Edward A. Hambro.	Samuel H. Morley.
Robert W. Crawford.	Thomas Hankey.	Edward H. Palmer.
Mark W. Collet.	Henry L. Holland.	Augustus Prevost.
Samuel S. Gladstone.	Rt. Hon. J. G. Hubbard.	David Powell.
Benjamin B. Green.	Thomas N. Hunt.	Alfred C. de Rothschild.
Henry R. Grenfell.	Charles F. Huth.	Albert G. Sandeman.

TRANSFER DAYS.

The Transfer Days are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Instructions for Transfers are received between 9.30 a.m. and 1 p.m., and between 1 and 3 p.m. on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

Transfers must be executed between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Transfers can be accepted between 9.30 a.m. and 4 p.m. (9.30 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturdays).

Transfers can be made on Saturdays between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. upon payment of a fee of 2s. 6d.

Transfers of Bank Stock are charged 9s. for sums of £25 and under, and 12s. for sums over £25.

All Transfers must be made in the Bank Books by the Stockholder, or by his duly authorised Attorney.

Bank Stock Transfer Books are closed for about three weeks before the payment of each Dividend.

In the case of all other Stocks the Balance for a Dividend is struck about four or five weeks before such Dividend is payable, the Stock being subsequently transferable "ex-dividend."

DIVIDENDS, WHEN PAYABLE.

Dividends, with certain special exceptions, are payable as follows:—To the Stockholder in person at the Head Office; to the Stockholder in person at any of the Country Branches, provided he has previously made arrangements to that effect with the Agent of the Branch in question; to a duly authorised Attorney at the Head Office only; Dividend Warrants are forwarded by Post to the Stockholder, provided he resides in the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, or the Isle of Man, upon his signing a form of request. Forms can be obtained at the Head Office, at any of the Branches, and, in the case of the English Government Stocks, at any Money-Order Office.

Dividends are payable between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. (9 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturdays), with the exception of those on Indian Promissory (Rupee) Notes and Registered (Rupee) Stock, which are payable between 9.30 a.m. and 4 p.m. (9.30 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturdays).

Indian Promissory (Rupee) Notes must be deposited at the India Office, Bank of England, prior to the payment of each Dividend.

POWERS OF ATTORNEY.

Applications for Powers of Attorney must be lodged by hand at the Power of Attorney Office.

Applications made through the Post cannot be attended to.

Applications are received between the hours of 9.30 a.m. and 4 p.m. (9.30 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturdays); but if Sale Powers are required before 4 p.m. the same day, applications must be lodged before 12.30 p.m.

Powers of Attorney for Dividends will be ready after 2 p.m. on the day after that on which they are applied for.

Executed Powers for Dividends only, which must be presented for examination at the Dividend Office, if in order, may be acted upon at once.

Executed Powers for Sale, Transfer, &c., which must be presented for examination at the Power of Attorney Office, if lodged before 2 p.m., and found to be in order, may be acted upon on the following day.

A MOMENT'S PAUSE.

THE MOST REV. E. W. BENSON, D.D., ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY.
FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

THE POST OFFICE.

From the twenty-ninth report of the Postmaster-General it appears that the estimated number of letters delivered in the United Kingdom during the twelve months was 1,380,685,300, showing an increase of 4.2 per cent; the number of post cards 144,018,300, an increase of 6.4 per cent; the number of book packets and circulars, 288,306,400, an increase of 6.8 per cent; and the number of newspapers, 140,682,600, being slightly less than last year. The number of letters received in the returned letter offices was 5,651,443, an increase of 190,558; of post cards, 596,614, an increase of 37,305; of book packets, 4,993,890; an increase of 267,596; and of newspapers, 477,978, an increase of 63,184. Of the letters, 562,291 were unreturnable; 26,293 bore no address, and of this number 1604 contained cash and cheques, &c., amounting to £6016, the whole of which, with the exception of about £150, has already been returned to the senders. Notwithstanding repeated warnings to the public, nearly 30,000 articles were received loose and coverless, owing to the weak and flimsy nature of the wrappers used and the insecure mode of packing. Reply post cards, both inland and foreign, have been introduced; but hitherto the public have not availed themselves to any great extent of the facility thus offered. The number of telegraph messages was 32,093,026, being an increase of £46,106 only, as compared with 1,933,879 in 1881-2. The business of the savings bank shows satisfactory progress. The total amount due to depositors, including interest (but exclusive of Government stock), at the close of the year was £39,087,921, showing an increase of £2,843,336. The number of accounts remaining open at the close of the year was 2,958,976 as against 2,607,612 in the previous year, an increase of 251,364. The savings bank business in Ireland again showed a large increase. The total amount, including interest due to depositors at the end of the year, was £1,925,480, being an increase of 202,045. This does not include the amount of Government stock standing to the credit of depositors in Ireland, which is estimated at £125,000. The total amount of Government stock standing to the credit of depositors at the close of the year was £1,143,717. The postal order returns show a large increase. About £3,451,000, as compared with £2,000,000 in 1881-2, were transmitted by means of these orders within the year, and no less than 7,990,228 orders were used. The gross revenue for the year was £9,413,812, and the net revenue £8,061,748 being a decrease of £38,727 on the previous year.

THE PARCELS POST.

Mr. Fawcett has brought about one of the greatest extensions of the Post Office which has taken place since Rowland Hill introduced uniformity and simplicity of charge. It is difficult to attempt to predict into what the Parcels Post may grow. The transmission of parcels as an incident of social intercourse is now reduced to a minimum of time, trouble, and expense. Combined with these advantages, it is the introduction among us of a social reform of no ordinary kind. The regulations are sufficiently wide as to the character and extent of the articles which may be sent by the Parcels Post. The following will be the general conditions in regard to weight, dimensions, rates, and time of postage:—

FOR AN INLAND POSTAL PARCEL of a weight of	The rate of postage, to be pre- paid in ordinary postage- stamps, will be—
Not exceeding 1 lb.	0s. 3d.
Exceeding 1 lb. and not exceeding 3 lb. ...	0s. 6d.
" 3 lb. " " 5 lb. ...	0s. 9d.
" 5 lb. " " 7 lb. ...	1s. 0d.

DIMENSIONS.

The dimensions allowed for an Inland Postal Parcel will be:—

Maximum length	3 ft. 6 in.
Maximum length and girth combined	6 ft. 0 in.

The most convenient mode of measuring will be by means of a tape 6 ft. long, having the length of 3 ft. 6 in. marked thereon. So much of the tape as is not used in measuring the length will be the measure of the maximum girth permissible. Such a tape, if provided by stationers, might conveniently be marked in one colour up to 3 ft. 6 in., and the remaining portion in another colour.

TIMES OF DELIVERY AND COLLECTION IN LONDON.

Intermediary	11.30 a.m. and 4 p.m.
General Collection	9 a.m. 1.30 and 7 p.m.
Intermediary	11.30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

PROHIBITIONS.

There shall not be conveyed or tendered for conveyance by post:—

- Any parcel containing any substance, material, article, or thing of any kind whatsoever, which might in the course of transmission through the post be, or become, or be rendered injurious to any officer of the Post Office, or any other person who may deal with such parcel, or to any bag, basket, box, or other receptacle in or by which such parcel may be conveyed by post, or to any other parcel or other contents of any such receptacle.
 - Any parcel consisting of or including any bladder or other membranous substance containing a liquid of any kind.
 - Any parcel containing a live animal of any kind whatsoever.
 - Any parcel which either from the nature of the contents thereof, or from the absence of proper packing or covering, is, in the opinion of the Postmaster-General or his officers, likely to injure any person in the course of the conveyance of the parcel through the post, or any receptacle in or by which such parcel may be conveyed by post, or any other parcel or any other contents of such receptacle.
- Any such parcel, if posted or tendered for conveyance by post, may be detained, and either returned or given up to the sender thereof or dealt with or disposed of in such other manner as may be authorised by the Postmaster-General.

PROHIBITIONS.

No parcel shall be posted or tendered for conveyance by post consisting of or containing more than one parcel or other postal packet where any one of such packets is intended for delivery to a person other than the addressee of such parcel, and if any such parcel shall be posted, or tendered for conveyance by post, the contents thereof, so far as the same consist of parcels, may be forwarded to the addressee of such parcels charged with new and distinct rates of postage according to the rates fixed by this warrant, and, so far as the same consist of other postal packets, may be treated and charged as unpaid postal packets, or such parcel may be otherwise dealt with or disposed of as the Postmaster-General may authorize.

USE OF POSTER RESTANTES.

On every parcel addressed to a post office "to be called for" there shall be charged and paid by the person to whom such parcel is addressed the sum of 1d. (which sum shall be paid in money, and not in stamps), in respect of every day or part of a day during which such parcel may remain in such post office after the expiration of the day next after that on which such parcel was delivered at such post office; provided that in no case shall such sum be payable in respect, in England or Ireland, of any Sunday, Christmas Day, Good Friday, or Bank Holiday; or in Scotland, of any Sunday, Bank Holiday, or Sacramental Fast Day of the Church of Scotland or of any parts of such days respectively.

RETENTION OF PARCELS AT POSTER RESTANTES.

Any parcel addressed to a post office "to be called for" shall (unless the same be found to contain any perishable article), if not called for, remain at such office for a period of three weeks after the date of the arrival of such parcel thereat, and shall then be dealt with as provided in this warrant.

RETURN AND DISPOSAL OF UNDELIVERED PARCELS.

The following provisions shall apply, that is to say:—

- The parcel shall, as the Postmaster-General may from time to time direct, be detained at or forthwith forwarded to such place as the Postmaster-General may from time to time appoint, and may if necessary be there opened and examined.
- Where the name and address of the sender can be ascertained from the parcel, notice shall be given by post to the sender that the parcel will be returned to him by post on payment of postage.
- Where the name and address of the sender cannot be ascertained from the parcel, notice shall be publicly given (by affixing the same at such place or places, or in such other manner as the Postmaster-General may direct) that the parcel will, upon payment of certain charges, be given up upon the personal application of the sender or his agent.
- In any case the notice shall state that in default of the receipt by the Postmaster-General of an application for the parcel during a period to be specified in such notice from some person who, in the Postmaster-General's judgment, is entitled to receive the parcel, it will be disposed of in such manner as the Postmaster-General may direct.
- The Postmaster-General may, in his discretion, specify in any such notice or otherwise the periods during which parcels may be returned to the sender thereof, and in so doing may have regard to the nature and contents of parcels.
- A parcel shall not be given up or returned by post to the sender except upon payment by him of any charge for re-direction or other charge to which the parcel has become liable under the provisions of this warrant, or of any such regulations as are referred to in section 15 of the Post Office (Parcels) Act, 1862.

THE PARCELS POST AT HOME AND ABROAD.

With reference to the future, it is stated that the question of establishing an international parcels post was being carefully considered. The Postmaster-General is most desirous to introduce the tariff for cheap telegrams as soon as possible, but it is necessary to make adequate preparations, otherwise many of the wires would inevitably become blocked, causing great delay and much inconvenience. To show the character of the preparations required, it is estimated that 15,000 miles of new wire would have to be erected before the new change could come into operation; but it is expected that the reduced charge will come into operation on Oct. 1 next year at the furthest.

The introduction of the Parcels Post into England leads to a comparison between the rates fixed in this country and elsewhere. This cannot be very exact, owing to the fact that in many Continental countries the charge varies with distance, whereas in England it is uniform. This also necessitates a double comparison—namely, that where distance is an element of the charge and that where distance is immaterial. Take the latter first. The new scale of charges established by the London Post Office contrasts as follows with that of Belgium, Holland, and France:—

England: 1 lb., 3d.; 1-3 lb., 6d.; 3-5 lb., 9d.; 5-7 lb., 1s.
France: 7 lb., 8d.; 7 lb., if not delivered, 6d.; 7 lb., received and delivered in Paris, 2d.

Belgium: 11 lb., 5d.; 11 lb., express, 8d.
Holland: 2-5 lb., 3d.; 5-7 lb., 4d.; 7-11 lb., 5d. Express extra.

In England the charges include delivery. In France the charge for delivery is 2d. over and above the charge for dispatch from station to station. The idea of a low charge of 2d. for all parcels sent and delivered in the capital has not been adopted by Mr. Fawcett. Neither has the express rate met with his approval. In Holland this varies from 5d. extra on parcels in towns to 10d. per three miles on parcels delivered in rural districts. Another foreign idea is that of charging 1d. for receipts. It will be seen that our rate for 7 lb. is dearer than any charged in France, Belgium, or Holland. Holland carries for 3d. more than twice the weight franked by that sum in England, and Belgium carries 11 lb. for less than Mr. Fawcett will convey 11 lb. 1oz.

The following table gives the rates charged by distance as well as by weight. The parcel-post rates are given for the sake of comparison:—
England: 1 lb., 3d.; 1-3 lb., 6d.; 3-5 lb., 9d.; 5-7 lb., 1s.
English Railways: 1 lb. 50 miles, 4d.; 1 lb. any dist., 6d.; 7 lb. 30 miles, 6d.; 7 lb. 50 miles, 8d.; 7 lb. 400 miles, 1s. 3d.; 7 lb. further, 1s. 6d.
India: 5 lb. per 100 miles, 4d. (average).
Austria: 7 lb. 12 miles, 3d.; 7 lb. further, 7d.; 3 lb. delivered in Vienna, 1d.; 3 lb. in other towns, 4d.; 3 lb. in country, 1d.-3d.
Germany: 7 lb. 50 miles, 3d.; 7 lb. further, 6d.; 7 lb. town delivery, 1d.-3d.; 6 lb. rural, 1d.; 6-11 lb. rural, 3d.
Switzerland: 7 lb. 16 miles, 2d.; 7 lb. further, 4d.; crossing Alps, 2d. extra.
From this it will be seen that the English parcel rate is cheaper for 1 lb. parcels for long distances than any foreign parcel post, but that for short distances and heavy parcels the English rate is the highest. For instance— if we desire to dispatch a 1 lb. parcel and have it delivered at a distance of 100 miles, the rate would be as follows:—

England, Parcels post	3d.	Holland	3d.
" Railway	6d.	Belgium	5d.
France	3d.	Switzerland	4d.
Germany	7d.	India	4d.
Austria	5d.

A FUGITIVE THOUGHT.—FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

THE LONDON SCHOOL BOARD AND ELEMENTARY EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS.

The School Board (Victoria Embankment) consists of fifty members, elected in numbers varying from four to seven from the ten boroughs of the City, Chelsea, Finsbury, Greenwich, Hackney, Lambeth, Marylebone, Southwark, Tower Hamlets, Westminster. The local work is intrusted to Divisional and Sub-Divisional Committees, under whom serve paid superintendents of visitors. The school fees vary from 1d. in some parts of London to 6d. per week. About half the children pay 2d.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS.

The Education Act of 1876 declares that—"It shall be the duty of the parent of every child (between the ages of five and fourteen) to cause such child to receive efficient elementary instruction in reading, writing, and arithmetic."

From the establishment of the School Board, in November, 1870, up to Oct. 12, 1882, accommodation in schools had been provided for 256,360 children. At Lady Day there were upon the rolls of the board schools (including certain schools transferred and temporary schools) 276,649 children. The staff of teachers comprised 3685 adult teachers, and 1646 pupil-teachers and candidates. The fees charged by the board range from 1d. to 6d.; the number of school places provided at 1d. being, according to a recent return, 55,677; 131,362 at 2d.; 69,864 at 3d.; 12,949 at 4d.; and 6008 at 6d. The charges are determined solely by what is believed to be the ability of the parents, and to avoid needless class distinctions they are made uniform in each school. When the census of all the schools in London was taken, in 1871, whether efficient or non-efficient, the total number of children on the roll was 320,143. The number of children now upon the roll of efficient schools alone is 525,999; in other words, the roll of efficient schools alone is greater by 205,856 than the total roll of all schools whatever in the beginning of 1871.

Increased accommodation being required, eleven new schools are (1883) in course of construction, at a cost to the ratepayers of £89,406; twenty-two schools are also in progress of enlargement, at a total outlay, for new and old, of £126,463.

The general lines upon which it has been found practicable to carry on elementary education in Great Britain may be said to have been laid down in the English Act above referred to (1870) and in the Scotch Act of 1872. But two subsequent Acts in England (1876 and 1880) and one in Scotland (1878), and incidentally the Factory Acts in both countries, have done much to add to the efficiency of the compulsory powers; and the ultimate result in England has been to increase the average attendance from less than one and a quarter million in 1870 to over three millions in 1882. The limits of variation in the percentage of the average attendance, nowhere falling below 87 (which is the percentage for Monmouth, Notts, York, Cornwall, and Wales), or rising above 76, the percentage for the metropolitan district, the only remarkable circumstance being that in the 20 counties where over half the population are under School Boards there are ten instances of the percentage falling decidedly below the average. In the remaining 20 counties, where the dominant local authority is the School Attendance Committee of the Board of Guardians, there are only two such instances—Northampton, with 70 per cent, and Lincoln with 68.

Owing to the want of efficient means for enforcing school attendances under the Scotch Act, the percentage of children on the school register was not so high as it should have been; indeed, it fell below the English percentage by 1.20, per cent, for Scotland being in exact figures 74.37, against 80.87 for England. To redress this evil, children between 5 and 14 years old are no longer to be exempted from compulsory school attendance. As to the aptitude of Scotch children, the following table affords the clearest evidence of recent educational progress. The number of children presented in the higher standards in Scotland was as follows:—

Year.	No. in Average Attendance.	No. Examined in the Higher Standards.	Percentage in Higher Standards.

THE WATER SUPPLY OF THE METROPOLIS.

The bulk of the London water supply is, according to skilled and constituted authorities, impure, and the supply is for the most part intermittent instead of constant. It is almost needless to say that water is one of the most essential and important elements of human and animal life. Throughout the metropolis this necessity of life is stored in cisterns, which add a quota of impurity to the river defilements and currents of poisonous sewer gas.

In 1806 the Corporation of London was empowered by Act of Parliament to bring water to the City from the neighbourhood of Ware. The New River Company, the richest of the water corporations, owes its origin to this measure; but its founder was not the municipality, but Sir Hugh Myddelton, to whom it assigned its rights. The venture, however, fared so badly, it was only by the special intervention and assistance of the Crown that it was rescued from utter failure. It is a more pertinent complaint that when, in the early part of this century, company after company obtained powers of water supply, the Corporation, then the only public body of note in London, made no attempt to control their proceedings in the interests of the consumers. In 1821 a Committee of the House of Commons considered the subject, and from that time to the present the question of London water supply has been constantly before Parliament, with the result of lavish expenditure in legal contests, and with only a slight mitigation of evils to the ratepayer. The Metropolitan Board of Works has on two occasions approached Parliament on the question. In 1871 it asked for power to buy up the undertakings of the water companies, and in 1878 to provide an independent supply. On each occasion Parliament was indisposed to look favourably on the scheme, and there can be little doubt—certainly it was so in the second case—that the principal objection, expressed or felt, was that the constitution, history, and character of the Board were not such as to warrant the bestowal upon it of such large powers. The Board was, however, by an Act passed in 1871, clothed with powers which enabled it to compel the substitution of a constant supply for the system of storage in cisterns. Singularly enough, it has never moved hand or foot to secure this benefit to the ratepayers; on the contrary, it has used its influence, on the whole, to retard the change. So far as a constant supply has been introduced it has been the voluntary work of the companies. But whilst the water companies have during the last decade done little towards giving water consumers "pure and wholesome water," they have very materially increased the price of their commodity. They have insisted upon charging by rates on the annual value; and if water is used for purposes they consider not included in the domestic supply, they make extra charges as they think fit for that use. If the amount of extra charge is objected to, they then offer to supply by meter, putting on the full percentage and an extra charge for the meter supply; and as there is a fixed minimum charge made wherever a meter is used, this renders the offer practically useless in most private houses. As to business premises and warehouses, the grievance is even worse, for in most cases they claim to charge on the annual value of the premises with certain additional fixed charges. Thus the whole question of the London water supply has become wellnigh intolerable, and hence it has come to be believed that either competition, a deep-well water supply, or the extension of the Corporation of London to the metropolis at large, will alone afford a remedy for the dilemma in which London finds itself on the question of a pure and wholesome water supply.

A Parliamentary paper gives the results of the working of the metropolitan water companies for the past year—in the case of the Chelsea, Grand Junction, Lambeth, Southwark and Vauxhall, and West Middlesex Companies to September last, and to December in the case of the East London, the Kent, and the New River Companies. The total capital raised by the Chelsea Company stands at £1,150,700, the East London at £2,089,700, the Grand Junction at £1,310,000, the Kent at £730,544, the Lambeth at £1,444,317, the New River at £3,228,104, the Southwark and Vauxhall at £1,822,000, and the West Middlesex at £1,153,740. The whole of the last-mentioned company's capital is in ordinary stock. The total capital expended by the companies was as follows:—Chelsea, £1,152,177; East London, £2,146,126; Grand Junction, £1,348,939; Kent, £680,517; Lambeth, £1,485,043; New River, £3,226,078; Southwark and Vauxhall, £1,798,809; West Middlesex, £1,130,180. It will be noticed that the Chelsea, the East London, the Grand Junction, and the Lambeth Companies had an excess of expenditure over receipts. The water rental for the year of the various companies (deducting empty houses) was as follows:—Chelsea, £100,361; East London, £231,978; Grand Junction, £155,251; Kent, £100,463; Lambeth, £170,368; New River, £427,793; Southwark and Vauxhall, £184,018; and West Middlesex, £176,612. From rent of lands, &c., the companies generally received only small sums; but in the case of the New River Company, which possesses a considerable amount of landed property, the amount received was £3744, while the East London Company derived from a similar source £2303. The total expenditure on maintenance and management, respectively, was as follows:—Chelsea, £26,141 and £7905; East London, £73,997 and £17,395; Grand Junction, £86,850 and £12,967; Kent, £21,390 and £7303; Lambeth, £58,806 and £11,418; New River, £118,146 and £41,166; Southwark and Vauxhall, £58,832 and £13,769; and West Middlesex, £46,305 and £12,659. The item of taxes, which is included under maintenance, is a large one with all the companies. The amount paid by the Chelsea Company was £7065; East London, £22,096; Grand Junction, £10,789; Kent, £5019; Lambeth, £10,232; New River, £26,668; Southwark and Vauxhall, £13,167; and West Middlesex, £12,681. Under the heading of management, the amounts paid to directors stand as follows:—Chelsea, £1825; East London, £2150; Grand Junction, £1833; Kent, £2000; Lambeth, £1843; New River, £2282; Southwark and Vauxhall, £2047; and West Middlesex, £2451. The profit on trading and the net profits, respectively, were as follows:—Chelsea, £66,887 and £43,405; East London, £142,414 and £124,708; Grand Junction, £95,807 and £65,933; Kent, £72,009 and £11,192; Lambeth, £100,448 and £22,368; New River, £276,906 and £30,693; Southwark and Vauxhall, £113,741 and £30,513; and West Middlesex, £118,148 and £19,407. The dividends paid for the whole year ended last December by the Kent Company was 10 per cent, and by the East London Company 7 per cent. For the first half of the year ended June last the dividend of the New River Company was at the rate of £1 11s. 1 1/2d. per cent per annum; while for the six months ended March, 1883, the dividend paid by the Chelsea, the Lambeth, and the Southwark and Vauxhall Companies was at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, the distribution for the same period by the West Middlesex Company and the Grand Junction Company being, respectively, at the rates of 10 per cent and 8 per cent per annum. The amount of capital raised by the companies amounted to £12,919,125, and the total expenditure had been £12,965,800.

INDIAN FINANCE AND LOANS.

The financial prospects of British India (1883) proved most encouraging. The estimated revenue for 1882 and 1883 was £27,920,000, and the expenditure £27,698,000. The gross revenue for 1883-4 was estimated at £27,300,000, and the gross expenditure was £26,800,000, leaving a surplus of £400,000 or £500,000. From the latest information obtained the accounts were found to be even more favourable, although it was impossible to make an accurate forecast until the rains had ceased. In 1882 the country raised by taxation £39,700,000, and the taxation, other than land taxation, amounted to £17,864,000. In 1883, £1,500,000 had been raised for famine relief; and, though the taxation raised from the people of India was rather more than in the previous year, it was still only 14s annas per head of the population. The gross revenue was £27,784,000. The prosperity of 1881-2 enabled the Government to propose great reductions in taxation. If the taxes had been maintained at the rates of the finances of the previous year, the year 1883 would, of course, have shown greater surplus, amounting to at least three millions and a half, besides providing for famine insurance. But the Government of India wisely determined to go as far as possible in the direction of free trade. They abolished the import duties upon everything but liquors, and reduced the salt duties by 25 per cent. The advantage of this reduction was seen in the increased consumption of 1882-3. The estimate of the opium revenue was less than in 1882-3 by nearly £600,000. The revenue from the Excise appeared to be growing at a moderate pace. The net increase under this head was £190,000 in 1882-3; a further increase of £200,000 was anticipated in 1883-4. The postal and telegraphic service, with the Mint, showed a net cost in 1882-3 of £274,781, and in 1883-4 it was estimated at £389,800. The cost of the Indian Military Establishments, irrespective of, and not including, either the Afghan or Egyptian war expenses, was as follows:—1880-1, £15,704,000; 1881-2, £16,054,000; 1882-3, £15,121,000; and 1883-4, £15,194,000. The cost of the effective forces of the Indian army for the last four years being:—1880-1, £13,057,000; 1881-2, £13,132,000; 1882-3, £12,207,000; and 1883-4, £12,025,000. The military estimates were lower than in any year since 1876-7; and if it had not been for the increase in the non-effective forces the result would have been more satisfactory. India is now capable of producing, and does now produce, wheat far in excess of the requirements of the country. In the year ending March, 1880, India exported 7,444,000 cwt. of wheat, chiefly to England and France; in the next year, 1882, 19,863,000 cwt.; and for the year ending March last, 14,151,000 cwt. India can, indeed, rival any other country in the matter of much cheap produce; all that is now required is the cheapening of freightage charges. The total indebtedness of India is £229,000,000, against which there are to be set off the Public Works, bearing interest, and estimated at £168,000,000, leaving the amount of uncovered debts at £68,000,000.

THE FRENCH POST OFFICE.

A comparative statement has been issued by the Minister of the Post Office of the transactions from 1877 to 1881. The total amount of letters and parcels of all kinds rose from 885,000,000 in 1877 to 1,850,000,000 in 1881, the proportion being for stamped letters from 374,000,000 to 568,000,000; newspapers, from 219,000,000 to 354,000,000; printed matter in hand, newspapers, from 207,000,000 to 287,000,000; in envelopes from 14,000,000 to 50,000,000. Post cards, on the other hand, have undergone a diminution from 32,800,000 to 32,234,000. The department may well be satisfied with the increase of 56 per cent in four years. The telegraphic service has been even more successful, showing an increase of 188 per cent. In 1877 the number of telegrams dispatched was 8,174,000 in (of which 994,000 were international), against 19,466,000 in 1882 (of which 1,962,000 were international). The parcel post was only commenced in the month of May last year, but since then its progress has been most rapid, increasing from 349,676 parcels in May to 808,732 in December. The total dispatched during the eight months was 4,166,867.

LOSS OF LIFE BY WARS.

The following figures are taken from the statistics of the Franco-German War, published by the Prussian War Office. In August, 1870, 780,728 German soldiers crossed the French frontier, followed during the war by 222,762 others. The soldiers remaining in Germany were 400,000. At the close of the armistice the German Army counted 986,918 men. The army besieging Paris numbered 180,000 men, while the Paris garrison numbered 280,000 men. The number of combats in which at least one company, one squadron, or a battery was engaged was 706. 835,341 French prisoners were sent into Germany. The French lost 107 flags, 7441 cannon, and 850,000 firearms. The loss of the German Army was 129,000 men, of whom 40,863 were killed and 88,838 wounded; 17,572 were killed on the field, and 10,710 died in consequence of their wounds. The battle of Gravelotte cost 20,189 men; Mars-la-Tour, 15,780; Wörth, 10,642; Sedan, 19,241; the siege of Paris, 12,509; and Metz, 5571. The number of shots from field guns was 362,662. The soldiers used 39,000,000 cartridges, the most being used by the 3rd Corps at Mars-la-Tour, where 720,000 rifle-shots were fired, and the batteries fired 10,500 grenades.

So many estimates have been published of the loss of life occasioned by the Great Civil War in America that it may not be without interest to re-produce some statistics from "The Statistical Record of the Armies of the United States." From April, 1861, to May, 1865, there were 2261 engagements between the Confederate and the Union forces. Among the bloodiest battles were—

	Union	Confederate
At Shiloh, April 6-7, 1862	18,573	10,689
At Chickamauga, September 19-20, 1863	15,851	17,804
In campaign in—
Northern Georgia, May to September, 1864	37,199	—
At Gettysburg, July 1-3, 1863	23,198	31,821
At the Wilderness, May 4-7, 1864	37,737	11,400
At Spottsylvania, May 4-18, 1864	26,441	9000
At Petersburg, June, 1864	10,566	—
At the trenches in front of Petersburg, June to October	11,498	—

The losses in battle are smaller than the number of those who died of disease. From May, 1861, to June, 1865, in the army hospitals 6,049,648 cases were treated 185,353 men died and 228,585 were discharged, disabled by wounds or disease from continuing their services in the Army. The year after the war 10,274 soldiers died, making a total of 195,627 deaths in hospitals. The number of all who died during the war cannot be accurately ascertained; the nearest approach that has been arrived at is that losses by death amount to 304,388. Of these from 35,000 to 61,000 were killed outright in battle, 25,000 to 50,000 died of wounds received in action, 150,000 to 190,000 died of disease. This ghastly total does not include the Confederate dead, who were at least as numerous.

PROPERTY AND INCOME TAX.

From April, 1883, to April, 1884, the Property and Income Tax is fixed at 5d. in the pound; incomes of less than £150 per annum exempt; if above £150 and not exceeding £400 are taxed at the rate of 5d. in the pound, allowing an abatement of £120. Other exemptions—the premiums paid by a person for an Assurance on his own life, or on the life of his wife, or for a Deferred Annuity to his Widow, are declared free from Income Tax, provided such premiums do not exceed one sixth of his returnable income. The balance of average profits for the three years previous, from April to April, deductions allowed to be made. For repairs of premises occupied for purposes of trade, and supply and repair of implements and utensils employed in trade or profession. For bad debts, for average losses, and also for rent of house or offices used for the purpose of trade or profession, such sum not exceeding two third parts of such rent.

DUTIES PAYABLE ON INHABITED HOUSES OF THE ANNUAL VALUE OF £20 OR UPWARDS.

The duty is 5d. in the pound in respect of dwelling-houses occupied by any person in trade who shall expose to sale and sell any goods in any shop or warehouse, being part of the same dwelling-house and in front and on the ground or basement story thereof; or by a person licensed to sell therein, by retail, beer; hotel or coffee-house keeper; or as a farmhouse by a tenant or farm servant, and bona fide used for the purpose of husbandry only.

The duty is 9d. in the pound for dwelling-houses and offices not occupied and used for any of the purposes described in the preceding.

Exemptions.—Market-gardens and Nursery-grounds.

PROBATE AND ACCOUNT DUTY:—

On affidavit of value for probate or letters of administration and inventory (unless a former inventory exhibited before June 1, 1881) of estate in respect of which probate or letters of administration granted or inventory exhibited on and after June 1, 1881, except as hereafter mentioned, and an account to be delivered to Commissioners of Inland Revenue under 44 Vict., c. 12, sec. 38, on death of person dying on or after June 1, 1881, of (1) donations mortis causa, (2) beneficial interest on property accruing by survivorship, (3) property passing under voluntary settlement, interest for life or absolute power of revocation reserved to settlor:

Where value exceeds £100 and not £300, £1 for each £50 or fraction of £50.

Where value exceeds £300 and not £1000, £1 5s. for each £50 or fraction of £50.

Where value exceeds £1000, £3 for each £100 or fraction of £100.

The value of estate of person dying domiciled in United Kingdom may be ascertained by deduction of debts due to persons resident in United Kingdom, and funeral expenses.

The legacy and succession duties at 1 per cent are not payable on assets covered by the stamp on the affidavit inventory or account.

On affidavit of value or inventory where gross value of personal estate in United Kingdom or abroad of person dying on or after June 1, 1881, does not exceed £300.

A fixed duty of 30s., which satisfies legacy and succession duties on property to which the affidavit or inventory relates.

The stamp duty of 5s. per cent paid on deed of voluntary settlement of property included in an account will be returned, on production of deed, to person delivering the account.

Heavy penalties are imposed for not paying probate and account duties within prescribed time.

Exemptions.—Affidavit or inventory of estate under £100 of person dying after July 25, 1864, and of estate of any common seaman, marine, or soldier slain or dying in her Majesty's service.

LEGACY AND SUCCESSION DUTIES:—

Rates of duties payable on legacies, annuities, residues, and successions. If the deceased died on or after June 1, 1881, every pecuniary legacy or residue, or share of residue, although not of the amount or value of £30, is chargeable with duty by the 44 Vict. cap. 12, sec. 42.

To children of the Deceased, or their Descendants, or to the Father or Mother or other Lineal Ancestor of the Deceased, £1 per cent.

The persons chargeable with duty, at the rate of £1 per cent, are exempt in cases where the probate or letters of administration have been obtained on or after June 1, 1881, in respect of the estate and effects, according to the value, whereof duty shall have been paid on the affidavit, or inventory, or account, in conformity with the 44 Vict., cap. 12.

To Brothers and Sisters of the Deceased, or their Descendants, £3 per cent.

To Brothers and Sisters of the Father or Mother of the Deceased, or their Descendants, £5 per cent.

To Brothers and Sisters of the Grandfather or Grandmother of the Deceased, or their Descendants, £8 per cent.

To any Person in any other Degree of collateral Consanguinity, or to a Stranger in Blood to the Deceased, £10 per cent.

The Husband or Wife is not chargeable with duty; and the Husband or Wife of a relation is chargeable with duty at the lower rate.

Penalties.—Persons paying or receiving any legacy, residue, or share of residue liable to duty, without taking or signing the proper receipt for the same, are subject to a penalty of £10 per cent on the amount or value of such legacy, residue, or share of residue.

Persons not giving notice of a succession, or not delivering an account, are subject to a penalty of £10 per cent upon duty calculated at £1 per cent for every month of delay. Also see "Probate Duty."

WORK OF THE SESSION 1883.

During the Session 1883, 228 public bills were introduced into Parliament. Fourteen of these related to Scotland, and forty-four to Ireland. Eighty-one measures were introduced by the Government, and nearly one half of them became law. Scotland fared badly, as, out of the fourteen measures which related to it, only two became law—a third, after passing the Commons, was thrown out by the Lords. Of the forty-four Irish bills, ten only were carried—seven by private members and three by the Government. The Government measures were—the Constabulary and Police Act, the Prison Service Act, and the Tramways and Public Companies Act. The only measures of importance carried by Irish members were that relating to labourers and that dealing with sea fisheries. There were also 265 private bills dealt with; 180 of these received the Royal assent; eighty-five, for various reasons, did not reach the final stage; and fourteen were thrown out because the preamble was not proved. Of the thirteen measures, applying to England, Scotland, and Ireland, mentioned in the Queen's Speech at the opening of the Session, five only became law. The most important of those which, as time went on, were obliged to be dropped were the London Municipality Bill, the Criminal Code Bill, the Rivers Conservancy Bill, the Floods Prevention Bill, the Sunday Closing Bill (Ireland), together with some others of scarcely less importance to the public welfare. Two measures, the Scotch Local Government Board Bill and the Irish Registration Bill, upon which a large amount of time and attention had been bestowed by the House of Commons, were thrown out by the House of Lords. The most important among the bills that became law were the Corrupt Practices Bill, for vindicating the purity and curtailing the expenses of elections; the Bankruptcy Bill, for discouraging dishonest bankruptcies and liquidations, and putting down fraudulent trading; the Patents Bill, for encouraging the inventive genius without depriving the public of the gain of inventions, and the two Agricultural Holdings Bills, for securing to tenants the value of their own improvements, and for encouraging agriculture and affording security for money judiciously expended in working their farms.

Another bill of considerable importance was the National Debt Bill, which aimed at redeeming within twenty years a very substantial portion of the National Debt of the country.

The Bankruptcy Bill is principally a re-enactment of the clauses of the Act of 1869, the real cause of the breakdown of which was two sections permitting liquidation by arrangement and composition. The new bill puts a stop to this, inasmuch that if compositions are made they shall be placed entirely under the supervision of the Court of Bankruptcy; and it will rest with the Court, and not the creditors, as heretofore, to give the debtor his discharge. The Act also provides that no composition or liquidation by arrangement shall be allowed without the sanction of the Court, or Registrar, who will only grant it when an arrangement appears to be reasonable and calculated to benefit the general body of creditors. It holds out a greater certainty of punishment to fraudulent debtors; and it draws a wide distinction between avoidable and unavoidable bankruptcies. It creates three classes of discharge certificates; and a discharge may be altogether withheld, if it can be shown that the bankruptcy has been caused "by rash and hazardous speculations, or unjustifiable extravagance in living." A penalty can be inflicted if an uncertified bankrupt incurs a debt of £20 without stating the fact. Trustees will no longer be permitted to squander and diminish estates, nor hold balances, or pay moneys, when collected, into their own account. The amount realised must be paid directly into the Bank of England. The official receiver or committee of inspection, acting under the Board of Trade, will keep a watch upon small estates, which will no longer be swallowed up in costs. Small debtors, tradesmen, and the working classes, whose debts do not exceed £50, may apply to a county court Judge, who will stop proceedings and at once afford relief from the exactions of the money-lender or holder of a bill of sale. The official receiver, appointed by and subject to the Board of Trade, replaces the former Comptroller in Bankruptcy. These are only some few of the gains secured by the Bankruptcy Bill.

The Corrupt Practices Prevention Act very considerably enlarges that of 1854 and the Ballot Act of 1872. It more particularly defines corrupt practices to mean treating, undue influence, bribery and personation, and it prescribes penalties ranging from fines to imprisonment with or without hard labour, incapacity of voting or of holding any public office, so that it will not only tend towards the extinction of the grosser forms of mischievous practices at elections, but by limiting the cost of elections it will also give increased freedom of choice to the constituencies.

THE MUNICIPAL ADMINISTRATION OF THE METROPOLIS.

The local administration of the metropolis is of so complex a character that attention should be drawn to it at the outset. There are:—1. Thirty poor-law parishes or unions in what is called the metropolitan area. In each is a board of guardians intrusted with the legal relief of the poor. 2. There is a Metropolitan Asylums Board, with practically the same area, intrusted with the care of asylums for imbeciles and idiots and hospitals for infectious diseases. 3. The metropolis is divided into twenty-three parishes, with vestries, and twelve district Boards of Works, for sanitary and other purposes. Besides these, there are (1) the Plumstead and Lewisham districts, and (2) the parish of Rotherhithe and the St. Olave's district, separate boards, but each combined to elect one member of the Metropolitan Board of Works. 4. There is a Metropolitan Board of Works—a body representative of the vestries and district boards. 5. There is the School Board for London: for purposes of which the metropolis is divided into ten parts. 6. There is the police. The metropolitan police district covers the area within a radius of twenty miles from Charing-cross. For police administration and for magisterial purposes the metropolis is divided into eleven police districts, each with its own police court. These courts are—Bow-street, Westminster, Marlborough-street, Marylebone, Clerkenwell, Thames, Southwark, Lambeth, Worship-street, Hammer-smith with Wandsworth, Greenwich with Woolwich. Except the two latter, which are open half the day, a magistrate is in attendance daily from ten to five. Two magistrates are assigned to each court, excepting Bow-street, which has three. The city has an independent police administration and magistracy. 7. The metropolis is divided into the districts (generally coterminous with the parishes or unions) and sub-districts of the Registrar-General for statistical purposes, returns of health, deaths, births, &c. 8. In the City there are, instead of a vestry of district board, commissioners of sewers, who have powers similar to those of the Metropolitan Board of Works, and are independent of it. It is almost inevitable that an almoner should be brought into contact with most of these bodies, or should have to ascertain their duties on some points in order to endeavour to remove evils, and to assist cases which he will meet with in the course of his work.

The Metropolitan Board of Works was constituted by the Metropolitan Management Act of 1855. Under this and subsequent Acts it has carried out several special works, such as the Main Drainage of London, the construction of the Victoria, Albert, and Chelsea Embankments on the Thames, the formation of Queen Victoria-street and Northumberland-avenue, the freeing of the Thames bridges in the Metropolitan area, the clearance of sites for Artisans' Dwellings in Drury-lane, Bedfordbury, &c. It has opened up or widened other thoroughfares, such as Garrick-street, Southwark-street, Burdett-road, Holborn (Middle Row), Park-lane, Shoreditch, Great Eastern-street, Harrow-road, Coventry-street, Tooley-street, the improved thoroughfares from Hart-street, Bloomsbury, to Shoreditch, &c.; formed Finsbury and Southwark Parks; and preserved open spaces, such as Hampstead Heath, Blackheath, Shepherd's Bush, Hackney Downs, Clapham Common, &c. Among the works now proceeding are a new street from Piccadilly to Hart-street, Bloomsbury, further clearance of sites for Artisans' Dwellings, new bridges at Battersea and Putney, and improvements in Deptford Creek, Hammer-smith and Vauxhall Bridges. Its principal general duties comprise the control over the formation of streets and the line of buildings therein, the testing of gas and of gas-meters, the maintenance of the Fire Brigade (a force of upwards of 500), the maintenance of the Main Drainage system, and of parks and commons. It is the "Metropolitan Authority" under the Water, Tramways, Petroleum, Artisans' Dwellings, Contagious Diseases (Animals), Slaughter-houses, Explosive Substances, and other Acts, and regulates the construction of theatres and music-halls for the protection of persons from fire. It raises money (in Metropolitan Consolidated Stock) not only for its own works, but for advances to the School Board for London, the Vestries, the District Boards, and other corporations within the Metropolis. Members of the Board are elected by the respective Vestries and District Boards in the Metropolis. The Corporation of the City of London elects three members.

The Parochial Act 1833 provides for a better application and management of Parochial Charities of the City of London, and will put a stop to any misapplication of funds which can no longer be administered in accordance with the wishes of pious donors. The Act deals with a revenue of £130,000 a year, and for which there has hardly been any useful application. It will in future be devoted to promote education, and for the maintenance of libraries, museums, art collections, and other institutions opened in the interest of the working classes.

PAUPERISM AND ITS RELIEF.

By the Poor Law Act of Queen Elizabeth the relief and chargeability of the poor were limited to the area of the parish. In the reign of Charles II. a law passed by which parishes, often of an unwieldy size, might be subdivided. This law was unfairly applied, in order to create what were called "close" parishes (sections of parishes in which there were few paupers), and hence low rates, while hardly any were parishes with many paupers and high rates. The Poor Law Commissioners (1834) introduced the system of unions, by means of which, while each parish supported its own poor, the workhouse has been maintained by the parishes in union; each parish contributing its quota towards its cost.

Subsequently (1848) it was enacted that persons who acquired the status of irremovability, should be relieved out of the "common fund of the union," and, with some other classes of paupers, such as destitute wayfarers, become "union paupers." The basis upon which the common fund was assessed was also altered. It had been based on the average expense incurred by each parish in the relief of its own poor during the three years previous. It has since been based on the annual value of the rateable property of each parish. In 1865 another great change was made. The relief of all paupers was thrown on the common fund of the union. Concurrently with these changes, changes were made in regard to the position of the parish in questions of removability. It had heretofore been necessary that to obtain irremovability by residence, the poor person should not reside outside the parish. Afterwards residence in one or more parishes, in a single union, was computed to make up the period of residence that conferred irremovability. Removability is now made to depend on residence in a union. In the enactments with regard to settlement, the words defining the local area are "parish," "parish or place," "parish or township"; and no change has been made in the law, similar to that with regard to removability, by which the union is substituted for the parish as the area of settlement. Nevertheless the distinction between parish and union has in a great measure lapsed. Many parishes, those not considered too small or otherwise unsuitable for administrative purposes, remained parishes—as Kensington, Islington, and others. Many, again, were made parts of unions—as St. Luke's, Clerkenwell, and Holborn, which have been formed into the Holborn Union. The latest Poor Law returns of 1883 showed a decrease in the number of paupers receiving relief in London had taken place, compared with the corresponding period of 1882:—

LEIGHTON, BROS.

A YOUNG HOP-PICKER.

TROUBLESOME TWINS.—FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1884.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.

As the result of careful statistical observation, it is found that since the first Public Health Act was passed the longevity of the English people has sensibly increased. From the greater attention paid to health, and the development of temperance among all classes, and the alterations produced by sanitation in the virulence of disease, the mortality from epidemics has declined till the mean mortality in England—which, between 1838—54 had been 23.5 per thousand—dropped in 1876—80 to 20.8, and in 1881—2 to 19.3, a total improvement of very nearly one-seventh. The progress effected may be broadly given thus: men live two years longer than they did thirty years ago, and women three years and four months longer. A difference equivalent, if we take forty years to be, roughly speaking, the usual term of life, to an improvement of six per cent, which would, it is estimated, leave a country of thirty millions with two millions more people in it than it otherwise would have had. A population, in fact, greater than that of Denmark will have been saved from perishing.

If, as is admitted, the marriage rate is a fair measure of the commercial and agricultural prosperity of the country, the year 1879 must have been one of extraordinary depression; for the marriage rate of that year was the lowest on record since civil registration began.

The rate in 1873 was 17.8; from that time it fell uninterruptedly, year by year, until, in 1879, it was no more than 14.5. Thus there has been a decline of nearly 18 per cent in the course of six years. Had the rate remained during those six years at the same level as in 1873, 238,544 persons would have been married, who, as it was, remained single.

† The notorious fact that St. Petersburg is at the present time one of the most unhealthy cities in Europe—its last returned annual death-rate being over 51 per thousand of the population, or nearly 2½ times greater than that of London—seems to be sufficiently accounted for by the quality of the water applied to the inhabitants. The Prefect of St. Petersburg confirms the general complaints of the disagreeable flavour and nauseating odour of the water in general use.

GREAT STORMS IN ENGLAND.

In July of 1893 a violent storm of hail and rain did considerable damage in London and in other parts of the country, although it by no means equalled in violence that of Oct. 24, 1882, which was one of the most violent we have experienced of late years. During the last twenty years or so, England has been visited by several very violent gales, mostly accompanied with heavy rain. Famous storms occurred in the Januaries of 1835, 1836, and 1838; also in February, 1868; November, 1872; December, 1873; November, 1875; March and December, 1876; while in 1877 the months of January, October, and November were marked by very violent gales. The violent, and, as it may be called, unseasonable, storm of wind which occurred on April 29 of the present year will long be remembered. But these storms are not to be compared for violence to some which have visited this country at an earlier date. For instance, it is on record that in 944 no less than 1500 houses were blown down in London alone, and as many as 500 in October, 1091. In 1696, in a storm on the east coast of England, over 200 colliers and coasters were lost, with most of their crews. The Great Storm occurred in 1703. Famous storms occurred also in December, 1814, in August, 1816, in November, 1828, and in January, 1839, when great damage was done by land and sea in the west of England, but especially in Ireland, when Dublin suffered most severely. It was in the historical storm of Oct. 31 and Nov. 1, 1869, that the Royal Charter was totally lost; and in the great gale of February, 1881, that part of the Crystal Palace was blown down, and the steeple of Oldchester Cathedral fell. But of all the storms which have affected this country none can compare in violence or for the loss of life and property occasioned with that of 1703. It occurred on Nov. 26-27, and may be said to have been the only tempest which in our latitude has equalled the rage of a tropical hurricane. It is, too, the only tempest in this country which has been made the occasion of a Parliamentary address, or of a public fast. It commenced on the morning of the 26th, but did not reach its height till the afternoon of the following day. A huge "bar" swept up the Thames, and crushed, as if they had been so many walnut-shells more than 1000 craft of all sizes, and the loss sustained in London alone was calculated at about two millions sterling. The City presenting the appearance of a place recently sacked. Bristol was in a similar plight, and throughout the country grand mansions were laid prostrate. The Bishop of Bath and Wells and his wife were killed in their beds as their palace fell. The number of lives lost was appalling. In London nearly 150 persons were killed, and the wonder is that there were no more, as 800 houses were blown down, and no less than 2000 chimney-stacks fell. Altogether, 8000 persons were said to have perished, partly in the storm and in the floods, especially along the courses of the Thames and Severn. In the Downs the fleet, which had just returned from the Mediterranean, experienced the full fury of the tempest, and nearly a dozen men-of-war were driven on shore, and 1800 men and officers were drowned. It was in this tempest the first Eddystone Light-house disappeared, with its ingenious architect Winstanley, who is said to have expressed a wish that he might be in it during the wildest storm that ever blew. Trees were blown down in all directions by tens of thousands; in Kent alone 17,000 being torn up by the roots. Cattle perished in multitudes, on one level on the banks of the Severn no less than 15,000 sheep being drowned. Extraordinary stories are told of the violence of this wind, Dr. Andrew Giffard relating that a large stable with five horses and the man who was in charge of them was lifted clean off the ground and deposited many yards from the place where it originally stood. So serious was the impression made on the public mind by this visitation that a day of fasting and humiliation was appointed by the Government; and in commemoration of it Joseph Taylor, a bookseller in Paternoster-row, left £40 for an annual service to be preached on the subject, which has now been done every November for more than a century and a half. The year 1883 will be memorable for the violence of its storms and destruction of life and property throughout Europe. The earthquakes in Ichnia and Java occasioned a loss of life of between sixty and seventy thousand.

RAILWAY EXTENSION OF LONDON.

The passing by a Committee of the House of Commons, Session 1893, of the bill for the extension of the Oxford and Groombridge Railway from Croydon to Dulwich, from which point the Chatham and Dover Railway will take its traffic to Holborn-viaduct, Ludgate-hill, Moorgate-street, King's-cross, and Victoria, will, no doubt, have an important effect on the fortunes of the Chatham and Dover Company, hitherto excluded from the whole of the territory embraced by the counties of Surrey and Sussex, including Eastbourne, Hastings, Newhaven, Brighton, Shoreham, Worthing, and Bognor; the Chatham Company will, by means of the new line, obtain a position at Tunbridge Wells, and, in addition, secure access to all the rapidly-growing suburban districts between Croydon and Dulwich. To the whole of this country the new line is not merely a line competing with an existing railway; it forms a new route from Ludgate-hill and Holborn, Moorgate-street and King's-cross, where none existed belonging to the London, Chatham, and Dover.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES.

JANUARY.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 8th, and early morning hours of the 9th, being situated a little to the right of the planet; she is near Jupiter during the night common to the 12th and 13th, being to the right of the planet, the distance between the two decreasing, and she will be to the left of the planet on the following night. She is near Mars on the 14th from the time of the rising of the Moon, and throughout the night, being to the left of the planet. She is near Mercury on the morning of the 27th, and near Venus during the early evening hours of the 30th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter on the	5th	at 35 minutes after	9h	in the	afternoon.
Full Moon	"	12th	"	3	"
Last Quarter	"	20th	"	5	"
New Moon	"	28th	"	5	"

She is nearest the Earth on the 9th, and most distant from it on the 21st.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 5h 30m p.m., or 1h 30m after the Sun; on the 6th at 5h 45m p.m., or 1h 41m after sunset; on the 11th at 5h 46m p.m., or 1h 35m after the Sun; on the 16th at 5h 21m p.m., or 1h 2m after sunset; on the 21st at 4h 36m p.m., or 9 minutes after the Sun; on the 22nd at nearly the same time as the Sun. He rises on the 19th at 7h 54m a.m., or 5 minutes before the Sun; on the 21st at 7h 28m a.m., or 28 minutes before the Sun; on the 26th at 6h 50m a.m., or 1 hour before the Sun; and on the last day at 6h 27m a.m., or 1h 16m before sunrise. He is at his greatest eastern elongation (19 deg. 15 min.) on the 4th, in his ascending node on the 5th, stationary among the stars on the 11th, in perihelion on the 13th, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 20th, and near the Moon on the 27th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 6h 4m p.m., or 2h 4m after the Sun; on the 11th at 6h 37m p.m., or 2h 26m after sunset; on the 21st at 7h 10m p.m., or 2h 43m after the Sun; and on the last day at 7h 41m p.m., or 2h 56m after sunset. She is near the Moon on the 30th.

MARS rises on the 1st at 7h 15m p.m., or 3h 15m after sunset; on the 11th at 6h 21m p.m., or 2h 10m after the Sun; on the 21st at 5h 23m p.m., or 50 minutes after sunset; on the 27th at 4h 44m p.m., or 5 minutes after the Sun; on the 28th at 4h 38m p.m., or 2 minutes before sunset, and is afterwards visible throughout the night. He is near the Moon on the 14th.

JUPITER is an evening star, rising on the 1st at 5h 39m p.m., or 1h 43m after sunset; on the 11th at 4h 51m p.m., or 40 minutes after the Sun; on the 17th at 4h 24m p.m., or 3 minutes after sunset; on the 22nd he sets at 8h 2m a.m., or 7 minutes after sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 13th, and in opposition with the Sun on the 20th.

SATURN is a morning star, setting on the 1st at 5h 19m a.m.; on the 11th at 4h 36m a.m.; on the 21st at 3h 55m a.m.; and on the last day at 3h 15m a.m. He is near the Moon on the 9th.

FEBRUARY.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the night of the 5th, being situated to the left of the planet; she is near Jupiter during the nights of the 8th and 9th, being situated to the right of the planet on the 8th and to the left on the 9th. She is near Mars during the nights of the 9th and 10th, being to the right of the planet on the former and to the left on the latter evening. So that on the 8th the Moon is to the right of Jupiter and Mars, on the 9th she is between these planets, and on the 10th she is to the left of both of them. She is near Mercury on the 24th, and near Venus on the evening of the 29th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter on the	4th	at 57 minutes after	5h	in the	morning.
Full Moon	"	11th	"	4	"
Last Quarter	"	19th	"	3	"
New Moon	"	26th	"	6	"

She is nearest the earth on the 4th, and most distant from it on the 18th.

MERCURY rises on the 5th at 6h 16m a.m., or 1h 19m before sunrise; on the 10th at 6h 14m a.m., or 1h 13m before the Sun; on the 15th at 6h 14m a.m., or 1h 4m before sunrise; on the 20th at 6h 16m a.m., or 53 minutes before the Sun; and on the 25th at 6h 16m a.m., or 41 minutes before sunrise. He is stationary among the stars on the 1st, at his greatest western elongation (26 deg. 12 min.) on the 14th, in his descending node on the 16th, and in aphelion on the 26th.

VENUS sets on the 1st at 7h 44m p.m., on the 11th at 8h 16m p.m., on the 21st at 8h 47m p.m., and on the last day at 9h 11m p.m. She is near the Moon on the 29th.

MARS is visible throughout the night, setting a little after the Sun has risen. On the 15th he sets at 7h 15m a.m., or 1 minute before sunrise; on the 22nd at 6h 43m p.m., or 21 minutes before the Sun; and on the last day he sets at 6h 43m a.m. He is in opposition to the Sun on the 1st, and is near the Moon on the 10th.

JUPITER sets on the 2nd at 7h 16m a.m., or 26 minutes before sunrise; on the 12th at 6h 32m a.m., or 51 minutes before the Sun rises; on the 22nd at 5h 50m a.m., or 1h 14m before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 9th.

SATURN sets on the 1st at 3h 11m a.m., on the 10th at 2h 37m a.m., and on the 20th at 1h 59m a.m. He is stationary among the stars on the 4th, is near the Moon on the 5th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 22nd.

MARCH.

THE MOON is very near Saturn during the evening hours of the 3rd, and some distance to the left of the planet during the evening hours of the 4th. She is near Jupiter during the evening and early morning hours, both on the 6th and 7th, being situated to the right on the former and to the left of the planet on the latter night. She is near Mercury on the 27th, she is near Venus during the evening hours of the 29th and 30th, and she is near Saturn a second time in the month on the evening of the last day. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter on the	4th	at 33 minutes after	1h	in the	afternoon.
Full Moon	"	11th	"	7	"
Last Quarter	"	19th	"	11	"
New Moon	"	27th	"	5	"

She is nearest the Earth on the 1st, and most distant from it on the 17th, and nearest again on the 29th.

MERCURY rises on the 1st at 6h 15m a.m., or 33 minutes before the Sun, and this interval gradually decreases to 24 minutes on the 6th, to 15 minutes on the 11th, on which day the planet rises at 6h 10m a.m.; on the 21st he rises nearly at the same time as the Sun, and he sets on the last day at 6h 34m p.m., or 4 minutes after the Sun. This planet is badly situated for observation throughout the month. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 30th.

VENUS sets on the 3rd at 9h 21m p.m., on the 13th at 9h 50m p.m., on the 23rd at 10h 21m p.m., and on the last day at 10h 45m p.m. She is in her ascending node on the 1st, and is near the Moon on the 30th.

MARS sets on the 1st at 6h 8m a.m., on the 4th at 5h 52m a.m., or 50 minutes before sunrise; on the 14th at 5h 8m a.m., or 1h 9m before the Sun; on the 24th at 4h 27m a.m., or 1h 27m before sunrise, and he is visible throughout the night till these times. He is near the Moon on the 8th, stationary among the stars on the 13th, and in aphelion on the 22nd.

JUPITER sets on the 3rd at 5h 18m a.m., or 1h 26m before the Sun rises; on the 13th at 4h 28m a.m., or 1h 52m before sunrise; on the 23rd at 3h 48m a.m., or 2h 8m before the Sun rises. He is near the Moon on the 7th, and stationary among the stars on the 20th.

SATURN sets on the 1st at 1h 22m a.m., on the 11th at 0h 46m a.m., on the 21st at 0h 11m a.m., and on the 30th at 1h 36m p.m. He is near the Moon on the 3rd and 31st.

APRIL.

THE MOON is very near Jupiter during the early evening hours of the 3rd; the nearest approach will be about 7 p.m., after which time the Moon will be near and to the left of the planet. She is near Mars during the evening hours of the 4th, the planet being to the right of the Moon. She is near Mercury on the 26th, and she is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 27th, and near Venus during the evening hours of the 28th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter on the	2nd	at 17 minutes after	9h	in the	afternoon.
Full Moon	"	10th	"	11	"
Last Quarter	"	18th	"	3	"
New Moon	"	26th	"	2	"

She is furthest from the Earth on the 13th, and nearest to it on the 26th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 6th at 7h 17m p.m., or 38 minutes after the Sun; on the 10th at 7h 59m p.m., or 1h 11m after sunset; on the 15th at 6h 36m p.m., or 1h 41m after the Sun; on the 20th at 9h 5m p.m., or 2h 2m after sunset; on the 25th at 9h 22m p.m., or 2h 11m after the Sun; on the last day at 9h 23m p.m., or 2h 3m after the Sun. The planet, after the middle of the month, is the more favourably situated for observation than at any other time during the year. He is in his ascending node on the 5th, in perihelion on the 10th, and at his greatest eastern elongation (20 deg. 21 min.) on the 25th.

VENUS sets on the 2nd at 10h 51m p.m., on the 12th at 11h 18m p.m., on the 22nd at 11h 38m p.m., and on the last day at 11h 48m p.m. She is in perihelion on the 3rd, and is near the Moon on the 28th.

MARS sets on the 3rd at 3h 51m a.m., or 1h 41m before the Sun; on the 13th at 5h 16m, or 1h 54m before sunrise; on the 23rd at 2h 42m, or 2h 7m before the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 4th.

JUPITER sets on the 2nd at 3h 10m a.m., or 2h 24m before sunrise; on the 12th at 2h 32m a.m., or 2h 41m before the Sun rises; on the 22nd at 1h 55m a.m., or 2h 56m before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 3rd; in quadrature with the Sun on the 15th.

SATURN sets on the 9th at 1h 1m p.m., on the 19th at 10h 28m p.m., and on the 29th at 9h 54m p.m. He is near the Moon on the 27th.

MAY.

THE MOON is near Jupiter during the evening hours on the 1st. She is near Mars during the evening and night hours of the 2nd, Mercury on the 24th; is near Saturn during evenings of the 24th

SATURN rises on the 10th at 10h 5m p.m., on the 20th at 9h 27m p.m., or 3h 25m after sunset; on the 30th at 8h 49m p.m., or 3h 10m after the Sun sets. He is near the Sun on the 12th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 16th.

OCTOBER.

THE MOON is very near Saturn from the time of the Moon's rising on the 9th throughout the night. She is near Jupiter during the morning hours of the 14th and 16th; she is near Venus during the morning hours of the 15th; is near Mercury on the morning of the 18th, and is near Mars on the 21st. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 4th	at 0 minutes	after 10h	in the afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 11th	" 29	" 2h	" afternoon.
New Moon	" 19th	" 31	" 0h	" morning.
First Quarter	" 27th	" 54	" 4h	" morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the 7th, and most distant from it on the 23rd.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 4h 23m a.m., or 1h 41m before the Sun; on the 7th at 4h 27m a.m., or 1h 46m before sunrise; on the 12th at 4h 47m a.m., or 1h 34m before the Sun; on the 17th at 5h 14m a.m., or 1h 15m before sunrise; on the 22nd at 5h 45m a.m., or 53 minutes before the Sun; and on the 27th at 6h 13m a.m., or 34 minutes before sunrise. He is in perihelion on the 3rd; at his greatest western elongation (17 deg. 55 min.) on the 5th.

VENUS rises on the 8th at 1h 58m a.m., on the 18th at 2h 19m a.m., on the 28th at 2h 42m a.m. She is near Jupiter on the 6th, in her ascending node on the 11th, and is near the Moon on the 15th.

MARS sets on the 9th at 6h 19m p.m., or 1h 2m after sunset; on the 19th at 5h 56m p.m., or 1 hour after the Sun; on the 29th at 5h 35m p.m., or 58 minutes after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 21st, and in his ascending node on the 31st.

JUPITER rises on the 8th at 1h 42m a.m., on the 18th at 1h 14m a.m., and on the 28th at 0h 43m a.m. He is near the Moon on the 14th.

SATURN rises on the 10th at 8h 9m p.m., on the 20th at 7h 29m p.m., and on the 30th at 6h 49m p.m. He is stationary among the stars on the 6th, and is near the Moon on the 9th.

NOVEMBER.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the night common to the 5th and 6th, being situated to the right of the planet till 3h a.m. on the 6th, the time of nearest approach, and after this time she will be to the left of the planet. She is near Jupiter during the morning hours of the 11th, the nearest approach being at 6h a.m.; she is near Venus on the morning of the 14th, the nearest approach being at 6h a.m.; she is near Mercury on the 18th, and near Mars on the 19th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 3rd	at 37 minutes	after 8h	in the morning.
Last Quarter	" 9th	" 12	" 11	" afternoon.
New Moon	" 17th	" 12	" 6	" afternoon.
First Quarter	" 25th	" 10	" 10	" afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the 4th, and most distant from it on the 20th.

MERCURY rises on the 1st at 6h 43m a.m., or 13 minutes before the Sun; on the 3rd at 6h 54m a.m., or 6 minutes before the Sun. He sets on the 6th at 4h 25m p.m., or 3 minutes after sunset; on the 11th at 4h 21m p.m., or 7 minutes after the Sun; on the 15th at 4h 18m p.m., or 9 minutes after sunset; on the 20th at 4h 18m p.m., or 15 minutes after the Sun; on the 25th at 4h 20m p.m., or 23 minutes after sunset; on the last day at 4h 27m p.m., or 34 minutes after the Sun. He is badly situated for observation throughout the month. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 4th, in his descending node on the 6th, and in aphelion on the 16th.

VENUS rises on the 7th at 3h 7m a.m., on the 17th at 3h 36m a.m., on the 27th at 4h 3m a.m. She is near Uranus on the 4th, in perihelion on the 14th, and is near the Moon on the 14th.

MARS sets on the 8th at 5h 18m p.m., or 59 minutes after the Sun; on the 18th at 5h 4m p.m., or 59 minutes after sunset; on the 28th at 4h 54m a.m., or one hour after the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 19th.

JUPITER rises on the 7th at 0h 12m a.m.; on the 16th he rises at 11h 38m p.m., on the 26th at 11h 3m p.m. He is near the Moon on the 11th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 26th.

SATURN rises on the 8th at 6h 11m p.m., or 1h 52m after sunset; on the 18th at 5h 30m, or 1h 25m after the Sun sets; on the 28th at 4h 48m p.m., or 54 minutes after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 6th.

DECEMBER.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the evening and night hours of the 2nd and 3rd, being situated to the right of the planet on the former and to the left on the latter night. She is near Jupiter on the morning of the 8th and 9th; she is near Venus on the morning of the 14th, being situated to the right of the planet. She is near

Mars on the 18th, near Mercury on the 19th, and near Saturn (a second time in the month) during the night of the 30th; the nearest approach will be at 7h p.m.; and after this time the planet will be to the right of the Moon. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 2nd	at 0 minutes	after 7h	in the afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 9th	" 31	" 11	" morning.
New Moon	" 17th	" 25	" 1	" afternoon.
First Quarter	" 25th	" 31	" 1	" afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the 3rd, most distant from it on the 17th, and nearest again on the 31st.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 5th at 4h 37m p.m., or 45 minutes after sunset; on the 10th at 4h 51m p.m., or 1h 2m after the Sun; on the 15th at 5h 7m, or 1h 17m after sunset; on the 20th at 5h 19m p.m., or 1h 27m after the Sun; on the 25th at 5h 18m p.m., or 1h 23m after sunset; on the 30th at 4h 55m p.m., or 57 minutes after the Sun; and on the last day at 4h 48m p.m., or 40 minutes after sunset. He is in conjunction with Mars on the 5th, at his greatest eastern elongation (20 deg. 8 min.) on the 18th, stationary among the stars on the 25th, in his ascending node on the 26th, is near Mars on the 30th, and in perihelion on the 30th.

VENUS is a morning star rising on the 7th at 4h 32m a.m.; on the 17th at 5h 1m a.m., or 3h 2m before sunrise; on the 27th at 5h 30m a.m., or 2h 38m before the Sun; and on the last day at 5h 42m a.m., or 2h 23m before sunrise. She is near the Moon on the 14th.

MARS sets on the 7th at 4h 47m p.m., or 57 minutes after sunset; on the 17th at 4h 43m p.m., or 52 minutes after the Sun; on the 27th at 4h 42m p.m., or 45 minutes after sunset; and on the last day at 4h 42m p.m., or 43 minutes after the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 18th.

JUPITER rises on the 16th at 9h 50m p.m., on the 26th at 9h 11m p.m., and on the last day at 8h 50m p.m. He is near the Moon on the 8th, and stationary among the stars on the 21st.

SATURN rises on the 8th at 4h 6m p.m., or 16 minutes after the Sun sets; on the 10th at 4h 0m p.m., or 11 minutes after sunset; on the 11th at 3h 55m p.m., or 6 minutes after the Sun sets. On the 12th he sets at 8h 0m a.m., or 1 minute after the Sun rises; on the 13th at 7h 56m a.m., or 4 minutes before the Sun rises; on the 18th at 7h 30m a.m., or 35 minutes before sunrise; on the 29th at 6h 47m a.m., or 1h 21m before the Sun rises; and on the last day at 6h 39m a.m., or 1h 29m before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 3rd, in opposition to the Sun on the 12th, and is near the Moon on the 30th.

ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1884.

In the year 1884 there will be five Eclipses, three of the Sun, and two of the Moon: of these one only will be visible from here.

The first is a very small Eclipse of the Sun, on March 27. It begins on the Earth generally at 11 minutes after 5 a.m., Greenwich mean time, at a place whose longitude is 9° 50' E. of Greenwich, and latitude 53° N. Its middle will be 2 minutes after 6h a.m., when about one-seventh of the Sun's diameter will be obscured; and it ends on the Earth generally at 54 minutes after 6h a.m., at a place whose longitude is 115½° W. of Greenwich and latitude 87° N.

The Second Eclipse is a Total Eclipse of the Moon on April 10; invisible from here. The Eclipse begins at 52 minutes after 8h a.m. The Total Eclipse begins at 11h a.m., the middle at 47 minutes after 11 a.m. The Total Eclipse ends at 27 minutes to 12 p.m.; and the Eclipse ends at 19 minutes to 9h p.m.

At the time of the middle of the Eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude is 176½° W. of Greenwich and latitude 84° south.

The Third Eclipse will be a Partial Eclipse of the Sun on April 25, invisible from here. It begins on the Earth generally at 1h p.m., at a place whose longitude is 82° W. of Greenwich and latitude 59° S. The greatest Eclipse, which will be about three-fourths of the Sun's diameter, will be at 48 minutes after 2 p.m., and the Eclipse ends on the Earth generally at 32 minutes after 4 p.m., in longitude 123° E. of Greenwich and latitude 32° S.

The Fourth Eclipse is a Total Eclipse of the Moon on the evening of Oct. 4, and visible from here. It begins at 15 minutes after 8h p.m. The beginning of Total Eclipse will be at 16 minutes after 9 p.m. The middle of the Eclipse will be 2 minutes after 10 p.m. The end of totality will be at 48 minutes after 10 p.m., and the Eclipse will end at 49 minutes after 11h p.m.

The Moon rises on Oct. 4, at 5h 20m p.m., and is due South at 11h 53m p.m.

The fifth and last Eclipse of the year is a Partial Eclipse of the Sun, beginning on Oct. 18, at 20 minutes after 10h p.m., in longitude 182° E. of Greenwich and latitude 63½° N. Its middle, on Oct. 19, at 49 minutes before 1 a.m., when more than six-tenths of the Sun's diameter will be obscured, and it will end on Oct. 19, at 16 minutes after 2h a.m., in longitude 184½° W. of Greenwich and latitude 33½° N.

THE FIRST DAY OF THE YEAR.

Readers of parish registers and other ancient documents are sometimes puzzled by the dates, and especially by the apparent discrepancies in the time when the year commenced. It began:—

- 7th to 14th Centuries, at Christmas.
- 15th Century, by the Church, on March 25.
- 14th Century, by Civilians, same time.

In 1752 the New Style was introduced, and 1753 commenced on Jan. 1. Previous to this two dates were used, one for the civil year, and the other for the historical. The former commenced March 25, and the latter Jan. 1. Thus, before this we had the same event with two dates. Example: Feb. 20, 1681-2. Another change was made in the Calendar by the same Act, 24 Geo. II., hence the difference between old and new Michaelmas, and other days.

"WE CLAMB THE HILL THEGITHER."

John Anderson, my Jo, John,
We clamb the hill thegither,
And mony a canty day, John,
We've had wi' ane anither.

Now we maun totter down, John,
But hand in hand we'll go,
And we'll sleep thegither at the foot,
John Anderson, my Jo.

FESTIVE SEASON.

Experience shows that Porter, Mild Ales, Port Wine, Sweet Champagne, Dark Sherries, Liqueurs, and Brandies are all very apt to disagree, while light white Wines, and Gin or Whisky largely diluted with Soda-water, will be found the least objectionable. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is particularly adapted for any constitutional weakness of the liver; it possesses the power of reparation when digestion has been disturbed or lost, and places the Invalid on the right track to health. A world of woe is avoided by those who keep and use ENO'S FRUIT SALT, therefore no family should ever be without it.

MY GOLDEN CHRISTMAS PUDDING WITH TWO FAITHFUL FRIENDS.

WHAT MAKES A HAPPY CHRISTMAS!
Health, and the things we love, and those who love us. For Health use ENO'S FRUIT SALT.

ACCIDENTAL INDIGESTION.—Before and after the Christmas Pudding use ENO'S FRUIT SALT. The Physical Basis of Life—Good Food. How to enjoy good food, that would otherwise cause Bilious Headache, Disordered Stomach, Poisoned Blood, &c.—use ENO'S FRUIT SALT, prepared from Sound Ripe Fruit, as a Health-giving, Cooling, Sparkling, and Invigorating Beverage for any season.

THE PHYSICAL BASIS OF LIFE.—GOOD FOOD.—How to assimilate or enjoy good food that would otherwise cause Constipation, Bilious Headache, Disordered Stomach, and other disorders, use ENO'S FRUIT SALT. Being a genuine product of nature, it is a true or natural way of preserving and restoring health. It removes effete matter or poison from the blood, thus preventing and throwing off Fevers, Toils, and other morbid conditions of the blood. On that account you cannot overstate its great value in keeping the blood pure and free from disease; without such a simple precaution the jeopardy of life is immensely increased.

HEADACHE and DISORDERED STOMACH.
"After suffering for nearly two and a half years from severe headache and disordered stomach, and after trying almost everything, and spending much money without finding any benefit, I was recommended by a friend to try your FRUIT SALT, and before I had finished one bottle I found it doing me a great deal of good, and now I am restored to my usual health, and others I know that have tried it have not enjoyed such good health for years.—Yours most truly, ROBERT HUMPHREYS, Post-office, Barnsford."

SANITARY IGNORANCE.—Nearly every form of disease can be traced to sanitary ignorance and imperfect action of the liver. The great success of ENO'S FRUIT SALT throughout the world has plainly established the fact that it promotes the separation of the bile from the blood (by natural means), which is then passed from the system, thus preventing and curing fevers, blood poisons, and other dangerous diseases.

SUCCESS IN LIFE.—"A new invention is brought before the Public and commands success. A score of abominable imitations are immediately introduced by the unscrupulous, who, in copying the original closely enough to deceive the public, and yet not so exactly as to infringe upon legal rights, exercise an ingenuity that, employed in an original channel, could not fail to secure reputation and profit."—ADAMS.

CAUTION.—Examine each Bottle, and see the Capsule is marked "ENO'S FRUIT SALT." Without it, you have been imposed on by Worthless Imitations.

SOLD BY ALL CHEMISTS. PRICE 2s. 9d. and 4s. 6d.

DIRECTIONS IN SIXTEEN LANGUAGES HOW TO PREVENT DISEASE. PROTECTION IN EVERY COUNTRY.

PREPARED ONLY AT ENO'S FRUIT SALT WORKS, HATCHAM, LONDON, S.E.
BY J. C. ENO'S PATENT.

IMPORTANT TO TRAVELLERS AND ALL

LEAVING HOME FOR A CHANGE.—"We have for the last four years used your FRUIT SALT during several important Survey Expeditions in the Malay Peninsula, Siam, and Cambodia, and have undoubtedly derived very great benefit from it. In one instance only was one of our party attacked with fever during that period, and that happened after our supply of FRUIT SALT had run out. When making long marches under the powerful rays of a vertical sun, or travelling through swampy districts, we have used the FRUIT SALT two and three times a day. The FRUIT SALT acts as a gentle aperient, keeps the blood cool and healthy, and wards off fever. We have pleasure in voluntarily testifying to the value of your preparation, and our firm belief in its efficacy. We never go into the jungle without it, and have also recommended it to others.—Yours truly, Commander A. J. LOFTIS, His Siamese Majesty's Hydrographer; E. C. DAVIDSON, Superintendent Siamese Government Telegraphs, Bangkok, Siam, May, 1883.—"J. C. ENO, Esq., London."

HOW TO AVOID THE DEBILITATING

EFFECTS OF TRAVELLING.—"I travel by rail between twenty and thirty thousand miles each year, and in my opinion there is no mode of travelling so debilitating to the human system as that. For a long time I suffered from nervousness, sluggish liver, indigestion, flatulence, and most of the ailments common to those who travel a great deal. After trying many, and all more or less worthless, remedies, I was induced to try your FRUIT SALT, and since doing so (nine months ago) I may indeed say I am a new man, and now I never consider my portmanteau packed unless there is a bottle of ENO'S FRUIT SALT in it. I think it right to recommend it in every way—hence this letter—for I am sure it needs but to be tried, and no traveller would think of being without so great a friend in all cases of need. I inclose my card, and am, faithfully yours, Taura, the Trossach's Hotel, Loch Kabbie, Callander, N.B., June 27, 1883."

ENO'S FRUIT SALT is an Indispensable REQUISITE in the preservation of CHILDREN'S HEALTH.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.

should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless, and very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is sold by thousands of Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world at 1s. 1½d. per Bottle, and Millions of Mothers can testify to its virtue.

"FLORILINE,"

FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH, is the best liquid dentifrice in the world: it thoroughly cleanses partially decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalcules," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The FRAGRANT FLORILINE removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke; being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants, it is perfectly harmless and delicious as cherry. For children or adults whose teeth show marks of decay its advantages are paramount. The FLORILINE should be thoroughly brushed into all the cavities. No one need fear using it too often, or too much at a time. The taste is so pleasing that, instead of taking up the tooth-brush with dislike, as is often the case, children will on no account omit to use the FLORILINE regularly every morning, if only left to their choice. Children cannot be taught the use of the tooth-brush too young; early neglect invariably produces premature decay of the teeth. Sold by all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the world at 2s. 6d. per Bottle. "FLORILINE" POWDER put up in large glass Jars, price 1s. Sold Wholesale by the Anglo-American Drug Company (Limited), Farringdon-road, London.

CONSUMPTION AND WASTING DISEASES.

HYDROLEINE (HYDRATED OIL)

has proved of the highest value in CONSUMPTION, and all Wasting Diseases, invariably producing increase in flesh and weight. This preparation of Hydrated Cod-Liver Oil is tonic, digestive, and ten times more strengthening and nourishing, as well as far more pleasant to taste, than plain Cod-Liver Oil. HYDROLEINE may be described as partially digested oil, which will nourish and produce increase in weight in those cases where oils or fat, not so treated, are difficult or impossible to digest. All tendency to Emaciation and Loss of Weight is arrested by the regular use of HYDROLEINE, which may be discontinued when the usual average weight has been permanently acquired. Of all Chemists, 4s. 6d. A single bottle will be sent, carriage-paid, on receipt of P.O.O., payable to W. RENAUD, Secretary. The Anglo-American Drug Company (Limited), Farringdon-road, London.

THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER.

If your Hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," for it will positively restore, in every case, Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the Hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promotes the growth of the Hair on bald spots where the glands are not decayed. Mr. NATHAN BERRY, Chemist, Walkden, writes:—"One of my customers told me the other day he had had grey hair for thirty-five years, and after using one bottle of 'THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER' I sold him, it was restored to and kept its natural colour." Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," Sold by Medicine Dealers and Perfumers everywhere, at 3s. 6d. per Bottle; and Wholesale by the Anglo-American Drug Company (Limited), Farringdon-road, London.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

are prepared from a highly-esteemed recipe for alleviating Bronchial Affections, Asthma, Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, and Irritation or Soreness of the Throat. Public Speakers and Vocalists will find them beneficial in clearing the voice before speaking or singing, and relieving the throat after any unusual exertion of the vocal organs, having a peculiar adaptation to affections which disturb the organs of speech. Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough or "slight cold" in its first stages. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES are most valuable when coughs, colds, bronchitis, influenza, hoarseness, and sore throat are prevalent. The Troches give sure and almost immediate relief. Sold by all Medicine Vendors throughout the world at 1s. 1½d. per Box. London Dépôt, Farringdon-road.

BRIGHT & DARK SPOTS IN LIFE.

HEALTH, more than money, is the capital of life. So rich is a man generally in the outset of life in the abundance of that capital that a loving wife is the first and often the only partner he seeks or desires. He is happy and hopeful, devoting the best energies of his early years to the laying of the foundation of the business of his life. A few years finds his match enhanced in the increasing love of his wife and the presence of bright and happy-faced children. Between the first born and the last—between the playfulness of the little boy or girl and the prattle of the baby—his thoughts are diverted and his spirit finds domestic repose when he comes home from the cares and labours of the day, until he is forgetful of himself and unmindful of the daily and hourly strain upon his mental and physical energies. His home is a happy one, and he rests content, unconscious of the possibility that a dark shadow will one day settle on his countenance that will cast a gloom over his once bright and happy household.

It is not, however, long before the once happy husband and father begins to return nightly to his family less cheerful in spirits. His countenance looks haggard and careworn; he drops languidly into the easy-chair his wife has placed for him. The older children climb to his lap as usual to tell him their little history of the day, and the baby coos to him from the cradle; but disappointment comes to their little hearts, for he is almost wholly unmindful of them. He drops his head upon his hand, for it feels dull and heavy, and he closes his eyes, for objects give them pain, and he is silent. The wife, good woman, thinking him only more tired and faint from an unusually hard day's work, comes and presses her hand on his forehead, and then hastens to prepare the evening meal and the all-reviving cup of tea. The tea is sipped in silence, and he barely tastes the supper. It is the first unsocial and cheerless meal of the little family. The little ones go sadly, and much earlier than usual, to bed, and the lullaby of the mother has a more plaintive tone as the baby is gently joggled to sleep in his crib. Even after the cup of tea he finds a gathering of water in the mouth, a sickness at the stomach, a fulness about the chest, and is distressed for breath. He retires to bed. His feet are cold, and he cannot sleep. The thoughtful wife puts a bottle of hot water to his feet. The fever follows, and pervades his whole body for a time, and his brain seems to be on fire. He dozes for awhile, but twitches and jerks and mutters in a distressed reverie. The business of the day runs through his fevered brain, and his dreams are unpleasant, partaking largely of the character called nightmares. Morning breaks, but the anxious and devoted wife has not been to bed at all. It has been her first sad and painful night of watching over a sick husband. He is a firm and resolute man, thinks it is nothing but a cold, and determines to "wear it off," and so goes to his business as usual, taking no remedy and making no provision against the recurrence of a like attack.

A few months pass on without another quite so dismal a night; but the wife, with a strange foreboding of coming misery to herself and children, observes that he is apparently becoming not only less kind and affectionate, but also peevish and petulant, and sometimes absolutely cross. The perfect happiness of the once delightful home has flown. He now pushes the children aside with a frown. They cannot play nor tell their stories in his presence, as their mother cautions them "not to disturb papa," and, sadder still, so timid have they become in his presence that it is only the strong impulse of affection that insures to the father their retiring good-night kiss.

The heart of this man has not changed, for he is the same good, affectionate husband and father as ever; but the fact is that disease is so preying upon his system that it has changed his appearance and actions. He does not know how differently he now appears to his wife and children. The truth is, he has become a confirmed dyspeptic. It was after many years of similar suffering before the great Carlyle awoke to the reality that he "had a stomach"—that he was a dyspeptic. This man is indeed ill, for he feels dull and sleepy. He has a bad taste, especially in the morning, and a slimy coating on his teeth, giving his breath an offensive odour. He has pains about his chest and sides, and sometimes in his back. No healthy appetite as in former years now comes to him; but only at times a desperate craving for something to fill out his stomach, for he has a sensation of gouveness at the pit which food will not satisfy. His stomach is often sour, and he throws up his food, being unable to digest it. His bowels have become costive, and hot flushes come over him frequently. The march of the disease has been steady and onward, yet even with all these fearfully alarming symptoms he is still resolutely determined to "get over it," and, regardless of the gentle but earnest entreaties of his wife, neglects to make use of the proper remedy, and we soon find him wholly confined to the house, his business abandoned, and his once active mind and resolute will lapsed into weakness and hopeless despair.

He is now too feeble to walk or even stand erect. He totters along with the aid of a staff, a perfect wreck. He is thin and emaciated; his eyes are dull and sunken, and the whites are tinged with yellow; his skin has become dark, and has a dirty brownish appearance; his countenance has put on a dejected aspect, as though all his friends had departed; his hands and feet have become cold and clammy, with a sort of sticky feeling; he is dizzy, and when he gets up suddenly there is a whirling sensation, and he is obliged to grasp some object to steady himself. Sometimes it suddenly turns dark, and he falls to the floor, to the terror and alarm of his wife and children, who cry out in agony. It is the vertigo. His blood is thick and stagnant, and fails to circulate freely. Stops absolutely at the heart, which now has palpitations, and he is told by some that he has heart disease. His sleep is disturbed by dreams, and he fails to get any natural and refreshing rest. In fact, he feels tired all the while. All this is followed by that most unhappy feeling, the sick headache. Food distresses him, and the little he takes is soon thrown up. More particularly annoying still is the cough, attended with light-coloured expectoration, which is often streaked with blood, to the alarm of the wife, who does not fail to notice what she regards as the unmistakable sign of consumption.

The wise man has said that "Procrastination is the thief of time." Certainly procrastination has seized him mentally and bodily; for, strangely, he neglects to seek the true remedy for his disease, which has now advanced to that stage often called liver complaint. The wife is now more alarmed and especially distressed, as the children cling to her more and more tenderly, if possible, and afflict her with the sad and painful question, "Is papa going to die?"

Soon our friend is unable to leave his bed. The dreadful night sweats and terrible cough have reduced him to a mere skeleton. His blood has become so bad and feverish that his hair has fallen off, and he is now nearly bald. His tongue is dotted over with canker spots, his cough is worse, and the expectorations have become more profuse and of a greenish colour. In truth, this man's condition was apparently of that peculiar kind which the great majority of people call consumption; but in this his neighbours and friends were all mistaken, as the sequel will show.

One day a neighbour's wife came in, as she had been wont to do almost daily, to speak words of hope and comfort to this sorrowful family, bringing with her some delicacies for the sick man's stomach, and some books and papers, among the latter of which was our little pamphlet, to which she called the attention of the sick man's wife. They read aloud and talk it over. Something inspires them all with the possibilities that an inscrutable Providence may have designed a herbal remedy, an extract of roots, for a disease such as this. Woman at the bedside of the sick is over an angel of mercy and goodness. The result of their reading and deliberations is that Seigel's Curative Syrup is procured and administered to this man little by little, at least three times a day. A week passes, and it is noticed that he has not grown worse, but has, in fact, slept a little better, and has escaped the usual desperate coughing spasms. This is a good sign, but when one has gone down so far into the valley of shadows, it takes a long time to climb back to where it is beautiful and bright on the mountain tops of health. His is a desperate case, and it will take a long time to bring him up, even if it can be done at all after such a long period of utter neglect. A few weeks more find him out of bed walking his room and looking out of the window, and already possessed of the belief that he is to walk the earth again. He continues the Syrup, and it is now not many days before we find him driving out. His neighbours rejoice, and some friend comes daily to give him a turn in the morning air. The long and short of it is, he continues the remedy, and in a few weeks more he is enabled to return to business.

This is the history of an actual case, the parallel of which may be found in almost any town and city at any time. The country is literally filled with just such cases in some of the varied stages. The reader himself or herself may in like manner be on the downward path, and in like manner also be neglecting the remedy. Had this man taken one single bottle of the Seigel Curative Syrup when the disease first made its appearance, the history of his case would never have been written.

Two or three bottles would have effected a cure after the disease had advanced to the second stage, and half a dozen would have arrested the course of the disease after it had reached the stage called liver complaint. We have never known a case where the Syrup has failed to cure if taken according to directions. Our letter files are loaded with testimonials from patients that have been cured of precisely such symptoms as we have described. Anyone calling at our office can read such letters day after day, till he is tired. All we have to say is, "Try one bottle of the Extract or Curative Syrup, and you will feel satisfied of the truth of our statements."

The reader may ask what the cause may be for all the varied symptoms that afflict mankind, known by the names of Liver Complaint, Kidney Disease, Rheumatism, Asthma, &c. We answer that nearly all of those diseases have their origin in Dyspepsia or Indigestion. By correcting the impaired digestive organs the other diseases cease to exist, because the cause or foundation is removed. The testimonials published herein from parties that had suffered with various so-called diseases illustrate this idea, for in each case they were cured by the removal of the Indigestion present in their respective cases. Other and convincing evidence will be sent on application to A. J. White (Limited), 17, Farringdon-road, London, E.C.

"Messrs. White and Co., London,

"Gentlemen,—It is with great pleasure that I add my testimony to the wonderful effects of Seigel's Syrup. For years I have been suffering from bilious attacks, which began with giddiness; then a mist would come before my eyes, so that I should not be able to recognise anyone or anything at the distance of a yard or two from my face. This would be followed by excessive trembling of my knees, so that I could not stand without support; after which a severe headache would occur, lasting often two or three days. I have tried various remedies for these distressing symptoms, but until I tried Seigel's Syrup I had no relief. Since then I have had excellent health in every respect; and if ever I feel a headache coming on I take one dose of the Syrup, which arrests it. Hoping that this testimonial may be the means of inducing others (who suffer as I used) to try the Syrup, as I feel sure they will receive speedy benefit and ultimately be cured, I beg to remain, yours, faithfully,
A. H. HORRAN."

"East-street Mills, Cambridge-heath, London, E.C.,
"July 24, 1882.

"Sir,—It gives me great pleasure to be able to add my testimony in favour of your valuable Syrup as a curative agent. I had suffered for some length of time from a severe form of indigestion, and the long train of distressing symptoms following that disease. I had tried all possible means to get relief, by seeking the best medical advice. I had swallowed sufficient of their stuff to float a man-of-war, so to speak, but all to no avail. A friend of mine, coming on the scene in the midst of my sufferings, brought with him a bottle of your Seigel Syrup; he advised me to try it, stating he felt confident it would benefit me. Being weary of trying so many drugs, I condemned it before trial, thinking that it could not possibly do me any good, but ultimately determined to take the Syrup. After doing so for a short time it worked such a change in me that I continued taking it for nearly two months, and I then felt thoroughly cured, for I have discontinued its use for five weeks, and feel in the best of health, and can partake of any kind of food with ease and comfort. I am therefore thankful to you that, through the instrumentality of your valuable medicine, I am restored to the state of health I now enjoy.
Yours, truly,
W. S. FOSBROOK."

AN UNSOLICITED LETTER FROM A BAPTIST MISSIONARY.

"Spanish Town, Jamaica, West Indies,
"Oct. 24, 1882.

"Dear Sir,—I write to inform you that I have derived great benefit from 'Seigel's Syrup.' For some year I suffered from liver complaint, with its many and varied concomitant evils, so that my life was a perpetual misery. Twelve months ago I was induced to try Seigel's Syrup, and although rather sceptical, having tried so many reputed infallible remedies, I determined to give it at least a fair trial. In two or three days I felt considerably better, and now, at the end of twelve months (having continued taking it), I am glad to say that I am a different being altogether. It is said of certain pens that they 'come as a boon and a blessing to men' and I have no reason to doubt the truthfulness of the statement. I can truly say, however, that Seigel's Syrup has come as a 'boon and a blessing' to me. I have recommended it to several fellow-sufferers from this distressing complaint, and their testimony is quite in accordance with my own. Gratitude for the benefit I have derived from this excellent preparation prompts me to furnish you with this unsolicited testimonial.

"I am, dear Sir, yours ever gratefully,

"(Signed) CARRY B. BAKER, Baptist Missionary."

THE Y & N PATENT DIAGONAL SEAM CORSET.

NEWEST INVENTION. EXQUISITE MODEL. UNIQUE DESIGN.

PERFECT COMFORT. GUARANTEED WEAR. UNIVERSAL ADAPTIBILITY. FREE FROM COMPLICATION.

ADVANTAGES OVER ANY OTHER MAKE OF CORSET.

THIS CORSET has been invented to supply what was really wanted—viz., a corset warranted not to split in the seams, at the same time combining every excellence required in a lady's Corset. All the parts are arranged diagonally instead of the ordinary upright pieces, the seams being thus relieved of a great portion of the strain. The material is also cut on the bias, and yields to the figure without splitting. (The bones are arranged to give support to the figure where required (avoiding undue pressure), and by crossing the diagonal seams prevent the utmost strain in wear tearing the fabric. The speciality of construction gives the freest adaptability to the figure, making it unrivalled by its graceful proportions, and meeting the requirements of the latest fashions without any complications of belts, straps, &c. To prevent imitation, every Corset is stamped.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The Queen of May, 1893, says:—"Admirably modelled, exquisitely neat, and strong; the seams have no strain."

Le Follet says:—"Admirably calculated to prevent split seams."

London and Paris Ladies' Magazine says:—"Elegant in appearance, most comfortable in use, moderate in price, and serviceable in wear."

Myra's Journal says:—"They supply a long-felt need."

Lady's Pictorial says:—"The most comfortable corsets ever made."

Ladies' Gazette says:—"One of the most remarkable inventions of the day."

Warehouseman and Drapers' Journal:—"Has a four-fold claim on the attention of the public—gracefulness, comfort, durability, and economy."

KEATING'S COUGH LOZENGES.

"Absolutely the best known remedy ever made for

COUGHS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS

Strongly recommended by the most eminent Doctors.

TINS ONLY, 1/1½ and 2/6.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

COUGHES.
COLDS.
ASTHMA.
BRONCHITIS.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

This wonderful remedy was discovered by Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE, and the word Chlorodyne coined by him expressly to designate it. There never has been a remedy so vastly beneficial to suffering humanity, and it is a subject of deep concern to the public that they should not be imposed upon by having imitations pressed upon them on account of cheapness, and as being the same thing. Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is a totally distinct thing from the spurious compounds called Chlorodyne, the use of which only ends in disappointment and failure.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE is a LIQUID MEDICINE which

ASSUAGES PAIN OF EVERY KIND, affords a calm, refreshing sleep, WITHOUT HEADACHE, and INVIGORATES the NERVOUS SYSTEM when exhausted.

GREAT SPECIFIC for CHOLERA, DYSENTERY, DIARRHOEA.

The GENERAL BOARD of HEALTH,
London, REPORT that it ACTS as a
CHARM, one dose generally sufficient.

Dr. GIBBON, Army Medical Staff, Calcutta, states:—"TWO DOSES COM-PLETELY CURED ME OF DIARRHOEA."

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE rapidly cuts short all attacks of DIPHTHERY, SPASMS, COLIC,
PALPITATION, Hysteria.

Is the TRUE PALLIATIVE in NEURALGIA, GOUT, CANCER.
TOOTHACHE, RHEUMATISM.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.

WHELPTON'S

VEGETABLE PURIFYING PILLS

Are one of those rare Medicines which for their extraordinary properties have gained an almost UNI-VERSAL REPUTATION.
During a period of nearly
FIFTY Years they have been used most extensively as a Family Medicine, thousands have found them a simple and safe remedy, and one needful to be kept always at hand. These Pills are purely Vegetable, being entirely free from Mercury or any other Mineral; and those who may not have hitherto proved their efficacy will do well to give them a trial. Recommended for disorders of the HEAD

CHEST, BOWELS, LIVER, and KIDNEYS; also in RHEUMATISM
ULCERS, SORES, and all SKIN DISEASES—these Pills being a Direct Purifier of the Blood.

In Boxes, price 7½d., 1s. 1½d., and 2s. 9d., by

Sold by all Chemists at home and abroad.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.

A CURE FOR SKIN DISEASES.

There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if seemingly past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old enduring skin disorders—eczema, psoriasis, roscs, prurigo, tetter, pityriasis—however deeply rooted, "Sulpholine" successfully attacks. It destroys the animalcules which mostly cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, smooth, supple, healthy skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 6d.

PEPPER'S QUININE AND IRON TONIC, FOR GAINING STRENGTH.

Boosts and develops the nervous energies, enriches the blood, promotes appetite, dispels languor and depression, fortifies the digestive organs. Is a specific remedy for neuralgia, indigestion, fevers, chest affections, and wasting diseases, &c. The whole frame is greatly invigorated by Pepper's Tonic, the mental faculties brightened, and the constitution greatly strengthened. Bottles, 3s. 6d. each. Sold by Chemists everywhere. Insist upon having Pepper's Tonic only, not that of the Chemist's own compounding.

TARAXACUM AND PODOPHYLLIN.

A LIVER MEDICINE.

In all cases of congestion or liver complaint, it sets the sluggish liver in action, moves the stomach very gently, indeed giving a sense of clearness and comfort within a few hours. The symptoms of liver derangement, headache, torpidity, costiveness, flatulence, heartburn, sense of over-repletion, shoulder-pain, repugnance to food, general discomfort and depression, are quickly dispelled by TARAXACUM and PODOPHYLLIN, a fluid extract of medicinal roots, prepared solely by J. PEPPER, Bedford Laboratory, London. Insist on having the correct preparation. Bottles, 2s. 9d. and 4s. 6d. Sold by Chemists everywhere.

LOCKYER'S SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER.

THE BEST. THE SAFEST. THE CHEAPEST.

Restores the Colour to Grey Hair. Instantly stops the Hair from Fading. Occasionally used, Greyness is impossible.

Where the Sulphur Restorer is applied scurf cannot exist, and a sense of cleanness, coolness, &c., prevails. It also causes the Hair to grow wherever thin and patchy. SOLD EVERYWHERE, IN LARGE BOTTLES, 1s. 6d. each. Be sure to have Lockyer's.

DRS. PROUT, MORGAN, TURLEY, GIBBON, SPARKS, DOWSING, STEVENS, and many other Medical Gentlemen, have given unqualified testimony to the importance of the discovery and the great value of

LAMPLOUGH'S PYRETIC SALINE,

as possessing elements most essential to the restoration and maintenance of Health with perfect Vigour of Body and Mind.
It is effervescent and tasteless, forming a most invigorating, vitalising, and refreshing beverage.

Gives instant relief in HEADACHE, SEA or BILIOUS SICKNESS, CONSTIPATION, INDIGESTION, LASSITUDE, HEARTBURN,
and FEVERISH COLDS; prevents and quickly relieves or cures the worst form of TYPHUS, SCARLET, and other FEVERS, SMALLPOX,
MEASLES, and ERUPTIVE or SKIN COMPLAINTS, and various other altered conditions of the blood.

IT IS THE CURE FOR CHOLERA, & PREVENTIVE OF DYSENTERY.

Dr. ALEX. MILNE—"In searching for the best combination of Salines we alighted on that of Mr. Lamplough. Its utility as a remedy in fevers and as a cooling drink in diseases of children, such as Scarlet Fever, Measles, &c., has been testified to by the leading members of the profession." "I prescribe it also to my patients frequently."—May 19, 1880.

THOMAS CARE JACKSON, Esq., F.R.C.S., and Surgeon to the Great Northern Hospital, London—"I have no hesitation in recommending the compound of Mr. Lamplough's Saline Pyretic. I am in the habit of prescribing it largely, its composition being known to me; and I have every reason to be satisfied with it. It is beautifully prepared, and can be used at a moment's notice without trouble."

CAUTION—Beware of spurious Salines and Effervescent Salts containing injurious elements put forward by unprincipled persons.

In Patent Glass Stoppered Bottles, 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., 11s., and 21s. each.

ARTIFICIAL EYES, LEGS, ARMS, & HANDS. GROSSMITH'S

PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL LEGS—with patent action. Knee and Ankle Joints—enable the patient to walk, sit, or ride with ease and comfort, wherever amputated. They are lighter in weight, less expensive, and more durable than any self-acting Leg hitherto introduced, and are worn by Ladies and Children with perfect safety. They were awarded the highest medals at the London and Paris Great International Exhibitions, and pronounced by the Surgical Jurors to be "excellent in manufacture, well constructed, and on a system superior to all others."

The PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL EYES have now been brought to the greatest perfection, and are so easy of adaptation that they are fitted in a few minutes, without pain or operation, in any case where sight has been lost. The colours are perfectly matched, and a movement obtained precisely in accordance with the action of the natural eye. They are the only Artificial Eyes which have been awarded Prize Medals at the Great International Exhibitions of London, Paris, and Dublin.

POONA WOOL CASHMERES.

A fine light-weighted AN-Wool Cashmere of very superior finish, with an almost imperceptibly woven figured line running through it. Is quite a novelty, and one of the best woven and most useful Cashmeres for Ladies wear. 44 in. wide, 2s. 6d. per yard.

"BRAHMAPOUTRA."

This is one of those soft, fine Woollen fabrics that we are accustomed to look upon and admire as being of Indian origin. It is a plain Cloth, made of a very superior Wool, and dyed in the fashionable Tan and Green shades. For an elegant Costume or a useful, Brahmepoutra is equally suitable. 25 in. wide, 2s. 3d. per yard.

HABIT CLOTH.

1s. 11d. per yard, 24 in. wide.

A finely-woven, highly-finished Cloth, in rich Dark Granite shades. It makes up effectively, and is essentially a Lady's Dress, both in quality and appearance, and will maintain my reputation for excellent value.

THE DINWOODIE STRIPES.

This is a beautiful material, and is represented by a range of well-selected patterns in the new Reds, Greys, and Heather Colours. There are the plainly Striped Cloth, and another in Black Stripes, to be used together or singly, as taste dictates; but for the present modes The Combination is the most stylish. 24 in. wide, 1s. 11d. per yard.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE, THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY TRUE.

is allowed to be the greatest discovery of the present century, and is largely employed by the most eminent Medical Men, in hospital and private practice, in all parts of the world, and is justly considered to be a remedy of intrinsic value, and of varied adaptability, possessing most valuable properties, and producing various effects quite unequalled in the whole Materia Medica.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests the too-often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, Diabetes, &c.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause; allays the irritation of fever; soothes and strengthens the system under all kinds of distress; gives quiet and refreshing sleep, and marvellously prolongs life.

SPECIMEN TESTIMONIALS.

"Mr. R. Freeman.
"Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure that I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of Special Service to me in allaying the wearisome Spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne.
Yours faithfully,
"CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P., Lond.; M.B.C.S., Eng.
"The Divisional Head-Quarters Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul."

THE "TIMES," AUGUST 18, 1877.

From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army.

"The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unbearable reputation as a doctor owing to my being provided with a small bottle of FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE, with which I effected Miraculous Cures."

From MONS. BONJOUR BARTHELEMY, Delegate of the Society for the Relief of the Wounded, Decorated with the Cross of the Convention of Geneva.

"I hereby attest that the Chlorodyne manufactured by RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, of London, is the best remedy against CHOLERA and DYSENTERY, and further affirm, as Director of the Anglo-American Ambulance and of French prisoners during the War of 1870 to 1871, that a large number of those under my care were attacked with Dysentery, and that by means of his Chlorodyne they were in a few days perfectly cured.
"Signed" BONJOUR BARTHELEMY."

IMPORTANT CAUTION.

Four Chancery Suits terminated in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against J. Gills Brown and J. T. Davenport. Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, and Lord Justice Mellish condemned their proceedings, and ordered them to pay all costs of the suits. Reported in the "Times" and other Newspapers; April 29 and July 24, 1873.

None genuine without the words, "Freeman's Original Chlorodyne," engraved on the Government Stamp.

Manufactured by the sole Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, 20, Kensington Park-road, London, S.E.

SOLD BY ALL CHEMISTS.

The popularity Pepsine has acquired as almost a specific for chronic Dyspepsia, Indigestion, &c., is due to the fact that it is the nearest possible production of the active principle of the gastric juice of the stomach. Unfortunately, like all other inventions of a like nature, Pepsine has been not slightly discredited by the spurious manufactures that have been issued from time to time; it is therefore necessary, as a guarantee of its efficacy, to see that each bottle bears the makers' name,

Corsets have the greatest influence on health and figure, and therefore too much care cannot be spent in their selection or manufacture. The ARTYSTYQUE CORSETS are the daintiest of Corsets, and the taste displayed in their manufacture and adaptation to the human figure renders them marvels of elegance. They are very pliable and easy to wear, without detracting from any of their beneficial support.

IZOD'S

NEW "AD REM" CORSETS.

These CORSETS are made specially to give support and Elasticity to the figure and perfect comfort to the wearer, without pressing on the vital organs. Each pair is fitted with the "AD REM" STOCKING SUSPENDER HOOK, which not only secures the Suspender without fear of its becoming detached, but retains it in every movement of the body.

This invention is not only recommended by the faculty for Ladies, but particularly for Girls and Young Ladies, whilst improving the figure, to prevent the evils arising from the use of Corsets, which stop circulation.
